Westgate Park will someday in the very near future present a very different appearance to the many Hilltop folks who gather there on occasions for community events and other forms of relaxation. Columbus city officials cooperating with various of the community civic organizations have mapped out an improvement program which will, when carried to completion, rank Westgate as one of the most beautiful recreational spots in Columbus.

Just prior to the opening of the Hilltop Bean Dinner last week a delegation representing Columbus Council, Hilltop Kiwanis, city service department, city engineers, Hilltop Lions, Hilltop Community Council, Hilltop Business Association and City Department of Parks made a day-long survey of the needs of Westgate Park and worked out methods of improvement and beautification.

As a result of this conference by the various organizations and city officials, the Columbus Service Department today released a report on the proposed improvements at Westgate Park.

According to the report just released the main change to be made will be the reduction in size of the lake within the park. It is proposed that the present east lake be cleaned and dredged of more than one foot of sludge now present and that a wall be constructed between east and west portions of the lake to provide a dam as well as a walkway across the lake. The west end of the lake would then also be cleaned and a sunken garden be placed in that area. It is contended that in this manner deeper water would be available for the east lake and that the present west lake as a sunken garden would provide greater beauty for the park.

A large mound of dirt on the south side of the park will be moved and the soil used to fill and grade the wooded areas of the park which have been abused during the past years. Directly on this present mound site is planned an open-air theatre.

It is also proposed to build a closed shelterhouse, toilets and additional picnic facilities on the south side of the lake which would permit year around use of this area of the park.

Parking, it is pointed out, is a much needed part of the development for Westgate Park. According to present plans, just east of the ball diamonds is a parking lot plan for 200 cars, to the rear of the tennis court is a parking area for 130 cars and around the existing shelter house is planned a larger black topped parking area for more cars.

When these new parking areas are completed the random drives through the wooded area will be closed, graded off and seeded. This, it is said, will not only protect the trees but do away with the dust and unsightliness about which there have been many complaints.

Under the proposed improvement plans the open ditch which currently runs through the park will be abandoned and adequate sewer and drainage preparations made in order to assure the proposed sunken garden area proper protection from the infiltrating waters.

According to acting Service Director Arthur J. Bellar the work on improvement of the Westgate Park area is expected to begin within the next few weeks.

LENGTHENING Lives

MORE IMPORTANT THAN Politics!

DOCTORS OF AMERICA are actively, scientifically and sincerely interested in lengthening LIVES! They are dedicated to the curing of illness, alleviation of suffering, salvaging of human bodies, and fighting needless death.

Your own family physician, and the great majority of American Doctors, are convinced that the Medical profession itself can do the best job of supervising, extending and improving the distribution of medical care.

Public health measures could well take all of the energies of those seeking "social gains."

Countless such activities cry aloud for more urgent attention,—better mosquito control; real food inspection; thorough and adequate policing of water and milk supplies; more health education.

These are a few of the things that come under the head of true national health insurance, that are constructive, and do not create a nation of mendicants, neurotics and hypochondriacs, as do most known compulsory systems of "Sickness Insurance."

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

This week we'll predict again:

In looking ahead 15 years we see EVERETT BARTON inside a barber shop cutting (or shall we say "scalping") people. He got his practice back in '50 trimming his front and back lawns.

We also see into the future that the W. E. CURRY family are running a restaurant. The MISTER decided that since he had to help with the dishes on the side all the time at home anyhow,—he might as well make a career out of it.

JACK BOWIN owns a glass blowing factory. He always was good at bubble gum back in his school days. Blew bubbles that covered his entire face. It'd be awful if he'd find his face inside a crystal ball someday, wouldn't it?

Ah-ha! We see G. H. ZEISS directing traffic on W. Mound. He takes his boy scout flags and uses his signals of schoolhood days.

VICTOR D. FIPPIN has an orchard of apples. Make his own cider with his cider press. One advantage, he says—only have to take in money one season of the year. Wish we all could feel like that.

Then too, we foresee F. L. COMPATORE FLORIST SHOPPE—the largest and most beautiful on the Hilltop. There's COMPATORE now distributing the "corsage of the month" to the person who guessed the right amount of dahlia seeds in a jar.

LEONA WILLIAMS is making hats in New York. She corresponds with MRS. W. H. RIEP who was her former neighbor, and MRS. RIEP writes back and gives her ideas by telling her what the well-dressed women of the "HI-RIDGE SECTION" are wearing.

The last one this week in our crystal ball is MRS. J. B. ROWAN. She's selling tickets at the window at the streamlined Hi Ridge Theatre next to Schultz Market. The flickering lights at night are an advantage to Herman, since they are made of atom powder and shine on his greenhouse that grows things overnight.

Glenwood Playground

Friday night, July 21, was family night at Glenwood playground. Families on the Hilltop packed a picnic lunch and came to the playground at 5 p. m. The evening program began at 6:30 with a horseshoe pitching contest between fathers and sons who wanted to enter. There was also a softball game for fathers and sons plus games for the younger children.

An outdoor movie was shown at 8:30, following the ball game. From 9:15 till 11 p. m. there was round and square dancing.

The city-wide Festival of Light was held last Thursday at Central High School at 8 p. m. Glenwood's project for the parade was a large liberty bell to represent the bell recently presented to our state. The bell was mounted on a float and was lit by flashlights. Other lanterns, made by the children for the parade, were smaller than the bell and had a flag and bell design on them.

Children from Glenwood playground traveled to Sunshine Park last Monday to participate in the sectional drama festival. The theme of the play that Glenwood gave was a satire on The Birth of a Nation.

Another Sensational Invention from PHILCO

BALANCED BEAM TELEVISION

ENDS PICTURE BLUR FOREVER...INTRODUCES THE FIRST TRUE-FOCUS PICTURE IN TELEVISION HISTORY

NO Blur!

If you've ever seen a television picture, you've noticed how often the edges are blurred. That's because the electron beam that "paints" the picture on the tube face is focused right for the center but wrong for the edge.

NO Smear!

When the electron beam is right for the edges, it is often wrong for the center. The result—a faded, smeary look. Today, however, Philco has ended all this . . . the day of blur and smear is over.

NOW Philco True-Focus!

TRUE-FOCUS 100 SQ. IN. PICTURE on a 14" rectangular gray filter-face tube. Custom-Duplex Chassis, Balanced Beam, Electronic Built-In Aerial, Illuminated Station Selector, and extra sensitivity for unparalleled performance. Luxurious mahogany veneer cabinet. Philco model 1443-B. $199.95

Tax and warranty extra

HUGE 16 INCH WIDE-SCREEN . . . 145 sq. in. True-Focus picture with Balanced Beam. Extra power and sensitivity for fringe and local areas from new Custom-Duplex Chassis. Also has gray filter-face tube for better contrast, Electronic Built-In Aerial, no installation in up to 8 out of 10 locations. Beautiful Modern Hepplewhite Mahogany veneer cabinet. Philco model 1634-M. Slightly higher in blond. $279.95

Tax and warranty extra

Only Philco for '51 has it!

Never before has it been possible to enjoy a television picture completely free of either blur at the edges or fuzziness at the center.

Today, with the invention of Balanced Beam Television, Philco has solved this baffling problem . . . ushered in a new era in television picture quality.

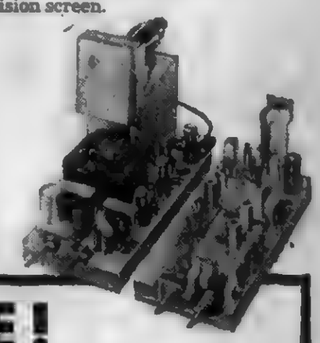
Only Philco Has It

For Philco has invented a way to balance the electron beam that "paints" the picture on the tube face . . . to lock it in positive focus over the entire picture area.

Yes, the day of clear, sharp, true focus pictures is here . . . the day of blur and smear is over. Truly, another great "first" from Philco!

Yet Philco did not stop even here in designing for you the great new 1951 receivers! Philco created an entirely new "power plant" . . . the sensational Custom-Duplex Chassis. It gives you vastly increased sensitivity; reduction from airplane and other interference; remarkable freedom from "snow" and "ghosts"; a truly amazing step-up in performance that challenges comparison with any television set ever built.

And, of course, Philco has the now famous Philco Electronic Built-In Aerial that outperforms all others by as much as 3 to 1. In up to 8 out of 10 cases, no installation is necessary.



Compare With All Others

Compare these great new Philco television receivers and you'll agree . . . Philco Balanced Beam Television is by far first in quality, first in performance, first in value . . . with the truest pictures ever seen on any television screen.

THE SENSATIONAL PHILCO CUSTOM-DUPLEX CHASSIS

An entirely new "power plant" for the great new 1951 Philco receiver—a chassis for the first time divided into its two basic parts, the Video Unit and the Power Unit.

In this radical new chassis design, Philco has incorporated the most advanced circuits, the most costly components to achieve the finest performance in local and fringe areas ever known.

COMPARE!

Make sure that the television set you buy has all these modern performance features. If it hasn't, you are not getting all that's best in television today.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

Sloan House, New York City Great International YMCA

Have you ever seen the world in one big building? Well, I did recently. In New York City there is a large, splendidly designed building of about 1200 rooms, with around 3500 men of all creeds, colors and races, housed and domiciled together as "one world" in a free country. All languages are heard, all manner of attire is seen. Yet they are as one because this is America, where that is possible.

As you enter the main entrance of this YMCA, on 34th-st, you behold a great concourse. The business section runs almost its entire length—in the center—for registration and for the giving out of keys for rooms, etc. Not a chair upon this floor and an ever moving body of young men, pouring out of big elevators, eager of face and intent on entering life's voyage. Four great elevators are used to carry them to the 14 floors. My deep impression of this "elevator family" is that tall, short, fat, lean, foreign and typical Americans are here crammed to the full capacity of the car.

On the second floor are three huge lounges, the center one in memory of W. J. Sloan, grand benefactor. A large oil portrait of this youngish, fine-faced, public-spirited man is the main attraction, hung in the center of the dominant wall. No smoking is permitted in this lounge, which is used for lectures, discussions, music appreciation programs and social dancing. By the way, all over the building are signs, changed daily, giving notice of many trips around New York City and of programs in various parts of the "Y". A splendid, reasonably priced cafeteria and a new modern coffee shop are on the main floor. In fact, from tailor shop, barber shop etc., there seems to be no limit to the service for transients.

There is no swimming pool or bowling alleys, but one whole room for pool and also a well equipped inner gym. The west lounge with its highly colored, large patterned slip covers over divans and chairs is a place to relax, with daytime radio and at evening, television. Another good sized room on 34th-st for newspapers (out of town) magazines, writing desks, etc., was very popular. The east lounge had a small grand piano and how it was played. Always a group about it (Who said young men don't play a piano?) and once in a while a real musician was at the keyboard—classical as well as popular music. I myself had a whack at it, but in the morning, more to my own satisfaction.

One most interesting thing that made me love this "World YMCA" was seeing a visiting troop of more than 50 Boy Scouts from Mexico, all speaking Spanish (of course, with a few interpreters) so swarthy in complexion, and so well mannered. Their uniforms were more beautiful than our khaki. The shorts were a dark green, with a lighter blue-green blouse and green sombrero. The spot that "got me" was their scarf—brilliant green, white, red and blue, marvelously attractive. These lads evidently were picked lads, for their manners were impeccable.

During my few nights stay, I was intrigued at seeing so many Philippines, Puerto Ricans, Chinese, Negroes, several diminutive Indians in black beards and intense green turbans. In fact, if you looked keenly, you saw all types of men from all over our country and the world. No U. S. military uniforms as yet. Ages say from 16 to 60, a wonderful intermixing of races, all in harmony—much laughter of youth, more seriousness of age. All, I hope, united in one common bond of true fellowship and brotherhood.

I think the East has this evinced far more than here in the Middle West. I have found an undercurrent of intolerance that greatly disturbs me. Probably our new YMCA will be able to eradicate it somewhat. We must be one, and "hang together" or as some notable quipped, we will "hang separately."

Now for a word on our own proposed new Hilltop "Y". We have a splendidly located lot, right near the future hub of Hilltop commerce. Let's put up a modern, artistic building with all the latest gadgets, a building that will entice youth to use it, a grand lounge all across the front of the building, for loafing and fellowship. Perhaps a good restaurant on the ground floor for local people. If at all possible, an ample sized assembly hall (and how we need that on the Hilltop), not too large, bowling alleys and pool room in the basement and possibly, later, some sleeping rooms, with lavatories and showers. Of course the Sloan House in New York was complete with great lavatories and six showers on all floors. However, Columbus cannot yet afford a branch complete in every detail but it may be able to plan the building so that extra floors can be added.

Nothing could be of more value to a live community like the Hilltop than a thriving YMCA. Local business clubs and women's clubs could even use the small assembly hall bringing in extra revenue.

NOW IS THE TIME, before prices jump, to have plans made and contributions ear-marked for our great new Hilltop "Y". LET'S DO IT! LET'S MAKE IT A REALITY SOON!

Think this over.

Letters to Editor

Gentlemen:

In connection with my announced candidacy as a non-partisan candidate for mayor of Columbus, I desire to state my program of betterments and improvements of special benefit to the people of the West Side and the Hilltop, as follows:

1. Establishment of Broad-st, east and west, as a "boulevard" with the exclusion of trucks therefrom.
2. Construction of an outer drive, to encircle the city, to provide a rapid non-stop speedway of modern design.
3. Erection of improved lighting of boulevard type, on Broad-st (blvd.).
4. Better control of traffic on "block system", more and improved traffic lights on West Side.
5. More and better play areas and recreation centers, under proper supervision, on Hilltop and West Side.
6. Establishment of district branch police station on Hilltop; better policing and control of juvenile delinquency.
7. At least one more park, with picnic facilities and public swimming pool, on Hilltop.
8. Better garbage and rubbish collection on West Side.
9. Good pavements and sidewalks.

I promise the people of Columbus:

1. Good and honest government.
2. Freedom from political corruption.
3. Service and sincerity at all times and faithful attention to duty.

I owe no allegiance to any pressure group or self-seeking clique.

For a better Columbus,
Sincerely yours,
Emile Reiss
Attorney at Law

Every week more and more people buy their own homes on the Hilltop. These are people who have made a wise investment in their own futures, in their own comforts. They are people who have investigated and found the Hilltop a fine place in which to live.

Hilltoppers have a right to be proud of their homes in this community, proud of the fact that so very many of them own their own home, proud of their investments in their future.

They have found this to be an ideal community because of a thing called "Community Spirit" . . . the spirit of cooperation that gets things done for the Hilltop.

All of these things have meant increased property values for Hilltop home owners because these accomplishments have made the community a more attractive one, have provided it with better facilities and better services.

Back of all this thing called "Community Spirit" must be community leadership. A careful analysis of this leadership will reveal that it is made up in a good portion of instances of local individual business people. The people who runs your neighborhood grocery, garage, filling station, department store, financial institution, drug store, hardware, restaurant, appliance firm and all the varied lines that provide the community with a well rounded service, are the men and women who take the initiative and furnish the leadership for these projects.

And so it goes that every time you make a purchase of an item of merchandise or service from your local individual merchant or business firm you are thereby helping yourself to strengthen this community in which you have made an investment in a home of your own.

Think it over!

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

Mrs. Colin Pinkerton of 985 Midland-av, was the recipient of the bushel of groceries awarded by the Franklin County Social Club, at the social held in Rea-Bow Hall Saturday night.

These socials are becoming more popular each Saturday night. The guest soloist was again Marjorie Thompson who sang "Because" and "My Buddy". Jack Young was the M.C. and the Canteen help was Ralph Thompson and Mr. Skidmore.

Round and square dancing was enjoyed by all.

This Saturday, July 29, the Rea-Bow Association will hold its regular July jitney supper with Alice Brokamp as chairlady. Supper will be served from 5:30 till 7:30 after which Lawrence Whitaker will act as MC for the entertainment.

Franklin County Social Club will then hold its regular Saturday night social. George Wolfe will M.C. Music by Gallagher and Worden. Admission is free.

Last Sunday, a group of parents whose children are attending Camp Mary Orton, visited the camp and held a "basket picnic" lunch, then stayed for the "Indian Ceremonies," held in the woods just south of the camp. This was held in a clearing in the woods, with a large camp fire. Children attending camp took part in several "Indian Dances" around the camp fire, with the beating of "tom-toms."

The children returned home last Tuesday and are now looking forward to the Rea-Bow picnic Sunday, Aug. 6, and "Zoo Day", Aug. 16.

Myron Selfert Elected Trustee By Methodists

Two Columbus men, Myron T. Selfert, 46 S. Westgate-av, and C. M. Hockman, 869 Montrose-av, were elected to the board of trustees of the Lancaster Methodist Camp Ground Association by the cottage owners there, Saturday, July 22. They will serve for a term of three years.

One of the oldest and largest institutions of its kind in the Middle West, the Lancaster Camp Ground is a mecca for thousands of Ohioans during the summer months. The program is varied and well planned. In addition to Methodists, a host of other religious, fraternal and civic groups converge at this beautiful, historic spot.

This week marks the close of the Methodist meetings for the season, when the celebrated organist, Curt Davis, and his wife, Charlotte, will climax the week's program on Sunday, July 30.

This week also more than 1000 young people from the Portsmouth district of the Methodist Church are holding their Youth Fellowship convention.

Looking Ahead

J. W. WORREL

Many of my readers must have heard of the Better Business Bureau. It is an institution which may be found in every important city in Canada and the United States. Its members are the great business and industrial organizations of the nation who have combined to destroy all dishonest trading practices, rackets, and any shady attempts to deceive the public at large. It is a non-stock, non-profit organization designed to increase public confidence in making purchases and to protect the public by exposing and prosecuting to the utmost limits of the law any who seek quick returns from rapacity and falsehood. This institution which is independent and will not endorse or recommend any product or concern, has this to say about life insurance. I quote:

"Life insurance as an institution is of immense benefit to society. The question — What kind and how much life insurance should I have? — is one that cannot be answered in generalities. It can be answered only by you yourself after you have consulted responsible life insurance agents, have studied what they offer, and have — equally important — made at least a general plan of your own for the protection of your dependents and your own old age. Your life insurance purchase should become a regular part of your budget. In the purchase of life insurance, the intelligent, convinced purchaser is likely to be not only the most satisfied customer of the life insurance company, but the most convinced supporter of life insurance as an institution. If and when you have made a decision to buy life insurance, it is risky to postpone action. One cannot foretell the future. Tomorrow may be too late."

These words of a familiar anthem stand for many things. They stand for mighty cities rising out of the mists of the morning . . . a rain-washed turn of the road in the Smokies . . . wheat rippling in the Kansas winds . . . the moonlit crest of breakers on the Great Lakes . . . the sagebrush and silence of Southwestern plains. They stand for simple things: Monday's wash flapping merrily on the backyard line . . . church bells on Sunday morning . . . the handclasp of a trusted friend.

They stand for America—the land where freedom rings . . .

The churches of this community—themselves great testimonials to freedom of religion—know that a priceless guarantee of our freedom is founded upon the Biblical belief in a man's right to possess and develop his own soul. As that soul develops, so does the man. Aiding in that development is perhaps the most important task of the church today.

We cannot afford to take either our freedom or our churches lightly. We must do our part to make certain that both continue to flourish and grow.

Sharing in the life of your church is your best guarantee that Americans shall continue to achieve their own destiny in the land where freedom rings.

". . . And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshipped." — II CHR. 29:30.

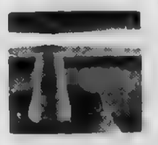
West Jefferson Church Sponsors Annual Festival

Rev. Raymond Danehy, O. M. I., pastor of St. Simon and Jude Church, West Jefferson, announces that plans have been completed for their annual summer festival to be held on the church grounds on U. S. Route 40, July 28, 29 and 30.

In cooperation with the Alex Athletic Club of Springfield and Dayton, one of the main attractions of the three-day affair will be a free outdoor wrestling show featuring several Ohioans, at 8 p. m. Saturday.

In the first bout of the evening, "Bull" Dawson, Jr., of London will take on "Tiger" Kay Poling of Dayton. Both of these boys are very promising in the junior heavyweight division. In the second bout, James Wyatt, Maysville, Ky., 200 pounds, will meet Ralph Alexander, Columbus, 208 pounds.

This is the first time an attraction of this nature has been offered in West Jefferson, and a large attendance is anticipated, Father Danehy stated.



Friday night a fish fry will be held on the school grounds.

On Sunday, from 4 'til 9 p. m., rain or shine, a country style chicken dinner will be served in the Orange Hall. This festival has always been noted for the chicken dinners prepared and served by the ladies of the parish.

Treatment of Alcoholic Based on Many Factors

(By An Alcoholic)

The victim of alcoholism suffers from mental, physical and social disorders which he has not been able to treat, correct or solve for himself. For the purpose of rehabilitation or recovery, all of the factors having any bearing on the alcoholics disordered personality must be considered in any cause of treatment. It is essential to bear in mind that we speak of rehabilitation or recovery rather than "cure" because there is on cure for alcoholism, at least to date.

A cure would imply that the compulsion underlying alcoholism would be removed. It would further imply that the alcoholic could resume drinking without experiencing any of the difficulties previously associated with his uncontrolled drinking. All evidence gathered thus far clearly rules out the possibility of an alcoholic ever becoming a moderate, controlled drinker. The objective of all treatments is to stop the drinking and correct the personality defects of the individual so that he can become a contented, useful person without the use of alcohol.

Since alcoholism is an illness, it is a medical problem and a physician or psychiatrist interested in the problem should be consulted whenever possible. Diagnosis of the underlying causes—mental, physical or social—responsible for the excessive uncontrolled drinking should be determined at the outset in order to prescribe the most effective treatment for the individual afflicted.

There are many forms of treatment employed for alcoholism including psychiatry, psychoanalysis, conditioned-reflex treatment, hospitalization, religious conversion, Alcoholics Anonymous, and others. All have played a part in the story of rehabilitation.

No one of these treatments should be expected to produce recovery for all alcoholics. In every case where a drinker is suffering from the physical effects of a prolonged drinking bout, hospitalization should be made as quickly as possible to prevent serious complications. Physical recovery is essential before attempting to treat the underlying causes of the compulsion to drink. Perhaps physical diseases or disorders of a serious nature are directly responsible for one using alcohol as a pain killer. Medical attention will rule out such possibilities or establish them as the case may be. Once the alcoholic has been "dried out" and his physical distress reduced, measures may then be prescribed to treat the basic causes. Since each alcoholic presents an individual problem, professional diagnosis tends to eliminate haphazard, costly ventures in trial and error treatment.

Alcoholism is sometimes a symptom of a grave mental disorder which requires confinement in an institution. However, the majority of alcoholics do not suffer from such deep-seated complications and usually respond favorably to appropriate treatment—provided they have a sincere desire to recover and believe that recovery is possible.

The aversion or conditioned reflex treatment requires that the patient he hospitalized for a period—perhaps two or three weeks. During the course of treatment, the patient is given intermittent doses of alcohol quickly followed by medicine to induce vomiting and lingering nausea. In time, this repeated process builds up an automatic aversion to the taste, sight, scent or thought of liquor. This aversion, however, will not last indefinitely once the patient is discharged. It must be reinforced from time to time. If the patient supports this treatment with group therapy such as is practiced by recovered alcoholics, the aversion treatment can be a most effective initial help along the route to recovery.

Psychiatric treatment begins with the doctor's attempt to help the patient develop insight of his own so that he will learn and understand for himself more about the unconscious motives and urges which have led him to use alcohol excessively. Frequently, patients can be taught to see how futile are their attempts to escape by way of alcohol and thus becomes less apt to use alcohol when confronted with future distressing problems. The patient is made to realize that for him, drinking in moderation is an impossibility. He is helped to understand himself and to know that the fault is not the bottle, but in himself. With the growth of insight comes the decline of dependence on alcohol and the birth of a sincere desire to recover. Such treatment is not of short duration and, of course, not available to all due to shortage of facilities for such.

The clinic approach to alcoholism is a most effective recovery measure, but there are all too few in this country. Clinics patterned after those established and operated by the Yale Plan have proven unusually helpful in salvaging difficult alcoholic cases. These clinics are staffed with doctors, psychiatrists, social workers, lay-therapists, and investigators skilled in the techniques of handling every phase of the alcoholic's personality problems and the factors influencing him. Physical, mental and material difficulties are analyzed at the clinic and every effort expended to correct them. There is urgent need for more of these clinics on the community level to care for the large group of neglected alcoholics who could be salvaged were the proper care and guidance to be exercised. Jails and workhouses have miserably failed as remedies. Much less costly and far more effective measures could be introduced with the establishment of community clinics. Every citizen can contribute to the cause of rehabilitation by supporting plans for community clinics, or by lending their active assistance to those already in operation.

HILLTOP AVIATION (No. 5)

Glider Club, Aviation Day Indicate Early Interest In Airplanes, Flying

Students of West High School around 1930 took to the air in keeping with the times. Under the direction of C. S. Kennedy, of the drafting department, they formed a Glider Club, the second of its kind in the United States. The other club was at Los Angeles.

The club was an outgrowth of an airplane drafting course at West High in 1927. At a meeting of the Alpha Delta Omicron Society a committee was named to draw up plans for such a club. Twenty or more signified their desire to become members. Every student had the consent of his parents to become a member. Membership was limited to 20.

First the students belonging to the club had the job on their hands of constructing this motorless air transport. They drew the plans and constructed it at school. Then when completed, thorough instruction was given in flying it.

The wood and metal work on the glider was done in the woodwork and metal departments of the school under the direction of Arthur Miller, Clarence Bateman and Phil Waldeck.

The glider was on the type of the Northrup Glider, similar to the German training gliders. The air foils followed approximately the characteristic curves of the US27.

Membership committee of the club was composed of John Giles, Tom Schwan, Dick Undeman and Horace Elliott.

The first public aviation display was tied in with a Lindbergh Day at Glenwood playground.

R. O. Harrison, manager of the Hilltop Citizens Trust and Savings Bank, together with W. C. Dyer, Glenwood supervisor, planned the day's program around Lindberg, which included:

Pledge of Allegiance: boys and girls.

Address — "Ideals of Lindbergh."

Selection of the boy on the playgrounds who most nearly represented these ideals, Director Raymond of the city recreation department was to present the boy.

President Coolidge's Tribute to Lindbergh. Read by John Lathem.

Display of miniature airplanes, pictures and photographs of planes and aviators.

Selection of winning planes and awarding of prizes by Lt. Frank M. McKee, Norton Flying Field.

The judges of the contest were R O. Harrison, Hilltop bank, Lt. Frank McKee, Norton Field, Charles Ziroli, captain Junior Aero Club, and Joseph Hutchinson, Lt., Junior Aero Club.

The prizes for the contest were sponsored by R. O. Harrison. First place winner received a free airplane ride at Norton Field. Second prize, a radiant watch; third prize, Thrift Savings account; fourth prize, compass.

Candy was given to all entrants.

Everyone on the Hilltop was invited to be present at the Aviation display.

New Press Is In Operation Today

We present herewith the first issue of the Record printed on our new Wood Cosmopolitan press.

The press, the latest development in newspaper printing equipment, is indeed a big improvement for our plant. While we are able to print as many as four colors at one time it stands to reason we will not regularly do so. Use of color will be entirely up to the discretion of our advertisers.

Numerous times in the past we have been handicapped in production of our paper by our limited capacity. This new equipment makes it possible for us to print as many as 24 pages at one time and our press speed maximum is 36,000 copies per hour.

The past four months have been hectic ones in our plant, which has undergone a complete metamorphosis, including the erection of a new addition to our building. It will be a pleasure to do business again in a normal fashion in another two or three weeks after we have had an opportunity to further remodel, arrange and clean up our shop

About the middle of October we plan a big open house party at which time we hope to have the public as our guests to see our plant in operation. We believe you will be proud of the progress of your community newspaper.

Special Edition To Mark Half Century

At the half century mark and in keeping with the plan of newspapers all over the country to record the history of their communities during the past 50 years The Hilltop Record and West Side News will publish a special Mid Century of Progress Edition on or about Oct. 12.

Work has already started on this project, which we anticipate will be the finest paper we have ever published. Numerous pages are to be printed in color and the edition will carry hundreds of local photographs.

We will welcome any suggested stories or pictures. Old photos of the community in years gone by will be especially welcome Just call RA. 1125 or drop in at the Record office.

West Alumni Variety Show Is Planned

Plans for the Alumni Variety Show will be discussed at an important meeting being held tonight at 7:30 in room 101 at West High School.

With the presentation being dated for Sept. 8, initial plans such as the theme, various acts, and production numbers have been taken into consideration, but ideas and advice from former grads concerning these and other details would be appreciated.

The importance of this meeting necessitates a large representation of the alumni body, according to officers, President Bill Hawes. Vice-President Bob Haas, and Secretary-Treasurer Marilyn Hoelcher.

Name Committee To Probe Report On Rezoning Plan

Russell Carter, president of the Hilltop Community Council, today announced a committee of the council which is to investigate further the proposed plans of an unnamed and unidentified firm to establish a fertilizer plant on Sullivant-av opposite the Sullivant-av airport

The committee as announced by Carter consists of himself as chairman, Averille Thorn, 392 S Glenwood-av, and Mrs. Edward Thompson, 220 N. Oakley-av. This committee, according to Carter, will conduct an extensive investigation into the rumored plan for rezoning of the area in question

Carter said that tentative inquiry by the committee has established that the report was true but that until positive identification and contact with the firm has been made he could not predict further action

County zoning officers said that as yet no application had been filed with them concerning the area in question.

"There will be no letdown," said Carter, "until we are absolutely sure that this firm is completely blocked from establishment of such a business in this community."

Early Sunday Fire Causes $1750 Loss To Hilltop Home

Damage unofficially estimated at $1750 was caused by fire early Sunday at the home of Mrs. Cora M. Paskell, 65 N. Roys-av.

Fireman said the blaze, reported shortly after 5 a. m., originated in an upstairs bedroom of the two-story frame residence. They theorized it probably started when bedclothing was ignited by a cigaret.

Loss to the building itself was estimated at $1,000, and to furnishings at $750

Mrs. A. D. Cunningham, 739 S Roys-av, advertised a baby buggy, highchair, tavlor tot, bathinette and other items in Record Classified. Result: Every item was sold the same evening the ad was published, and Mrs. Cunningham received a total of 15 calls

You can profit as thousands of others have done. There's nothing easier than dialing RA. 1125 and placing your ad for next week's well-read Want Ad Section. The cost is very low. Call us now!

Kiwanis Club Gives $500 To Y Bldg. Fund

A check for $505 will be presented by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club to the Hilltop YMCA at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club today at noon at Schmelzer's Restaurant.

The $500 amount will be added to the Y building fund and the $5 will serve as a membership for the club. Approval of this contribution was made by the youth service committee of the Kiwanis at their meeting Tuesday evening.

This is the third successive year the Kiwanis Club has been the largest contributor to the Y finance drive. Two years ago the organization gave $3800 toward the initial campaign; last year the contribution was $505.

The Hilltop Kiwanis Board voted Tuesday evening to go on record against the establishment of any fertilizer plant near this community.

The board also voted endorsement of the city's plan to build a storm sewer around the north side of the lake in Westgate Park.

New Pastor

Rev. Barclay Walker, new minister for the Church of Christ, 140 S. Burgess-av, is scheduled to take over the pulpit duties of that congregation Sunday, Aug. 6. He succeeds J. C. Jordon, the former pastor. Topic for his initial sermon to his new pastorate is "In Favor With God."

Hilltopper Claims Police Charges Not In Order

Laurence C Marble, 26, Southampton-av, arrested Monday morning on a charge of renting indecent films, claims that such charges are not in order due to the fact that he did not rent the film personally, but that such film was rented by Chick's Camera Exchange, 4 E. Long-st, the firm that employs him.

He further claims that the owner of the business is on vacation and that he is being made to answer to the charges against the firm and claims he is not individually responsible for this charge

Lone Hilltopper Wins Place In Model Airplane Contest

Model planes, such as the stunting model shown in the photo above were a common sight at the Hilltop's Sullivant-av airport Sunday afternoon when more than 10,000 spectators flocked to the airport to see the Fourth Annual Model Airplane Contest. In the photograph are Leach R. Landis, youthful builder of the stunt plane, and Robert Colegrove, co-director of the meet.

Dispatch Photo.

Crowds overran the Hilltop's Sullivant-av Airport Sunday afternoon to witness the Fourth Annual Model Airplane Contest. Estimates placed the total spectators at the biggest model airplane contest held this year in Ohio at a conservative 10,000 figure.

Seventy-nine trophies valued at over $1500 were awarded the contestants in the annual affair which is sponsored by Columbus Plymouth Dealers and two daily newspapers, The Columbus Dispatch and Ohio State Journal.

Herbert Wilgus, 802 S. Harris-av, was the only Hilltopper to rank in the top winner class of the competition. His entry won in the open class for scale model gasoline motors.

Highlight of the day-long program was the selection of three Franklin County youths to represent central Ohio at the fourth annual International Model Plane Contest sponsored by the Plymouth Motor Corporation in Detroit, Aug. 14-21.

Chosen were Don Crow, 16, of 544 High St., Worthington; John Toth, 19, of 2703 Columbus-av, and Sidney Van Vorhis, 19, of 860 S Roosevelt-av. The selection was based on their performances Sunday in the free flight contests.

All contestants were hampered considerably in flying their planes bly a brisk southwest wind officials said. At least 10 planes were reported lost during the day's event.

One ship, that of Walt Domer, Massillon, drifted away during one of the free flight contests and was found several hours later in Olentangy Village.

The awards were presented the winners by Capt. J. B. H. Young commanding officer of the Port Columbus Naval Air Station, and Lt. Col. J. P. Haines, commanding officer, Marine Air Detachment at Port Columbus

City Council Action Promised On Hilltop Bus Line Extension

Five Hilltop Persons Hurt In Accidents

Five Hilltop persons figured in traffic accidents Monday with two of them requiring hospitalization as a result of the two mishaps.

Most serious of the accidents resulted in the injury of seven persons, according to the Ohio State Highway Patrol which investigated the two car head-on crash in Route 29, north of London.

Mrs. Lorena Distelhorst, 48, of 297 W. Park-av, wife of "Chubby" Distelhorst, proprietor of Distlehorst Market, at 2445 W Broad-st, suffered head injuries in the collision and was not removed to her home until late Tuesday. Mrs Orella Ellis, 50, of Urbana, occupant of the other auto figuring in the accident suffered head and pelvic injuries requiring hospitalization at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Mrs. Distelhorst was driving one auto Her daughter, Darlene, 12, and another passenger in the car, Mrs. Anna McCoy, 67, also of 297 W. Park-av, suffered cuts and bruises. All required treatment at Mt. Carmel Hospital

Two sons and one daughter of Mrs Ellis suffered cuts and bruise Charles A Ellis was driving the car Other passengers were Vernice and Vernon Ellis 17, twins

In the other accident involving Hilltop residents, Donald "Pat" Shirtzinger, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shirtzinger, 3566 Brookside-blvd suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and internal injuries when the motorcycle he was driving collided with an auto in Route 3 just north of Route 161 His condition was reported fair in Grant Hospital.

A companion of young Shirtzinger, Ray Simms, 25, of the Brookside-blvd address, also suffered injuries in the mishap.

Over 1000 Signers Demand Increase In Local Bus Service

Administrative action was promised at the next meeting of Columbus City Council, Monday evening when a resolution calling upon the Columbus Transit Company to extend its Sullivant-av bus line from Binns-blvd to Derrer-rd was presented to Columbus Council President Henry A. Koontz by John Beall, 274 S. Sylvan-av. Beall in presenting the resolution acted as the spokesman for more than 1,000 petitioners in the area affected.

The resolution, which was drafted Saturday by Robert M. Draper, attorney, was prompted by action of a committee of Hilltop bus riders who circulated petitions asking for the extension.

The resolution calls for scheduling of the following route:

West in Sullivant-av from Binns-blvd to Derrer-rd; north in Derrer-rd to Wicklow-rd; east in Wicklow-rd to Binns-blvd; south in Binns-blvd to Sullivant-av.

The frequency of operation of the service to the new extension was not mentioned in the resolution. This phase was left to be worked out between the transit company and the Public Utility Committee of Columbus City Council.

Initial soundings following the presentation of the resolution to the city council indicated that the city administration is in favor of the bus route extension.

First indication of the desires of Hilltop bus riders for extension of the Sullivant-av line became known late last week when it was revealed that a group had been active in circulation of petitions asking the action be taken. The group has already collected more than 1,000 signatures of residents in Westgate and in the county west and south of Sullivant-av and Derrer-rd.

Sullivant-av trolley buses, it was pointed out, now terminate at Binns-blvd. The Hague gasoline bus operates a "feeder" service three blocks west of Binns-blvd to Brinker-av and residents in the area complain that the feeder line is of virtually no use inasmuch as it operates only once every 20 minutes and takes them only three blocks to the regular Sullivant-av terminal.

While the original sponsors of the petition had only contemplated asking for extension along Sullivant-av other petitioners insisted on the "loop" arrangement around Westgate Park, which was incorporated into the resolution presented to council Monday night.

The extension and loop arrangement, it was pointed out, would serve several thousand residents in an area now located more than a half mile from a bus line. It would also save Columbus Transit Company the cost of installing turn around facilities at Derrer and Sullivant-av.

Listed as leaders in the move for better transportation service in the Hilltop area are Mrs. Dean Fenner, 476 Derrer-rd; Mrs. Ed Kennedy, 483 Derrer-rd; Esther Jones, 3779 Sullivant-av; Mrs. George Headley, 3572 Sullivant-av; Mrs. M. D. Gibboney, 3321 Parkside-dr; Dr. F. S. Gleisch, 3310 Wicklow-rd; Mrs. Walter Ewing, 3322 Wicklow-rd; Mrs. L. J. Shonting, 477 Josephine-av; Elizabeth Meginnis, 292 Southampton-av; Mr. and Mrs. John Beall 274 S. Sylvan-av; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Weinhart, 260 Powhatan-av; Mrs. Ray Highfield, 3824 Wicklow-rd, and Mrs. O. D. Hathaway, 3272 Wicklow-rd.

Improvement Underway On West Broad St.

Improvement and leveling of W. Broad-st for a one and one-half mile stretch from Central-av west to Wheatland-av, was announced today by Robert F. Werner, 187 N. Harris-av, city engineer.

Werner said that the planing operation, as it is known, will cover the entire street from curb to curb. He said that the project, which is now underway, proposed to level and smooth the street surface in order to provide better riding ease for motorists and bus passengers

Contract for the project was awarded to The Universal Planer Corp. which utilizes a huge machine in first heating the asphalt and then cutting the surface to a uniform level and grade. Werner said that upon completion of the project all wrinkles and corrugations in the street will be completely smoothed out.

"Luck Of The Irish" Holds For Michael And His Owner

Michael an Irish terriet, is a "lucky dog"

Oscar Wilmer, 53, of 586 Hillsonia-av, is lucky, too, but for some reason or the other has not the luck with which the Irish terrier has been endowed. Both though, have reason to contemplate the fates that saved them from instant death last Friday.

It happened in Dublin-av, when Michael's master, who operates a restaurant on Dublin-av, decided to take Michael out for a stroll

Just west of the restaurant, as they walked near a Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad overpass, a 400-pound steel door came loose from a freight train on the overpass, and plunged into the street, grazing Wilmer's shoulder, but missing Michael.

Wilmer was knocked to the street by the impact and firemen took him to White Cross Hospital where he was attended for back and shoulder injuries

"Just two more inches and he'd have been a goner," said Columbus Police Officer Harold Yates, who investigated the accident

Michael, of course, strongly avers that it's "just the luck o' the Irish" and being an Irish terrier who is there to challenge his claim.

Parents Are Warned Against Postals Signed "Aunt Mary"

Hilltop parents of new babies were warned during this past week to be wary of postcards currently in the mails to them and signed "Aunt Mary," Columbus Better Business Bureau sounded the warning.

Homer Frye, manager of the Bureau explained that "Aunt Mary" is the name of a photographic promotion scheme which makes many misleading claims in inviting parents to join a birthday club.

Frye said the postal cards are mailed to parents after the baby's announcement appears in the papers and read something like this: "Afraid to wake the baby. Please call me at ADams 6324. Aunt Mary."

Parents calling the number, according to Frye, are connected with Mrs. Mary Gray, 252 Avondale-av, who acts as the local representative of the so-called "club," which offers to take "free" photographs by a designated photographer with a payment of $3.93 "for handling the proofs."

According to the Columbus Better Business Bureau, the photographic promotion is by a Lisle Milton Ramsey of St. Louis, who was known in Columbus and other Ohio cities in 1946 under the name of Lisle Ramsey and convicted and sentenced to federal prison on charges of draft evasion and use of the mails to defraud.

PHILCO Brings To Television The First True Focus Picture

SEE THEM NOW AT

BETTER HOME CENTER

Your Hilltop And West Side Philco Dealer

NO Blur! If you've ever seen a television picture, you've noticed how often the edges are blurred. That's because the electron beam that "paints" the picture on the tube face is focused right for the center but wrong for the edge.

NO Smear! When the electron beam is right for the edges, it is often wrong for the center. The result—a faded, smeary look. Today, however, Philco has ended all this...the day of blur and smear is over.

NOW PHILCO TRUE-FOCUS!

Philco research has invented a new way to balance the electron beam . . . lock it in perfect focus in the center, at the edges, over the entire picture area. You get, for the first time in television, a sharp, clear, true focus picture.

Yes, BALANCED BEAM television, the dramatic PHILCO invention, ends forever picture blur and smear — makes possible the clearest, truest picture ever known in television

There's never been anything like it in television history. It's never been possible before.

But now with Balanced Beam Television—another sensational invention from Philco Laboratories—the day of blur and smear is over—the day of the true-focus picture is here.

Never before have you seen a television picture so clear, so sharp, so thoroughly enjoyable to watch.

Sensational New Chassis

There's new performance too in these magnificent 1951 Philcos—performance such as television has never known before. For Philco engineers have created a new kind of chassis, the sensational Philco Custom-Duplex Chassis. It's engineered with the most advanced circuits, more costly parts, custom-built quality throughout.

Brilliant New Performance

The result is a vast increase in sensitivity, reduction of airplane and other interference, amazing freedom from "snow" and "ghosts"...with performance in "fringe" as well as local areas, that challenges all comparison.

And, of course, the great 1951 Philcos have the now-famous Philco Electronic Built-In Antenna that outperforms all others by as much as 3 to 1.

These brilliant new Philco Balanced Beam Television sets are at your dealer's now—magnificently styled in blond mahogany or walnut...at prices that make Philco the outstanding value in television today.

A Healthy Condition

A report by the Record in its news columns last week concerning the proposed establishment of a fertilizer plant in this vicinity caused a furore among the citizenry of this Hilltop community. Aroused residents and business men of this section of the city went into immediate action, all on a common level and with one intent and purpose . . . to defeat and prevent establishment of that type business in this thriving and progressive community.

It is a healthy condition, indicative of the true community spirit that exists on the Hilltop, when business leaders, civic organizations, and the citizenry all meet on common ground with the same objective as its goal. Differences of opinion, social and economic standings, placed into the background as they were during this past week, for voicing of an opinion and effort that is for the good of the entire community, is ever the true evidence of community spirit and solidarity.

Few communities in this metropolitan area have achieved the degree of progressiveness that is evidenced on the Hilltop. Many have lacked the initiative and willingness to lay aside petty jealousies in order to attain and nourish a community spirit as exists on the Hilltop today.

We of the Hilltop can be justly proud of the envy with which other communities in Columbus regard us. A singleness of purpose to achieve only the best for family, home and immediate environ has brought this recognition. It is a recognition of which to be proud, since it emphasizes the fact that we are a team . . . a team of varied elements, that when combined in thought, purpose and action represent a combination that reflects the true American ideology of complete accord and unison "whenever the chips are down."

It is a healthy condition. A condition that is commendable and most assuredly beneficial to the entire Hilltop.

How About Government Lobbyists?

Lobbying—real and alleged—is again in headlines. As usual, it is being used to buttress the political drive to further control industry, and to place barriers in the way of free speech and the free press.

However, there is one phase of lobbying which the politicians avoid like the plague—and that is the propaganda fed to the people by government officials and bureaus.

In a fine editorial, the Wisconsin State Journal said, "There are more than 3500 Federal employes—who cost taxpayers more than a million dollars a month—engaged in selling and lobbying for and stirring up support for the progams wanted—not by the people—but by department heads and Mr. Truman . . .

Congressman Vorys points out one great danger in this tax-supported Federal lobby: 'Whether the immediate purpose of government propaganda is good or bad, the fact remains that individual liberty and free institutions cannot long survive when the power of government may be marshaled against the people to perpetuate a given policy or a particular group of officeholders'."

The lobbyists who represent industry, agriculture, labor unions and other institutions must register and make periodic reports to the govenment. But the lobbyists within the government are free of all restraint. They are an insidious and dangerous influence—and all of us are forced to pay their salaries and expenses.

If Congress is going to look into lobbying, how about starting with the department heads and the bureaucratic trained seals?

YOUR NEWSPAPER

Multitude Of Skills And Trades Needed To Produce Newspaper

Members of this and all other newspaper staffs are victims of that quirk of human nature so well expressed in the axiom which asserts that: "An expert is a man away from home." Newspaper people are very much at home here, so they are seldom looked upon as experts. But they are experts, and specialists, in a wide variety of occupations and professions, all of them vitally important to this community.

A home to newspaper, such as this one, is published only through the teamwork of people of many skills. It is doubtful if any other business or institution in the community surpasses the newspaper in its complexity, in the varied nature of the expert know-how its operation requires.

Modern drug stores, which require a combination of merchandising and professional aptitudes, come closest to the newspaper in the variety of demands made upon staffs. But in addition to merchandising and professional abilities comparable to those of the drug store, the newspaper's people must also have mechanical understanding and skill of a high order.

Newspaper mechanical staff people must know both how to operate a variety of machines, and how to maintain and repair them.

Editorial staff members are specialists who perform their daily duties within the restricting confines of a code of ethics fully as binding as are those of other professions. They must have ability, a liking for people, knowledge of words, a feeling for art, insatiable curiosity, willingness to work all hours under pressure, and be familiar with mechanical practices and limitations of the printing plant.

While sharing with their neighbors the enjoyment of a community event, the editorial worker must also cover it, taking notes, names, dates and data, so that while others relax afterward, the story of the event can be written. The editor and reporter, like doctors, are "on duty" every hour of every day.

Members of the advertising and business office staffs, too, are specialists, each in his or her own way. And they, too, are important to the community. Telling the local service and merchandising story is vital to the smooth functioning of professional and commercial sides of community life.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

LET'S STOP THE WILD DRIVERS ON W. BROAD ST.

A fine station wagon was parked in that safety spot in front of Kroger's and the Economy Drug Store, rather near the sidewalk. I observed four lovely children playing over the seats, 2 boys and a girl, let's say, ages 8 to 10. So lovely, so beautiful. Then the dad came, a nicely dressed young man. Well, can you imagine this car of joy pulling out into Broad-st then — Horrors — a shrieking crash, horrible screams, grinding of brakes! A sickening sight—horrible! Ambulance sirens!

Let's pull down the curtain of this dreadful scene. Was it your family? Why does this need to happen? We MUST stop it—you and I—or more tragedies will Someone told me that most cars manufactured are capable of going 100 miles per hour. How terrible to start with, when grey haired, experienced train engineers don't exceed say 80 miles per hour and on tracks. Yet I have seen from my apartment many cars speeding wildly at 70 to 80 miles per hour to make a light. We pedestrians cannot "get an even chance" to cross at the right intersections because the traffic light intervals are far too long. Why, do you know that it is men and women (I have seen them) of about 25 years of age and teen-agers who pull wide open the throttle and dive—yes, dive—from some filling station into Broad-st. Then these great trucks—they come in two's and three's and block traffic so that private cars cannot pass them. And then the cars try at 80 miles an hour to make the green light. THIS HAS GOT TO BE STOPPED! How? Well, if I had my way, council would place again, as it did 10 or 15 years ago, a traffic light at practically every street from the west city limits to the city hall. That would stop these murderers.

Then comes September and thousands of small fry (if you can call loved ones that) cross the streets for lunch. They dart here and there, animated by youthful impulses. Oh, so dear to parents—yet they take their life in their hands. Even at Hague-av. Yes, let's shunt these huge trucks off W. Broad-st. Let's not let Junior drive the family car until 18 years of age. That is, if you desire to cooperate for the safety of your and other people's loved ones. Let the speed limit, anywhere, be 45 miles per hour—NO MORE—on NEW cars, and stop these talking commercials over the radio for high anti-knock gas and front workable brakes and more powerful gas. Let those brakes be in the mind of each driver. This slaughter of people must be stopped. And again I reiterate—place traffic lights (road blocks, so to speak) at practically every corner. Why, we see these "dern fools" start at the Westgate light, then go 80 miles an hour to the Roys-av light. Put another one at Haldy or Huron and button them down all the way (except passing the State Hospital) to the lower West Side and to the city hall.

This horrible example I cited in the beginning of this column is no exception. It could happen to you. LET'S STOP THIS WILD DRIVING ON BROAD STREET.

Think this over.

ELEGY IN AN OHIO GRAVEYARD

A slow wind blowing out of the west
Moves in the grass where they lie at rest,
And bears no sigh of memory
Back from the west where their kinfolk be.
They sleep in the August afternoon,
The brambles bend and the wild bees croon,
And every headstone has fallen flat;
A rabbit dens there, but what of that,
The little field by the little road
That climbs the hill is a fair abode,
And out of respect for the folk who went
To the other side of the continent
In the long ago, the cows are pent.

But no sighs fall where furred feet patter,
Thirty graves—how the red haws spatter!
They are forgotten, and does it matter?

CHAOS AND NEED

There is ruthlessness in the jay's hard peck
And in the Eagle's plunge
there are swift, hard plans.

But there is high grace
in the swan's white neck.
There are songs from nests more complete than man's.

The feathered ones kill to eat, for a need.
But where's the bird's plunge cruel as human greed?

Team members not present when picture was taken are Joe Hutchison, 14, Dick Hutchison, 16, and John Schuls, 15.

American Legion Junior Baseball is growing on the Hilltop and in Franklin County. Camp Chase Post No. 98 has three teams playing this year instead of one or two as in the past. Franklin County, which takes in 32 posts of the American Legion, has three leagues instead of the usual two leagues.

All of the boys playing on the Camp Chase teams are Hilltop boys and the managers of the teams are members of Camp Chase Post as required by the Legion. The managers are Homer Burke, Jr., 25, chairman of Legion Junion Baseball for Camp Chase Post, and manager of team No. 1; Vincent Welker, 27, manager of team No. 2, and William D. Ferguson, 30, of 36 S. Hague-av, manager of team No. 3. All three saw service in World War II and are residents of the Hilltop.

Many people are under the impression that for a boy to play legion baseball his father or brother must belong to the legion. This is not true as the only requirements are that a boy be a resident of the Hilltop on January 1st and not be 17 years old before that time.

The games are played on regulation ball diamonds at Sunshine Park, Westgate Park, Mt. Calvary, Fort Hayes. A non-partison, uniformed umpire is furnished by the legion for each game.

Vernon Fiscus, 616 S. Eureka-av, is chairman of Franklin County Legion Baseball and Larry Scales, 603 S. Eureka-av, has been chairman of the entire Ohio State Legion baseball program for the past 10 years. They are both past commanders of Camp Chase Post.

The winning team in each league goes in to the play offs for the county, then the state and so on down the line until a championship team is decided for the east and west side of the Mississippi River. These two championship teams are then guests of the National and American Leagues at the World Series.

At no time does it ever cost a boy playing legion baseball as all expenses for the entire season are paid by the American Legion.

Championship playoff — Aug. 18.

Little League Series Starts On Monday

With the recreation department Little League baseball elimination series coming up during the week of Aug. 7, many important games are scheduled prior to the start of city championship series.

In each of the eight leagues sponsored by the recreation department the winner and the runner-up teams will qualify for the city championship series. No all-star teams will be permitted to compete. The winning and the runner-up teams of each league will be permitted to select two players from the remaining two teams and these two added players will then compete with the respective teams.

Certain special rules have been adopted for Little League baseball play and all of these rules are followed by all eight recreation department leagues. One of the rules of Little League baseball does not allow the base runner to leave his base until after the ball has reached the batter. Under another rule the batter cannot advance to first base on a dropped third strike. Legal game is six innings but it can be a legal game with three and one-half innings.

CAN DO
Make House Safe Before Leaving It

LABOR DAY is coming up and the long week-end will lure millions of us away from our homes for a final summer fling. Now, when you leave home for a few days, or even for your annual vacation, do you worry all the time for fear that you might return to a heap of ashes instead of the house you left?

Many persons are hounded by this mental spectre, but even if you're not it's a good idea to have a check list of things to do before you close up the house.

Not only will you have greater peace of mind, but you actually will stand a better chance of having a home to come home to if you make this "fire hazard check-up" before you leave:

1. Empty all ash trays and wastebaskets in the house. This makes a pretty good guarantee that there will be no forgotten cigarettes left burning. Also, inspect every room for cigarette butts.

2. Take a critical look into the closets and basements for accumulations of combustible rubbish. If there is a sizeable pile of anything that might be dangerous, clean it out.

3. Make a special round of the house to turn off all electrical appliances — radios, television sets, fans and lamps. If you're going to be away for a longer time, you will want to pull out all flexible cords from the electrical outlets in the walls. The idea behind this is that the cords are the weakest part of the wiring system, and if there is going to be trouble the chances are greater that it will happen in the flexible cords.

4. Remove all water-filled glass jars and bowls from the vicinity of the windows. Sunlight, refracted through such vessels, has caused fire. (Besides, this is such a clever little precaution that you can brag about it to your friends.)

5. You'll turn off all the gas jets, of course. There is generally no need to shut off pilot lights and main valves of gas furnaces and water heaters, although you might want to do so just to save gas.

6. As a final buffer against accident, have one of your accommodating neighbors look into your house periodically while you're away. He'll be able to spot trouble before it develops into anything serious.

On the left is Leo H. O'Connor, chairman of the Franklin County Council, sponsoring the event, and between them is Arthur J. Schools Let Out The Day "Akron" Flew Over Hilltop

All necks were stretched into the air Oct. 23, 1931, the morning the giant dirigible "Akron" made its first visit to Columbus. And Hilltoppers were especially favored as the ship headed westward directly over this community.

Excitement reigned as housewives went from back door to back door yelling for their neighbors to come out and have a look. Some thought their houses were on fire but quickly calmed down as they glanced heavenward to see the queen of the skies.

Principals of schools realized the educational value of such a distinguished visitor and sounded the fire alarms to give all students an opportunity to see the ship.

It was a great day for everyone when the giant ship visited. Those politically inclined even forgot the heat of their campaign for the moment.

While the downtown newspapers carried stories of two famous flyers at Norton Field, it so happened that one of the famous airmen landed at Columbus Airport, the Hilltop flying field on Sullivant-av, instead of the east side field.

At about the same time Col. Charles Lindbergh landed at Norton Field from the east, Ray Page, the man who first signed Lindy for flying instructions in 1922 at Lincoln Airport, came down from the sky at Columbus Airport in a Lincoln-Page plane, one of his own make.

When Page learned of Lindbergh's presence in town he called him and made plans to meet him.

The home of taking Page and his pilot, W. A. Brooke, downtown to a hotel went to Gifford Markeson, 18, air enthusiast at Columbus Airport and employed at the Record Printing Co.

Conversation on the trip to town was centered about the Lincoln-Page plane and the Columbus Airport.

Page thought the Hilltop field was a very good airport and stated that he liked it better than Norton Field because of the accessibility and nearness to town.

He recalled instances of his meeting with Lindbergh. "Lindy has always been a quiet and unassuming chap and he was especially so the day he came to the field for information concerning flying lessons. He hung around the hangars about an hour before he finally introduced himself and told us he wanted to learn to fly," said Mr. Page.

Three Hilltop men almost reached the height of fame when they came down out of the skies at Cleveland airport in a Ryan monoplane, the exact reproduction of the 'Spirit of St Louis."

As the wheels touched the ground and the plane coasted toward the crowd the people swarmed out onto the field in great numbers and mounted police greeted them to keep the crowd back. For a brief moment all was excitement but this was soon ended when Edward Rice, 2257 Sullivant-av, pilot of the plane, stepped out, followed by Myron Riley, 118 N. Burgess-av, and Paul Winningham, 72 Eldon-av.

The cause of the excitement was that the people of Cleveland were expecting Col. Charles Lindbergh that morning.

All three men were connected with the Columbus Airport on Sullivant-av. Rice was the first student flyer to take a solo flight at the local field.

This was the first field in the state to have complete lighting for night flying. Several night flights had been taken since the installation of the beacons and floodlights at the local field.

Mr. Sherron, vice-president of the Continental Airways, carriers of air mail, visited the field and stated that it was one of the best lighted fields in the country at that time.

Paul Ninas, direct from Germany, has been making many flights at the field. He was a flyer in the German flying service during World War I and was said to have 13 American planes to his credit.

New Grandparents

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Herbert, 89 S. Richardson-av, became grandparents Aug. 1, when their daughter, Mary, now Mrs. H. V. Bieghley, and Dr. Beighley were blessed with a 6 pound 2 ounce girl at White Cross Hospital.

5 YRS. AGO

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Tope, 169 S. Terrace-av, returned home recently from a visit in California and Arizona, where they spent some time with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Johnson, in California, and their son, G. R. Tope, and family at Phoenix, Ariz.

Pfc. Cecil Kesterson, 449 N. Highland-av, has been recently decorated with the Bronze Star Medal award for bravery under enemy fire. Pfc. Kesterson has served overseas nine months.

Former Hilltop Residents Enthused By Hobby

Explaining the manufacturing technique of pottery and other statuary, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Rather, Los Angeles, Cal., display enthusiasm in their newly acquired hobby to their daughters, Mrs. Lee Washburn (left) and Mrs. H. C. Burroughs (extreme right). The Rathers, former Hilltoppers, are visiting their daughters for a month and are contemplating returning to the Hilltop in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Rather, Los Angeles, Cal., former residents of the Hilltop for 26 years, have returned to visit with their daughters, Mrs. Lee Washburn, 244 Eldon-av, and Mrs. H. C. Burroughs, 675 S. Wayne-av.

The Rathers left the Hilltop three years ago to visit relatives in California for a few months. They soon discovered new interests and have remained in Los Angeles for the duration of three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rather made their residence at 675 S. Wayne-av, when they were in the grocery business on the Hilltop. The Rathers had one of the first stores on Mound-st, being located at Wayne-st and Mound-st. They can remember the time when Mound-st was not even put through. They also had a store located on Valleyview-dr.

While in California, besides their regular work at Dumas of California, they have gone to hobby school and developed a variety of new interests. Mr. Rather learned woodworking while Mrs. Rather took the courses offered in ceramics and textile painting.

Mr. Rather became more and more intrigued in ceramics and soon decided to change his course. They are now working together while Mr. Rather makes the molds. Mrs. Rather paints the delicate figurines.

They are going back to finish the course and are contemplating a business on the Hilltop in the near future.

A garden party was held for the Rathers by their daughters July 26, so that they might have the opportunity of show their many friends the samples of their work they brought with them.

Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bruner, Linda and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Anita and John, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haering, Mr. and Mrs. Frank LeSuer, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jackson and Maria, Mr. and Mrs. Holly Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Green, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ring and Nancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Jessie Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. Chubby Distelhorst and Darlene, Edith Burroughs, Vivian Mock, and Mrs. and Mrs. John Smock and Bill.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One Of Them

We open our column today with a few BUMPS and a couple KNOCKS. Yes—introducing and receiving into our Hi-Ridge Section are MR. AND MRS. ALLEN BUMP. They moved into our territory with daughter BONNIE, nine years old. They came from up north on Blake-av to stay with us and watch us grow.

And the KNOCKS—Well, ED and HELEN NOK were already Hilltoppers and asked me right away who the Hi-Ridge writer was—and of course I told them!

BERNARD FLOYD had a new 16½ inch television set installed with outside antenna and everything, and I forgot to ask which model it is. I do know it's in blond wood. I've always preferred blondes, you know.

Did you see that new "OLDS" PHIL RIEG bought three weeks ago? It's not new, really 11 years old—but it takes him where he wants to go—until he wins that "Chevvy" he has a chance on.

We noticed the new louvers on BUMFIELD'S house. We heard Herb put them in. Gives the "sides a new slant"; the "house a new outlook"; and the RUMMIES a new "lookout."

KIRBY'S pup has already grown into dog. It won't be long before the three KIRBY children can ride on its back.

What next will they think of? Saw BILLILE KUHN, eight-year-old son of CHARLIE have a frozen popsicle on a pencil. He was telling me he didn't know whether it had an eraser on it or not, but he wasn't going to take long to find out.

LEE MASTBAUM and DOTT MURNANE both got new permanents. Why do they insist on always wearin' hats? We can't tell which twin has the TONI.

CHUCK SPANAGLE will have extra keys made for his home by the time this is printed. Last Friday late—he lost his last key to his house and he and his family all sat on the porch wondering how to get in without breaking a window. However, that's what they had to do.

Today CHUCK is batting his brains out because window No. 2 was broken with his son's flying baseball. Why couldn't it have happened the same day he lost his key?

Nope,—he don't live right.

Does this picture bring it back to you?

Probably your creek broadened out into a pond, too, just before it entered the old woods. Ducklings chattered along the banks. There was a sunken log or two where the old turtle fell asleep every afternoon to the drowsy hum of the dragonflies. And when the West Wind shook the trees upstream, blossoms floated down the current a few minutes later, looking like groups of solid citizens on their way to an event of importance.

Yes—your old swimming hole! There was no place like it in the world

Small boys and swimming holes just naturally "go together" in any summer. For Almighty God, busy with the affairs of the universe, did not forget such things as swimming holes for small boys.

That's something for a church to teach your children at the same time that they are absorbing the wonders of the out-of-doors. Mixed in proper proportions, natural experience and religious experience belong together in the life of your child.

Swimming holes and summertime.

Sunday School and summertime.

Make sure that your children have both—for a summer they won't forget.

For the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof.—1 Cor. 10:26

Mr. and Mrs. Mussard, students at Ohio Wesleyan University, are well known in the state for their musical programs. They have appeared on television in Columbus and have performed before numerous church groups.

Mr. Mussard has played the leading role in several Ohio Wesleyan musical productions and is soloist at William Street Methodist Church in Delaware.

The Mussards presented the program for dedication of the organ at Columbia Heights church two years ago and have given one vesper service at the church since that time.

Everyone is welcome to attend the service this Sunday evening.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

Many people were disappointed last Saturday when they arrived at the Rea-Bow Hall for the July Jitney Supper sponsored by the association. It seems that the ladies in charge underestimated the amount of food to prepare and those arriving late had only empty plates to look at. The association wishes to apologize for this, and will make sure it will not happen at the August Jitney Supper, to be held Saturday, Aug. 26.

The floor show that followed the supper was very nice. Little Vickie Kraft stole the hearts of all when she danced and sang "Deep in The Heart of Texas." She will appear again at the Rea-Bow picnic. Mr. and Mrs. "Shorty" Wells entertained with songs of old, and some of the best "bone rattleing" we have heard. William Marot drew lots of applause with his piano playing. Mr. Marot will appear at the Rea-Bow Hall again this Saturday when Marjorie Thompson will be soloist, singing "Roses of Piccardy" and "My Buddy" among other selections.

Sunday, Aug. 6, members and friends of The Rea-Bow Association and the Franklin County Social Club will hold a picnic at Maple Shades. All those who wish to attend this picnic are requested to be at Rea-Bow Hall, so the caravan of cars can leave for Maple Shades at 11 a.m. After basket picnic lunch in the main shelter house, a floor show will be presented by Lawrence Whitaker. Songs of all types, dancing and some real old time fiddling will be offered. A portable platform is being constructed for this occasion.

The board of trustees will meet Tuesday, Aug. 18, in Rea-Bow Hall.

A bathing beauty contest, both junior and senior will be held. Games for all and prizes galore. Prizes for the oldest couple, the largest family, and the couple married the longest will be awarded. George Wolfe is general chairman.

America's first commercial saw-mill began operations at Berwick, Me., in 1631.

Kiwanis Club Shows It Has Long Range Vision

Action of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club last week in presenting another check for $500 to the building fund of the Hilltop YMCA is proof again that this club has a long range vision for the good of the community.

Back three years ago when the "Y" was founded here this building fund was started. It grew gradually but steadily until it was sufficiently large to make the down payment on the two large lots at S. Harris and Broad-st.

Just when the local "Y" will be in a position to erect a fine building on this corner is not known. Much may depend on the present international crisis. But in any event the community has shown the foresight and vision necessary to make it become a realization in the not too distant future.

How many of us have looked back many times and said "The community's greatest need today is a community center where organizations may have meeting places and where the youth of the community may find additional guided recreational facilities." Had the present "Y" program been started with the same enthusiasm some 10 years ago we would perhaps be using a "Y" building here today. But if we wait another 10 years to start the wheels rolling we will still be just waiting.

The Hilltop Kiwanis is to be congratulated on its fine spirit and its ability to see ahead to the time when a fine "Y" building will become a reality.

You Are Urged To Join With Hilltop Anti-Hoarding Club

Are you one of the millions in this country who sincerely believes we have plenty of everything to go around, and that it is absolutely silly as well as very unpatriotic to hoard?

While an increasingly large number of men from this community are being called back to the service to meet a threat to our world peace there are many who are traversing the same tracks they followed at the time of the last war . . . laying their hands on every available item of food, clothing, etc., that they think might become scarce.

The Record feels that hoarding is unpatriotic and should be discouraged. We are therefore urging the residents of this community to take just a minute to join a unique organization for the purpose of discouraging hoarding.

If you are definitely an anti-hoarder why not send in your application to become a member of the Hilltop Anti-Hoarding Club. It is simple to join. Just sign the pledge and send it in. It is simple to become a good member. Just don't hoard. Sign the pledge and address it to the Anti-Hoarding Club, care of The Hilltop Record, 2465 W. Broad St., and mail it at once. Get your neighbors to do the same. Names of all members will be printed in the Record in the next issue after being received at the office.

I believe this country is strong and will stay strong with a patriotic spirit being shown by its citizens. One of the least things I can do in this emergency is to refrain from hoarding and I hereby pledge my support of this program so there will be plenty for our fighting men and for our people at home.

Rezoning At Rome Meets Initial Test

Rome Business Association this week was informed that the first step in its efforts toward rezoning of certain areas in that community had met with success when presented to the zoning board for approval. The project, which is one of many planned by the business group aiming toward a betterment of the community, has asked that two main areas of the community be rezoned from that of residential classifications to that of commercial and industrial.

Areas affected by the proposed rezoning plans are both sides of W. Broad-st from Daugherty-rd east to the Franklin-twp line. All property bordering W. Broad-st in that designated area would be rezoned to a commercial classification. All land east of New Rome to the Franklin-twp line and north of the proposed commercial zone would be rezoned to an industrial classification.

Although the proposed rezoning plan has met with initial success, it was pointed out by Grover Clements of the Franklin County Planning Commission that it would still have to clear two more hurdles. It must yet be passed by the planning board and then clear through the Franklin County Commissioners. At the present time the proposal is in the hands of the planning board and indications are that it will clear and be sent to the county commissioners for approval some time yet this week.

D. J. Kunz, president of the Rome Business Association, this week expressed confidence that the entire proposal would pass all hurdles and become a reality. He said that when and if rezoning is accomplished the business association was contemplating other projects which would benefit the entire Rome community.

Glenwood Rec. Center Cinches Championship

Glenwood Recreation Center cinched a championship in the Junior Knothole League of the Hilltop and West Side. The league was set up by the city recreation department with Mr. Goodrich in charge.

There are four teams in the league with each team playing two rounds. Glenwood has won four and lost one to the hands of Westgate Park, 16-6.

In the first round Glenwood beat Westside Pirates 5-0 with Jimmy Mental pitching a no-hit game. Glenwood also beat the Grandview Gophers 15-8 with Lee DeMastry getting credit for the win.

In the second round Glenwood opened against Westside with Glenwood on top 7-0 with Bill Bickham the winning pitcher. Bickham also pitched the second game against Grandview, allowing no hits, but one run. Glenwood has one game left with Westgate. Win or lose they still have the championship because Grandview, Westside and Westgate each have three losses. Lee DeMastry, Jim Mental and Kenny Clapsaddle have one win apiece. Dick Converse who plays catcher, has two home runs and several extra bases.

Glenwood will have to play two playoff games with winners of other leagues throughout the city. Then there will be two teams left to play in the Red Bird stadium for city knothole championship. Glenwood is coached by Dick Koontz.

INJURED IN CRASH

William Manus, 32, of 69 N. Powell-av, suffered lacerations on the knees and face late Monday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an auto at Mix-rd and Broad-st, deputy sheriffs reported.

Square Dance At Glenwood Aug. 11

Wednesday evening there will be a wiener roast at Glenwood. Everyone is invited to come providing you supply your own wieners and drink. There will be a community sing around the fire after the roast. There will also be games and contests for children.

A square dance is planned for Friday evening, Aug. 11, for teenagers and adults. The dance will be held outside but in case of rain it will be held in the recreation building.

Movies are being shown at Glenwood on Mondays and Fridays at 2:30 p. m. There is a charge of five cents for the Friday movie but there is no charge for the Monday movie. These movies are approved by Parents' Magazine.

A beauty queen contest was held Tuesday evening with little girls three to nine years of age strutting with poise and glamor around the wading pool. The winner will represent Glenwood in the city-wide beauty contest on Aug. 23, at Central High School.

The Parents' Council will meet Thursday evening at 8:30 to discuss plans for a fall program at Glenwood and community needs for recreation. The council is composed of interested parents.

The Indian Pow Wow held on the playground last Wednesday was very successful. Many tribes were represented and many strong braves went to battle for the honor of his tribe in the contests of strength. After the contests the tribes marched to the the campfire circle where they sang and heard Indian tales.

A Commendable Spirit

Hilltoppers during this past week again evidenced that progressive spirit that seems to motivate most people who live in this community. They "just got tired" of the idea of walking more than half a mile to reach a feeder bus that carried them but three blocks to the terminus of the Sullivant-av line . . . and they did something about it.

First move was for the circulation of petitions throughout the affected area requesting a resolution be presented Columbus City Council for action in obtaining an extension of the present bus line from Binns-blvd to Derrer-rd; north in Derrer-rd to Wicklow; east in Wicklow to Binns-blvd and thence on Binns-blvd south to Sullivant-av. Everyone "pitched in" to obtain signatures to the petitions. There was no "let Joe do it" attitude, because this was a community effort.

Next move was the presentation of the resolution with accompanying petitions to Columbus City Council with the request that the Public Utility Committee of council work out frequency of operation schedules with the transit company.

Council promised action and now the burden rests with that law making body to see that the efforts of these progressive thinking Hilltoppers has not been in vain.

The extension and "loop" arrangement which has been requested is a distinct step forward by this community in providing adequate transportation facilities to the citizenry. The Hilltop is growing and with that growth there is definite need of expansion of transportation facilities to keep pace with the community. This new extension will serve several thousand residents now in an area located more than half a mile from the bus line. The "loop" arrangement will work out to the betterment of the transit company in that they save the cost of turn-around facilities at Derrer-rd and Sullivant-av. Any objections that may arise against the extension are overshadowed by the fact that a definite need exists for such an extension and that as homeowners and taxpayers Hilltoppers are entitled to the consideration.

The action that has been taken further emphasizes the reasons for the growth of the Hilltop as a community. Its people are ever alert to making the Hilltop a better place in which to live, to work and to rear a family. This is the true community spirit.

It's Fun To Live In America

It's fun to produce a "miracle" too!

First, we add a bit o' capital . . . money to buy the tools . . . then we add some human energy . . . labor, that is . . . and out comes good things for everybody!

Yes, "teamwork" is the answer! Labor, capital, and management, pulling together like a fine "twenty-mule team." That's why we Americans have the best living of any people on earth. It's truly an amazing story!

Here we are, fellow citizens of the United States — a nation with only one-fifteenth of the world's population. Yet we have more than three-quarters of the world's automobiles, half the world's radios and more than half the world's telephones. We could go on about other good things, such as schools, churches, newspapers, roads, and so forth.

The point is, however, that all this happened because we used a mixture of money, manpower, and management — with a fair share of good old American competition thrown in. That's what we mean when we refer to individual opportunity and private enterprise. That's why "It's Fun To Live In America."

This Guy Isn't Doing Bad

In Passing

by Esther Weakley

Nothing travels faster than back fence gossip, despite its many detours.

In a conspicuous place on Mayor Rhodes' desk is this potent quotation: "A wishbone ain't as likely to git you some place as a backbone."

One of the wittiest lines in any movie, and at the same time, one of the most tragic, was uttered in "G. I. Joe" (National Drive-In) by a weary soldier: "Is this trip necessary?"

Should Small Fry decide against eating his cereal some morning, save wear and tear on the maternal vocal chords by telling him there is a surprise on the bottom of the bowl. Make it strawberries. It didn't work with my two-year-old granddaughter either, but just thought I'd mention it.

The summer is almost gone; what about all those things you were going to do? I know, I didn't either.

The owner of a Hilltop beauty shop tells me her customers tell her their most intimate secrets. She seemed rather bored and tired-of-it-all so just for that I didn't tell her about my operation.

From a letter from Japan: "Do they still settle everything from inflation to that geometry exam at Campbell's Drug Store?"

Hint to housewives: A rubber mat in your kitchen sink will save your best china from many a chink. (Pun intended).

One thing Confucius did not say: "Blessed is he who taketh himself seriously, for he shall create much amusement."

While there are zinnias, goldenrod and trees on the State Hospital lawn, we'll know God hasn't forgotten.

At Broad and Hague: Our Mr. Hartley talking man-to-man with a very small, very freckled newsboy, Mrs. Clyde Johnson and famous daughter Susie, window-shopping. Dr. Jack Miles hurrying some place (he is always hurrying some place), tiny toddler being pulled along by an impatient adult—and those dolls in that window were so fascinating; slender girls in shorts; not so-slender girls in shorts.

Elbert Hubbard said: "Do not bother to love your enemies. It is better to forget them and cease conjuring them forth from your inner consciousness. The idea that you have enemies is egotism gone to seed."

YOUTH

They fill the night with the frenzied beat
Of pagan drums and dancing feet—
A brave young defiance, hurled
To hide their fear of an insane world.

Bread is more than bread if it is spread with Ohio-made apple-butter. (Apologies to Conrad Aiken.)

The oil paintings of Hope Gibson, 142 N. Ogden-av, were exhibited during July at the Southern Hotel Art Gallery. I hope everyone saw Hope's exquisite work.

Also hope that every child sees Kukla, Fran and Ollie at least once, on television. Love that Ollie!

Speaking of famous Hilltop people: Bert Stille, 1631 Sullivant-av, has two songs on Mercury records, and has written many other songs. He is dj and newscaster at WHKC.

That grunt emanating from behind the sports page probably means yes, he will have another piece of toast. Then again, it could mean yes, he'll clean the basement, or no, you can't have that new fall suit.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

GREAT PEOPLE I HAVE MET OR SEEN

Elinor Roosevelt . . . Lowell Thomas . . . Eugene Ysaye . . . Pres. William H. Taft.

The only time that I ever saw Elinor Roosevelt, in person, was during one of our yearly Central Ohio Teachers' Association meetings in Memorial Hall, years ago. As you may remember, Elinor Roosevelt, before her marriage, ran a fine private school for young women in New York City, therefore it seemed appropriate for her to be the "guest speaker" here in Columbus.

Unfortunately, I had to stand at one side of this big hall (4500 seats), but Mrs. Roosevelt looked so refreshingly trim and unassuming in merely a white blouse and dark skirt, less pretentious than many of the educators before her. It is this deep knowledge of "knowing how", that endears her to millions. Her voice (much like her Uncle Teddy's) is not too unpleasant, but it is WHAT SHE TALKS ABOUT that counts! Of course I was thrilled to see her talking (in her own right) and not as the wife of the President of the United States. I shall always cherish that hour of education! Some great foreign writer recently said, "She is the most beloved woman in the world of today."

If I am not mistaken, that remarkable man Lowell Thomas, was scheduled to address this same meeting on another day. He flew in from New York but was over one hour late, yet the excitement buzzed when this stockily built . . . he man . . . breezed in. Of course that was some 10 years or more ago, and he was in his prime. To see him and hear that "Never to be forgotten voice" was a grand experience, I did not miss one word and remember his stirring address, with anecdotes, vividly!

The great Belgian violinist of the last century, Eugene Ysaye, was a night guest at the Brooklyn Conservatory of Music when I was a 17-year-old student of piano with "Prof" Daniels who was accompanist for Ysaye while in New York. Well, I had finished my lesson when a portly, middle-aged man came into the studio. My teacher then did for me, a rare thing . . . he introduced me to YSAYE . . . but I cannot recall the words of greeting, etc., but they were cordial. A youth of 17 meeting a "world celebrity" in the privacy of my teacher's home . . . that was a star to be placed in my firmament of great people.

Now comes President William H. Taft. I did have the honor to shake his hand on the stage of Memorial Hall . . . a great big soft palm! HOW I remember that! When I shook Teddy Roosevelt's it was something to almost knock you over . . . firm grasp . . . with a vigorous personality back of it. In later years, I again saw Taft, going through the Deshler-Wallick lobby . . . oh, so thin in body, and a tired, very tired look. He "passed on" several years later . . . after a reconciliation witht his friend "TEDDY".

These "Great People" episodes are only written here so that you might make it a point to come in contact with celebrities of your own period. Don't ever miss seeing them . . . and what a memorable thrill it must be to "chat" with them . . . baseball champs, musical geniuses, great orchestra leaders and opera stars, the Presidents of the United States and even of univeralties, and some movie stars, etc. When you get "on in years" these delightful memory moments will refresh you and give you something to REMEMBER . . . HAPPILY, I HOPE, so.

"THINK THIS OVER."

Modern Poetry

BABY SITTER

She had seen sixty years unfold, and now
Their pattern had a sameness hard to bear.
Her children's unwise love would not allow
Her idle days to have a single care.
And then she saw an ad that read this way:
"Young couple want a grandmother to sit
With baby several nights a week so they Can join their crowd and circulate a bit."
Without a word to anyone she took
The sitter's job which fitted like a glove;
This was more fun than reading a book,
The baby was a brand-new lease on love
And every time she rubbed a budding tooth
Or warmed a bottle, she recaptured youth.

Harriet Gray Blackwell, in Ted Malone's "Adventures in Poetry."

MACHINES

I think that men will learn to hate machines;
The vast impersonality of steel;
Hard steel, with neither mind nor heart nor soul:
Machines of steel — unfeeling things that fill
Bewildered ears with frightful, senseless noise;
Machines that wear the body to exhaustion;
Machines that beat on nerves, raw with fatigue;
Machines whose constant clamor stuns the mind.

(The ear was meant for music and for sound
Of running water and for words of love.
The body was designed for quiet toil;
For relaxation and for dreamless sleep.)
Yet straining hands have labored to construct
Unwieldly monsters that in time may turn
Upon their builders, striking them to earth.

H. P. Stoddard, in his book "The Lips Keep Moving" (Kaleidograph Press, Dallas, Texas.)

SUMMER'S END

I would go out
Like the flaming leaf
With all my colors high.
Not withered and sad
As those who wait
For blasts which sting and cry.
To be beaten about and bruised and torn,
Let this come to me.
I would depart when summer holds
Her golden jubilee.

Mabel Posegate, in her book "Once When Arcturus Shone" Stephen Daye Press, Brattleboro, Vt.)

WISER CHOICE

All decisions I have taken
Calculating sums and ends
Leave me insecure and shaken—
And by dreams forsaken.

Better had I dreams beside me
(Now too late to make amends)
And allowed the heart to guide me—
Though the world denied me.

Gustav Davidson, in his book "Thirst of the Antelope" (The Dierkes Press, La Porte, Ind.)

Local Legion Post Plans Championship Motorcycle Races

Fiscus, a past commander of Camp Chase Post, has been named general chairman of the races while Ferguson, second vice-commander of the post and a member of the American Motorcycle Association, has been named liaison officer for the two organizations.

Last year's races were attended by more than 10,000 spectators, including about 3,000 motorcyclists.

The local races attract one of the largest entries of "Big Name" motorcyclists in the country. Last year's performance saw 153 riders entered from all sections of the United States and Canada.

Hilltop Sports Shorts

Dick Kirk, West High's slugging outfielder of the 1947-48-49 teams, is making quite a hit in the Ohio-Indiana League with the last place Portsmouth Athletics. Since joining the club late in May, Dick has been hitting a .307 pace and batting in the cleanup spot of the batting order. Dick, just last Saturday, slammed his first home run of the season, and you can believe that it's the first of many. Kirk, only 19, has the Portsmouth fans convinced that he is a sure-fire prospective major-leaguer.

Incidentally, to prove Dick's ability around the Frank-Colley league he was recently selected on the Eastern All-Star team of the loop against the western portion in the annual all-star classic. Dick is a swell guy, and we wish him the best of luck.

Another promising ballplayer around the Hilltop is Morris (Mo) Dobbs, who just completed play with the Camp Chase American Legion and Senior Knothole teams this summer. "Mo" was selected on the Columbus Knothole All-Star team that faced Louisville in a three-game series at Parkway Field in the bluegrass state. The local nine won only one of the three games, but the one they did win was clinched by Dobbs. He will be a senior next year at West, and has just turned 17.

"Mo" sent a ringing double in the eighth inning of the first game to send home the tie-breaking runs. He seems to be following in the footsteps of the aforementioned Kirk. Like Kirk, Dobbs was an all-city choice in his sophomore and junior years, and "Mo" is expected to hit his stride as Kirk did in his senior year at West, "Mo" hit .285 as a regular outfielder in the 10th grade while Kirk hit .298 in his sophomore year playing varsity shortstop.

Coach George Williams decided that shortstop was not the position for Kirk so he moved him to the outfield in his junior year and Dick hit a sturdy .303, third highest on the co-champions of the city that year.

In 1949, Kirk played centerfield in his senior year and Dobbs as a sophomore, played opposite to him in left. That year, Kirk hit his stride, hitting at a choice .369, highest on the team while he collected 57 total bases. Dobbs, that year hit .285, but this past season "Mo" slammed the ball at a .410 pace and is expected to do even better after a very successful summer baseball season.

He hit his stride in Legion ball the other day against Franklin Post, the team that represented this district in the state eliminations last week, by slamming out five hits in as many trips. Franklin Post, in case you don't know, is made up of boys that will be playing for Linden McKinley next year. They were beaten out of state honors last week by Cincinnati and Dayton for the second time in as many years.

Speaking of the Louisville-Columbus All-Star Knothole team, West High was very highly represented on the 1950 Columbus squad with two alumni and one present attender. In addition to Dobbs, who still has another year at the Powell-av school, Jack Pickens and Phil Young were members of the team. Young was the pitching mainstay of the recent West baseball crew while Pickens was all-city shortstop for West in 1948-49. Both were members of the all-star team in 1949, and along with Third-baseman John Wolfe, they were the lone repeaters of the previous year.

Chris Perdue, star softball pitcher on the Hilltop, and stellar twirler of the Pennsylvania Railroad League, has been alerted to stand by for duty as he is a member of the Naval Reserves.

Al Andrews, West alumni, who has been hitting near a .325 pace in the Saturday Afternoon Amateur League, was the catcher for Pearry Reall's two-hitter for Glick's Furniture last week against Gambrinus Beer . . . Al had two for four in that game, and he has been fifth top hitter in the league for the past three weeks . . . Two ex-star pitchers from West have been sharing the pitching chores in the Saturday Amateur League for Ring's Florists, Phil Young and Tom Crossley.

Many folks confuse the Saturday Afternoon League and the Saturday Amateur League as the same league. They are not . . . Mark Stephans, a Hilltop resident, is president of the latter with C. L. Hayes and Ben Ratner under him.

Dick Hoover, former West hurler, now with Class AA Atlanta in the Southern Association presently holds a won-10 lost-5 record. Dick has hurled in 24 games for 136 innings and has 61 strikeouts . . . Many Atlanta scribes and fans credit Dick's success partly to his catcher, Ebba St. Claire. Not only has he been the top hitter of the Crackers, but he also has been very successful in aiding young pitchers in their control and stuff trouble . . . Atlanta presently leads the Southern Association in the standings by four games. . .

When the West football games start next season, West High's marching band will have a new drum major in the person of Cliff Everett, who recently became the new West drum major in a tryout session with Ray Fenner, last year's drum major. Cliff will be backed not only by an 80-plus band but also pretty majorettes in the names of Pat Culbertson, Ann Haire, Babs Beradfutte, Joan Oliver, and Delores Moriva, in addition to some coming up from junior high including Patti Miesse, Carolyn Dobbs, Karen Griffiths, Sunya Slane, Pat Manus, Carol Rickert, Margery Davis and Mary Lou Manson.

Speaking of football, there are only 11 more days until the initial fall practice at West begins under the coaching of Mack Pemberton, Dave Randall and Fred Heishman.

Hilltop Nazarene recently defeated Morse-rd. 23-7, in a wild scoring affair at Sunshine Park . . . Morse-rd was the first round champ of the league, defeating once-beaten Hilltop in the round, 11-7. . . .

The recent incident of the Scuthway Post team and their ineligible player being used throughout the season up until the state eliminations last week is one of the worst mishaps ever to transpire in Legion baseball. One of Southway's players was discovered to be overage, but not until the team had gone unbeaten throughout the district to represent the latter in the state tournament, and Legion officials ruled that the team automatically forfeited all their games.

The player who caused this was the main cog of the team, and if his name had been mentioned in the papers followers of the league would quickly know him. However, now the boy will never forget the incident as long as he lives, which is the case when strict rules are now followed, and Legion officials set down rules in a strict manner, and mean for them to be carried out, or as the local Southway team discovered—suffer the penalties.

It doesn't hardly seem right for 14 boys to take the blame for just one boy's mistake, but such is the case when you enter organized ballplaying whether it be sandlot or professional.

Dog "Daze" No Menace to Fishing

Fishermen who put away their tackle during August because of the superstitious fear of "dog days" are only missing out on a lot of good fishing.

The old theory that "dog days," usually associated with the month of August, is a poor time to be outdoors and along the streams, has been debunked.

Although superstitious persons fear the mysterious cloud that seems to "bewitch" livestock and domestic pets including dogs, actually there is nothing to fear during this period of the summer.

It just happens that the name "dog days" has been given to that time of the year when the atmosphere is hot and sultry. The use of the term originated with the ancients to describe the period of the summer of the rising of the dog star, Sirius, which included about 40 days of the warmest part of the year. The dog star rises at a different time now. However, the term continues to refer to that time when the scarcity of rain causes streams to stagnate and become undesirable for swimming and the watering of livestock.

Animals, especially dogs, suffer with the extreme heat and appear to go mad. Truthfully mad dog cases are more common in cold weather but due to the prolonged heat of the summer, dogs just get so miserable they want to snap at something and sometimes do.

Dogs, especially hunting breeds which are usually kept in kennels throughout the summer, need special care during August. Frequent watering, less food and clean kennels will be welcomed by dogs during the sultry days ahead.

During the vacation season many good dogs suffer from neglect. Sometimes even the best of good neighbors fall down on the job of caring for the cherished pets of others through ignorance and lack of instructions.

Red Cross Asks Nurses' Aides Volunteers

Following Red Cross appeal for volunteers in staff aides, motor and canteen services, Mrs. Frank J. Conner, 1663 Bryden-rd, chairman of the Volunteer Nurse's Aide Service, announces that a day time and evening training class will start by the middle of September.

Requests for Red Cross Nurse's Aides have recently come from two Columbus hospitals. As recruitment and screening of volunteers for this service involves more detail than in some of the other Volunteer Services, scheduling and interviewing of applicants must be done far in advance of the actual starting date of the classes.

Volunteer nurse's aides must have at least a high school education and must give 150 hours of service in a hospital each year and must pass a physical examination.

The training course consists of 80 hours—40 hours in lecture and classroom and 40 hours of training in the hospital. Classes are taught by registered nurses authorized by the Red Cross. There is no charge for the training.

They work directly under the supervision of hospital staff nurses or staff nurses at the Red Cross Regional Blood Center, 30 E. Town-st. Nurse's aides perform the non-professional nursing duties, relieving hospital nurses for the seriously ill patients.

If the youngsters are off to the circus for the afternoon, serve a quick but nourishing lunch. Let them have their fill of Brown 'N' Serve rolls with corned beef hash topped with poached eggs. These rolls brown nicely in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) in about 10 minutes. For lunch on a hot day, serve spicy cinnamon toast with a fresh fruit salad of pineapple, oranges, bananas and strawberries surrounding a mound of creamy cottage cheese. Because Brown 'N' Serve rolls and enriched toast supply protein and food energy, they'll keep the youngsters from being hungry the moment they arrive under the big top.

Closing Week At Local Playground

This is the closing week at the Burroughs playgrounds and although the tournament winners could not be determined before press time, your big registration sent a plentiful supply of entries to the finals at Central High Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Werling took a big load of our contestants down to battle it out with the finals entrants from the rest of the city.

Dave Miller meets his finalist in basketball toss; Wilbert Werling and Beverly Pickens meet senior boy and girl rivals in badminton: Charles Payne won against Ohio for placing in senior horseshoe, and the junior softball boys meet the other ceded team from the north and east side of town.

The kids enjoyed the traveling zoo monkey wagon this past week and games and hard work have been, as usual, well participated in. If you haven't seen the pictures, framed with wall paper cleaner, on plywood, made in Mrs. McCartney's handcraft classes, come over.

When making muffins to go with summer salads, have milk and egg at room temperature for best results. This is especially important when melted shortening is used because cold milk will solidify shortening.

Once you try scones as bread at breakfast or luncheon, you'll want to make them often. Glazed pineapple fingers are a deluxe version that provide all the important food values of enriched flour. To make these fruit breads sift together two cups sifted enriched flour, three teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ cup sugar. Cut or rub in ¼ cup shortening until mixture is crumbly. Beat one egg and add ¼ cup pineapple juice. Add to flour mixture. Add 1 cup drained crushed pineapple. Stir only until flour is well moistened. Using 2 forks, drop batter on greased baking sheet, shaping it into bars about 4½ inches long and 1 inch wide. Press sides smooth. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Frost at once with a confectioners' sugar icing flavored with lemon extract.

Freeze Fruits to Get Summer Treats

Berries make mighty tempting summer desserts—and just as tempting winter ones. For by freezing the finely flavored berries you can have summer treats the year around, writes Donald K. Tressler in a leading magazine.

"To preserve the good taste that fresh berries have," he points out, "one should allow them to fully ripen on the bush and handle them gently in preparing them for the freezer. Avoid extra handling in washing by placing them in a colander or basket with small openings and swish it through water containing ice until berries are clean. The ice water keeps the berries firm and shapely, prevents bleeding and waterlogging of the fruit.

"When several pounds of berries are washed, stemmed or capped, you are ready to mix them with sugar or cover them with sirup—depending on your perference and whether or not you want to use the frozen berries for dessert sauces.

"In filling containers for the freezer, allow ¾ inch space at the top of each one for expansion during freezing. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for closing or sealing various types of containers.

"Berries or any fruit covered with sirup tend to rise to the top. To keep them in the sirup, crush a piece of wax paper and place it between the fruit and the lid of the freezing container.

Policeman: "How did you happen to knock the pedestrian down?"

Motorist: "I didn't. I just pulled up to him, stopped the car to wait for him to pass, and he fainted."

Good And Cool

By Betty Barclay

HOT weather is just an extra reason for serving ice cream; because it's always ice cream time, "weather" or not. Interesting and delicious variations of this dessert favorite may be made at home by using prepared puddings. Molasses Mint Ice Cream, for example, has a rich homemade flavor, delightfully sparked with refreshing peppermint. Prepared vanilla pudding does the honors in this case, making your ice cream preparation simple and sure of success.

Molasses Mint Ice Cream

1 package prepared vanilla pudding; ¼ cup molasses; 2 cups milk; 1 cup cream, whipped; ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract.

Combine pudding powder and molasses in saucepan. Add milk gradually, blending well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened. Chill. Beat slightly with rotary egg beater. Fold in whipped cream and peppermint extract. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. Freeze 1 hour. Then turn into bowl and beat with rotary egg beater until smooth, but not melted. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Freezing time: 3 to 4 hours. Makes 1 quart.

Note: To hasten chilling of pudding, turn into freezing tray for ½ hour, setting control for freezing temperature.

Meat pies are all the better for a drop biscuit topping which gives both eye appeal and adds nutritional value. During the summer, add fresh corn kernels to the batter to make corn drop biscuits that have an unusually good flavor. Use one-half cup of corn kernels to a biscuit recipe calling for 1 cup of sifted enriched flour. Kernels may be added to the milk, then milk stirred lightly into flour mixture. Drop by spoonfuls on top of meat stew and bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

Those born under the sign of Leo are ruled by the sun. Outstanding characteristics are self-assurance, purposefulness and faith in yourself.

You Leo-born are an exultant lot, and the roar of a lion echoes in your makeup. The summer sun may overcome other people, but its brightness stirs up your originality and is reflected in everything you do. When celebrations are in order, you strive for the unique, but always use the simplest method possible to achieve this effect.

Along the refreshment line, for example, this Coconut Peach Birthday Pie is just the sort of inspiration you like! You know that fresh peaches are now at the peak of their golden juicy goodness. And you know, too, that a birthday pie is different from the usual birthday cake. You know how simple it is to use prepared vanilla pudding for the creamy base and you appreciate the fact that it will taste extra delicious with the addition of crunchy toasted coconut. Fresh peaches are folded into slightly thickened orange-flavored gelatin, which holds them together and adds flavor and color.

A real blessing in hot weather is the refrigerator graham cracker crust, as easy as pie to make. To top it all off, garnish this Birthday Pie with mounds of whipped cream and toasted coconut and surround it with candles. Here's a birthday tribute that you Leos will love to receive—or will love to make for someone else.

Coconut Peach Pie Glacé

2 package prepared vanilla pudding
2 cups milk
1½ cups thinly sliced fresh peaches
6 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3½ tablespoons (½ package) orange-flavored gelatin
½ cup hot water
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup shredded coconut, toasted
9-inch graham cracker crust

Cook pudding with milk as directed on the package. Chill. Meanwhile, combine peaches, sugar, and lemon juice and let stand 15 minutes. Drain, reserving ¼ cup juice. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add the ¼ cup peach juice. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat chilled pudding slowly with rotary egg beater until creamy. Then fold in almond extract and ¾ cup of the toasted coconut. Turn into graham cracker crust. Fold drained peaches into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn over pie filling and chill until firm. Garnish with spoonfuls of whipped cream decorated with remaining coconut.

Graham Cracker Crust. Combine 1¼ cups fine graham cracker crumbs and 3 tablespoons sugar. Add ⅓ cup melted butter and mix well. Press firmly on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Soap Box Derby Winner Honored

There's a new display in the window of Spang's Drug Store, Hague and Sullivant. It tells the story of Jack Waldo, an employee of the store and class A runner-up in the recent Soap Box Derby held in Columbus.

Here is found the "Jack In the Box No. 4", the car driven in the race, and various prizes won in this event as well as in previous races. Ironically enough, during his first year of competition in the Soap Box Derby, Jack was runned-up to the same Boyd Nealander, the winner of this year's derby.

A member of St. Mary Magdalent parish and a sophomore in St. Mary High School, Jack lives at 712 S. Ogden-av.

Among his prizes, Jack lists a portable and plug-in radio, a tool board, several baseball gloves and a camera.

Next year, Jack will again be in his "Jack in the Box No. 5" and will do his best to come in first in his last year of Soap Box Derby competition.

Like the end of a well-written story, a holiday dessert should be a pleasant surprise. Designed for pleasure are fresh berry baskets. These are made from a biscuit dough rolled thin about ⅛-inch thick, then cut into four-inch squares. Each square is fitted into a three-inch muffin cup, pricked and baked in a hot oven (475 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Fill baskets with fresh berries or other fruit garnish with whipped cream and a whole pecan half.

POLIO PRECAUTIONS

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

WHEN POLIO IS AROUND, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis recommends these simple precautions: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with right along. Don't become exhausted through work or hard play. Don't stay too long in cold water or sit around in wet clothes. And always wash hands before eating. Watch for feverishness, sore throat, headache, upset stomach or sore muscles. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed contact the Franklin County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis—AD. 6684.

Your Doctor and Pharmacist are members of two of the oldest and most mutually dependent professions. They are both required by law, and rigid principles within their own organizations, to spend many years of preparation before receiving their degrees of "M. D." (Doctor of Medicine) and "R. Ph." (Registered Pharmacist).
All 48 states require standards of qualification before licensing Doctors and Pharmacists to practice. Like the Doctor, the Pharmacist has his definite responsibilities to the community.
Both Doctor and Pharmacist must understand the preparation and preservation of drugs, and be well qualified in prescribing and dispensing important and often dangerous drugs. Their mutual reliance is founded on realization of responsibility to each patient.
Hand in hand with the Medical profession, Pharmacy has helped in the development of new, life-giving drugs. Truly, throughout life, your Doctor and Pharmacist are important to the well-being of your loved ones. Keep the hands of politicians off these two guardians of your health.

Sparks Rest and Enjoy Hospitality of the West

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks enjoy their vacation.

The Franklin D. Sparks, 108 Roys-av, have returned from enjoying the hospitality of 20 different states and Mexico, on a 10,000 mile trip.

During the five weeks they traveled, Mr. and Mrs. Sparks were welcomed everywhere they went. Mr. Sparks being president of the Columbus Retail Grocers Association contacted men in this field.

Monterey, Mexico, proved very interesting to the Sparks. They found it impossible to believe that ordinary people worked for two pesos or 25-cents a day.

They visited Grand Canyon, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Spokane and Corpus Christi. While at Corpus Christi, they took a fishing trip which they enjoyed very much. The after effect of which were sun burns for both.

The dams which are so prevalent in the western United States, proved another source of interest to the Sparks. Boulder Dam and Coulee Dam were visited and the Sparks were amazed by what the dams are doing in the South to provide power and irrigation.

Mrs. Sparks was impressed by the contrast which she saw in Texas between the irrigated wheat fields and the sage and cactus on the opposite side of the road. "You could not help but think what a few well placed bombs would do," commented Mrs. Sparks.

The Sparks had originally planned to continue from Los Angeles up to Alaska but upon their arrival in LA the war scare was so highly developed they thought it better to come home and save Alaska for another trip.

The More The Merrier

By Betty Barclay

COOKIES have the happy facility of being "just the right thing" to serve on almost any occasion. Their versatility is even a greater boon in the summer because by making an extra large batch, you will have tasty refreshments on hand for a longer period of time. Here's a recipe to add to your "extra special" cooky collection—Coconut and Nut Macaroons. They're fluffy, chewy morsels that melt delightfully in your mouth—simple to make and simply wonderful!

Coconut and Nut Macaroons

½ cup sugar; 1 tablespoon flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; 2 egg whites; ½ cup finely chopped nut meats; ¼ teaspoon vanilla; 1 cup shredded coconut.

Sift sugar, flour, and salt together. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Then add sugar mixture, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add nut meats; fold in vanilla and coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) 20 minutes, or until delicately browned. Cool 5 minutes before removing from baking sheet. Makes 18 macaroons.

What A Honey!

By Betty Barclay

WHAT'S a crispy and golden-good dessert that can be made in a jiffy? What's sweet as honeysuckle and just as pretty? It's Coconut Crunch Ring—an all-around answer to the summer dessert question! Just stir some of the new crunchy candy-coated puffed wheat cereal into an easily made honey-flavored syrup. Add toasted coconut for extra goodness, then press the mixture into a ring mold. When the candy ring is firm, fill it with your favorite ice cream and ummm, summertime is good-eating time indeed!

Coconut Crunch Ring

½ cup honey; ¼ cup sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon butter; 5 cups candy-coated puffed wheat cereal; 1 cup coconut, toasted.

Combine honey, sugar, and salt. Cook until a small amount of syrup forms a firm ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 246°F.) Add butter. Add cereal, stirring lightly to coat. Add toasted coconut, combining quickly. Press mixture gently into well-greased ring mold. When cold, unmold and fill center with ice cream. Makes 6 to 10 servings.

A Stitch in time...

Well—look here!

Somebody took a spill. Somebody turned up with a small rip in his pants. Somebody's getting that rip taken care of right away, because his mother has learned through experience that "a stitch in time" saves nine—or more—later on.

But this experience, which is coming in so handy right now, shouldn't be forgotten when it comes to more important aspects of growing up. For example, there's Sunday School . . .

That's a real stitch in time. But are your sons or daughters getting the full benefit of it?

Sunday Schools exist to mend up young minds when necessary, and help them grow into good ones. When a child is quite young, that mending is an easy job, and one that the Sunday School is well able to do. But neglect that mending job now, and those mental "rips" grow wider fast. Later, they can turn into serious character flaws, sometimes too wide to mend, and almost always causing bitterness or unhappiness.

So don't forget to utilize this valuable "stitch in time" at this time where your child is concerned. Start him on the right road now.

It's a good road—a well-traveled road. It's a road that's plainly marked "Sunday School—this way . . ."

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." — Proverbs 22:6.

New Church of Christ Pastor And Wife Are Being Introduced

Rev. Carl Smith

Mrs. Carl Smith

Rev. and Mrs. Carl Smith are at home in the parsonage of the Hilltop Church of Christ at 130 S. Burgess-av. Sunday afternoon they entertained members of the church at on open house.

Rev. Smith assumed his duties as pastor of the Hilltop Church of Christ, Sunday, July 23. Before coming to Columbus he was pastor of the Yalesville Baptist Church in Yalesville, Conn. He has also served the Rogersville Christian Church in Rogersville, Tenn.; the Entiat Christian Church in Entiat, Wash., and the Malaga Christian Church in Malaga, Wash. He has directed the college summer service group in New York City and has participated in the students in government project in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Johnson Bible College and of Yale Divinity School. This June, at Yale, he received the Mersick prize in preaching.

Mrs. Smith has also attended Yale Divinity School, where she specialized in religious counseling. She has taught high school English in Westhampton Beach, Long Island, and has been a religious counselor at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Neb.

This Sunday Mr. Smith will preach at the 10:35 service of the Hilltop Church of Christ on the topic, "Wanting To Be Remembered For the Wrong Things."

Hundreds Enjoy Vacations At YMCA Camp

Hundreds of boys from Columbus and Franklin County have been enjoying their summer vacation at Camp Alfred L. Wilson, the YMCA Camp for Boys.

This camp offers the best in leadership and program. All counselors are university students or graduates who are skilled in group leadership, camp lore and crafts.

Situated on one of the few beautiful glacial lakes in Ohio, Camp Wilson, near Bellefontaine offers excellent swimming, boating, sailing, fishing and all other water sports. Swimming instruction for beginners is scheduled twice per day and all levels of swimming skill are taught from beginning to life saving.

The virgin timber in the Ohio highlands offers an abundance of nature interests, and many out of camp trips are taken to places of natural beauty including the Ohio Caverns, and places of historic interest such as Mac-O-Cheek Castle.

A new craft shop and a medical care building are nearing completion and will be dedicated during the fourth period which opened July 28. A few vacancies remain in this period. Parents interested in having their boys attend should immediately contact the YMCA for reservations.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

Full speed ahead for HARRY KOONTZ and MIKE BOLOGH with their new Chevrolets. They're all selling their old cars around here and getting new ones. Here I am still using the city bus. I've dropped enough tickets in the fare box to pay for a double decker.

Speaking of the city, we have a new city fireman in our section, so throw away your fire extinguishers, folks! WILLIS PFALTZGRAF is at your service. "Light a match and the smoke will be gone before the fire starts" is his motto. You won't even be safe with a lit cigarette. WILLIS will blow it out, 100 per cent he is!

Some of our vacationers are back, and others still leaving. The GREENOS returned from Michigan; CARL BORCHERS back from Wisconsin; the C. L. MILLERS from the southern states; and guess what — the ELECTRIC WATTS spent over a week at Michigan fishing, came home to rest for two days, three hours and 22½ minutes, and off they went someplace else. I forget where. HAROLD started to say, but our attention was diverted when we couldn't take our eyes off his "Don Eagle" haircut.

Our artistic neighbors are busy using their paint brush on the board. Not on the easel, of course, but their homes are taking on a bright front from KIRBY'S "swish", SCHAFER'S "swash" and NOBLE'S "swush" of the paint brush.

RITA ANDERSON is now ready to give instructions on baby care. Her new daughter is two weeks old and since they are just about on schedule she'd like to know how MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DURHAM and MR. AND MRS. WATTERS, who both had new sons the other day, are coming in their daily routine.

What SCHAFERS are doing to their home! They're really "doing it over" in the front room. Their living room suite has been completely remodeled, besides being covered with the newest soft plastic on the market.

Sweet-toothed MARLENE SMOTE hardly empties one box of candy until she gets another. She should make her own as she does her dresses. She does a nifty job on that.

Television sales have increased since Pantry Party has been on. Last week MRS. FLOYD, MRS. MURNANE and MRS. MASTBAUM were seen on the screens. Their neighbors and friends hear of it and out they go to buy themselves a set so they won't miss anything. (Believe it or not.) Boy! if my wife would ever be seen on the screen, everybody'd have to buy a new one. She'd crack any tube!

Last year 79 girls and 63 babies were cared for in Friends Rescue Home, one of three maternity homes supported through the Community Chest.

Alcoholics Anonymous First Line of Defense

(This is the last of a series of articles on the problem of alcoholism.)

(By An Alcoholic)

Of all the known and applied treatments for alcoholism, one in particular stands out as a monumental beacon for those who labored in the darkness of alcoholic helplessness and despair. By far the most dramatic, the most effective, it welcomes the pauper as well as the millionaire, and it gets both.

The story of Alcoholics Anonymous is packed with exciting chapters of rehabilitation for thousands of alcoholics who were once considered beyond the borders of all hope. A.A. is peculiarly endowed with the ways and means of lending undeniable inspiration and influence on those wanting and needing guidance and help with their drinking affliction. It ever stands ready to step in where all else and all others may have failed.

When A.A. first came into existence, it was generally known and recognized to be a haven for those alcoholics who had, through their drinking, plunged to the very bottom of life's scrap heap. Love, sympathy and friendship were qualities utterly foreign to those who first sought help in the alliance A.A. extended to men and women virtually exiled to lives of misery. Many of them were jobless, penniless, and not just a few homeless. But, from the nucleus of these first few who unitedly sought a last reprieve from the enslavement of alcoholism, there gradually grew larger and larger membership from all walks of life. When it became evident that A. A. could work and did work for the most abandoned victims of alcoholism, its story crossed the country as well as the oceans to set in motion the formation of new groups.

Cost "Already" Paid

The cost of admission to this organization is that which has already been spent during one's disordered drinking days to reduce himself or herself to the low ebb of desperation before help was finally sought. Time and time again, prospective members of A. A. express their concern over the matter of "cost" to join this organization. They are amazed to learn that they have already paid all the costs, some of which cannot be expressed in terms of dollars and cents—the cost of broken homes and hearts, and broken lives—physically, mentally and spiritually.

A. A. has the welcome sign out for any man or woman who wants to stop drinking, but, left alone, cannot do so. When it is honestly realized that one's life has become unmanageable because of powerlessness over alcohol, and there is a sincere desire to do something about it. Alcoholics Anonymous can provide the effective guidance. Anyone in any walk of life, with or without any religion, with or without family or friends, rich or poor, is a welcome member and a casual observer of the membership in A. A. will be quick to recognize the all-inclusive variety of human composition in its ranks.

In its relatively short span of existence, A. A. has been the source of innumerable, timely transformations for alcoholics otherwise doomed to early extinction. Within the past few years, a remarkable change has taken place in the role A. A. has played. Today many people are coming into the groups because they have recognized the appearance of symptoms which indicate the approach of alcoholism. This is the fruit of education—the result of valuable information being widely spread by agencies vitally interested in arresting the progress of alcoholism. Where A. A. was formerly the "last ditch stand" for those caught in the alcoholic trap, it is now becoming a "first line of defense" against threatening alcoholism.

The ultimate goal of all research and treatment in disease is cure and prevention. We know that there is no cure for alcoholism—any certain preventive. An alcoholic can never be cured so that he can drink moderately and the only sure preventive against alcoholism would be that of complete abstinence. Pending scientific accomplishments along these lines, A. A. can and does serve in a preventive role when it helps those who are in danger of slipping over the dividing line between controlled excessive drinking and uncontrolled compulsive drinking.

Nearly 80,000 Members

A. A. groups are today scattered throughout the country with nearly all large communities having groups and most of the smaller ones. The total membership is crowding the 80,000 mark. It is generally conceded that the large percentages of recoveries in A. A. is indeed higher than any other group or combination of groups engaged in the treatment of alcoholism. Of course, it must be realized that A. A. is more available to a greater number of patients than other private and public agencies interested in the problem drinker. If there is no known A. A. group in a given locality, any interested party may make confidential inquiry as to the nearest group by writing to The Alcoholic Foundation, P. O. Box 459, Grand Central Annex, New York 17, N. Y. In Columbus any interested party can receive aid by calling either MA. 6303 or WA. 2109.

A very large percentage of all persons contacting A. A. for the first time succeed in gaining recovery without any drinking mishaps. However, there are many who succeed for a while and then drift away to resume the drinking either because they feel that perhaps they can drink like "ladies and gentlemen" or because they have kidded themselves into thinking that they are not alcoholics and hence do not need the A. A. program. Of the "slipees" and the self-considered non-alcoholics who leave the A. A. fold, a goodly number learn through sad experience that they just cannot drink, and return to the program. Others continue on their mad flight and unhappily await the dictates of fate—usually an unkind end.

The program of Alcoholics Anonymous is based on the experience of alcoholics, together with what has been learned from medicine, psychiatry and the spiritual principles common to all creeds. It is a philosophy of life designed to help all who would accept it and practice it in all their daily affairs. It emphasizes harmony at the expense of conflict; promotes humility in place of pride and arrogance, and inspires the surrender of all resentments, jealously and intolerance, for these defects of character are the forerunners of many a drunk.

The suggested steps for recovery as outlined in the A. A. program are simple, yet they require understanding, study and untiring effort on the part of an alcoholic every day of his life, if recovery is to be maintained. One must accept them with honesty, open-mindedness and willingness.

The Twelve Steps

1. We admitted we were powerless over alcohol — that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood Him.
4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves.
5. Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.
6. Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character.
7. Humbly asked Him to remove our shortcomings.
8. Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.
9. Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.
10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly admitted it.
11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will and the power to carry that out.
12. Having had a spiritual experience as a result of these steps, we tried to carry this message to alcoholics, and to practice these principles in all our affairs.

If this program seems to some a plan of action for saints only, it must be understood that those who have successfully adopted it, and there are thousands, were anything but saintly at the height of their drinking days. Furthermore, one realizes, or should realize, that perfect compliance with these steps can never be attained, but any degree of effort expended in this direction cannot fail to produce a very vital change in one's thinking, attitude and behavior. Progress and not perfection is all that the A. A. program would hope for.

Similar Trials

The success of A. A. has long confounded members of the medical fraternity, religious leaders, and society in general. Perhaps the underlying reason for its outstanding success has been due to the complete understanding which exists between alcoholics themselves. They have endured similar experiences, trials and tribulations, and it is a well accepted statement that "misery likes company." In any event, they know what compulsive drinking is, even if no one else understands it. In short, they have tolerance for one another, and, with a common objective confronting them — recovery—they freely engage in mutual assistance.

Meetings of A. A. groups are simple, free from ritual and authority. Groups are self-governing, with emphasis stressed on rotation of elected officers and the avoidance of financial difficulties. There are no paid officers serving A. A. except in large groups where a full time secretary or janitor might be needed. Membership in A. A. simply consists of one's recognition of an unmanageable drinking problem and the honest desire to do something about it by seeking help from Alcoholics Anonymous.

From our relatively brief survey of the alcoholic problem, we may reasonably conclude that:

1. Alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic a sick person.
2. The alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping.
3. Alcoholism is a public health problem and a public responsibility as are heart disease, cancer and tuberculosis.

NAMES MAKE NEWS

Every week the Record carries in it local news columns hundreds of names of people from the Hilltop and nearby areas and their friends.

If you are interested in people, you will be interested in the Record, for in no other place can you find out what so many of the people you know are doing.

True, the greatest part of these names were not involved in big news. And this is fortunate, for big news is usually bad news. But if you want to know the things that happened, good and bad, to the people around you, read The Hilltop Record.

And, by the way, you can help us by telephoning your items in to us.

DOWN THE FAIRWAY
With
"The Duffer"

Third round of the Seiller's Handicap at Beacon Light Golf Course is ready to go as right soon. The only third round match that has been played was between Friend and Baker. Irv. Friend won three up and two to go.

In the other matches Florio and Hiatt play even up.

Parker has to give Lynch nine strokes in their match. Case spots Fox five strokes and Oddi must give McLain four.

Saunders, the only scratch player in the field, has to give Boyer 11 strokes. That's a lot of strokes but Saunders is well able to take care of them.

Swatney gives Lacey nine and the Wiesenberger-Alban match is dead even.

The Seiller Handicap has been notable this year in respect to keen competition, fair play and general good sportsmanship as was intended when the tournament was inaugurated three years ago.

COLD MEAT DRESSINGS

Provide a set of dressings for your cold meat platter. Simply start with mayonnaise, then add horseradish, chives, olives, parsley or chopped hard-cooked egg.

HAM BUNDLES

Wrap slender stalks of cooked asparagus with broiled ham slices, fasten and heat in a frying-pan until the ham is lightly browned. Serve with a cream or cheese sauce.

Ten Hearty Breakfast Dishes To Restore Energy, Guard Health

Whether you're dieting or happily eating anything and everything, it's only plain common sense to eat a big breakfast. You need the extra fuel to replace the food reserve your body "eats up" during the night and to get a good start for the day, says Mildred Inwood, who lists ten ideas for varying these healthy breakfasts.

"Everybody should eat one-fourth to one-third, or 28 per cent of his daily food requirements at breakfast time. This is a fact established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, Washington, D. C. Since the following are all thrifty foods, a good basic breakfast is also the easy way to keep your budget down.

HOT CINNAMON MILK ON SHREDDED WHEAT

Split your shredded wheat biscuits, allowing one per person, and spread them generously with butter or margarine. Slide them under the broiler and toast. In the meantime, heat your milk and stir in enough cinnamon to flavor it nicely. Serve over hot shredded wheat biscuits.

CRUSHED PINEAPPLE ON CORN FLAKES

Now that you can get frozen pineapple or the new crushed canned pineapple, do try it on corn flakes with cream.

SHREDDED WHEAT SQUARES IN CANTALOUPE

With this delicious fruit in season now there's no tastier way to serve it and no better breakfast than a ripe cantaloupe filled with shredded wheat squares, served with rich cream.

BAKED APPLE IN A WHEAT FLAKE RING

Place the baked apple in a deep bowl or saucer, then surround it with the crisp flakes. Serve, of course, with cream or rich milk.

CANDIED SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUITS

Spread butter or margarine over the tops of the biscuits and do not be mean about it. Then sprinkle the top with plenty of brown sugar. Put in a very hot oven until sugar and butter have melted. Serve with rich milk.

SUGAR-TOSSED BRAN FLAKE MIX

Take half raisin-bran and half bran flakes and toss with sugar. Put in hot oven, toss again so that flakes heat all and sugar melts. Serve at once with cream.

BREAKFAST IN A BISCUIT

Crush the center of a shredded wheat biscuit and line with a thin slice of ham. Break an egg into the ham and put the whole business in a moderate oven (350°) and bake about 15 minutes.

Pictured here is Joan Love of Hilliards, who will be one of the representatives in the contest to select Miss White Rock from representatives of five Columbus pools. Miss Love will be an entrant from the Hilltop Pool. Preliminaries will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 12-13, at each pool. The final contest will be held from the RKO Palace stage Friday, Aug. 18.

HONEY IS A HONEY OF A SWEETENER

On almost any kind of cereal you'll find honey is a delicious sweetener. So is jelly and so is jam. Try them all for variety.

FRESH FRUITS TASTE MIGHTY GOOD ON CEREALS

Wedges of cantaloupe or honey-dew or any of the fresh berries make an unusually attractive and tasty breakfast served with milk or cream.

Uniting Behind a Common Community Interest

To some people a Young Men's Christian Association is a building, a gymnasium, or a swimming pool; to others a place to sleep or eat; to others a club, the center of their friendships; to still others a cause to which they devote much of their leisure and energy in an effort to make this world a more kindly, a more friendly place.

Ideally, and actually, the association is a world-wide fellowship of youth and youthful minded men and women, united by a common interest. It is a fellowship that started with an idea—the idea that principles by which Jesus lived would remake the world if translated into living action.

The association has built buildings and operated gymnasiums and swimming pools and other program facilities as tools to implement that idea, to provide ways and means for its members to spread a philosophy of life characterized by those principles by which Jesus lived.

Thus the YMCA is more than brick and mortar of buildings. It is an adventure in cooperative effort and understanding. Many local citizens contribute their time and money. Your YMCA represents the efforts of your neighbors to improve themselves, their boys and girls, their neighborhood, their country, their world.

The YMCA believes that its Christian objectives can be realized even though its members consist of Jews, Roman Catholics, Protestants, and persons who have no religious affiliation. This belief is based on a simple philosophy: First, that a religious person participates in the particular customs and beliefs of his own individual religious tradition.

Second, that a religious person expresses his religion by the way he lives and in everything he does. He is religious not only when he is in the church or the synagogue, but in the home, in his business, and at his play.

In its program, the YMCA aims to help every individual to grow in both of these aspects of religious living. It wants every person to be an intelligent and loyal participant in his own religious culture. Every one in the membership is encouraged to find the spiritual home that meets his own needs, and to share loyally in its life.

The fundamental idea of uniting one's efforts with those of other people with like minds and common interests, and of accepting responsibility for the accomplishment of common objectives, is the basis of membership in the YMCA.

It is with distinct pride that we announce this week the purchase of a future home site for the Hilltop YMCA. This project deserves the unified support of the entire community.

Tonti Interests Buy Broadlawn Addition

In a move designed to furnish the Hilltop with added housing facilities and to further expand present building activity in this community Tonti Interests of 2370 W. Broad-st this week announced purchase of Broadlawn Addition from Frank Gates and Associates of Indianapolis. Purchase price of the 160 lot addition was set in the neighborhood of approximately $100,000. The transaction was handled by the O. H. Craft real estate firm of 2661 W. Broad-st.

Alfred Tonti representing the Tonti Interests said today that immediate further development of the tract would be made with lots being made available to private individuals for homes or to builders. He said that the addition would be restricted to the Caucasian race and that new homes constructed in the area must have at least 1,000 square feet of floor space or space comparable to existing homes in the addition.

At the present time there are approximately 25 or 30 homes in the addition, all owner occupied. The 160 lots represented in the purchase measure 40 by 120 feet and are expected to sell in a price range from $900 to $1200. Tonti said that sale of these lots would begin immediately and that they could be purchased by individuals on a time payment plan. He pointed out that homes in this area would be highly suitable for defense plant workers due to their close proximity to large local industrial concerns.

The Broadlawn Addition, he pointed out, is already in an improved state and well laid out with improved streets, water, gas and electric available at once to prospective home builders. It is also located within four-tenths of a mile from Broadlawn-av to the city bus lines at Southampton and Broad-st.

There is room in the development, according to Tonti, for about one million dollars in new homes of all types and that it is the intention of his firm to develop the area to that proportion.

In another Tonti venture in the Hilltop area work is to start next week on surveys preparatory to building in the Brookshire Park addition which will accommodate 300 more new homes in the $10,500 to $12,000 classification, according to Mr. Tonti.

Brockshire Park, he said, has been approved by the Federal Housing Authority Land Planning Division of Chicago and that tentative plans call for the building of first homes in the area about Sept. 1. Engineering plans have been completed by the Jennings-Lawrence Co. of Columbus and designated 300 lots ranging from 50 to 75 feet in width and 125 feet in depth. Upon completion of building activity in the Brookshire development another $4,000,000 in homes will be represented on the Hilltop, according to Tonti.

'Playgrounds On Parade' On Central High Stage, Aug. 23

Wednesday, Aug. 23, is the date for the biggest event of the 1950 playground season. On that day the city recreation department will present its annual season's review in the Central High School auditorium. This year's program entitled "Playgrounds on Parade" will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Youngsters have been working for weeks on their playgrounds preparing for this spectacular pageant. Arts and crafts, tumbling, dancing, music, scenery dramatics, and other activities are all included as the youngsters decorate scenery, make costumes, and rehearse for their parts in the big show. This performance will illustrate the various summer playground activities and a clever method of presentation will show another side of the recreation program.

Among the more impressive scenes will be those done with black light, the lantern display with its giant nine foot lantern, the folk dancing, and the personality contest with the picking of "Miss Playground of 1950."

This program under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Blickle should provide an evening of entertainment and relaxation for the whole family. There is no admission charge and everyone is invited.

Local Mum Festival Dates Are Scheduled

Plans were assuming more definite proportions today for the Hilltop Mum Festival, sponsored by the Kiwanis, according to C. H. Campbell, general chairman, who today stated that dates of Oct. 11, 12, 13 and 14 have been set on which the Hilltop will make its bid as the "Mum Capital" of the United States.

A definite pattern of operation has already gone into effect as Jack Merriman, chairman, and Loren Galloway who comprise the committee for selection of the Mum Festival Beauty Queen revealed details of competition for this highlight event of the festival.

Selection of the "Mum Queen", who will reign over all events during the four day long festival will be made on the opening night of Oct. 11 immediately following the gigantic parade. Winner of this event, according to Chairman Merriman, in addition to winning the title of queen, will also receive as a grand prize a $100 war bond.

Any merchant who so desires may enter a candidate for the queen title, said Merriman, who further outlined other rules pertaining to entrants in the competition, and urged that applications for sponsors or entries to the contest be made at the earliest possible date.

To be eligible as a contestant in the mum queen contest, Merriman said that the rules are simply that the contestant be a resident of the community west of the Scioto River and between the ages of 15 to 26 preferably, although entrants beyond the age of 26 are also eligible to compete. No special dress such as formals or other attire will be necessary as an ordinary street dress will suffice. Sponsors when making their entry to the competition will pay an entry fee of $10. Deadline for entries to the contest has been set for Thursday, Oct. 5. Professional models are excluded from competition.

In order that the field of contestants who will face a battery of well known beauty judges on the night of Oct. 11, be as large as possible and that all entries be made as early as possible the entry blanks are reproduced on page 2 of today's Record.

Merriman pointed out that any one desiring to enter the contest and who is without a sponsor need fill out only the upper portion of the blank and send it to him at once. Sponsors will then be found for them. The lower portion of the blank is for use of sponsors only and must be filed with the mum queen chairman before the deadline date of Oct. 5 in order that proper accommodations be arranged for lining the contestants up in the huge parade.

Hilltop Student Speech Finalist At Ohio State

Harold Crawford, 719 S. Roys-av, was one of the six finalists chosen from a group of 27 in elimination procedure to present their winning talks in quarterly "Speech Night" at Ohio State University's Campbell Hall Tuesday evening.

Speeches given by the six winners covered a wide variety of subjects, ranging from "Let's Mobilize Our Womanpower" to "How To Improve Your Posture." The program was open to the public.

Chairman of the assembly, Eugene Vasilew, assistant in the department of speech, said that no winner will be chosen from the finalists, who competed but that all will receive comments and criticisms from the guest judge, Prof. Kenneth Beighley, an assistant professor of speech at the College of the Pacific.

Quick Service Auto Laundry Opens Locally

A new business venture blossomed on the Hilltop this week with the announcement of Ed. Walker, 240 Demorest-rd of the establishment of his Drive Through Auto Laundry at 31 Orel-av in the rear of Wile Hudson used car lot.

The business is a novel one in that patrons of the firm will have no long waiting time to reclaim their cars. In a matter of eight minutes a car is completely washed and again ready for the road. At the entrance strong jets of water come into contact with all surfaces of the car and as the car proceeds through the laundry workmen in pits beside the car's course also get the whole undersides of fenders thoroughly clean.

Said Walker, "This is a new venture and a really new type business and one worthy of a progressive community like the Hilltop. Hilltop car owners want service and we believe that with this quick service auto laundry we can give them just what they want."

Kiwanis Club Schedules Hobby Talks

Repetition of one of the most successful programs staged during last year is to be made at the regular noonday luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club today. Members of the local group engaged in different types of hobbies will take over the meeting to discuss their various pursuits. Chairman Harold Fox, vice president of the local Kiwanis, will preside over the meeting and promises an interesting session.

Thus far three of the local Kiwanis have been lined up for the discussion. They are: Bruce Tanner, Virgil Cline and Ed Melvin. None of the three would reveal the topics they plan to address the assemblage about, contending that the membership would have to be present in order to hear their hobby talks.

Hilltop Youth Seriously Hurt In Accident

Carl Bennett, 13, 3344 Brookside-blvd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bennett, suffered a broken right leg and a possible skull fracture Monday evening when struck by a car driven by Rose Kesterson, also of Brookside-blvd, while he was walking along the street.

The youth was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment of his injuries.

CYCLE RIDER HURT

Homer Rathburn, 24, of 523 Townsend-av, was injured seriously Friday night when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with an auto at High and Fulton-sts, firemen reported. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital, suffering severe back, rib and head injuries.

Schedule West Alumni Show For Presentation Sept. 8th

One of the outstanding entertainers scheduled for appearance in the second West High Alumni Show, "Fantasy Futurama", will be Jim Lee, who in the past year has become one of the outstanding piano players in Columbus. The second edition of the West High Alumni Shows will be staged on Friday, Sept. 8, in West High Auditorium beginning at 8:15 p. m.

Lee has come far as an entertainer since his starting role in the Band Variety Show of 1950 in which he not only had an act but also acted as one of the chief arrangers for the presentation. He went on from there to win the "Joseph Presents" show on WLW-C and the Irwin Johnson WBNS-TV show, On Stage. Since the first of 1950 he has appeared on the WLW-C "Teen-Age Canteen Show" a dozen or more times. He is a familiar figure to Hilltoppers after having appeared in a team with Dick Briggs in a duet act of singing, dancing and playing in the Hilltop Minstrel Show and Jack Sherick's "Dance Revue."

"Fantasy Futurama" is directed by John Patterson, who scored locally with West High's presentation of "Red, Hot and Blue" with other successes while in the armed services.

As in last year's smash hit, "Do You Remember", there will be featured an all-star band which will be composed of all alumni personnel from the West High Band. Under the direction of "Ziggy" Ceyle, the band will feature several original numbers by Patterson.

Other local talent appearing in "Fantasy Futurama" will include Mike Mourey, Bill Masters, Frank Ongaro, Jim Lee, Malcomb McCoy, Mary Steed, George and Jackie Hardy and Lois Neff. Several other acts are yet to be added to complete the presentation.

W. Mound St. To Get More Improvement

West Mound-st is to get further improvements, according to Robert F. Werner Columbus City Engineer, who announced Monday that construction has been started by the Complete General Construction Company of a new 40 foot wide pavement in W. Mound-st from Wayne-av, west to Binns-blvd.

Werner said, that the new pavement would be similar to the construction just recently completed in W. Mound-st from Central-av to Whitethorne-av and that upon completion would provide a new central traffic artery from downtown Columbus to Binns-blvd.

All traffic on W. Mound-st from Wayne-av to Binns-blvd has been closed with exception of the north-south street intersections which will be kept open, according to Werner.

George Witherell Buried Monday At Tecumseh, Mich.

George H. Witherell, 60, of 83 S. Burgess-av, died Friday, Aug. 11, in his home.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Edith Witherell; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Catri of Sandusky, and three sons, Wilson, Bradley, and John Witherell, all of Columbus.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Noble L. Allen Funeral Home and also on Monday at Tecumseh, Mich., where interment was made.

Rerouting National Highway Over McKinley Ave. Proposed

Regional Planning Commission engineers this past week went to work on a proposed interbelt traffic loop that would encircle the central business district of Columbus and have a direct effect on Hilltop traffic by incorporation of Valley-view-dr and McKinley-av into the projected plan as a new route for the National Highway Route 40. Rerouting of traffic to the through expressway as it is proposed would eliminate much of the heavy traffic from W. Broad-st.

Also affected by the proposed loop expressway would be the 3-C Highway which enters the city at W. Mound-st and Central-av. This highway, it is said, under the plan would be relocated and brought over a new road to be built which would extend Sandusky-st southward crossing Harmon-av and Route 104.

Sandusky-st under the proposal on which engineers are now working would become the western boundary of the traffic loop. Northern boundary would be Goodale-st, eastern line would be in the vicinity of Lexington and Jefferson-av, and the south limit along Fulton-st.

The long-proposed interbelt traffic system according to present plans would consist of a minimum width of four traffic lanes. There will be no traffic lights to slow or impede traffic and the speed limits would be established between 40 and 50 miles per hour.

Original plan for the system was compiled by the Columbus Planning Commission. That group gave approval to the plan on Jan. 26 and Columbus Council gave its approval on Jan. 30. The Regional Planning Commission took over the plan at the request of the city planning body and it becomes the first major undertaking of that recently formed group.

Working on the project at the present time are 17 engineers, draftsmen and workmen under the direction of Grover Clements, director of the Regional Planning Commission. Others working with the planning group are Ralph Lehman, assistant chief, state engineers bureau of planning and design; Octave Ammon, engineer chief of Division Six, Ohio Highway Department; Robert F. Werner, city engineer and a representative of the County Engineer's office.

Engineers and field men, it was pointed out are now conducting surveys and gathering other data which will be correlated into a final report, before any immediate physical action is taken. The relocation of Route 40 from W. Broad-st to the McKinley-av and Valleyview-dr will probably be proposed in the final report, according to engineers.

The project will be financed mostly by federal funds appropriated by Congress. Federal government will furnish 85 per cent of the construction cost.

Construction could possibly start within the next two years, say the engineers currently on the project. They hasten to point out however, that this could only be true if the project encounters no major obstacles that would tend to delay action.

Fertilizer Co. Seeks Other Site

Plans of an unnamed firm to establish a fertilizer plant in the section of the Hilltop north of Sullivant-av have evidently undergone a complete change, according to Grover Clements of the Franklin County Zoning Commission.

Clements said today, "The zoning commission has not as yet heard anything more concerning the plans to ask rezoning of the Sullivant-av area from light industrial to heavy industrial, such as was intimated several weeks ago when an unknown fertilizer plant was reported seeking a location there. From all indications at this source they have abandoned any ideas of establishing on the Hilltop where it became quickly evident that they were not wanted."

Another source in the regional planning commission indicated that the as yet unidentified firm had abandoned hopes of establishment in the Hilltop area and instead were considering a site in the neighborhood of Joyce-av in the eastern section of the city.

Man Hurt When Car Hits Train

A 24-year-old Hilliards man escaped with minor injuries Monday night when his auto crashed into the side of a 75-mile-an-hour Diesel-powered Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train at the Hilliards-Rome-rd crossing, three miles west of Columbus.

The state highway patrol identified the man as Frank W. Von Driska of Roberts-rd, Hilliards. He was treated in Mt. Carmel Hospital for scalp lacerations.

Sheriff's deputies said Von Driska's car was demolished. The train, inbound from Richmond, Ind., was delayed approximately 30 minutes. The engineer was Gurnie L. McCoy, 144 Binns-blvd, and the conductor, Harold Sevart, 205 N. Chase-av.

Transfer Title For New Y Site

Transfer of the title to the property at the southwest corner of Harris and Broad-sts from Mrs. Stella Leach to the Hilltop YMCA was completed last Saturday.

The two lots, with frontage on Broad-st of 90 feet and extending back 180 feet to the alley, will be used as a future building site for the Hilltop YMCA.

This property was selected by the "Y" building committee after a survey of the community was made by representatives of the national YMCA in which recommendation was made that a site be selected near cross town transportation, on a main street, and near the center of the community. This was one of the very few available locations in the community which met with the recommendations of the organization.

While no plans have been made for a new building on the lots in the immediate future, it is the hope of the local organization that civic minded individuals in the community will start making regular contributions to the building fund so that the program may get under way when building conditions are right in the not too distant future.

Hilltop Man Appointed To Curb Chiselers

William D. Ferguson, 30, of 36 S. Hague-av, after his appointment Thursday by City Auditor R. F. Barthalow to the special post of "auditor-investigator" began an immediate probe of relief expenditures within the city, in an effort to ferret out and eliminate chiselers from relief rolls.

Appointment of such an investigator was authorized by Columbus City Council. Formerly employed as a field auditor of the city income tax division, Ferguson will also conduct continuous audits for further relief expenditures.

A veteran of World War II, Ferguson is vice commander of Camp Chase Post No. 98 of the American Legion. In his new position he will be paid at the rate of $3,000 per year.

Looking Ahead with J. W. WORREL

Confidence is a great quality. Never before has it been so necessary to have confidence in ourselves, in our country, in our friends, in our jobs, in our future. Lose confidence and life becomes complicated and hopeless. Yet when it comes to planning one's future, confidence alone is not enough. We must also have foresight. Foresight to provide against the emergencies of life, against old age and the time when we shall no longer be able to earn our keep. Confidence in the future comes much more easily when we know that future is provided for. And of course the one way to provide for it is by means of life assurance. Life assurance today offers guaranteed future protection and security to more than sixty-five million citizens of North America. Take care of YOUR future too, by becoming a policyholder of the Sun Life of Canada.

Anyway his hands certainly blocked his stumble when he fell one night two weeks ago, and couldn't get his hands out of his pockets to catch himself. He suffered skinned knees and cut lip. So don't do what he did.

Mrs. John Jones, 1712 Harrisburg-pk, was hostess at a kitchen shower, Aug. 4, in honor of her niece, the former Ruth Iris Poulson, 2380 Harrisburg-pk. Miss Poulson's marriage to Harold Layman took place Aug. 12. Mrs. Jones and son, John, returned home just in time for the party after spending seven weeks with relatives near Mt. Sterling.

Jackson Chapel WSCS met Wednesday, Aug. 16, at the home of Mrs. Earl Breckenridge, White-rd.

Amos Moran, 1878 Harrisburg-pk, is a surgical patient in the Veterans Hospital at Dayton.

Games and contests were enjoyed by members of the Sunday School of Briggsdale Methodist Church following the picnic dinner Sunday at Maple Shades.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davy, Schilling-dr, Briggsdale, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Ann, to James W. Farber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Farber, 2085 Lamont-av. The wedding took place July 16 in the Briggsdale Church with Rev. Edwin S. Jones officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley O'Day and Mrs. Kathryn King, 2066 Eakin-rd, entertained last Tuesday evening with a dinner in honor of the 80th birthday of James Mapes of Columbus. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bon, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Freshour, Mr. and Mrs. John Raymond, Emma Wehe and Mrs. Pearl Lappen, all of Columbus.

Rev. and Mrs. Edwin S. Jones and son, Bobby, 1669 Harrisburg-pk, returned last week from their vacation at the home of Mrs. Jones' parents in Pennsylvania.

The Home-Front

When fine young boys like yours and mine,
Go forth across the sea,
In answer to our country's call
To fight for you and me—
Let us bind ourselves together,
A home-front loyal, true.
Helping keep the colors flying,
Our own red, white and blue.

Our boys do not have beds of ease—
Nor luxury of food:
They are not on a pleasure trip.
But a mission high and good.
They must face the battle's fury—
Of shot and shell from foe.
Or mid the wildly bursting bombs,
Crouch in a fox-hole low.

Many now lie wounded . . . dying!
Let us lift our heart in prayer
Forgetting self—remembering
The brave boys over there.
When victory's won and they come back . . .
Then we can truly say,
"We did our best on the home-front,
While the boys were away."

—Ethel Titus Worthen

(Editor's Note: The above poem written by Mrs. Ethel Titus Worthen was inspired by the Record's appeal last week for an expression of patriotism of our readers in joining the Anti-Hoarding Club.)

THE CHIGGER

Is a splendid digger,
And may be blamed
For one's itches
After an afternoon
Among the violets,
Larkspur
And Dutchman's britches.

Rough Time In North Korea

If you were a worker in Communist North Korea, under Cabinet Decision No. 27 promulgated by the "Democratic People's Republic" on Jan. 31, 1950, recently received in Washington by the U. S. Department of Labor, you would have to do these things:

Observe "labor discipline" and carry out "at the correct time and exactly" orders from your executive officials.

Report for duty at the specified hour and carry on your duties without wasting time on "business which does no concern" you.

"Fulfill and overfulfill" production quotas.

"Take loving care of, and conserve," raw materials, supplies, machines, and tools used in production.

Observe "secrecy of establishment."

Should you violate any of these and other provisions of labor discipline, you would be subject to administrative as well as criminal reprimand and punishment; that is, sentence set by the management as well as by the court. No provisions for appeal are included in the law under which you would be working.

If you were to lose more than 30 minutes of your tour of duty by being late in reporting, leaving the establishment for home in the middle of your tour of duty, going out for lunch before lunch time, returning late from lunch, or neglecting your work without "proper reason," you would be considered an absentee and your state food ration would be reduced.

If you were to produce "unqualified" or poor-quality products, you would be held "responsible materially under provisions of laws and ordinances of the state, irrespective of reprimand and punishment."

If you were to decide to leave your job or change your trade, you couldn't—unless you informed management of your reasons and obtained management's approval.

If after violating one of the disciplinary provisions, it should happen that you "cannot be located or fail to respond to notice," management would have the authority to set punishment without hearing your "explanation."

"Prevent Fire - - - Save Lives"

A new poster for Fire Prevention Week—which will be observed nationally next October—has been chosen by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It shows a mother playfully lifting her young child above her head and is captioned: "For their sake—Prevent Fire, Save Lives."

There, in a few words, is a vital message. Fire kills some 11,000 human beings every year in this country and at least three-quarters of those deaths occur in homes. Among children, fire continues to lead the causes of accidental deaths at home. On top of that, fire is responsible for horrible burning and maimings. In many cases children are crippled for life.

Fire Prevention Week comes only once each year. But the spirit that motivates the week should remain in force every day and every night. There is no end to the job of fire prevention—unless we are constantly on guard, new dangers will appear. Safety in the home demands year-around vigilance. Rundown heating systems, worn and defective wiring, improperly stored paints and varnishes and cleaning solvents, litters of trash in basements, closets and attics, carelessness with smoking materials and matches—these are all prime causes of home fires, and the house that is relatively safe today may be a menace tomorrow.

Remember that simple motto—"Prevent Fire, Save Lives." And act on it.

Another fallacy foisted upon the reading and movie-going public is that newspaper men are hard-hearted. Everyone knows that Mr. Hartley is behind every movement planned for the betterment of humanity. The Hilltop in particular; The Columbus Citizen's managing editor, James Crossley, 263 Westgate-av, is another newspaper man who is anything but hard-hearted and brusk. Several months ago he took the time from his busy day to write a very kind and helpful letter to a polio victim of my acquaintance. The Hilltop's Clyde D. Moore, Journal columnist, is another "old softie," though he doesn't know I know it.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

GRATITUDE . . .
HUMAN GOLD

A truly heart-warming thing happened a few days ago in my home . . . therefore I cannot resist the temptation to pass it along to you.

It came so suddenly that I was fairly unprepared for it . . . but it did open the flood gates of memory and was tremendous in its implications.

I came into the living room and found a well built, well dressed, successful appearing man, say of 50 years of age (actually was 32), graying hair, etc. As I saw him standing with Mrs. C. it seemed that I had never seen him before. I absolutely did not recognize him. So there he stood (Mrs. C HAD recognized him over the 36 years) but I was mystified and nonplussed.

I shook his hand in courtesy . . . but she had to say the name that opened the "door of the past" . . . WELDON YATES . . . then all flashed back. You see I took my old boys' public school orchestra around 1911 (Yates was 16 years then) of 28 lads, camping for a week, on a stream near the Elmont Hotel in Groveport . . . and for our evening concerts on the big porch, we were given two free meals each day.

Well, this Weldon Yates was a a keen eyed, freshly complexioned tall fellow, so like one of my likeable, loyal fellows of this (1950) Adirondack camp trip. Yates was full of adolescent devilltry but his coming to see ME was because he sincerely liked me . . . no hypocrisy there, true old friendship. (He came 14 years ago, TOO, when I was supposed to "pass on" with appendicitis) I recognized him then, he had not matured or changed . . . now he was mature, with a 16 year old son. Yet he was always GRATEFUL IN HIS HEART for this "never to be forgotten" youthful camp trip. But this article is not all about Yates . . . it is FOR YOU, dear reader.

Family reunions, home gathering picnics, are great occasions for the renewal of love and for grateful memories.

How I would enjoy such reunions especially of the old public school orchestra of 50 fellows (many now men of influence) but alas, of the 1911 orchestra only four fellows over the 36 years have called upon me, and of course the 12 years of Adirondack campers are really too recent to bear fruit in gratitude, though several have shown it in tangible form . . . in fact, just a few days ago, I received, in one day, a letter and three cards from former camp pals.

I may seem bitter in my thoughts but I am not . . . only sad . . . it is awful to hurt one through forgetfulness. That famous old song "Forgotten" has always made me sad, for it is so true . . . so true.

Perhaps the lure of gold or family isolation (over half are married) is responsible . . . My "sharing" of these camp trips had never a "money thought" only the profit of youth friendship, but alas, it is to be ever thus. Grateful friends are few . . . far between . . . and perhaps this quiet search for gratitude will bear fruit, before it is too late.

Homer Miller, Weldon Yates and Willard Hafford (deceased) have ever lived in my mind over the 36 years. Now, dear reader, are you truly grateful? Do you go "out of your way" to regenerate lovely "past" memories? Why not begin today to revamp your thoughtless attitudes. Why not rise above Robert Burns immortal "Man's Inhumanity to Man" and repair those years of indifference to some "forgotten" friend. It will pay you huge dividends . . . not in gold . . . but in the stuff that makes life worth living. I ask you to try at least for one renewal of old friendships and see if you have not truly struck a rich vein of human gold.

"THINK THIS OVER."

Dear Mr. Hartley:

Your appeal to citizens to pledge support in an anti-hoarding campaign is fine. I want to commend you for this patriotic act.

But please don't stop here. Let's have a second appeal to merchants and tradesmen. They too can help immeasurably by NOT advertising certain merchandise and articles as scarce and "Hurry! Hurry! Take advantage of this offer while it lasts".

Mr. Hartley, you know what the psychological reaction is to such advertising.

We hear much of "take the profits out of war and we'll have none." Let's follow the advice of our statesman, Mr. Baruch, and win the battle on the home front.

Sincerely,
Hilda Judy

By Dave Miller

The top thought around the Hilltop will be beginning next Monday afternoon when West High School will begin preparations for their initial football practice Aug. 21.

During the first three days, concentration will be spent mainly on handing out equipment and skull sessions with the gridders. A. M. (Mack) Pemberton will again serve as head coach of the 1950 edition of West gridiron men while Dave Randall will be line coach and Fred Heischman the backfield mentor.

Of last year's varsity squad, the coaches will be greeted by all except 21 of the team, which takes a deep cut into West's hopes for a pennant contender in the coming fall.

However, 18 boys of the varsity are back for service this season and, barring injuries, all will be ready for action Monday afternoon. The number includes six juniors and 12 seniors, in addition to numerous juniors who played reserve ball last season.

Last year's varsity was successful in three of nine games, defeating Linden McKinley, South and Cleveland Garfield Heights while losing out to Marion Harding, Upper Arlington, North, East, Central and Aquinas. The West reserve team had a rather dismal year last season, winning only two of seven frays.

Central is defending champion from last year, after West had taken first place with unbeaten teams both in '47 and '48 under Pemberton, but Aquinas' Tarriers loom as the dark horse in this season's race for the banner. Aquinas, with a green team last year, broke even in six league tilts, and has all except two boys back from its starting team of last season, thus stamping them as sure-fire challengers to defending champ Central.

Returning varsity men from the '49 season eligible for duty this year among the seniors include ends, George Crissinger and Claire Ashton; tackles, Jack Bowen, Dick McDermitt, Dale Brush, Dave Lazenby and John Heskett; guard, "Spike" Ringer"; centers, Jerry Fry and Ron Farley; and backs, Dick Briggs, Ronnie James, Carmine DeMatteo and Chuck Leibensperger. The juniors, who played both reserve and varsity ball last year ready for services this year include backs, Charlie Hunter, Jerry Johnson and Doyne Bayse; center, Ed Gielbs; and guards, Jim Hall and Ronald (Chicken) Ealy.

The gridders, as is the custom each year, will engage "scrimmage" games with Grandview and Newark for their warm-up session and will open their season Sept. 15 at Marion Harding. The gridders then will play host to Upper Arlington the following Friday, and since they draw the league bye the next week, they will have an early homecoming tilt hosting to one of the best in the state in Lima Central, and then on consecutive Fridays they will play host to Aquinas, North, McKinley and East (Saturday, Oct. 28) and visit South and Central to balance out the schedule.

Bob Epps, West's brilliant all-round athlete of the past school year, will play first string center for the southern team in the annual North-South Ohio High School All-Star game this year in the Glass Bowl Stadium in Toledo Saturday evening. Epps has been named by his coach, Jim MacDonald of Springfield, as the starting defensive linebacker for the south. Lots of luck, Bob.

West High's future gridmen have been getting their muscles back into working condition during the past month with exercises and contact work at Westgate under their own guidance . . . OHSAA rules state that no coach is permitted to hold practice sessions for his team during spring or summer season unless he sacrifices his Aug. 20 to Sept. 1 drills. In other words, if a school holds a spring drill it is not permitted to start fall grid practice until Sept. 1. However, many of the candidates for football hold practice sessions among themselves sometimes for the sole purpose of conditioning.

Dick Hoover, West grad, recently increased his pitching record with Jersey City of the International League to 12-5 with three wins within a period of eight days, two coming in relief work, something unusual for Dick . . . Chuck Weeks, all-state footballer for West in 1948 and one of West's best all-round athletes, is preparing to leave for the University of Southern California shortly . . . Big Charlie was recently asked what he planned to major in at USC, to which he replied "football"—not a bit unusual for the big six-foot five-inch Weeks.

The schedule makers of the City League certainly have vague ideas as to how to play teams in accordance with change of field each week. For instance, look at West's schedule. They play four straight home games (seven if you include their three non-league games) and then close the season the next two weeks in games both away. How odd can you get?

Now that so many no-hitters have been floating around the major and triple A leagues, talk of the "live" ball has sort of disappeared. Of the 40 teams in the aforementioned class, Columbus' Red Birds probably are having the worst time of anyone, having two no-hitters slammed at them within a period of 11 days.

West's marching band will have some original band formations for their games this fall, having their formations made out by different groups throughout the band members last semester, from which Clair Barnard, band director, will select the best which will be put into action at the halftime of West's 1950 football contests.

DOWN THE FAIRWAY

"The Duffer"

The third round matches of the Seiller's Handicap played at Beacon Light golf course this week were nearly all on schedule which only goes to show the sustained interest by the contestants.

Most matches were a little one sided but one in particular was very close. Boyer and Saunders were practically even up for most of the round. The 16th hole decided the match. Baker Saunders knocked down a 12-foot putt for a birdie and a win 1 up. Saunders' score including two penalty strokes, was 74.

Lilly and Swarney went as far as the 17th green where the heavy handicap caught up with Swarney. Lilly won 2 up and 1 to go.

In the other matches Case beat Fox 5 up and 4 to go. Hyatt won from Florio 5 and 4; Lynch over Carper 5 and 4; Friend over Baker 3 and 2. Weisenberger beat Alban 3 and 2. They say Alban ran dry on the 15th.

At the completion of the tournament it is expected that Paul Leighninger will present the Seiller trophy for the winner. There is also a nice trophy for the runner-up, so it pays to try.

This week's tip on golf etiquette: "When the result of a hole has been determined, players should leave the green." This courtesy serves two purposes, it moves you out of range and it speeds up play.

Letchworth-av Residents Declare War On Barn Owls

While Columbus firemen look on from the platform of the 85-foot aerial ladder, Lewis Mallott climbs to the heights of the 60-foot elm tree in which the "Owls of Letchworth" made their residence. (Dispatch Photo)

There is hope expressed by residents in the Letchworth-av area that the "Owls of Letchworth" will not return to plague the neighborhood with their nocturnal visits. Since last Thursday only one owl of an estimated dozen of large "monkey-faced" barn owls has returned to a 60-foot elm tree in front of the home of John Thomay, 301 Letchworth-av. The return visit was made Saturday night and the "wise bird", finding the den tree blockaded, evidently migrated to another spot to take up a new home.

Complaints of residents in the neighborhood brought about action which closed off (they hope) the den tree of the feathered brood when the Columbus Division of Parks and Forestry and the Columbus Fire Department combined forces to block tree openings with chicken wire and prevent the owls from further residence in the tree and neighborhood.

Residents in the Letchworth-av area claim that the owls have become a nuisance for the past few years, each summer raising a brood that in addition to their nightly serenades have made themselves objectionable in other ways.

Just recently one of the birds attacked a small dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Torr of 302 Letchworth-av and tried to carry away the tiny four-month-old Toy Manchester. "Cricket", the dog, weighing only three pounds, managed, however, to elude the owl which Mr. Torr described as having a four foot wingspread.

Mr. Torr also reported that the owls have become progressively bolder and have even attacked a large Chow dog in the neighborhood. He expressed concern that one of the huge birds might become so bold as to attack one of the children living in the neighborhood.

As a result of the complaints from residents in the area, Fire Chief Walter Strickfadden, Assistant Chief Joe Cassell and members of No. 16 Engine House at Chestnut and Fourth-sts brought out the department's 85 foot aerial ladder.

While Fireman Hebert Marrett manipulated the ladder, Lewis Mallott of the parks division climbed to the heights of the ladder and under the supervision of Don Smith and Earnest Root, also of the parks division, nailed chicken wire over all the openings in the huge tree. Following two hours work on the tree, the fire department expressed the belief that the "Owls of Letchworth" will not return.

During the blockading operation, Mallott reported to his "ground crew" that he didn't find any owls while closing the tree openings. The opinion was offered that they must be out to lunch or asleep deep in the tree.

Early this week Mrs. Albert Torr, when contacted by the Record, said that she had heard at least one owl in the vicinity Saturday night, but that since then the nightly serenade of the "monkey-faced" birds had been lacking from the neighborhood scene and that all was peaceful and serene.

Her fingertip veil of imported English illusion was held in place by a starched lace tiara which was embroidered in pegs taken from her mother's wedding gown. She carried a Bible topped with white gladiolus and stephanitis with trailing ivy.

The honor attendant, Miss June Roberts, wore a theatre length gown of frost embroidered organdy over orchid taffeta and a picture hat to match. Her bouquet of purple asters was arranged to give a basket effect.

The bridesmaids, Miss Norma Arndt, Chicago, and Miss Jerry Klein, wore identical gowns over green taffeta, and carried orchid asters. Junior bridesmaid Patricia Ann Sauer, wore a similar gown of organdy over yellow taffeta, and carried a mixed bouquet.

The flower girl, sister of the groom, also wore organdy over yellow. She carried a hand crocheted basket from which she strew rose petals.

Mr. Kreemer chose as his best man, James McAllister, and seating the guests were John F. Schmidt, Frank E. Kreemer, Charles Searles and Robert Grant.

Mrs. Mason wore a cocktail length dress of soft green chiffon and lace with cocoa accessories. She wore a deep purple orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore navy trimmed with white lace and navy accessories. Her orchid was of a delicate shade.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Q. Bradley, 7530 W. Broad-st. Serving the 225 guests were Mrs. W. C. Roberts, Mrs. Marie McAllister, Mrs. Mariwyn Haueisen, Miss Marilyn Beard, Mrs. Muriel Fairchild, Miss Patti Holycross and Miss Nancy Lou Briggs, who received the guests at both the church and the reception.

Miss Binkley Now Mrs. C. Work

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Work at their reception.

On June 24, at 3:30 p. m., in Westgate Methodist Church, Miss Orchie May Binkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Weimer, 442 S. Powell-av, became the bride of Mr. Carl W. Work, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Work, 149 N. Roys-av.

Rev. Norman Schreiber officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and delphinium palms.

A white wrought iron arch under which the wedding party passed formed the garden setting for the open church wedding.

Given in marriage by her only brother, Mr. W. Harvey Binkley, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with a portrait neckline, a full hooped skirt which widened into a cathedral train with many rows of French chantilly lace, long tight sleeves which came to points over her hands.

A bonnet shaped tiara of satin and French lace with orange blossoms held in place her finger-tip veil. She carried a white cross of carnations and lace centered by a white orchid. Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom.

Preceding the bride to the altar were Miss Norma Jeanne Baker, maid of honor, Miss Jeanne Work and Miss Virginia Work, bridesmaids. The attendants wore gowns identically styled of marquisette, over silk taffeta with matching net mitts and picture hats.

Miss Baker wore green, the bridesmaids yellow and blue. They carried colonial bouquets of American beauty roses and white carnations.

Mr. Gene Jaques was the best man and seating the guests were Mr. Don Vollmer and Mr. Pete Stout.

A reception was held in the church basement. Hostesses were the Misses Evonne Callaghan, Marilyn Griffiths, Marilyn Gaugel and Mrs. Paul F. Weimer and Mrs. Norman Bedford.

The mothers both wore white georgette gowns over taffeta with pastel floral designs. Each wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of West High School. Mrs. Work is employed by the State Auto Mutual Insurance Co. and Mr. Work is associated with the Standard Oil Co.

They are making their home at 3766½ W. Broad-st.

In case you wondered about the strange contraption which has been making daily forays up and down W. Broad-st in recent weeks it is known as a road planer, especially adapted to the smoothing out of wrinkles and corrugations in asphalt pavements. The forward portion of the machine throws intense heat against the road surface, softening it up so that a scraping device levels all bumps and corrugations to a common level. This outfit has just completed the leveling of W. Broad-st from Central-av west to Wheatland-av.

HILLTOP AVIATION (No. 7)

'Great Stuff' Says Record Reporter Of First Flight

"Great stuff" was the only exclamation from the Record reporter after a "flip-the-flip trip" in the air over the Hilltop early in January, 1929, with Chief Pilot Walter Seyerle at Columbus Airport.

Working upon the basis that only experience can convince a person, Seyerle offered to demonstrate with the above trip. So, editorially speaking, "we" took caution to see that our belt was well strapped and in short order the plane was throwing cinders behind and soon left the ground.

Higher, higher she climbed and the individual corn stalks in the field below were not discernible after a few seconds. The houses began to look like garages and the well arranged lay-out of the Hilltop was soon appreciated.

Eight hundred feet in the air, we flew over the Record office and other buildings on Broad-st. Traffic looked familiar from this point but with a few upward moves the cars began to look like mice below. The Hillcrest church building and the Hilltop bank were the most outstanding from the air.

"Got your belt on tight?" asked Seyerle. An affirmative answer was his signal to give us a thrill we had never experienced before as the plane headed skyward while all the weight of our body seemed to lunge to our head. Then another such action after settling down again, but this time our confidence began to take hold and the "vertical bank" was more enjoyable.

Then came the "wing over", which seemed more like a sudden drop from nowhere to no place of importance, but without it the trip would have been incomplete. A few more vertical banks and we settled down to earth after a long swing to the north.

To those who have never been off the ground or its attachments, this trip would have seemed a little uncertain at first but all confidence was soon restored after watching the ease with which Seyerle made his plane take the desired course.

Four students at the new flying school were ready to take solos. The new chief pilot did not name them because he said they did better when they were unaware of how near they were ready to take the much looked forward to flight.

Seyerly was a resident of the Hilltop, living at 3058 W. Broad-st. He had learned to fly at Marietta and had never been scratched in flying.

Night flights from the Columbus Airport, Sullivant-av, started late in June, 1929. Passengers were taken for special sightseeing tours over the city, and arrangements were also made to land along with the night air mail or as the mail took off each evening.

There was an average of three trips made each night and the number of curious visitors continued to grow as they came from all parts of the city to witness the night flying.

In 1929 there were about 50 students enrolled in the flying course at the field. Paul Munier, 21, of Dayton, had been employed to teach parachute jumping to those students desiring it. He made many jumps at the field each week.

"Parachute jumping is an essential for those who expect to fly mail," explained D. F. Ricketts, manager of the port. It made flying complete. The local school was the only one of its kind in the state in offering chute jumping. The Rankin system of learning to fly was used at the field.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. It's high blood pressure and is most often due to hardening of the arteries. Old rules of thumb for determining whether your pressure is high, low or normal (for instance, that normal pressure should equal age plus 100) don't mean anything. Let your physician decide whether yours is normal or not.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. One set of twins is born in about every 87 births. If there is a history of twins in your family your chances go up slightly. About three-fourths of all twins are "fraternal." They may be boy and girl or of the same sex and may or may not resemble each other. "Identical" twins are nearly alike in appearance and are always of the same sex.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. Overweight of 25 per cent or more raises the death rate in every adult age group by 74 per cent. Doctors and nutritionists generally agree that overeating and eating the wrong foods, rather than heredity or glandular troubles are by far the most frequent causes of overweight. Consult your doctor about what to eat and what not to eat.

Rezoning At Rome Meets Opposition

Editor's Note: Indications point this week toward a battle over the proposed rezoning plan for Rome when the following letter received from Mrs. L. S. Hill of the Garden Heights Community Association called to task the procedures utilized in securing approval of the proposed plans last week. The Record believes that all sides of the controversy should be fairly reported and therefore reproduces Mrs. Hill's letter which was directed to this office.)

Dear Mr. Hartley:

As I understand the present zoning, the area from the city limits to the Prairie Township line and from Sullivant Ave. to the Pennsylvania R. R. (north of Broad St.) is all zoned for light industrial and general commercial. This is quite a number of acres for future business and industry, which will surely mean more jobs and more money for the Hilltop.

However, still another proposal is under way. This proposal continues this same zoning as far as New Rome. From the Franklin Township line through Garden Heights the depth of the lot off Broad St. is to be zoned for general commercial purposes; from Grener Rd. in Garden Heights to Buena Vista Ave. in New Rome 500 feet is designated for general commercial purposes; then the entire area, some 300 acres, from this proposed general commercial change extending north to the Pennsylvania R. R. for light industry.

The first public hearing regarding this rezoning change was held in Rome School on Aug. 1, 1950. This meeting was conducted without due consideration of parliamentary procedure. The spokesman for the zoning board (there were no introductions made, so we have no names) made clear his position was for the proposed change, instead of remaining neutral as he is legally supposed to do.

A majority of people attending the hearing opposed this change, this majority being representative property owners of Garden Heights since property owners in New Rome were not aware of such a hearing.

Yesterday the announcement appeared in your newspaper that this same zoning board had passed the proposed change and had turned it over to the planning commission. This we expected, as it appeared the change was superimposed even before the public hearing. Tactics of this sort remind one of the procedure taking place in the Security Council at present.

Ask property owners in Rome, ask property owners in Garden Heights, the two communities to be affected most by this zoning change. All universally agree that industry is not wanted in our back and front doors. The general commercial change, on the other hand, receives very little opposition.

Garden Heights is a comparatively new community. You might call them pioneers of the Hilltop. Many of the citizens who live here are from the Hilltop, and many more who still live on the Hilltop own lots in this area, and undoubtedly intend to build here in the future. We are striving to build a desirable community where our homes are not jeopardized with smoke and obnoxious odors; where our children can play and grow up in less hazardous environments. Garden Heights will have no area to expand its residential area at all if this zoning goes through. Franklin Township on the east is already zoned for business and light industry; and if this present proposal passes the Franklin County Commissioners then there will be no area to expand west. At the same time it leaves no area for New Rome to expand its residential area east; and more important than either is the fact it leaves no area for the Hilltop and Westgate areas to expand west. Everyone, I'm sure, is aware of the small number of lots now available on the Hilltop.

Are these Rome Business Men, the sponsors of this re-zoning proposal, forgetting that the home is the real core of any community—and to make that a desirable community it must have a desirable residential area. I fail to see where they have given this serious thought for the betterment of a future desirable community.

The members of our Garden Heights Community Association would like to learn your views on this matter; and any aid you see fit to render us would be greatly appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,
Mrs. H. S. Hill

JOE BRIGGS Says:
A girl doesn't have to be a good match to kindle a flame in the heart of a young man.
Suppose you woke up some night and found your house burning down. You may have enough insurance on your house, but I'll bet you haven't nearly enough on your household furnishings. You accumulate things one at a time—clothes, furniture, etc.—but they can burn ALL AT ONCE. You'll be surprised at their value. Then get ENOUGH INSURANCE! CAN DO
Temporary Finish For Fresh Walls

ALONG ABOUT this time of the year a lot of new houses are nearing completion, and the owners are proudly awaiting the day they'll be able to move in.

If you are one of these lucky persons and you're in a family with a couple of small children, one of the minor problems you'll have to face will be what kind of attitude you are going to adopt with respect to those fine, freshly plastered walls.

You know, of course, that it is mandatory to let the plaster dry out for at least two months before giving them a permanent coat of oil paint. But perhaps you have reasons for wanting to give the walls some kind of temporary finish in the meanwhile, before you move in. (For instance, if you have a small boy, he has 10 such reasons at his fingertips.)

At any rate, here is a recommended process for giving the walls an attractive temporary covering:

First of all, it is considered a wise precaution to neutralize the free lime present in the fresh plaster by coating the walls with zinc sulphate. Use one pound of the chemical to a gallon of water. After several days, brush off any small crystals that may have formed on the walls.

The kind of paint to use at this stage of the game is the resin-base, water emulsion variety, available under several different brand names. Ask your hardware dealer about this and any other tools and materials you need.

This resin-base, water emulsion paint is made now in a glossy finish that you will find suitable for use in the kitchen and bathroom. The flat paint is good for living room, dining room and bed rooms. It's easy to apply, either with a brush or roller.

Now you'll have a safe and satisfactory interior paint job. If and when you want to change to a permanent oil paint, just clean the wall surfaces and apply a coat of varnish-size before painting.

THAT OLD WAINSCOTING

DID YOU know that you can hang wallpaper over wainscoting? Quite a few families live in old houses with wainscoting in the kitchen or elsewhere, hating it cordially and wondering what they can do about it, short of ripping it out—an expensive procedure. If you're in that spot, here's a possible solution:

Cover the wainscoting with a dry building felt, fastening it securely with small tacks spaced six inches apart in every direction. Apply glue-sizing to the felt and paste on paperhanger's muslin.

Now you'll find that you easily can hang the wallpaper of your choice on the muslin. The building felt base has sufficient flexibility to counteract any expansion and contraction of the wainscoting boards, thus preventing cracking of the wallpaper.

Foundations

Out in the forests of California grow some trees—the Sequoia "redwoods"—that are taller and older than any other trees in the world.

Your guide tells you that these trees were already old when Christ broke bread at the last supper. They were hundreds of feet high when the bugles of the Caesars sounded over the realm of the Roman Empire. They were full-grown when Christopher Columbus sighted a new land. And today, they are still hale, hearty and flourishing.

"We don't know what has made them last so long," your guide says, "But look at those solid foundations they have."

Any worthwhile accomplishment—natural or human—calls for a solid foundation. Architects know this when they draft plans for a skyscraper. Teachers know this when they plan courses for our children. Ministers know this when they present the truths of the Bible to us in church.

One sure thing the Bible gives us is a strong foundation for personal achievement. In the pages of this Book is a groundwork of honesty, fair ethics and religious thought that enables us to transform effort into lasting accomplishment.

The Bible's truths were true when the redwoods of California were tiny saplings springing forth in a silent, undiscovered land. They are just as true in our twentieth century when the redwoods look out across a nation where men must—as always—lay a solid foundation before reaching upward to the stars.

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." 1 Cor. 3:11

An Editor Has A Dream

An Iowa publisher writes of a dream he has had. We too have had similar dreams. These are a few of the letters we MIGHT receive in the course of a week:

"Just picked up copy of your yesterday edition that had my name spelled incorrectly. The way you spelled it is the same as that fellow arrested for beating up his wife. However, I realize such mistakes happen very easily, and besides, I've beaten up my wife a few times, so forget it. I think you get out a wonderful newspaper. (Signed) A happy subscriber."

"Will you please call the attention of your advertising manager, Mr. Coon, to the fact that our ad in last week's paper ran upside down. I think it was a wonderful stunt for him to run it that way because I enjoyed seeing my wife stand on her head to read it. Enclosed find check for twice the usual cost of ad. I want all of you people to have a good time at my expense. (Signed) A prosperous advertiser."

"In an editorial in your latest issue you accused me of being unfit to hold a state office. You said I was spending money like a drunken sailor on a stormy night in Bristow. What you said about all my relatives on the state payroll surely was funny. I think you have a wonderful sense of humor. Enclosed find check for subscription for each of my seven relatives and thanks for proving that people are funny. (Signed) a Columbus politician."

"I was amazed to discover that my subscription is two issues overdue. Please accept my sincere apology and be assured that I will never do it again. Enclosed find subscription money plus interest for the two issues at 6 per cent annum, compounded. (Signed) A humble subscriber."

"I have been a close reader of your newspaper for two years. I think it's remarkable that I've never ever noticed a typographical error on your front page. Please advise all your proofreaders that I'm throwing a big party for them next Saturday night. I want to see if I can't break their record next week. (Signed) A devoted reader."

"Please save one copy of every issue of your paper for me from now on. I'll come down and pay for it. Last week when I went to borrow my neighbor's paper I failed to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it and ruined a $15 pair of pants. The neighbor's cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got in the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the commotion, my wife ran outside, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens and drowned 'em all. In her haste she dropped a $35 set of teeth and stepped on them, smashing 'em to bits. No neighbor's paper. (Signed) A future subscriber."

Briefly Told: Sam Alford and Myron Rodabaugh have sold their interest in Thrift Finance Co. to well known local finance firm operators . . . John "Bucky" Swartz has been given a six weeks deferment in reporting to the navy while his wife Iris recovers from a broken leg . . . The Joe Agees are visiting in town this week . . . The Curt Roberts' are back from a "way out yonder" visit to the West . . . Former Hilltopper Bob Rose, now of Dayton, has been called to report to Great Lakes in a couple of weeks . . . One man who requested an extension of time in which to report to the navy stated he wanted to train a man to take his place so he received a new set of orders changing his time of reporting from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. . . . Mrs. Ray Clark is back in Mt Carmel Hospital where she submitted to surgery Tuesday afternoon . . . A couple more big Hilltop real estate and business deals are in the making and will be announced in short order . . . And then there was the man who wanted his landlord to do some inside painting and the request was refused but the landlord gave permission for the tenant to do his own painting, whereupon he painted everything black and moved out . . . The Ray Andersons report seeing flying saucers in a restaurant down in Tennessee.

Ad "Clicks" In 40 Minutes For Mr. Dover

"Placing a classified ad in The Hilltop Record is an excellent way to locate a garage," enthused R. T. Dover, 249 N. Harris-av. "I've got proof. My ad for a single garage in the Record's "Wanted to Rent" column was answered within 40 minutes of the time my paper arrived. Result: I was able to rent a garage less than a block from my home."

Mr. Dover is one of many who have secured prompt, satisfying response from the Record's well-read classified columns. No matter what you want or need may be, it's very likely that a Record want ad will provide a happy solution.

Start your ad now, schedule it for two or more insertions, and cancel it any time you get results. For courteous service dial RA. 1125, ask for "Classified."

West High Gridmen Open Fall Practice

By Dave Miller

Three rough and tumble months lie ahead for West High's well-kept Magly Field as the Cowboy gridders from the Hilltop began the 1950 edition of the gridiron sport Monday afternoon with the annual fall drills.

Work throughout the week has been consisting mainly of conditioning of the athletes, who will make their official home bow Sept. 22, hosting to Arlington, the week following their season opener at Marion Harding.

However, Head Coach Mack Pemberton and his assistants, Backfield Mentor Fred Heishman and Line Coach Dave Randall will waste no time next week and the few remaining days following that to send their gridders into a who's who-process in a scrimmage affair, especially among the juniors and seniors, with the sophomores to be worked with at a later date under student coaches from Ohio State.

Pemberton has his scheduling down and hopes to continue practice on a possible two-a-day basis until school begins, whereupon the gridders will have sessions from 4 p. m. until after dark each evening probably, except for Thursdays preceding Friday night games which will consist only of touch plays and skull

"Mack," as Pemberton is better known to friends, is entering his fifth year of coaching football at West and in the previous four years won 25; lost 11, and tied two, having two unbeaten elevens in 1947 and 1948, both City League champs.

Last season graduation, as it does other city schools, crippled West to the extent of losing some 25 lettermen, and thus West entered the 1949 season with a very inexperienced team and the result was Pemberton's first bad year, a season of three wins out of nine tries. In 1946 he was even with four wins; as many losses and one tie.

Not much can be written of the happenings in the West football camp thus far, but after full-fledged practices get into order the latter part of this week and beginning next week, West is expected to sport a team to be proud of, in the City League race that starts Sept. 29.

Westgate Man Answers Quiz Show Puzzler

Art Corn, 350 S. Roys-av, is ready now to believe that "Lady Luck" will smile down at the most unlikely times and bestow small favors, even to an insurance agent.

Events of last Monday evening provided the clinching arguments to Corn when he was called by Peter Grant of WLW-C television to provide an answer to tunes played by the "Get On The Line Program."

Corn had the right answer to the first tune, "You're An Old Smoothie" and then surprised even himself by providing the correct answer to the King Pin Tune, "Just Like a Doll." Net result was the usual furore created by Grant when he gets a winner and Corn was $1700 richer in prizes.

Last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Corn journeyed to Cincinnati to appear on the popular TV program.

Said Corn today, "First time in my life I ever was lucky as all that. Guess I'll listen in on those quiz shows from now on."

Corn is an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Co. and has been with that firm for the past 20 years.

5 Autos Wrecked In Mishap

The Hilltop contributed its share to the accident toll last Friday following heavy unseasonal rains when a car driven by Mrs. Catherine D. Walker, 25, of 1105 N. Jackson-blvd, Cameron, Tex., heavily damaged four parked cars at the intersection of W. Broad and Warren-av.

As a result of the accident Mrs. Walker suffered a fractured collarbone, four broken ribs and numerous head lacerations. She is now confined to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment of her injuries.

According to Columbus police reports, Mrs. Walker said she was driving east on Broad-st and at the intersection of Warren-av her car a 1948 Nash convertible went into a skid as she tried to avoid a car which turned across the street in front of her.

Police said that the Walker car crashed into three parked cars on the south side of W. Broad-st and then veered across the street to hit another parked auto on the north side of Broad. At the point of first impact with the cars on on the south side of the street she was apparently hurled from the car onto the pavement and injured.

Result of the mishap was a total of five badly damaged autos, including cars of Douglas Brenner, 1750 Demorest-rd, a 1940 Chevrolet; O. H. Craft, 2661 W. Broad-st, a 1948 Dodge; Francis McKenzie, 2467½ W. Broad-st, a 1941 Studebaker; George E. Delph, 504 Garden Heights-rd, a 1949 Frazer, and the Walker car.

Youth Stamps Rat Dad Shoots Both

Eugene Planck, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Planck, 901 Wilson-rd, won't attempt to compete with his dad in any rat-killing contest in the near future.

Monday evening, Eugene and his father flushed several rats from a hiding place at the rear of their home. Eugene attempted to step on a rat at which his father shot several times with a 22-caliber rifle.

All went well until Eugene attempted to step on a rat at which his father was aiming. The bullet pierced a toe on Eugene's foot and killed the rat, according to sheriff's deputies.

Eugene was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital where he was treated for a compound fracture of the second toe on his right foot. Hospital attaches said the bullet passed through a bone in the foot.

Members Of Anti-Hoarding Club True American Patriots

Every day's mail brings in the names of more Hilltop residents who do not believe in the idea of hoarding and scare buying. These citizens believe in the principles of keeping our country strong by display of that patriotic spirit that says, "America has no room for hoarders while American boys are dying in foreign lands."

Something should be done about this hoarding problem, agree the many persons of this community who have signified their intentions to become members of the Hilltop Anti-Hoarding Club. Many who would become members of this unique club in which there are no dues, no meetings or no officers, have come personally to the newspaper office to sign up and voice their views against hoarding as an unpatriotic attitude.

"There will be plenty of everything if people don't hoard" is the slogan which members of the club are remembering and impressing upon their neighbors.

"To become a member and have your name printed in these columns as a patriotic citizen who is willing to back up the fighting men by not hoarding just fill the accompanying blank and mail or bring it to The Anti-Hoarding Club, care of The Hilltop Record, 3465 W. Broad-st. Each week these columns will carry the list of those who believe in unselfishness and the program of providing plenty for the fighting man as well as the people at home.

New members added to the already growing roles of the Anti-Hoarding Club this week are:

Marjorie Fry, 136 N. Burgess-av; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry, 91 S. Powell-av; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones and family, 75 N. Ogden-av; Mrs. John Steiner, 129 N. Hague-av; Mrs. Cecil J. Randall, 1989 W. Broad-st; Mrs. Frances Hughes, 231 Mix-av.

Mrs. Susan Ross, 25 N. Wayne-av; Mrs. Mattie Thomas, 47 N. Wayne-av; Mrs. Nellie Heatly, 48 N. Wayne-av; Mrs. J. Cecil Suver, 47 S. Harris-av; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Campbell, 91 S. Westmoor-av; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Rector, 46 S. Harris-av; Mrs. Alva C. Houck, 3148 Fisher-rd; Mrs. W. H. Riley, 118 N. Burgess-av;

Carolyn Thatcher, 235 Guernsey-av; Mrs. Pat Montenaro, 693 S. Tarrace-av; Everett and Mildred Andrews, 398 Martha-av; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoyt, 315 Maple-dr, Rome.

I believe this country is strong and will stay strong with a patriotic spirit being shown by its citizens. One of the least things I can do in this emergency is to refrain from hoarding and I hereby pledge my support of this program so there will be plenty for our fighting men and for our people at home.

Two Firms Sponsor Entries For Mum Festival Contest

Miss Garner

First entries in the mum queen contest which is to be one of the highlight features of the Hilltop Mum Festival sponsored by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club on Oct. 11, 12, 13 and 14, were made today with Seiller Department Store at 2405 W. Broad-st, and Fox Food Shop at 2422 W. Broad-st ending in a dead heat to place the first entry into the contest.

The Seiller entrant is Martha Van DeMark, 18, of 79 N. Wayne-av. Miss Van DeMark a graduate of West High School is a blonde with blue eyes, measuring 5 feet 7 inches in height and weighing a neat 124 pounds. She is an employee of Seiller's and works in the ready-to-wear department of that business establishment.

Martha Garner, 21, of 76 N. Terrace-av, another graduate of West High School, will carry the banner of the Food Shop into the contest as their entry. Miss Garner is a brown haired beauty with brown eyes. She stands 5 feet 3 inches and tips the scale at a smart 116 pounds.

Jack Merriman and Loren Galloway, committeemen in charge of the beauty queen contest which is slated as one of the opening features of the four-day long festival today said they had received many inquiries on the contest and that several prospective candidates who are without sponsors had already made bids and merely await selection by a sponsor.

With the registrations already promising to reach a high number, Merriman hastened to point out that business firms planning to sponsor an entry should get their entries lined up and entered as soon as possible.

He also pointed out that any business could sponsor an entry in the contest and that membership in the Hilltop Kiwanis or Hilltop Business Association is not necessary for a firm to sponsor an entry. He emphasized that the contest is open to all business firms west of the Scioto River and urged business and contest-

West Jefferson, Alton, and Hilliards to also sponsor entrants in the event.

Selection of the "Mum Queen" will be made immediately following the gigantic parade which is to open the festival in the Hill-

Judge Turner Is Seriously Ill In Hawaii

Stricken while on a vacation, State Supreme Court Judge Edward C. Turner is in critical condition in Honolulu, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl R. Turner, 3039 Crescent-dr, said Tuesday.

Judge Turner and his wife arrived in Hawaii Aug. 14. The jurist suffered a stroke two days later. He has been in an unconscious condition in Queen's Hospital since that time, Mrs. Turner said.

The couple had planned an around-the-world cruise but cancelled those plans. They were to stay at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel for about two months, Mrs. Turner said.

The judge's son, Carl R. Turner, an attorney, left here for Honolulu by airplane the day after his father was stricken. The Judge and Mrs. Turner reside at 4309 W. Broad-st.

Judge Turner was appointed to the Ohio Supreme Court by former Gov. John W. Bricker. He is a former Franklin County Common Pleas judge and once served as attorney general for the state.

Local Schools To Open Sept. 6; Enrollment Increase Expected

Less than two weeks from now, on Sept. 6, the school bells will ring again for children of the Hilltop.

Wednesday, Sept. 6, will mark the first time that Hilltop or other Columbus public school pupils have been called back on Wednesday following Labor Day, instead of Tuesday. The plan was made by Novice G. Fawcett, school superintendent, so that a general meeting of teachers could be held on Tuesday. Later on Tuesday, a meeting of teachers and principals will be held at the various schools.

An increase of about 800 elementary pupils is expected in the already overcrowded system. Part of the increase is a result of the change in the age limit for admitting first graders.

Children may enter kindergarten if they are 5 on or before Dec. 31. They may enter the first grade if they are 6 on or before Dec. 31. This year, for the first time, mid-year enrollments for these youngsters has been abandoned as part of a plan ultimately to discontinue mid-year, time-making promotions.

W. W. Miller, assistant school superintendent, cautioned parents that to enter either kindergarten or the first grade, all youngsters must have been innoculated against diphtheria and smallpox.

To help youngsters new in the system, or about to enroll the first time in school, principals will be in all the buildings the week before school opens for registrations.

Most county schools open Sept. 5, the day after Labor Day. Catholic parochial grade schools open Sept. 7 and high schools, Sept 11.

Polio Hits Hilltop; 2 Stricken

Two Hilltoppers are listed among three new cases of polio in Franklin County this week by Sid R. Phillips, chairman of the Franklin County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Addition of the new cases brought the county total to 15, Phillips said.

Latest victims of the dread disease are: Gerald Swisher, 40, of 139 S. Powell-av, an Associated Press representative; William J. Kirwin, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs William Kirwin, 2105½ W. Broad-st, and Arthur Jennings, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jennings, 1377 Clifton-av.

All of the three new cases reported are hospitalized at Children's Hospital where they are reported in good condition.

Lone Bandit In $2500 Haul At Local Store

A lone armed bandit grabbed $2500 in loose bills when he held up the co-owner and manager of Trott's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st, shortly after 8 p. m. Thursday night, just as the store was being closed.

Cornelius J. McDonald, 38, of 215 S. Westgate-av, the manager, told police he was chatting with a customer, Harold Elliott, 240 S. Westmoor-av, when the bandit approached, drew an old 32-caliber revolver and ordered:

"Get back in the cage and get me the money out of the safe."

The bandit herded MrDonald and Elliott to the cage, where a girl clerk was at work. Once the safe had been emptied, the rocky, ruddy-complexioned gunman directed McDonald to empty the cash registers.

They went to the front of the store where McDonald emptied the contents of three registers, where girl cashiers were checking out, and handed over all the bills.

As he darted for the door the bandit shouted: "Don't follow me, I am not kidding."

Improving Streets

Work started today on four streets in the Westgate area to restore cracked asphalt pavements, according to City Engineer Robert F. Werner, who said that Algonquin, Brinker, Southampton and Sylvan-aves would all be resurfaced from Broad-st to Wicklow.

First step in the resurfacing program will be application of a bituminous liquid and then a sand coating to fill the cracks in the asphalt. Final step will be the application of a coating of rock asphalt to complete the project.

Werner said that the operation would not be of long duration and that while work was going on a one-way traffic would be maintained.

Rev. and Mrs. Hydinger and their young son are residing at the new church parsonage at 138 S. Westmoor-av.

Two Unhurt When Truck, Bus Collide

Two men escaped injury last Wednesday when a semi-trailer truck crashed into the rear of a parked Columbus Transit Co. bus in W. Broad-st at Haldy Av.

Police said Vaughn D. Roberts, 26, of Muncie, Ind., lost control of the truck when he apparently fell asleep. Neither Roberts nor the bus driver, Charles C. Lang, 45, of 662 S. Cassingham-av, were injured. There were no passengers on the bus.

Police said extensive damage was done to the rear of the bus. Eighty-four gallons of gasoline spilled onto the street. Both vehicles jumped a curb and came to rest against a tree.

Sale of Campbell Pharmacy To 'Joe' Murphy Announced

C. H. Campbell

"Joe" Murphy

Surprise announcement was made this week of the sale of Campbell's Pharmacy at 2760 W. Broad-st, by C. H. Campbell, 91 S. Westmoor-av to John "Joe" Murphy of 1538 Cambridge-blvd. Sale of the popular drug store brings to an end the business venture of C. H. Campbell at the same location for a 26 year period.

The new owner of the business is no stranger to the Hilltop and its residents, having lived on the Hilltop for a period of 32 years prior to moving five years ago and operating a drug store at Harris and Sullivant-av for many years.

"Joe" as he wishes to be called, said today that his new Hilltop business will be known as Campbell's Broad-Hague Pharmacy and that he will specialize in prescription work as he had done before sale of his Harris-Sullivant drug store several years ago.

C. H. Campbell now at the age of 56, said today that in selling the pharmacy he had decided to take a vacation and rest after the 26 years of business at the same site in which rest and vacations were practically ruled out. He said, that later on he may consider some sort of vocation in order to have something to do with his spare time.

Both the new and the retiring owner of the drug store have active memories of their first start in business on the Hilltop recalling that when they first opened doors to the public, streets such as Powell-av were nothing more than mud roads.

Mike Mowery To Emcee Alumni Show

Mike Mowery who brought the house down in last year's presentation of the West Side Alumni Show "Do You Rememember" with his imitation of Frankie Lane singing "Now That I Need You" has been chosen as the master of ceremonies for "Fantasy Futurama" the second annual presentation of the alumni group.

Mike Mowery

Showing of this year's stage show will be at West High School on Sept. 8 with Mowery handling the emcee chores in his own inimitable manner and moving the presentation along at a fast pace.

No newcomer to the Hilltop, Mowery has appeared in the Band Variety Show, Strollers of Ohio State, and last year's alumni show. A natural comedian either on or off the stage he gives promise of being one of the best master of ceremonies to appear on the West High stage for sometime.

Officers of the alumni association said today that tickets are now being made available for "Fantasy Futurama" with reserved seat sale being made at Campbell's Broad-Hague Pharmacy.

Old Hilltop Landmark Sold This Week

Announcement was made this week of the sale of the old historic Peter Yaeger property of 5214 W. Broad-st, to Miller H. Harrison of 2077 Parkside-rd.

Details of the transaction which were handled by O. H. Craft, 2661 W. Broad-st, representing the buyer, and Estella Burnside, 92 Powell-av, as representative of the Yaeger interests, were not made public.

Mr. Harrison plans to remodel the old home and add modern improvements with a view to making his residence there.

Robin Migration Points To Early Winter This Year

There must be an early fall in store this year, is the opinion of C. K. Nowlan of 3213 Sullivant-av.

Nowlan came up with his observation this week when he suddenly noticed the absence of robins in the vicinity of his garden where just a few weeks ago more than a hundred of the feathered gentry had flocked.

Said Mr. Nowlan, "An early migration of the robin can only mean that we'll get an early winter this year."

Hilltopper, Brother-In-Law Of War Ace Enlists In AAF

Hilltopper Bruno Masdea, 22, of 163 Powhatan-av, left, gets some real information about the air force from a World War II ace, his brother-in-law, Capt. Don Gentile of Piqua. Masdea has enlisted for service. (Dispatch Photo).

World War II air ace Capt. Don Gentile of Piqua was in Columbus last week to witness the enlistment of his brother-in-law in the air force.

The Ohioan who holds the record for the number of planes shot down over Europe said he was pleased to see Bruno Masdea, 22, join the ranks of the airmen.

Capt. Gentile, his wife and their three children are visiting Mrs. Gentile's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Masdea, 163 Powhatan-av. They expect to be in Columbus until early September.

Masdea, scheduled to take his examination Thursday, passed and was accepted for service with the air forces according to Recruiting Sgt. James Bates, 137 W. California-av, who enlisted him.

The new recruit attended Aquinas High School and had been working in his father's machine shop. He owned his own private plane until recently.

Capt. Gentile received his grades from the summer session at the University of Maryland. Asked how they were he replied, "A's and B's. About average I'd say."

He has been attending the university since going on duty with the AF at Washington under the education-career plan. He will graduate next June with a bachelor of science degree.

Sheriff's Deputy Homer Tilley said O'Donnell apparently fell asleep while driving. Hospital attendants said he suffered fractures of the right leg, nose and an eye laceration.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

COOPERATION VS. COMPETITION

"Two wonderful words" . . . if used in their broad sense! In athletics, for instance, competition does not mean annihilation (smashed to bits) but in business . . . cooperation is far off the beam, when one great corporation can succeed in "busting" another . . . it is called "smart business". Well . . . you may not agree with my viewpoint . . . but never will I submit to ugly, slick competition! Just now I am listening to a beautiful "Chamber Music" (string quartette) program, that has been "on the air" a year or so, but do you know that another radio chain placed a quartette (string) program just one half hour before . . . and camouflaged it with some slick words about cooperation with Columbia University, etc. This was probably done purposely to make you listen only to the first half hour and forget the first and established program. Where's the cooperation? Now, let's go to England for my "cooperation group." Away, before World War I, I saw in London and small English villages, picturesque cooperated house groups. The wealthy people had private street parks with a high fence around them (locked to all except to owners around the park with personal keys). However the small town groups in unity were so "home friendly," similar to our New England towns. No personal competition there. Happy children played in mixed groups, etc.

Again another true story . . . I recall seeing on Upper Fifth-av, New York, what an "uncultured" but money mad man . . . Senator Clark of Montana (made fabulous millions in copper mining) can build (just think of this). He decided he would "show" wealthy cultured New Yorkers, how to have a beautiful great house! He employed several famous architects who quarreled . . . and bought an entire granite quarry in Vermont for his granite, bought a whole copper foundry, etc, etc. This monstrosity to be a home with all kinds of architectural details, was built with a great high ornate tower flanked like a state capitol and with, I understand, about eight private elevators, and many many bedrooms, etc., all in lavish competition. Well, well, his rich cultured neighbor to the north so hated seeing this fantastic conglomeration of money expenditure ($8,000,000) with no coordinated beauty (like Andrew Carnegie erected at $2,000,000 several blocks away in classic renaissance) that he erected a high six or seven story "spite fence" so that he would not become nauseated by looking to the south at this grotesque mess. A true example of American "competition" without a cultured background. I believe that after 50 years or so it was sold . . . no one wanted the house, so it was demolished and the lot brought around $2,000,000. Contrast this terrible vanture with the immortal Greek PARTHENON with the acropolis, in ruins about 1000 years, yet so exquisite in its decay that great architects of all ages marvel and thrill over its beautiful proportions and simplicity.

Then again our ugly small towns, with each house trying to "out do" its neighbors, is a common sight. Look at upper Neil-av houses at all angles . . . no plan, no community cooperation. One little gleam of light . . . we do have a "French village" on E. Broad-st in grouped unity, but this "getting ahead of Jones" must be eradicated to have a beautiful city like Paris or many European cities.

Of course I do not condemn "competition" if fair and reasonable . . . for legal competition is as American as America. But it must be controlled by strict laws that will make for "unity" of enterprise. We are too enamored by immensity . . . and forget coordination. The "Empire State Building" in New York is a good example of modern grand architecture but it sticks up from the surrounding streets like a huge nose out of a face. You see, it was built not for neighborhood coordination but in competition with the exquisite "Chrysler Building" which was, when erected, the tallest building in the world. When will we stop this silly individualism in structures and build a beautiful planned group of great enterprises. This sticking of houses about, like pretty doll homes of a child, is certainly primitive . . . only to be laughed at.

I do not think our apartment owners and builders are planning in the right direction. Nurserymen plant shrubs, etc. to "hold the buildings to the ground" (see our lovely Hilltop Library with its plants beautifully placed for example).

Observe the two apartment houses (beautifully shrubbed) on N.W. corner of W. Broad and N. Huron.

It will take many more years of ART THINKING to get to the core of this architectural meaning (as I call it) but America is coming to the front in this matter but much has to be done through public school art teaching so that young married couples will erect lovely homes with distinctive doors and beautiful compact units (to be added to later) of true architectural charm. Let us work hard to have the coming generation see this in its correct light! for a "THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER," and GOOD BUSINESS.

"THINK THIS OVER."

Customer: I opened this bottle of milk as soon as I got home, and it was sour; how do you explain that?

Grocer: Well, madam, the cow warn't contented.

American "Commies" Pose Threat

The American Communists, who have gone underground with a vengeance, are attempting to weaken the nation through propaganda, and are training spies whose job is to bore inside the Government and to steal our top military secrets—particularly those concerning atomic weapons, jet planes, and plans for the national defense in event of war. That, in essence, is what FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover recently told a Senate committee.

Mr. Hoover is under no illusions as to Communist purposes. He said, "The Communist Party is not a bona fide political party. It is a highly organized, militant, and disciplined conspiratorial group following the whims and dictates of international Communism . . . The party is a group dedicated to the overthrow of our Government."

Just how large is this party whose loyalty belongs to a foreign power? According to Mr. Hoover, there are 54,174 actual Communist Party members within the U. S. at the present time, most of whom are in the concentrated centers of population. New York State alone contains about half of them. It is likely that for every party member, there are 10 sympathizers who are ready, willing and able to do the party's work. So, he said, "There is a potential fifth column of 540,000 people dedicated to this philosophy."

Since the trial and conviction of the 11 members of the party's Executive Board, major organizational changes have been effected, Mr. Hoover continued. The trend has been toward decentralization. In order to eliminate the dangers that arise when large numbers congregate, the number of Communist Party clubs has been almost tripled. No membership cards were issued last year, and the maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. A courier system has been established to protect confidential communications. Secret printing plants have been set up. Leaders are being selected for the underground. A thorough and elaborate system has been devised for making certain that each member is loyal to Communism and will remain so.

According to Mr. Hoover, the party has "endeavored to exploit youths, veterans, civil rights, foreign nationality, the press, radio, television, the motion-picture industry, educational, political, women, and labor groups . . . Forty-eight per cent of the membership of the Communist Party is in the basic industry of this country . . . Communist efforts toward infiltration have been intensified in basic industries vital to our security, such as steel, heavy machinery, mining, communications, transportation, the electrical inddstry and the maritime industry . . . The Communists have developed one of the greatest propaganda machines that I think modern civilization has ever known."

It is clear that Mr. Hoover regards the Communists and fellow-travelers as an exceedingly grave menace to security. And no man is in a better position to know.

Prov. 16:9—"A man't heart deviseth his way, but the Lord directeth his steps."

What's In A Title: "Dr." May Mean Dozens of Professions

There are more different kinds of doctors in the United States than in any other country of the world. Since most of them use the title, mix-ups happen frequently, says Jerene Clair Cline. She helps you distinguish between some of them:

"More and more doctors are becoming specialists. Some medical specialists are listed here with their specialties: Pediatrician, expert on children's diseases; Proctologist, on rectal diseases; internist, on internal diseases; gynecologist on diseases peculiar to women; otorinolaryngologist, on ear, nose, throat; urologist, on genita-urinary organs; orthopedist, on bones; obstetrician, on childbirth; dermatologist, on skin; roentgenologist, on X-ray.

"The average young doctor of medicine (M.D.) has 2 to 4 years of college, 4 years of medical school and a year's experience as a hospital intern: a total of 7 to 9 years. Five or more years are usually required before an M.D. can be certified as a specialist.

"A separate group since 1874 the 11,000 doctors of osteopathy (D.O.) have their own specialty boards and nonprofit colleges. They affirm that structural maladjustment is a major cause of illness and that manipulation is an essential part of medical therapy. But osteopaths are also trained in the use of drugs, surgery and other healing aids. They are fully licensed as physicians and surgeons in two-thirds of the states and variously licensed in the remainder. Their training after high school is 7 to 9½ years.

"Doctors of chiropractic (D. C.) are licensed to practice, without using drugs or surgery, in 43 states. In five states, including New York, their practice is not legalized. Chiropractors affirm that they restore normal nerve function by adjusting the structures of the body, especially the spine, and thereby remove the cause of disease. Their approved schools require graduation from high school and professional training of four years.

"The best schools giving a Doctor of Naturopathy (N.D.) require four years' training after high school. The 1500 naturopaths believe that disease should be treated by nature's methods. They treat patients through diet, massage, electricity, magnetism and mental science, without drugs or surgery.

"Earned degrees are awarded after a set course of study and research. Honorary degrees are given in recognition of distinguished achievement. The following degrees are usually honorary: Doctors of Divinity, Literature, Laws, Civil Law, Fine Arts. These are earned: Doctors of Dental Surgery, Science, Veterinary Medicine, Jurisprudence, Optometry.

"If you have reason to believe someone in your family is suffering from mental illness, you need a psychiatrist, psychoanalyst, family doctor, or neurologist. A neurologist is an expert in the anatomy and pathology of the nervous system. A psychiatrist, who has a medical degree plus psychiatric training, is versed in investigation of the mind. A psychoanalyst is usually a phychiatrist who has been psychoanalyzed and trained in this kind of therapy.

"The Ph.D. (Doctor of Philosophy) is the only doctor's degree given by recognized U. S. universities training psychologists. Psychiatric social workers and psychologists are the only recognized aides of psychiatrists. They have two years' training after college.

"M.D.s, D.O.s, chiropractors, naturopaths, and midwives may all legally care for obstetric cases. In most states the last three cannot use drugs to relieve pain or do surgery. They are expected to call upon a surgeon if complications develop.

"The men who work on your eyes have names which are confusingly similar. An optician grinds lenses to prescription. An optometrist examines your vision without using drugs and fits glasses. He refers eye diseases to an oculist (or opthalmologist), a physician who specializes in eye care.

"The 6500 chiropodists receive a degree of D.S.C. (Doctor of Surgical Chiropody) and are recognized by all medical schools and licensed in all states as practioners skilled in the care of the feet. Their training after high school is five years."

★ Responsibility!

HARMONY AND RESPONSIBILITY are two things that make for health, whether you're speaking of an individual, a business or a country. But—harmony cannot exist in any body that constantly changes its "mind", regime, principles and habits.

Human beings need mental landmarks, by which they can steer their daily course. They need to live by natural laws for bodily health, and the laws of society (or experience) for harmony.

The words "security", "welfare" and "duty" are fluently used by dictators, and have long been associated with compulsion — from without.

Responsibility is a word closely allied with freedom, because it implies freedom of choice, action and decision, made within your own brain . . . Freedom always carries with it great personal responsibility, whether you're speaking of freedom from illness—or freedom from political chaos.

In Passing

This is especially for Dr. John N. Wolfe, cat fancier: a friend of mine was given a yellow Persian. Because the cat was so beautifully yellow she named it Gorgeous George. Time passed and Gorgeous George became the mother of two kittens, instead of their dad. Now the cat is called Gorgeous Period.

Their loss would grieve

Hilltop Legion Nine Bids for Top Honors

By Dave Miller

Camp Chase's entry in the Intermediate Knothole League will meet Cherokees A. C. this afternoon at Academy Field, with the winner competing in the Intermediate City Finals to be held in Red Bird Stadium next Monday.

The team, coached by Bill South, a member of Camp Chase's Senior Knothole and American Legion entries this year, were winners of the West Side Intermediate League, and thus gained admission into the city finals this week.

In the first playoff game, played Monday afternoon at Academy Field, the locals, who will all be sophomores in West this year except two who will be freshmen, defeated Crieth Lumber, 10 to 0, behind Jim Kimball's highly remarkable no-hitter.

Big Jim, as he is better known, is one of the two players on the squad who will be freshmen at West this coming year (final year in junior high). He was practically invincible to the Lumbermen, fanning 16 of 21 outs, while walking only four, while one reached via error. The win was Kimball's fifth of the season, and he is yet to be beaten. Early today South was unsure of today's starter, thinking it may be unwise to start Kimball after only three days' rest. South, however, stated that it would be either Kimball or Dick Hutchison on the mound today.

Outfielder Herb Brown and Catcher Kenny Garber were the highlights of the Camp Chase offensive punch, with Brown smacking a double and single in as many official trips. He walked twice. Garber, who also played a sparkling game behind the plate, connected safely three times in four trips.

The locals snared the lead early in the game, scoring once in their half of the first inning. Jimmy Vincent walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch, moved up on pitcher Mike Grannon's bobble and scored on outfielder Jimmy Hughes' single to left field.

In the bottom of the third, Elis Easterly was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, advanced as Bill Haire grounded to shortstop, held at third while Dick Orr walked and stole second and both tallied as Herb Brown doubled to left center. After Jim Hughes grounded out, Dick Hutchison strolled, stole second, and both scored again on Ken Garber's line single to left. Garber advanced all the way to third as left fielder Jack Ritter bobbled the ball, but the inning ended as Kimble rolled out to second.

Holding a 5-0 lead going into their possible last time at bat in the bottom of the sixth, the locals weren't satisfied with this margin and increased it to the final tally of 10 in the sixth. With one gone, Joe Hutchison was hit. Herb Brown singled him to third and stole second on the next pitch, with the bases being clogged on a walk to Hughes. Two solid singles followed by Durward Vincent and Ken Garber to plate four, and the latter plated on a wild pitch and an infield miscue.

DOWN THE FAIRWAY

With "The Duffer"

The Seiller's Handicap shindig at Beacon Light Golf Course is now moving into high gear. It looks like steady golf pays off.

Don Weisenberger finally moved Ned Lilly out of the contest with a respectable 78. Joe Case shot a nice 76 to eliminate Irv Friend. Rex Lynch won from Pearl Hyatt, two up. Lynch is the only high handicap golfer left in the tournament. His handicap is 15 and he has been playing very well.

The payoff came when Barney McLain and Leo Oddi played. They started one evening last week to see who the best man was, and shook hands 39 holes later on a Sunday afternoon. What happened was they tied their first 18-hole match and it was too late in the evening to play off. They decided to play another 18 holes Sunday. The next 18 holes also brought a tie and they went three more holes before Barney McLain finally won. It was a tough grind for both of them, and especially Leo Oddi, a good golfer, who had to give up four strokes per 18 holes.

Now we are ready for the semi-finals. We have left, Rex Lynch, Joe Case, Don Weisenberger and the winner of the match between Barney McLain and Baker Saunders. Take your choice.

Hilltop Sports Shorts

As the old saying goes—better late than never, so your reporter finally scooped up 1950 West baseball statistics for the viewing of the Hilltop sports followers.

All-City first baseman "Mo" Dobbs was the No. 1 hitter of the West baseball crew, socking the pill at a neat .416 average to be tops among the regulars on the squad.

West landed four other players on the All-City team besides Dobbs. They included third sacker, Bill Thrush; Outfielder Tommy Wright and Pitcher Phil Young and Catcher Don Natzger.

The team under the able coaching of George Williams won 11 games while losing only four in the over-all department and were runners-up to Champion Linden McKinley in the City League with a 9-3 mark, losing twice to Linden and once to Aquinas. It marked the second season in consecutive fashion that West's baseballers had copped a 9-3 mark for second place to champion Linden, who sported an 11-1 mark in both 1949 and 1950. West and Central, with 10-2 marks shared the title in 1948.

Of the starting nine in West's final game against Linden, four will be returning for duty next season. First baseman, Dobbs, second sacker, Russ Friend, and outfielders, Walt Meredith and Ron McElwee are among the 1950 varsity men eligible for services next spring in addition to others who saw limited action throughout the past season.

top's bid for the "Mum Capital of the United States." Lucky winner of the contest in addition to winning the title of "Queen" will also receive as a grand prize a $100 war bond.

To be eligible as a contestant in the mum queen contest, Merriman said that the rules are simply that the contestant be a resident of the community west of the Scioto River and between the ages of 15 to 26 preferably, although entrants beyond the age of 26 are also eligible to compete.

No special dress such as formals or other attire will be necessary as an ordinary street dress will suffice. Sponsors when making their entry to the competition will pay an entry fee of $10. Deadline for entries to the contest has been set for Thursday, Oct. 5. Professional models are excluded from competition.

In order that the field of contestants who will face a battery of well known beauty judges on the night of Oct. 11 be as large as possible and that all entries be made as early as possible the entry blanks are reproduced in the society pages of today's Record.

Merriman pointed out that any one desiring to enter the contest and who is without a sponsor need fill out only the upper portion of the blank and send it to him at once. Sponsors will then be found for them. The lower portion of the blank is for use of sponsors only and must be filed with the mum queen chairman before the deadline date of Oct. 9 in order that proper accommodations be arranged for lining the contestants up in the huge parade.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scout Troop 161 and Troop 49 took a trip to Lake Erie last Aug. 12 and 13, Saturday and Sunday. Twenty boys took this trip, made possible by the two leaders, Chuck Gessell, 161, and Jack Stamer, 49. Troop 161 has taken other trips with Troop 49.

We slept in tents and cooked our own food. We, of course, swam in the lake. Any boys between the ages of 11 and 17 are welcome to give us a visit. Come to S. Burgess and W. Broad up over Wright's, side door.

To Defrost Freezer

The three vital musts are: Keep food frozen while you defrost; scrape, do not wash freezer; use smooth dull tool. You need do it but once a year, when frost on the freezer sides is one-eighth to one-quarter of an inch thick.

The whole job takes no more than 15 to 20 minutes but it does not mean disconnecting the freezer or shutting off the current or washing out the freezer box as you do when you defrost your refrigerator. You scrape the frost off. In fact the freezer walls are so cold that a wet cloth would stick to them. But if you insist on washing, you have to turn the control to OFF and wash after they warm up a bit.

Keep food frozen while you defrost. Line cardboard carton with newspapers. Pack frozen packages in carton; wrap papers around them in thick layers. If your freezer has two compartments, just pile all frozen food in one while you scrape frost from the other. Then alternate.

Use a blunt tool, a butter paddle, bottle opener or wooden spoon. Never a sharp tool; it may mar or scratch freezer lining.

To remove frost: Line freezer bottom with papers to collect scraped-off frost and absorb moisture as frost melts. Scrape down sides with dull tool. Discard papers when finished.

Work To Begin Soon On Improvement of Westgate Park Areas

Shown above is the proposed layout of the sunken gardens which will be placed in the northwest portion of Westgate Park after a division of the present lake has been accomplished and a retaining wall built to provide a connecting path to the site of the newly proposed shelter house. Work is to begin at once on the beautification of the park, according to Arthur J. Bellar, acting director of Columbus Service Department.

Under the direction of Columbus Director of Parks and Forestry Ray Dietz and Deputy Director Arthur J. Bellar, Westgate Park is to soon be the scene of industry as the long proposed plans to make added improvements in the park in the park get underway.

Said Mr. Bellar, "When the program of beautification and modernization ordered by Mayor Rhodes has been completed on Westgate Park according to the plans which have been drawn, the Hilltop will be able to boast of one of the most beautiful scenic spots in the City of Columbus. It will be for the entire community."

This past week new lights have been placed around the park and on Wednesday work was begun in the improvement of present driveways and parking areas according to the plan arrived at recently in a meeting of delegates representing city officials and many of the Hilltop civic, and professional organizations.

Current plans for the improvement of the park call for the construction of a new 30-inch sewer along the north section of the park bordering the lake. This new sewer, it is pointed out, will enable ample drainage of the area so that work on a sunken garden can get underway and at the same time eliminate a stench that currently emanates from an open ditch in that area which is to be abandoned. City officials say that already a fund of $24,000 has been earmarked for the construction of the new sewer line.

By early fall, it is pointed out, many of the changes proposed at the park will already have been carried to completion with new drives and parking areas completed soon, the random drives through the wooded area of the park will be closed, graded off and seeded. This action, it is pointed out will not only eliminate roughness in the park as well as the much maligned dust but will also serve the purpose of giving added protection to the many trees which have been scarred and damaged by autos in the wooded areas.

The main change to be wrought in the park appearance will be the reduction in size of the lake within the park. It is the plan that the present east lake be cleaned and dredged of more than a foot of sludge and debris that has accumulated. A wall would be constructed between the east and west portions of the lake to dam up waters in the east lake and at the same time provide a wide walkway across the lake.

The west end of the lake is also to be cleaned out and provide the site for a sunken garden, beautifully landscaped and planted in the manner as outlined in the accompanying map reproduced above.

Curtailment of the present size of the lake and construction of the dividing wall, it is pointed out, would enable water in the east lake to be held at a far greater depth than it ever has been in the past. Better and deeper water conditions, it is also said, will give a better chance for fish propagation in the area.

The sunken garden on the other hand will replace what is now just a dry lake bed overgrown with weeds and sour grass, that lend no beauty to the park in any degree. When shrubs and various types of flora have been placed into the garden the area will present a colorful display equal to any in the city.

The large mound of earth in the southern section of the park is to be removed and the soil used to fill and grade the wooded areas of the park which in the past few years have been neglected and much abused by the public. After the earth has been leveled it is further proposed to use the site for an open air theatre.

After all the other improvements have been attained the improvement project calls for the construction of a closed shelterhouse which would be available for year round activities at the park. Construction of new toilet facilities and improvement of picnic grounds are also scheduled in the improvement program.

Parking problems at the park are to be met by converting an area just east of the ball diamonds into a parking lot able to accommodate 200 autos while room for 130 more autos will be provided in an area just to the rear of the tennis courts.

Everything In Season the Year Round With Good Frozen Food Recipes

Winter need not mean skimpy dull meals if you take advantage of the wonderful array of frozen foods that bring you the best of every season, in and out of season. Writing in Redbook Magazine, Bernice Burns suggests some frozen food recipes and menus to bring June to your table any time:

"The coming year will bring new packaged miracles to your kitchen. You can have June in January with a choice of fruits, vegetables and meats, frozen at the peak of their perfection. In a matter of minutes you can make fresh strawberry jam, or you may invite friends in for a fish fry.

STRAWBERRY JAM

"Take one pound box quick-frozen sweetened sliced strawberries. Thaw as directed on the package. Place in large saucepan over high heat. Add 3 tablespoons powdered fruit pectin. (Mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring. Have the sugar measured in advance so jam does not overcook.) Stir until mixture comes to hard boil. Add all at once 1½ cups sugar.

"Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for one minute. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Cover with melted parafine at once. Makes 3 six-ounce glasses.

FISH FRY

Thaw as directed 1 pound box quick-frozen Ocean Perch Fillets. Roll in seasoned flour or cornmeal. Fry in small amount of hot fat in heavy skillet for 8 to 10 minutes, turning to brown both sides. Serves 4.

SPANISH PEAS CREOLE

Bring to a boil 1½ cups seasoned chicken or beef stock. (Add two bouillion cubes to 1½ cups water or use a canned broth.) Add one box quick-frozen green peas. Boil 5 minutes. Do not drain.

Heat in skillet 3 tablespoons cooking oil. Saute until tender ½ cup chopped onion and ¾ cup chopped green pepper. Add ¼ cup diced cooked ham, veal or chicken, ¾ cup canned tomato pulp, 1 small clove garlic, finely chopped, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Simmer 10 minutes. Add peas and stock. Heat thoroughly. Serve hot on toast or on boiled rice. Excellent sauce for omelet. Serves four.

CORN AND TOMATO CHOWDER

Heat in saucepan 2 tablespoons fat. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon of chopped green pepper, and ⅛ cup chopped celery.

Saute until golden brown. Add 2 cups canned tomatoes and 1 box frozen golden sweet corn. Cook 5 minutes. Add ¼ teaspoon soda, 1¾ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and 1 teaspoon sugar.

Scald 3 cups milk. Add other ingredients to hot milk and serve at once. Serves 6.

Why People Everywhere Say

"The Hilltop Is A Good Community"

We were introduced to some people one evening last week . . . while we were visiting friends in another section of the city. They remarked, "So you're from the Hilltop! That certainly is a fine community. You people over there sure get things done."

We've known this for a long time but it makes even more of an impression when you have people refer to this thing called community spirit that is so evident on the Hilltop. Lots of communities have it but apparently not in the degree in which it is so evident on the Hilltop.

We gave the matter a little thought to determine just what it is all about. What causes people to recognize this fine spirit that makes the Hilltop stand out? Well, first it is something that has taken years of cooperation to develop. If you trace its beginning you find that it started some 35 years or so ago when the business people of the Hilltop decided to get together and get some improvements out here.

The improvements came about because these business people took their time and money and served as leaders to see that the community got what it deserved. These business people were the men and women who owned their own stores, live right here on the Hilltop.

And today the picture isn't a bit different. The same people who are called on to assume the responsibility for leadership in the various civic betterment programs are the local men and women who own their own businesses right here on the Hilltop. That's why we make it a point to patronize these business people. They deserve our assistance. Every time we buy from them we are helping ourselves because our community is thus a better place in which to live, and our property values are maintained because we have wide awake business people who do things for the Hilltop.

a Nation of Families

One hundred years ago England's great novelist, Charles Dickens, wrote a very honest sentence.

Said Charles Dickens, "In love of home, the country has its rise."

Charles Dickens, who loved his country and knew the human heart, knew that a nation can only be as great as its family units are content and happy. Without the growth and solidity of its families, nations cannot survive.

So that while your church gives close attention and support to the efforts of every honest peacemaker in his work of building a "family of nations", your church is also concerned with another vital mission. That mission is this: to reestablish America as a "nation of families."

It is not an easy job. Divorce rates are high. There are tensions, unrest, dissension in our land. Juvenile delinquency plagues almost every city. The war we fought and won is now exacting its tribute—and we cannot allow that tribute to engulf the families of America.

That is why your church is on crusade, and why you are asked to join that crusade. It is your family your church is fighting to preserve; it is your family that your church wishes to hold together.

By going to church, by combining your efforts with the aid of the church in attacking a problem that threatens the fibre of America itself, America will continue to prove itself as the world's strongest force for world peace—because the American family is together.

. . . And in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

Rev. J. A. Geiger Is Celebrant Of St. Aloysius Solemn Mass

Rev. James A. Geiger of Lakewood, O., will be the celebrant of a Solemn Mass at Saint Aloysius Church on Sunday, Aug. 27, at 10 o'clock. Rev. Geiger, who was ordained to the priesthood at Saint Charles Seminary on Aug. 15 by Bishop Michael J. Ready, D.D., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Geiger of Lakewood.

Reverend Geiger received his elementary education at Saint Aloysius School, and attended Holy Family and Saint Charles High Schools. In 1947 he graduated from Saint Charles College with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Since that time he has been studying theology at Mount Saint Mary of the West Seminary in Norwood, Ohio. He will return to Norwood this fall to complete his theological studies.

For almost a decade the Geiger family were Hilltop residents, living at 128 Midland-av. When they moved to Columbus in 1932 there were eight children in the Geiger family, most of whom received their primary and secondary education in this city. The oldest son, Doctor Louis, graduated from the Ohio State College of Dentistry in 1943, and his brother, Doctor Paul, received his doctorate in optometry at Chicago in 1949.

The only girl in the family, Angela, is a graduate nurse of Mt. Carmel Hospital, and is now married and living in Minneapolis. Two other brothers are still in College, Daniel, studying optometry at the Northern Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago, and Charles, who is majoring in architectural engineering at John Carroll University in Cleveland.

Rev. J. A. Geiger

The parishioners of St. Aloysius Church will honor Father Geiger and his family with a reception at the school annex at 8:30 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 27. All friends of Father Geiger and the Geiger family are cordially invited to the mass and the reception.

"And just why," said Bill with a touch of irony, "should a healthy young ruffian like Bill sr. require assurance at the age of ten?"

"For a variety of reasons," I replied, "Most of which are conclusive in themselves. For one thing, life assurance premiums on children are very small, but what is more important is that they remain at the same low rate all through life. Even if, in the future, he becomes uninsurable through ill health, the protection which you secure for him will continue as long as the original low regular premiums are paid. Also, it encourages the habit of thrift and impresses a boy with a true sense of the value of money. Think of it this way too — in the future, when he begins life in earnest, it may be the means of establishing business credit and financial backing."

"I could certainly have done with something like that fifteen years ago when I started out, couldn't I, my dear?" said Bill, turning to his wife.

So Bill Jr. starts life with the great advantage of a Sun Life policy. It will stand him in good stead. If there is a Bill Jr. or a young Mary in your family, won't you give them this great helping hand? Call me about the Sun Life Junior Adjustable plan today.

Pleasure and Less Pumping Cycling Know-How Means More

More than any other popular outdoor sport, cycling is generally home-taught. A few falls under the eye of your father and then, miraculously, you are upright and riding.

Yet, just like skiing, bicycling has its secrets that make for more pleasure with less pumping. Ride correctly and you'll be a better, safer cyclist.

The most common mistake is having the seat and handle bars incorrectly adjusted. The seat is at the right height when, with your leg straight and the pedal at "6 o'clock," your heel in on the pedal. Handle bars are right when with your seat properly adjusted, and your hands properly placed on handle bar grips, you lean slightly forward.

To ride properly and with the least effort, the ball of the foot should be on the pedal, not the instep or the heel. The knees should be kept close to the frame, not only because it is more graceful, but because the knee joint is a hinge that works much more efficiently if it bends normally.

If you ride in hilly country don't try to "pump up" steep hills. It takes more out of you than it's worth. Dismount and walk up, unless you have an American lightweight with gearshift. In that case you will be able to shift into low and make most hills.

Bicycle Hikes and Camping Trips

If you like the out-of-doors there is nothing more enjoyable than cycling through the country. If you haven't ridden much, try a picnic first where you will have only a five or ten mile ride. It doesn't take much training though to get to a point where you can ride 30 to 40 miles without drawing an extra breath. Above all else don't hurry. Stop to enjoy the scenery, take it easy and you'll realize how much you haven't seen covering the same territory in a car.

Both in town and on country highways, use common sense to keep safe. Obey traffic rules. Walk your bike across busy intersections. Don't hitch on to other vehicles or weave in and out of traffic. Check wheels, brakes, chains and tires before setting out. If you have to make repairs on the way, get off the road to do do it. That's pleasure insurance.

Type of Clothes to Wear

Most girls have a pair of pedal pushers that are ideal for town riding. They can also be used for touring though most English girls (and men too) on tour, cycle in shorts. When touring in shorts you will need a good tweed skirt to wear evenings, or if you are a man, a pair of slacks. Sweaters and T shirts are standard garb above the waist.

With the cost of gas as 25 and 30 cents a gallon, and new cars expensive and hard to get, the bike is the answer to many transportation problems just as it has been in England for years. A good bike costs $40 to $75, hardly more than you spend for a pop-up toaster or electric mixer. It will give you years of service and a world of enjoyment and pleasant

Rev. McPherson To Substitute For Rev. Dean

Rev. Dudley McPherson will fill the pulpit of the Hilltop Community Church next Sunday, Aug. 27, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. L. Dean, who with his family is vacationing on Owen's Lake in Michigan.

Rev. Dean will return to his pulpit on Sept. 3rd, at which time he will present a plan to purchase new pews for the new auditorium that was completed the latter part of 1949.

Hilltop Youths Attend Church Conference

Elaine and George Marzluf and Bill Weese have represented the young people of the Hilltop Church of Christ at conferences at Camp Christian this August. Here is a typical letter to their folks at home.

Camp Christian,
Magnetic Springs

Dear folks,

This is our last day at camp, and I want to tell you what has been happening in the past week. When we arrived Sunday, we were assigned to our cabins. There are 12 of us in each cabin and we have some wonderful bull

Every morning before breakfast we had morning watch when we went alone to read the Bible and meditate. After breakfast we went to class. I took courses in Christian Convictions, the Prophets, and The Story the Gospels Tell.

We went swimming in the afternoons and we had all kinds of recreation from singing to badminton and baseball. We enjoyed the folk games at night. One night our cabin won kiddie's night. You should have seen us in diapers made of towels. The winning skit on stunt night was "Little Red Riding Hood."

The most impressive time was the Consecration Service when a number of us dedicated our lives to Christian service.

We have some good ideas for our own Youth Fellowship and we're looking forward to next year's program.

See you Sunday.

Love,

A Conferee.

"Block Rosary" Movement Grows Here

Offering a prayer for "that peace which the world cannot give," neighbors in a Hilltop Catholic parish gather weekly to recite in unison the Rosary and beseech an end of evil days.

Since early May the "Block Rosary" has been in progress, when Mrs. Lyall Ehret, 124 Columbian-av, a member of St. Aloysius Church, brought the idea from her home town in Cuyahoga Falls. Each Friday the Catholic families in her block meet in one of their homes for the prayers.

"The block rosary has created a good feeling and neighborly spirit in this community that I would like to see in all sections," said Mrs. Ehret. "We've made the rounds on our street three times and are now starting on the fourth round."

Eight or ten other blocks in the parish are also participating in the movement saying the rosaries each on a night of its own choice. Mrs. Ehret said other parishes in the city have also started the movement in other sections of the city.

Attendance has been reported as being very good and men and children of the families attend as faithfully as the women. Non-Catholic families also are participating.

Attention was called by Mrs. Ehret that, "This is not a social affair. We begin at 7:30 and by 8 o'clock all of the families participating have returned to their own homes."

Parishioners who participate in the block rosaries believe that they have found one of the means toward a goal to "increase the fervor of their prayers in these evil days" as was recently asked by Bishop Michael J. Ready in a recent pastoral letter.

Four Hilltop Youths Ready For OSU Term

Seventy - six more students who have completed their admission requirements for entering Ohio State University next autumn were guests this week of the university where they took part in the fourth annual pre-college counseling program offered to new enrollees. While on campus, they attended conferences, took interest and aptitude tests, received counseling and attended a luncheon at the Ohio Union.

The pre-college program is offered by the University's Occupational Opportunities Service, directed by Dr. Frank M. Fletcher, Jr., to aid students in developing their educational and vocational plans. Charles M. McClintock, director of counseling, is in charge of the program.

Those from the Hilltop taking part in the program included: David W. Cockfield, 489 S. Harris-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cockfield; Phyllis Jean Hartsook, 80 Powhatan-av, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Hartsook; Lawrence Herbert Hoover, [illegible] Clime -rd, son of Mrs. Catharine Hoover and Walter Wolske, [illegible] Broadlawn-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wolske.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

Everybody got your copy of the Record? Well, here we are with our first lesson that I promised last week.

This important "stride" that's supposed to be done with the feet —not the head — is SKATING. Yes, I mean barging around with four wheels attached to each foot, just as you did when you were a kid like LAWRENCE HAEGELE used to be. But don't let him tell you that just because he could do it then, all will be well now.

For instance, HERB RUMFIELD can tell you that one very important change that has taken place since childhood is the difference between himself and the ground. The realization of this matter cannot be fully explained, but becomes very apparent to a person who has been persuaded he can still roller skate.

Ordinarily, the roller rink is a former dance floor that has been condemned as no longer safe for heavy-footed jitterbugs like the ALLSHOUSES. The floor is full of lumps, bumps and people—mostly people.

Endlessly, over and over again, a recording of "The Skaters' Waltz" blares forth like when JOE ROBINE sings in the bathtub. This is supposed to contribute some elements of beauty to the mad whirl—and offer some variation from the perpetual rumble of thousands of steel wheels turning on bare wooden boards.

Actually, after you've been there a while, you can't hear anything less than Gabriel's horn. You've heard KINSEL HILL and R. C. VOIT duet on their bugles. Well, louder even than that.

Unless you bring your own skates with shoes on them, you will have to use a pair furnished by the rink. These will not fit. They'll have one flat wheel (like TED BURT had on his car years and years ago), and have an infinite capacity for coming off. Otherwise they'll be satisfactory. The only difference is that with clamp-on skates — the end is quicker.

You probably won't do it, but try to remember to walk around a while before putting on your skates, and enjoy it while you may. Fate has decreed that you won't walk in comfort for a good while.

At most roller rinks there are small boys who, for a small fee, will adjust and install your skates on securely.

This, of course, doesn't do any good because the clumsy things will come off anyway. But it gives you someone to blame things on the first time you fall on your face.

When you collapse like this you can be sure that RED CALLIF will be there with an insurance policy application in one hand, and the palm of his other hand extended for the payment he expects you to have ready—with nary a thought as to helping you get up off the floor. (Hi RED!)

What happens from here on is a lot of wasted breath, or paper that I'm writing this on. I can only tell you what happened to poor me.

I pulled the skates back under the edge of the chair (that I should have taken along with me), shuffled my skates around a bit, and stood up.

I sat down again—by force.

The skates had started out for the center of the rink long before I was ready, and of necessity I sat down again. My friend, HERB DAILEY, came skating up and shouted, "Come on!" Or at least I think that was what he said. I couldn't hear him above the noise. Off he went.

I had been warned beforehand by FRANK CALIGUIRE to start in the bull pen, but I'm more scared of bulls than I am my own wife, so I stayed clear of that side of the rink. I didn't want to get into any more trouble than my 50c was getting me into. I could see right now that I wish I had my money back.

Too late to think of that now. MRS. T. E. WIGHTMAN bumped into me and down I went again, with the change from my pockets rolling all over the floor. The reflection from the light fell on a penny across the floor, and I saw Lincoln wink at me.

Clutching onto a chair whose leg struck out to trip me, I struggled to a precarious upright position only to find I was facing the chair without the vaguest idea how to turn around. I knew that a military about face would bring results wonderful to behold.

I needn't have worried, however, for FRANK SHEA hit me from behind. I grabbed an armful of thin air—smashed into the wall with but an only thought that BOB O'SHAUGHNESSY was probably behind me with a stretcher.

I ended up sitting against the wall with, I'm afraid, a very bewildered look. I sat there for a while trying to look as if that were the way I always rested between whirls around the ring.

Gotta rest up, folks. Buy that Record next week and I'll conclude this lesson on "Skating is out of this world" or "Skating is the quickest way OUT."

Peach Jam

Thaw as directed 1 pound box quick-frozen sweetened peaches. Chop very fine. Place in large saucepan with 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Place over high heat. Add 3 tablespoons powdered fruit pectin. (Mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring. Have sugar measured in advance so jam does not overcook.) Stir until mixture comes to hard boil. Add, all at once 1½ cups sugar.

Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Cover with melted paraffin at once. Makes three six-ounce glasses.

Fresh-made jam calls for hot scones and here's a short cut—add half cream, half milk to your favorite biscuit mix. Brush with cream before baking.

"Cotton Ginner" Adds To Laurels

"Cotton Ginner", shown above with Noble L. Allen Jr., up, again displayed the qualities of a champion during this past week in taking top honors at the 37th annual showing of the Franklin County Fair at Hilliards. On Monday of the fair, "Cotton Ginner" garnered first prize in the Open Walking Horse Class and then on Tuesday repeated to become Grand Champion Walking Horse of the fair.

Noble L. Allen, Sr., today extended a welcome to all visitors who wished to call at Allen's Acres, 2961 Valleyview-dr, to see the Grand Champion. "Cotton Ginner" in previous years has been a consistent winner of laurels such as World Champion Walking Horse in 1948 and Tri-State Champion over Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky horses in 1949.

Factors That Have Gone Into Making America Strong

As we near another national holiday it should be time to pause and look back on some of the factors that have made America strong. It is fitting to observe that this country has grown great, due in large measure to the strength and character of the individuals who have guided us in our progress.

Along this line it is well to remember the words of some Americans as follows:

"YOU CANNOT bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift."

"YOU CANNOT strengthen the weak by weakening the strong."

"YOU CANNOT help strong men by tearing down big men."

"YOU CANNOT help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer."

"YOU CANNOT further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred."

"YOU CANNOT help the poor by destroying the rich."

"YOU CANNOT establish sound security on borrowed money."

"YOU CANNOT keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn."

"YOU CANNOT build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence."

"YOU CANNOT help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

Today, in a topsy turvy world, we should pause to consider where we are going as we depart from these words of wisdom.

Five Speakers On Kiwanis Program Today

Under the general topic of "Improvements and Advancements on The Hilltop" the meeting slated for today's session of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club gives promise of being one of the most interesting held during the past year. Five speakers have been secured for the meeting and each is expected to contribute ideas and suggestions that will evoke much comment and action following the meeting.

Speakers at the luncheon meeting are to be O. H. Craft, C. Carlton Hartley, Ed. O. Melvin, Joe Goodwin and Jack Sensenbrenner. Each of the slated speakers is to have the floor for a five minute period.

Chairman of today's meeting, Jack Merriman, would not reveal the various topics upon which each of the speakers will address the club, saying "Each will reveal his own topic when he gains the floor."

West High Gridders Receive First Game Action Tomorrow

Cowboy Eleven to Encounter Grandview 11 In First Test

West High's grid hopefuls recently concluded their initial week of fall football practice and according to Mack Pemberton, the Cowboy head mentor, things clicked as well as could be expected for the first week of conditioning.

Pemberton just recently divided the team into five different squads in accordance with their rank of playing of the opening six days. However, as this is being read, the gridders are about to complete their second full week of practice, and will see their first game action tomorrow afternoon at Grandview in their first scrimmage affair with another school. The game starts at 1 p. m.

Pemberton has the entire group of sophomores, juniors and seniors all working together this year, rather than have a sophomore team compose the reserve squad and seniors and juniors make up the varsity. The order in the latter case was carried out to some extent last year, when Pemberton had six sophomores on the varsity, and about 11 juniors on the reserve squad near the end of last season.

The West coaches this year, however, are changing matters considerably, with no attention being paid to whether a player is sophomore, junior or senior. The single thought will be to get the best players, with no thought expressed as to what grade they are in. Assisting Pemberton again are Backfield Coach Fred Heishman and Line Coach Dave Randall, with Jerry Fedderson and Pat McMillan. The latter two are student coaches from Ohio State.

West this year has three boys that played reserve ball as sophomores, didn't play as juniors, and now all three are prospects for the varsity squad as seniors this season. They are, end, Bill South; tackle, Dave Skipper, and halfback "Wimpy" Posta.

Another gridder who falls into this category is Guard Bill Orcutt, only Bill was a junior through the 1948 season, and quit school last year. Now, as a senior, he has another year of eligibility with West Orcutt, as a junior in '48, was first string guard, on the unbeaten Cowboy eleven and was a second team all-city choice the same season.

The end position on the West squad seemed to be the well-liked spot, with a total of 24 boys trying out for the position. Pemberton named his first and second squad as of Monday as being Crissinger, a letterman, and Dave Lazenby, a converted tackle from the '49 team as first stringers, with Bill South and sophomore Jerry Trabue close behind. Trabue was basketball star for West Jr. the past season, graduating into West Sr. at midyear, and immediately made the first five on the varsity cagers. South played end for the reserves in '48 as a sophomore, and was the No. 1 punter of that team.

One experienced man is at the tackle position, that being Dick McDermitt, who played sensationally as a junior last year. Many followers of the West gridders last season thought that Dick would have made all-city easily if West had had a little better squad. Usually reporters that choose all-city selections in football overlook good candidates for the team if the school happens to have a poor season, and thus select linemen on the champion team, overlooking better players who may be on a team with a bad record.

McDermitt, however, made honorable mention on last year's all-city squad. Behind McDermitt, other prospects for the varsity include Dave Skipper, a senior; Don Dolder, a junior; and Roger (Truck) Meyer, a sophomore. Dolder was first string tackle on last year's reserve squad while Meyer played freshman ball. Pemberton is, at this writing, still awaiting Don Whip-

Judge Turner Condition Is Said Worse

The condition of State Supreme Court Judge Edward C. Turner, who was stricken while on vacation in Honolulu, was described today by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl R. Turner of 3089 Crescent-dr, as "extremely critical with but very slim hope of recovery."

Mrs. Turner said that she had received a letter from her husband, Carl R. Turner, who flew to his father's side upon being advised of his condition and that in his letter he reported that his father "still remains unconscious and has developed pneumonia." Judge Turner is currently confined to Queens Hospital in Honolulu.

Judge and Mrs. Turner who reside locally at 4309 W. Broad-st, had planned an around-the-world cruise with a two months' stay at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu.

Hilltop Woman Critically Hurt In Auto Crash

A Hilltop woman, injured in an automobile accident over the week-end, remained in the hospital today.

Still reported in "critical" condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital is Joan Hosler, 19, of 27 N. Chase-av, injured Saturday when the car in which she was riding left the road and side-swiped two utility poles in the 800 block of N. Hague-av.

Ohio Funeral Group Scans Defense Roles

Jerry Spears, 3693 W. Broad-st, president of the Ohio Funeral Director's Association, was in Dover, Tuesday, attending the Eastern Sectional Meeting of that organization.

Of direct importance to all funeral directors was the business to be transacted at the session. The business agenda included a study of the code of ethics, professional approach and a lengthy consideration of the role funeral directors will play in the National Defense Program.

Said Spears, "Our work under national defense will not be solely to care for the dead but to also provide care and protection for the living in case of war."

Kiwanis Election Group Named To Select Slate

Announcement was made early this week of the appointment of a five-man committee which is to prepare a slate of officers for presentation at the annual election of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. The election is scheduled for the first meeting in October.

Named as the election committee were: Jack Merriman, chairman; Charles Kent, Curt Wilcox, T. S. Fox and Jack Sensenbrenner. The election committee is also to serve in tallying the vots and preparation of the ballot.

It was pointed out that all nominations must be in the hands of the club secretary at least three weeks prior to the annual meeting in October. Nominations, however, may be made from the floor at the annual meeting by a petition of 10 Kiwanis members and presented to the election committee.

Bill Masters Is Headliner Of West Show

Bill Masters

One of the mainstays in the second alumni show, "Fantasy Futurama", to be presented next Friday, Sept. 8, will be Bill Masters. Bill has appeared in many shows presented at West and also appeared professionally at several of the leading dance halls of the nation.

When Bill was nine years old he appeared in his first minstrel show, and since then has appeared in a total of five others. His first professional job came when he was only 13 years old.

In 1946 Bill joined the navy and furthered his career by appearing with Paul Whiteman, Stan Kenton and Elliot Lawrence in several USO shows. He has also done several stage shows with Tony Pastor and Frankie Masters. After the navy hitch Bill became an instructor at Jimmy Rawlins Studio and has danced at such well-known places throughout the country as Ciro's in Florida, Beverly Hills, Kentucky, Castle Farms, Cincinnati, Pick-a-Dillie Room in New York and the Click, owned and operated by Frank Daly in Pennsylvania.

With this experience and background, Bill will definitely be one of the main attractions of the show, "Fantasy Futurama".

Tickets for the second alumni show, "Fantasy Futurama", being presented Friday, Sept. 8, at West High School Auditorium are on sale at the following places: Economy, W. Broad-st and Roys-

School Opening Next Wednesday Sees Few Teaching Changes Made

More Hilltop Youth Ready For College

Seventy-four students who have completed their admission requirements for entering the Ohio State University next autumn were guests this week of the university where they took part in the fourth annual pre-college counseling program offered to new enrollees. While on campus, they attended conferences, took interest and aptitude tests, received counseling and attended a luncheon at the Ohio Union.

The pre-college program is offered by the university's Occupational Service, directed by Dr. Frank M. Fletcher, Jr., to aid students in developing their educational and vocational plans. Charles M. McClintock, director of counseling, is in charge of the program.

Those from Hilltop taking part in the program included David D. Camp, 188 S. Terrace-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Camp; Herbert O. Carpenter, 595 S. Terrace-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Carpenter; and George C. R. Foerster, 303 N. Burgess-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Foerster.

3-Months-Old Boy Dies In Children's Hospital Friday

Christopher Leslie Lloyd, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Lloyd, 3435 Wicklow-rd, died Friday in Children's Hospital.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Curtiss, 2893 Bremen-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Lloyd, Sr., 218 Brehl-av, and great-grandmothers, Mrs. Ella Stevens of the Bremen-av address, and Mrs. Marguerite Bast, 917 Oak-st.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Jones-Spears Funeral Home. Burial was made in Sunset Cemetery.

Increased Enrollment Seen Due To Change In Age Limit

Next Wednesday Hilltop schools will open their doors officially and vacation will end for hundreds of school age children in the community. During the past few summer months most of the schools have undergone renovation and repair in anticipation of the forthcoming term.

The opening of local schools on Wednesday will mark the first time in many years that the schools have not opened on the day following Labor Day. This is due to a new ruling by Novice G. Fawcett providing for a general meeting of teachers preliminary to opening sessions.

An increase of nearly 800 is expected in enrollment of elementary pupils as a result of a change in age limit for admittance of first graders wherein children reaching the age of six on or before Dec. 31 are admitted.

With school opening, pupils will find but few changes made in teaching personnel of the various schools. Locally the school teaching personnel is:

Local Baton Twirler Wins Fair Honors

Pat Manin

Pat Manin, 14-year-old drum majorette at West Junior High School, emerged from semi-finals of the baton twirling contest at Ohio State Fair as divisional champion of the junior division for 12 to 18 year old baton artists. Pat is to compete today for the top honors and a chance at the state championship.

A student of the Jack Sherick Studios, she marched this past summer with Post No. 1 of the American Legion and participated in the huge convention parade at Cleveland.

Motorcyclist Severely Hurt

A 28-year-old East Side man was critically injured last Monday night when his motorcycle collided broadside with an auto in Route 40 at the Georgesville-rd.

He is Carl J. Love, Jr., of 1219 Cole-st. He suffered head injuries, a compound fracture of his right leg, possible internal injuries and multiple cuts and bruises.

A passenger on the motorcycle, James E. Righter, 36, of 256 W. Fourth-av, escaped with scalp lacerations and bruises. Both were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

State highway patrolmen said the motorcycle was traveling east in Route 40 and the auto which had been traveling west, was making a left turn into Georgesville-rd. The auto was driven by Robert F. Hagerman of 999 N. Hague-av.

Patrolmen reported the motorcycle "almost went all the way through the car." Hagerman was thrown from the auto, but was uninjured.

12 Page Section Records History Of Rome's Growth

There is history recorded in the pages of today's Hilltop Record.

A special tabloid section of 12 pages is a part of your newspaper of this issue tracing the history and the progress of the Rome community.

An effort has been made to trace the growth of the community and outline the efforts, ambitions and projects of the newly formed Rome Business Association which is sponsor of the special section.

Interest Mounts In Mum Queen Contest

Pat Culbertson

Sally Ann Williams

Interest is continuing to mount to a new high in the forthcoming Hilltop Mum Festival which is scheduled for Oct. 11, 12, 13, and 14 with more entries being made daily for the highlight event of the affair, selection of "The Mum Queen."

This week more entries were filed with Better Home Center, 2775 W. Broad-st and The Hilltop Record, 2465 W. Broad-st each entering candidates for the queen crown. These entries were made closely following those of Fox Food Shop and Seiler's Department Store, to bring the total entries to date up to four.

Jack Merriman, chairman of the Beauty Queen Contest, said that he had received inquiries from numerous other firms in the community who also wished to enter the contest. He sounded the warning to them that Oct. 5 is the final deadline date for entries and urged that all sponsors get names of entries and photographs of their candidates into him at once.

Merriman also pointed out that to date he has had requests from approximately nine other prospective candidates who are without a sponsor. He urged all girls who wish to enter the contest to do their utmost to find a sponsor if at all possible, stressing the fact that it might prove embarassing to offer a prospective entrant to a sponsor in the belief that the sponsor was without a candidate and then find that they had already chosen some other Hilltop beauty to represent their firm.

The Hilltop Record entry into the mum festival contest is pert, and blue-eyed Pat Culbertson, a 17-year-old miss with blonde tresses, standing 5 feet 5 inches in height and weighing 128 pounds. Miss Culbertson resides at 117 N. Roys-av. She is a 12-B student at West High School, a twirler in the band and plays the vibra-harp.

Better Home Center is the sponsor of a brown eyed, brown haired miss in the person of Sally Ann Williams, 18, of 2742 Steele-av. Miss Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Williams, is a junior at West Senior High School and tips the scale at 120 pounds. She is 5 feet 4 inches in height.

With the registrations already promising to reach a high number, Merriman pointed out that any business could sponsor an entry in the contest and that membership in the Hilltop Kiwanis or Hilltop Business Association is not necessary for a firm to sponsor an entry. He emphasized that the contest is open to all business firms west of the Scioto River and urged business and contestant entries from Rome, Galloway, West Jefferson, and Hilliards to also enter the event.

Selection of the "Mum Queen" will be made immediately following the gigantic parade which is to open the festival in the Hilltop's bid for the "Mum Capital of the United States." Lucky winner of the contest in addition to winning the title of "Queen" will also receive as a grand prize a $100 war bond.

To be eligible as a contestant in the mum queen contest, Merriman said that the rules are simply that the contestant be a resident of the community west of the Scioto River and between the ages of 18 to 26 preferably, although entrants beyond the age of 26 are also eligible to compete.

No special dress such as formals or other attire will be necessary as an ordinary street dress will suffice. Sponsors when making their entry to the competition will pay an entry fee of $10. Deadline for entries to the contest has been set for Thursday, Oct. 5. Professional models are excluded from competition.

West Broad Street War Memorial Plans Continue

Plans for construction of the new $4.5 million Franklin County Veterans Memorial on W. Broad-st, will not be tabled, despite threatened shortages of materials.

This decision was announced Friday following a conference between Dr. Wayne Brehm, president of the memorial trustees, and Fred G. (Mike) Dunn, executive secretary.

Early this month, it was indicated that shortages of certain materials might make it necessary to postpone building the Veterans Memorial.

Steel is critically short and the Korean war is making it harder to get all the time. Builders and architects fear that there will be none available for non-essential building by the time they are ready to begin work on the big project.

But after his meeting with Dr. Brehm Thursday afternoon, Dunn declared:

"The memorial trustees do not want to table their plans in the face of shortages that are actually only threatened. We may not be able to get materials, but we are going ahead just like everything was okay in the hope that we can build when the time comes."

Plans for the memorial have been completed and approved. Specifications will be completed within the next two weeks, Dunn said. As soon as the specifications are ready, the trustees will advertise for bids.

BEYOND A DOUBT . . .

The codfish lays a million eggs,
The barnyard hen but one;
The codfish doesn't cackle,
To show what she has done.
We scorn the modest codfish,
The cackling hen we prize;
Proving that beyond a doubt,
It pays to advertise.
You will prize the WANT AD, too,
After seeing the job it can do;
Why not give these little ads a try,
We are sure they'll satisfy.

OBITUARY

Our hearts have been sad in these past days by the illness and passing of our beloved sister, Emma Cline. At 1:30 Friday, Aug. 18, she was called home. Her work on earth was finished. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theadore A. Grener and was born Aug. 7, 1892, near Rosedale, Madison County, Ohio. Soon after birth she received the rite of baptism, administered by Rev. H. C. Knust of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Chuckery, Ohio. At the age of eight years, she with her parents moved to 4601 W. Broad-st. After being instructed in the Christian doctrine, she was confirmed in St. James church, near Hilliards, O., by Rev. J. B. Groebner. On the 24th of June in the year 1919, she was united in holy matrimony to W. Stuart Cline and has lived in this community ever since. About three months ago she became ill and on June 10, submitted to an operation at Grant Hospital from which she never recovered. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her departure, her parents and two sisters, Mrs. Steve Kuhn, Hilliards, Ohio, and Mrs. Edwin Distelhorst of 4601 W. Broad-st. One sister, Mrs. Edward Cline of Grove City, and a brother, August T. Grener, Los Angeles, Cal., preceded her in death.

Sleep, sweetly sleep and rest,
Thy work is o'er;
Sorrows nor pain nor death
Hold thee no more.
But in a city fair,
Free from all toil and care,
Safe in the Father's love
Thou art at rest.

Sleep, sweetly sleep and rest,
Gone on before.
Angels to welcome thee
On that bright shore.
"In love the Saviour said:
Come, I this path did tread,
And I will safely lead
Through the dark vale."

Sleep, sweetly sleep and rest,
Darkness is past;
And an eternal day
Dawns bright at last.
Some day we, too, shall sleep,
Oh, may the Father keep Us, till at last we meet
Loved ones again.

(Written by her two sisters).

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors for all their kindnesses and also for the floral offerings received during the illness and death of our loved one. To Dr. Edward Schramm for his consoling words, the pallbearers and the Spears Funeral Home for their efficient services.

W. Stuart Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Theadore A. Grener and daughters.

We've often wondered why women kiss each other when they greet. Maybe it's because some of them never get any practice otherwise.

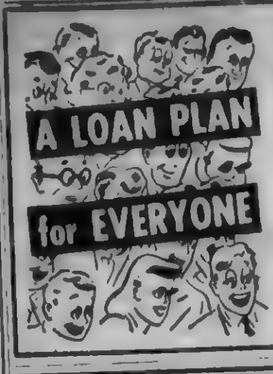
Looking Ahead with J. W. WORREL

Everyone knows that the difference between future security and insecurity depends not on what is earned but on what is saved.

Think what you will do when old age deprives you of the means of earning your own livelihood. Think what your family will do if by your untimely death they are left to carry on alone, without your income to feed, clothe, shelter and educate them.



Ordinarily it is difficult to save money but now, in keeping with the times, a new and easy way of saving has been arranged. Just as the Government has made it easier to pay our income tax at regular intervals from the salary cheque, so independence for old age and protection for wife and children can now be conveniently provided by small salary deductions.

What could be more sound than, with the co-operation of your employer, saving a small part of your salary to assure an income for yourself or your family when your paydays are over. The programme is permanent and uninterrupted because the deposits are automatic. The savings dollar properly becomes the first item in the budget rather than the last. The plan to which I refer, the Sun Life Salary Savings Plan, is so flexible that a programme of saving can be adapted to fit the needs of each wage-earner, single or married, man or woman, according to individual problems and ability to save. Such policies are the property of the assured and in the event of entering the service of another employer it is a simple matter to continue the savings arrangement intact.

Let me tell you more about this savings plan and show you how easily it can be adapted to meet your own requirements. Just call or write

First Federal Resolution Honors Nessley

A resolution was passed by the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Columbus at their regular board meeting held Aug. 8. The resolution, offered by C. J. Randall, was seconded by E. H. Stauch, and unanimously passed. It follows:

Resolution

Passed by the officers and directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Columbus, on the death of George B. Nessley.

WHEREAS George B. Nessley has been summoned from active life to a fuller, beter life beyond, and

WHEREAS we, his associates of the board of directors, loved him because of his splendid business qualities of conservatism and devotion to ideals which established confidence with the public and patrons of our institution and gave to them the assurance that its purpose was not only for gain but to render a helpful service to the community.

NOW THEREFORE be it resolved by the board of directors and officers that in his death our institution and the community have suffered a distinct loss, but that his life and ideals have been bequeathed to us as an inspiration for continued service to the community and we believe that adherence to the policies and principles which he practiced will be one of the best guarantees of the future.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we tender to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy and that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minute book of the association so that future directors and officers may know of the splendid contribution made by our friend, George B. Nessley, to the growth of our institution, and the confidence reposed in it by its depositors and patrons.

Ohio Oil Co. Opens Newest Local Station

Tomorrow, Sept. 1, and again on Saturday will be Grand Opening days for the Ohio Oil Company's new service station located at Sylvan-av and W. Broad-st, with genial Jerry Volz taking over the reins as manager of the Hilltop's newest service station.

Volz, a Hilltopper for the last eight years, has been in business for himself for two years. He formerly operated a service station at Westgate and Broad. He first came to this community in 1941 from Cincinnati and was a student at West High School, graduating in 1943.

Following his graduation he was for a short period in the United States Navy and then back again to the Hilltop to establish a home of his own at 124 S. Powell-av where he now resides with his wife Rose, and a son Jim, aged 7.

Referring to the grand opening of his new business, he said, "During the two days we will have many souvenirs for those visiting our new station both for the children, men and the ladies. Ladies will receive orchids while there are many kinds of souvenirs for the men and youngsters, enough for the whole Hilltop if they'd like to drop in."

A former Marine, now a student at Ohio State University, Bob Stuart of 216 S. Ogden-av is to be assistant to Volz at the new station which will feature all types of automotive service.

Tax Increases Are Certain . . .

Tax increases will be necessary to meet the Korean situation but this will be a small matter compared to the amount of taxes to put the nation on a permanent ready-for-war basis.

There will be much pressure applied to the Members of Congress by interested groups in an effort to get the levied "against somebody else." Many Americans, roughly patriotic and loyal will do their best to dodge a part of the load necessary for the defense of this country.

In this connection, the Congress should not hesitate to apply rather severe levies againt profits arising out of war and our preparation for war. It is unconscionable to permit war industries to make exorbitant profits while American men are giving their lives on the battlefields.

In our previous wars, there have been individuals and corporations lustily engaged in "business as usual." Their profits have not been reached by the Government, with the result that practically every community has a group of business men who have made enormous profits out of the prosecution of wars.

Already, there are indications that the nation will be forced to pay higher prices by those taking advantage of war psychology and that the Government itself, in purchasing arms, equipment and supplies for its fighting men, will be forced to pay prices that include extraordinary profits for business concerns.

We do not know whether effective action can be taken to control the war profiteers, or not, but we certainly think that the Congress and the Government, acting together and with real determination, might be able to prevent the nation from being mulcted in connection with its defense and war expenditures.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

EMERSON BURKHART—ARTIST

Tone . . . tone . . . tone! and a wiry alert man back of it . . . that is my impression of Emerson Burkhart. He spent a half hour with me and his dynamic personality was evident in his vivid discussion of philosophy, psychology and the great human side of life . . . through art.

You see . . . his "show" at the Hilltop Library art gallery (in cooperation with Will Collins, librarian of all Columbus public libraries) is the gun fired for the first "one man show" of a series to be held through the fall and winter. Mr. Burkhart's work is truly huge in bulk and content. He does not paint for the home . . . but for the masses of people to view his noted work, in great art galleries . . . nation-wide in scope. Burkhart is known nationally and is constantly being invited to exhibit outside of Columbus. Even here in Columbus, he is probably the most consistent winner of prizes. In fact he has won (by outside judges) most of the Columbus Art League firsts over several years, then a first prize at the Philadelphia Art Academy . . . also at the Butler Art Gallery, Youngstown, O.

He has exhibited by invitation at New York's famous Whitney Museum . . . also at the Carnegie Art Institute, Pittsburgh . . . the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington, D. C. . . . the world famous Art Institute of Chicago and in the Pepsi Cola show in New York, and won the coveted Governor's Award at the Ohio State Fair! . . . there! where can you beat this record . . . and we of the Hilltop are to see eight of his remarkable canvasses (six prize winners) in oil.

As I entered the library door while the paintings were being placed, I was quietly thrilled with three of his big canvasses. The deeply introspective "Matriarch" a portrait of an old lady in rich dress of low violet tones against the interior of her plain home, but it is the character of that face that "holds" you, and as you return your gaze to it again and again, it holds something of the insight of a truly active woman . . . though aged.

Burkhart's technique is certainly original . . . his concept of the use of oil paint, to impress you . . . is wonderful . . . his draftmanship is unquestioned, but his effect upon you is the essence of true art . . . to get your mind in tune with his . . . to see not "his technique" but his "message" delineated through oil medium. You cannot afford not to see this first and opening show, in the library through September.

The Hilltop is fortunate in having such an exhibition to open its fall and winter parade of "Name Artists". Emerson Burkhart with his national record of firsts, ought to intrigue you to at least view this selected (by the artist) collection during library hours. It is now on view.

As he sat opposite me in my home, I could feel the depth of his keen mind. His college education was indicative of research in human understanding. His nervous, active "verbal" approach to all phases of art, were evinced in the little description, following . . . he said "Even rust on an old iron fence, was like a jewel to him and he loved to paint these parts of life as well as a person personality." As he looked out the window he said "Each tree has a personality to be," and he gazed in loving admiration at God's handiwork.

It will be a shame if you don't take a little time out of your busy activities to see this remarkable and dramatic interpretation of the human side of life.

Every one of his canvasses can be enjoyed by all . . . they are not provocative, they will engage your full attention with understanding . . . for his technique does not overshadow the meaning that he wishes to convey through paint.

THINK THIS OVER, in terms of education.

A certain minister was noted for his long sermons. One day he reached at length a kind of resting place in his discourse, when, pausing to take a breath, he asked the question, "And what shall I say next?"

A voice from the congregation responded, "Amen."

The congressman's wife sat up in bed, a startled look on her face. "Jim," she whispered, "there's a robber in the house."

"Impossible," was her husband's sleepy reply. "In the Senate, yes, but in the House, never."

by Esther Weakley

Reminiscing, or some reasons why I like the Hilltop: When we came to the Hilltop 23 years ago, we lived on S. Ogden-av. The Lyman Hoffmans were our next-door neighbors. Mrs. Hoffman had five children to care for, but she was never too busy to lend a hand to her dumb new neighbor. (I wasn't too bright then, either.) Would rather not think of the night our two-year-old had croup . . . but Mrs. Hoffman was right there, mothering all three of us.

Then there was the day I took the two-year-old, who had grown to be a four-year-old, to Mose Williams for his first hair-cut. Mr. Williams has given so many first hair-cuts since then that he doesn't remember this one—or does he? He stood on his head, wiggled his ears and tried bribing with lollipops, but my young man wanted no part of the nice shining clippers. Some time ago I read an article entitled "Putting Your Grief to Work." I thought of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Williams as I read it. Their son would have been as proud of them as they are of him for they have done so many wonderful things for his fellow heroes of World War II.

Another Hilltop personality who will never be forgotten is Alice Burton who, during her 21 years at Todd's Pharmacy on Sullivant-av, befriended hundreds of Hilltop people. Mothers who had taken their babies to John Burroughs School on that dreaded "first day" went across the street to her for comfort. I was one.

Questions asked most frequently around this menage: "Who dented the fender?" "Who loses this month—the butcher, the baker or the candlestick-maker?" "THESE are biscuits?".

Miss Matilda Stuart, for many years associated with Hilltop schools, is another who typifies the friendly Hilltop spirit. She was principal of Highland School when our son was about eight. His dog followed him to school one morning; was hit by a car and killed. When Miss Stuart heard about it she told the youngster it was not "sissy" to cry. She consoled him and sent him home for the day. Countless mothers must be grateful to her for her sympathetic understanding, as I am.

Sunday, at Beacon Light Golf Course, found the usual good crowd of regulars, but only two contestants playing for the Seiller trophy.

Joe Case and Rex Lynch went 18 holes and Joe Case won 3 up and 2 to go in another example of steady golf versus handicap strokes.

Joe had a 78, his average score, while Rex ran into that "bad day" that comes to all 85 golfers. Rex was even up going into 14, but couldn't keep his ball inside the fence and the penalty strokes beat him.

Rex Lynch is the chief of police at the General Motors plant, and a regular patron at Beacon Light.

The match puts Joe Case in the finals and assures him of the "runner-up trophy." The play off for the big cup is expected on the week-end of Sept. 10.

Hilltop Sports Shorts

By Dave Miller

Frank M. Colley, Citizen sports writer and president of the Ohio-Indiana Class D Baseball league, has been shooting verbal blasts at the city recreation department practically every week in his weekly column, and he's a man that knows whereof he speaks—believe me.

Colley has been highly critical of City Recreation Director Nick Barack especially, and just a couple of weeks ago he cut loose with a yarn about knothole ball and how it's suffering a downfall due to poor directing.

Frank, however, must remember that although the knothole leagues are being backed by the recreation department, they were under different directors than those the department employed. For years, the knothole leagues went splendidly under present Mayor James Rhodes, and last year, he was succeeded by Bob Burhett, popular Crestview Junior High coach.

This year, the department is run by Charlie Goodrich, a likeable guy. The latter is a teacher at Central.

However, what I've seen of the knothole league this year, especially the junior and intermediate groups, I wouldn't give you a dime for the whole works. Three examples:

No. 1. Camp Chase, who entered the playoffs of the city last week, was to play Creith Lumber in their semi-final game at Academy Field. Everything was set to go—excepting for one thing. There were no bases. Well, the teams played four full innings before the city recreation department finally sent bases out to the field via car. Reminder: this sort of thing is common in the regular league games, but for a playoff game it sounds a bit odd.

No. 2. I recently visited a junior league game in which no umpire from the knothole department appeared, so the boys, anxious to play, picked a person just standing around watching the proceedings — purely innocent. Well, as it resulted the one team lost by one run, due to a bum decision by this umpire, and both teams went home disgruntled, even the winners because they thought they hadn't deserved to win.

No. 3. The same aforementioned Camp Chase team entered the finals last Thursday at Ohio State, and the umpire showed up, shirtless and wearing dark sun glasses. That's not all. He didn't have equipment, so he had to stand behind the pitcher and call all the plays. He did a pretty good job though, excepting a few he missed down each foul line on both teams, robbing at least three boys of two-base hits.

Now I ask you, where does all the money that the knothole department takes in on the benefit games and fees from individual teams go? That's the $64 question among about 70 knothole teams presently.

Our mistake: I was reported a couple weeks ago that Jack Bowen would be around for football duty at West this season. However, Jack is currently in Japan, following his enlistment in the army.

While on vacation, yours truly saw Dick Hoover hurl a shutout against New Orleans in the latter's city in a Southern Association game. New Orleans took the seven inning opener, and Hoover, former West High baseball star, hurled a neat three hit, 4-0 win over the Pels. Dick, in his nine inning stint, fanned four and failed to walk a man. Al Clary, ex-Toledo star, and Al Aucoin, former Milwaukee outfielder, are teammates of Hoover.

Congrats to Jim Ealy, a senior at West, for making the Journal-Dispatch All-Star team. Jim played second base the entire game at Peoria, Ill., against a similar newspaper carriers all-star team, and had a triple and a single in four official trips. However, Columbus lost, 16-10, but the two teams were scheduled to play here last Tuesday at State Hospital field.

Also congrats to Jerry Imes for making captaincy of the Citizen West C station team, who were city champions of the entire loop. The team lost, however, to the Citizen League All-Star team at Southview last week. . . Jo Di-Mico, who played for Camp Chase No. 3 American Legion this past year, was a member of the All-Star squad.

"A Man Told Me"

COLUMBUS, O., AUG. 31—A man told me here on the Hilltop that it was too hot last Friday and Saturday, the days of our Preview and Grand Opening, to even think of buying a new suit or topcoat for this fall. In spite of that terrific heat a goodly number of our friends, old and new, stopped in at our new store (2767 W. Broad-st at Hague-av) and all were given a free chance as advertised on the lady's suit or the man's suit that were awarded as door prizes.

Many of these folks took advantage of the special prices made on over 400 of our finest woolen fabrics to place their orders for their fall suits or topcoats, custom tailored to their individual measure.

We received baskets of beautiful flowers for the opening which, of course, pleased us very much to be remembered in this fashion.

One thing that really surprised us was the fact that wives who came with their husbands ordered fall and winter suits, too. All of our women's wear is of course mannish tailored.

Oh yes, Mrs. Robert Gulcher of 4032 Riverside-dr, won the lady's suit and J. M. Beaver of 222 N. Ogden-av, won the man's suit at the drawing, Monday evening.

Come in anytime and be measured for your choice of materials. We're open Monday and Friday evenings until 9 p. m. and Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday from 9 to 6.

Lest we forget, it is very possible that woolens may go up. Better select your material here and now at "pre-Korean war prices." Bendure Tailoring Co., 2767 W. Broad St. at Hague Av. Phone RA. 5539.—Adv.

The doctor smiled as he entered the room. "You look much better today."

"Yes, I followed the directions on your medicine bottle."

"What were they?"

"Keep the bottle tightly corked."

Intermediate Softball Champions

Shown above is the Oakley Baptist Nine which took top honors last week in the playoffs for the YMCA Intermediate Softball League. The new champions of the league take over the title from the Highland Friends, last year's title holders and opponents of the Oakley nine in the playoff. Final score of the playoffs saw Oakley win by an 8-6 count. Oakley players above are, left to right, front row: E. Diggs, Hicks, Chapman, Potts, Seagrave and Ealy. Second row: Holt, Moore, Cooper, Stevenson, Green and Miller. Third row: Redman, Golden, Pile, Richardson, Hunter and Kershaw.

Shown above is the Highland Avenue Friends softball team which ranked as runners-up in the Intermediate YMCA Softball League. Defending champions from last year, the Highland Friends were nosed out of top honors by the Oakley Baptist nine 8 to 6 in playoffs. ple, 185 lb. sophomore, who will try out for a tackle post.

At the guards, West has Orcutt in addition to Spike Ringer, Don Greer, both seniors; and one junior Ron (Chicken) Ealy, West lost both first string guards of last year in Dick Will and Bob Wilson, and both will be hard to replace.

At the center post, another popular position, in which 11 boys reported; junior Gliebs, who saw some action last year as a sophomore on the varsity in '49 seems to be ahead so far with seniors Jerry Fry and Bill Vauwters and sophomores Buddy Raike and Gene Harrison close behind. Vauwters played fullback on the reserve squad last season and Fry played on both the reserve and varsity squads. Raike and Harrison were members of the freshman team.

All in all, West's line seems to be inexperienced, with three of the six positions on the front wall still open. Crissinger, McDermitt and Orcutt, all lettermen, will see a lot of action due to experience, but the other three posts seem wide open at the moment.

Whereas the line has only half of the positions holding experienced men, the backfield has all four positions back for action again this year. At quarterback, Jerry Johnson, junior, who was a regular last year, has things pretty well in hand. He is backed by Chuck Leibensperger, senior, and Ted Johnson, junior. Both the latter fought it out for the No. 1 quarterback post on last year's junior varsity team.

At the halfbacks, Pemberton has lettermen Ronnie James and Charlie Hunter back in addition to Dick Briggs, a varsity man in '49; Doyne Bayse, a reserve halfback; "Wimpy" Potts, Ronnie Bolin and Ron Grant. Briggs, Bolin and Potts are all seniors; Bayse, a junior, and Grant, a sophomore. Fullback is a tossup between Carmen DeMatteo and "Chappie" Chapman, the former a senior and latter a sophomore.

The Cowboys continue their two-a-day drills until school begins next Tuesday, when practice sessions then will begin at 4 p. m.

Case was the winner of Sunday's free three up and two to go and becomes a contender for finalist honors planned for Sept. 10.

Hilltop Legion Nine Wins Championship

By Dave Miller

Camp Chase Post 98 defeated VerhoVay last Monday afternoon at Red Bird Stadium to win the championship of the Intermediate Knothole League. The score was 12 to 5.

The winning Camp Chase team, which went through the 1950 league battle without a defeat, are the same boys who were champions of the 1950 Junior High Baseball League during the past spring.

Camp Chase entered the finals Monday by virtue of its 12-6 decision over Cherokees at Ohio State last Thursday, and their opponents were to be the winner of the Bob White-Grace Methodist game. However, both teams were discovered to have an ineligible player on their respective rosters, and thus Camp Chase had rightly won the championship without even contesting a playoff game. However, the team wanted to play in the stadium, so Charlie Goodrich, Knothole director, permitted Verho Vay to play in the finals, because they were the last team that was beaten by Bob White.

The locals played good ball and in one good inning had the verdict cinched early in the fray. After going down in order in the opening round, they tallied 10 markers in the second, and eased into the championship.

In the second frame, in which they sent 13 men to the plate to garner 10 runs on nine hits, Dick Orr led off with a single to right and Herb Brown was nicked by a pitched ball, and both up a base as Jimmy Hughes rolled out to second.

Dick Hutchison met pitcher Don Ratcliff's first delivery for a one-baser to right, plating both Brown and Orr with the initial two runs of the long inning. Hutchison moved to third as Kenny Garber singled cleanly to center. Then Pitcher Jim Kimball slashed a triple down the left-field foul line, plating runs Nos. 3 and 4 of the frame. Jimmy Vincent, Camp Chase shortstop, then socked a homer to dead center to quickly make it 6-1.

Ellis Easterly and Bill Haire followed with singles, and the former scored as third baseman Jack Papai tossed away Herb Brown's grounder. After Brown stole second, Jimmy Hughes singled to right, scoring both Brown and Haire, and Hughes scored when Dick Hutchison planted a double to right-center. The inning ended, however, when Hutchison overran second and was tagged out.

The ultimate losers had scored an unearned marker in their half of the first on a single, a passed ball and an error. They tallied one in the second on four consecutive walks and scored their third run in the next frame on a single, stolen base and another Camp Chase bobble.

The South Siders wrapped up their scoring with two markers in the fourth. First baseman Dick Zollinger tripled to left-center and Don Ratcliff singled and stole second, both scoring as Henry Pell singled past Vincent at short.

Camp Chase scored its 11th run of the game in its half of the fourth on consecutive one-basers by Haire, Orr and Brown, and finished the day's offensive machine in the fifth on Dick Hutchison's triple and an error.

Hutchison was the hitting star, with a single, double and triple in four trips to the plate. Bill Haire and Dick Orr each had two safeties.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:
1. The appendicitis death rate has been dropping at an astonishing rate. Metropolitan Life Insurance figures show that whereas 10.2 persons per 100,000 died of appendicitis in 1939, the rate was 2.2 in 1949. New drugs to control infection and improved surgical techniques are largely responsible but early recognition and early operation are important.

Answer to Question No. 2:
2. Athletes' hearts beat slower than the average person's under comparable conditions because the heart of an athlete has been developed by exercise to do more work per beat.

Answer to Question No. 3:
3. The National Tuberculosis Association estimates that there are 250,000 undiscovered cases of tuberculosis in this country. Every person in every community should have a chest X-ray picture. This is nearly 100 per cent reliable. In almost every community this can be done without charge. The tuberculosis death rate has been reduced 30 per cent in 40 years.

MEAT CUT Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Porterhouse steak.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the beef short loin. The tenderloin muscle is largest in this steak. A deposit of fat is found between the tenderloin and the tail.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By broiling or panbroiling. For broiling, the steak should be cut at least 1 inch thick. It is placed on the broiler rack so that the top surface is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. When the top is browned, the steak is seasoned, turned and browned on the second side, seasoned and served immediately. Thinner steaks are panbroiled. They are slowly cooked in a frying-pan without additional fat and turned occasionally for even cooking.

Lamb Stew With Vegetables

3 lbs. lamb neck or shoulder
Flour
2 tablespoons meat drippings or fat
Salt and pepper
1½ qt stock
Stalk celery with tops
Sprig parsley
Pinch marjoram
8 small white onions
4 carrots
2 medium potatoes

Get your butcher to cut the lamb up in pieces about 2 inches. Roll them in flour. Heat meat drippings in heavy kettle. Brown lamb on all sides to a rich, golden brown. Lower heat; add salt and pepper. Add 1 quart hot stock, celery, parsley and marjoram. Cover and simmer gently about 1½ hours or until lamb can be pierced easily with fork.

In the meantime, peel onions; scrape carrots and cut in quarters; peel potatoes and cut in good-sized pieces. Cook vegetables in the remaining ½ quart of stock with the onions and carrots put in first and after 5 minutes, the potatoes. When potatoes are done, combine the whole business with the stew. Let it mellow for 5 minutes, keeping it hot, without further cooking. Serves 4 to 6.

Mrs. Jenkins (with magazine): "It says here that a South Sea Island wife isn't supposed to talk until her husband speaks first."

Mr. Jenkins: "I'll bet some of those husbands are fools enough to do it.

"Put the mashed or pureed vegetables back into the pot and cook 3 or 4 minutes longer. Then pour over the meat and vegetables. A few cooked lima beans will make your stew very pretty.

"Dumplings belong with beef stew. A light, fluffy dumpling steamed in the delicate flavors of a fine beef stew is a pleasure no intelligent person would deny himself. Try them for dessert, too—if you're feeling thin around the middle—buttered and sprinkled with brown sugar.

3 tablespoons meat drippings or fat
Flour
Salt and pepper
1 qt. stock
Whole stalk celery
Sprig parsley
Pinch thyme
4 medium potatoes
½ cup sliced, cooked or canned mushrooms
1 cup sour cream

"Trim your veal and cut it up in good-sized eating pieces. Slice onions and brown in hot meat drippings in a heavy kettle. Drain onions on paper. Roll the veal in flour and brown it in the onion-flavored meat drippings. Make sure every piece is a rich color all over. Add salt, pepper, hot stock, celery, parsley, thyme, onions and reduce heat. Grandmother Would Envy Today's Bride Her Success At Making Delicious Spreads

By BETTY BARCLAY

Jelly-making nowadays is a far cry from the same operation in Grandmother's day. The modern homemaker no longer uses guesswork and she can use many fruits that years ago were considered poor for "jellying."

Most of all, modern methods for jelly-making assure today's homemaker of perfect results, whether she be inexperienced bride or veteran cook. Grandmother would gasp with pleasure at today's accurate recipes with exact measurements which have taken the guesswork out of jelly-making. Even a working housewife whose time is limited can turn out jelly that is rich and clear by using the short-boil method with natural fruit pectin.

We suggest you try using powdered or bottled fruit pectin to make jellies and jams of fresh color and fine flavor. Moreover, you'll find that these tested recipes are economical—they produce half again more jelly than the old-fashioned laborious methods, within fifteen minutes after the fruit is prepared.

Grape Jelly

5 cups juice
6½ cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare the juice. Stem about 3½ pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. (Concord grapes give best color and flavor.) Add 1½ cups water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 5 cups juice into a large saucepan.

To make the jelly. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding juice over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 six-ounce glasses.

Grape Jam

5 cups prepared fruit
7½ cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit. Slip skins from about 5½ pounds fully ripe loose-skinned grapes. Bring pulp to a boil and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Sieve to remove seeds. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp. Measure 5 cups into large saucepan.

To make the jam. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 13 six-ounce glasses.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Several Hilltop boys of Den 2, Pack 86, enjoyed an overnight trip Friday, Aug. 25, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Meddles, 507 Binns-blvd, and Mr. and Mrs. Marty Lomano, 321 Southampton-av.

Leaving Mrs. Meddles' home at 9 a. m. they drove to the Olentangy Indian Caves near Delaware. On their return, they were guests of Mayor J. B. Keitz of Grandview who invited the boys to camp at the Grandview Hills and enjoy the park facilities. Lunch was cooked outdoors, each boy cooking his own food.

The afternoon was spent at the Grandview swimming pool. On their return from the pool, dinner was served. After dinner a ball game, was inspired by Dick Glass.

The boys entertained their parents in the evening with a weiner roast and marshmallow toast. Tents were pitched and all were settled for a nice snooze—each boy took 15 minute patrol duty which each one enjoyed, and looked forward to his turn.

Camp was broken at 9 a. m. Saturday at which time the boys returned home.

Hilltop Artist's Painting Presented Dr. George Crane

"The Smiling Christ" is the title of a painting by Hilltop artist Ivan Pusecker, 8179 W. Broad-st. The painting was presented to Dr. George W. Crane at the Ohio State Fair on Sunday.

Dr. George W. Crane, prominent psychologist and newspaper columnist Sunday following his sermon at the Ohio State Fairground Coliseum during non-denominational services received a painting of Christ in which the Savior is smiling. The painting was the work of a Hilltopper, Ivan Pusecker, of 8179 W. Broad-st.

Some time ago, in one of his columns, Dr. Crane explained that while Christ must have been a man who was outdoors much of the time, he was always painted as pale and somber.

When the famous lecturer-writer was invited to deliver the sermon Sunday morning at the Ohio State Fair, John L. Foreman undertook a project. Mr. Foreman, who is in charge of special events at the fair, decided to have a picture of the smiling Christ pointed.

He appealed to a local artist who is a Dr. Crane fan, for assistance. Ivan Pusecker, of the Pusecker Art Studios, 8179 W. Broad-st, agreed to paint the picture and present it.

After much research Mr. Pusecker began work on a 30 by 40 inch painting which he presented to Dr. Crane Sunday morning.

By One of Them

Today we conclude our experiences up at the skating rink. Where were we? Yes, history had repeated itself. The floor came up and hit my head, as the wheels on my skates hummed a tum-dedum; or was that my head buzzin'?

Finally, realizing that I looked sillier there against a chair than on my feet, I pulled myself along the wall. I stood there for a moment and then started out by the simple process of putting my hands behind me and giving a push.

MRS. ELMER MILLER gave out a screech as she dodged me. I ignored her and, keeping my feet close together, I was coasting along with about as much dignity as a suit of long underwear on a wash line, when I suddenly discovered I was apparently going the wrong way on a one way street and my ancestry had suddenly become a popular topic of conversation.

There was nothing I could do about it, however. I didn't know how to stop — much less turn around and go the other way. Fortunately, along came ERNIE CALDWELL. He caught me and held me up until I got my balance and aimed me in the right direction.

AL DAILEY of Butler-av whizzed past with a whistle, and all my senses left me ——a train was coming! Oh why did I come? I'd never get home alive now!

Next I skidded on a bobbie pin which acted like a magnet. Down I went and bumped my head. However it cleared my brain.

I looked around and grinned sheepishly at MRS. BROBECK—telling her I was trying to do tricks. She acted as if she didn't believe me, and skated on.

I shrugged my shoulders and started to coast. Then to the tune of shouted admonitions from MRS. SPANABEL and MRS. W. C. RAE to "Skate, not coast," I went along with the crowd.

Unfortunately, my feet got ahead of me and one leg got entwined in GEORGE CHAMBERS' skates. He pushed me out in front of him like an accentuated wheelbarrow, and we both sat down with no little emphasis. GEORGE got up, made disgusted noises, and disappeared.

By this time I was one quarter of the way around the rink again, and with grim determination, I climbed to my feet, bound to go on. Silly, wasn't I?

I found that by moving my feet very carefully I could move forward with sufficient speed so that motion was almost perceptible.

I was gaining confidence and getting along fine when someone blew a whistle. The noise diminished momentarily and then alas! Everyone was going in the other direction and I was still in motion against the current.

Suddenly there was a woman in front of me. I did foolish things with my feet, one of which went to the left, and the other to the right—threw my arms around her neck and we sat down.

It wouldn't have been so bad except that I was underneath. She was heavy, unhappy and homely.

"Hello, imagine meeting you here," I said, when I regained my breath.

After all, when a girl is sitting on your lap, it's hardly gentlemanly to remind her that you haven't met. It's just not done.

Evidently she not only was aware of the fact and was equally sure she had no desire to meet me, because she just scrambled to her feet, adjusted her skirt and barged off.

I decided then and there that next time I'd trip a girl who was better looking and much lighter in weight.

I was getting better as the minutes passed. I started skating with my eyes closed and hummed a little tune to myself. With closed eyes you can dream anything. Ah! I was Sonja Heine's partner spinning her on the ice!

What woke me up? The silence! I opened my eyes and there I was, the only one on the rink. I had failed to hear the music stop. Everyone was laughing. My collar seemed awfully tight at the moment, and my neck was getting hotter and hotter. I was never so embarrassed in my life. Somehow I got off the rink in a hurry.

It was time for the grand march.

I nearly broke my neck to get over to a petite little blonde, but she saw me coming and grabbed RUSSELL BABB and off they went. MRS. R. S. EDWARDS ducked me and took R. M. ALBAN by the arm, while MRS. CHARLES CADY bore C. H. THOMPSON away.

Woe is me I was humiliated. No one wanted me. All the pretty girls already had partners. My thoughts were jammed as I was swung around by the hair. Lo and behold!—my wife! How did she get there? She must have found out I was lying about that Hi Ridge meeting being tonight.

Tweak! She pulled me by the ear and pulled off my skates so fast I had to crawl back after my ankles.

Did I get in that grand march? Only the MARCH home!

Letters to Editor

Dear Mr. Hartley:

I wish to belatedly congratulate you and your staff for the timely article on anti-hoarding which appeared in your Aug. 10 edition.

As you undoubtedly know, the American Legion has gone on record as opposed to the hoarding of foods, clothing and other essential items necessary to the welfare of our community, state and nation.

I sincerely hope that every citizen of our country will stop long enough to realize that there is plenty of everything for every man, woman and child if each person takes only his or her fair share. When people start "storing" large and unnecessary quantities of these essential items, rationing is inevitable. "Storing" in this manner is STILL hoarding.

You may rest assured this matter will be brought to the attention of our post members at our next meeting and through our next bulletin, and I feel certain that our executive body will vote to cooperate with you to the fullest extent.

Very truly yours,
Robert G. Daggett
Commander,

Present Church Building

Parsonage

Rev. Rose

Columbia Heights Methodist Church, a "community church with a friendly heart," has grown rapidly in the past few years and is attempting to keep pace with the ever-increasing opportunities for service in this expanding community. For the first time in its history, the church since June of this year has had its own full-time minister.

Meeting first as a Sunday School group in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kinniard on April 11, 1920, the congregation grew and established itself in the present church building on Sunday, Dec. 12, 1920. Today Columbia Heights looks forward to the building of a new church so that it can better serve the needs of its members and friends. A church building program started in 1946 was temporarily interrupted when the "housing shortage" necessitated the building of a parsonage. The newly-constructed $15,000 eight-room parsonage at 87 Lawrence-av, was officially dedicated this spring, with both Dr. John Taylor Alton, district superintendent, and Bishop Hazen G. Warner present.

"While our building program is of importance, we constantly strive to offer a real challenge to our community in the form of a well-rounded Christian ministry affording opportunity for worship, education and fellowship," states the Rev. Elwood L. Rose, pastor of the church since 1945. A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, Mr. Rose received his B.D. from Garrett Theological Seminary and accepted the Columbia Heights-Wesley Chapel charge as his first appointment upon graduation. The Roses have one daughter, Rebecca Mae, seven weeks of age.

During the past two years an electric organ has been purchased, the sanctuary has been redecorated, and plans made for the purchase of a motion picture projector.

Biggest among fund-raising projects of the congregation are a lunch stand at the Franklin County fair and a restaurant under the grandstand at the State Fair.

Ministers who have served Columbia Heights are W. E. Fetch, H. W. Stoody, P. A. Crites, M. R. Crabb, A. L. Brokaw, J. A. Shirlough, E. S. Wilson, J. F. Lorenz, C. H. Currie and E. L. Rose.

The defendant acknowledged that he hadn't spoken to his wife in five years, and the judge put in a question.

"What explanation have you," he asked severely, "for not speaking to your wife in five years?"

"Your Honor," replied the husband, "I didn't want to interrupt the lady."

Revival Sept. 17 to Oct. 2. Rev. Peters, evangelist, Mrs. Peters, music.

Here it comes—the powerful smash shot, and the high spot of the tennis champion's game.

But next time—in the newsreels or on the courts—watch that champion closely. His stroke doesn't end as soon as the racket meets the ball. The stroke moves on, swiftly and gracefully into the follow-through, giving the ball added speed and direction. It's a vital, integral part of any good tennis player's game. Without that follow-through, the set might be lost.

That's the importance of follow-through in tennis. But there's another type of follow-through that is infinitely more important to you—the follow-through in your religious life.

Your church has, as an immediate objective, to bring you into a close and reverent communion with God. But the long-range value of the church service depends upon your own follow-through: the effort you make to have your hour in church influence you toward leading a life that we have all come to call "living religion". A church service achieves its fullest purpose if its participants can blend the religious experience of Sunday morning into a life that becomes more rich and significant with the passing of the weeks, the months, and the years.

Your church welcomes you as a member who knows the value of a true and conscientious follow-through . . .

"He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness and honor." — Pr. 21-21.

TAKE THE ADVICE OF A TRUST OFFICER THE TIME TO PLAN YOUR BURIAL ESTATE IS NOW

Your trust officer knows, better than any other man, the advantages of planning in advance. Arranging estates is his business. He'll tell you, "like any estate, your cemetery lot or family burial estate should be planned NOW—not left until the time when good judgment may be warped by grief, confusion, pressure of time and, all too often, the absence of the head of the family!" DECIDE TO TAKE HIS ADVICE AND ACT NOW.

Hilltop Parents Group Readies Member Drive

Clenzo B. Fox, 414½ S. Oakley-av, was elected as chairman of the Hilltop Parents' Association fourth membership drive, at a meeting held Aug. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Madden, 397 S. Wheatland-av.

Fox is the father of two children, a second year law student at Franklin University, and holds an associate degree in business administration.

At the meeting plans were completed for the association's annual picnic which was later held on Aug. 19 and a fall festival was also planned for the near future. At the annual picnic affair ice cream and cookies were provided through the courtesy of Curtis and Nichols Co. and Willis Trucking Co.

During the meeting discussion of the current relief crisis brought concern to the members of the associataion since its program is to promote better health, child care, recreation and social welfare for all. Concern was expressed that further reductions in the food budgets cannot be made without a threat of consequent ill health, higher costs of medical and hospital care and a higher rate of delinquency.

The September meeting of the group is scheduled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Triggs, 44 S. Oakley-av, at which time a representative of the Columbus Community Chest will be the speaker.

JOE BRIGGS Says:

The unexpected always happens when you least expect it.

Don't let this happen to you! Mr. Jones, who is considered a careful driver, had an automobile accident—his first and only one—and here's what Jones says: "I can't drive my car; I can't let anyone else drive it. I can't sell or transfer it; I can't give it away. I can't drive anyone else's car—All because I didn't have adequate automobile liability insurance coverage." Don't be caught with your insurance down! JOE BRIGGS will be glad to confer with you any time. 2596 Sullivant Ave. RA. 3194.

Newly Formed Business Group Seek Improvements For Rome

History Of Rome

Rome was laid out by Frederick Cole, Surveyor, under the direction of Adam Brotherlin and James Bryden. In 1836 the National Highway was practically a dirt road and it was necessary to use oxen to pull the stage coaches out of the mud. There were at that time taverns located along the highway to accommodate passengers who were traveling toward the west and returning to the east. One of the early taverns was located on the north side of Rome on the east boundary and known as Daniel McFarland's Tavern Stand, which is now the old Yeager property.

As laid out by Mr. Cole, Rome consisted of 64 lots, 32 lots on the north side and an equal number on the south side. The lots on the south side of Broad-st remain the same. Broad-st or the National-rd was 80 feet in width. Most of the lots on the north side were purchased by James D. Kinnaird who owned adjacent farm land which he purchased in 1854. He built a large brick house which is still standing and planted a row of maple trees on each side of the driveway entrance, and which is now known as Maple Drive. Mr. Kinnaird lived in this homestead until his death in about the year 1908. It was later occupied by his son, William J. Kinnaird.

Pierce M. Gregg and Thomas C. Gregg purchased the entire farm of about 310 acres at sheriff's sale and later sold all of the land between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the National Highway to the Little Farms Realty Company of Detroit, Mich. Ralph Meyering was president and M. J. Ramsdell, secretary. They employed the firm of Jennings and Lawrence to lay out the Little Farms Addition which was done in 1913. The north side of the old village of Rome was included in this allotment. There was at that time on the entire addition only the Kinnaird farm house and a log cabin, where the present school building now stands, occupied and owned by Leonidas Karnes.

The March flood of 1913 took out most of the important bridges across the Scioto River with the exception of the Rich-st bridge

PRESIDENT

Shown above is D. J. Kunz, first president of Rome Business Association, Inc., who says of the organization he heads, "The principal objective of our group is to weld this entire community together in such a manner that every one will benefit by its actions and work. Rome wasn't built in a day and neither has been this association. Our plans for the future call for betterment of civic and social life in our community. We need the complete aid [redacted] cooperation of everyone to insure the success and betterment of Rome."

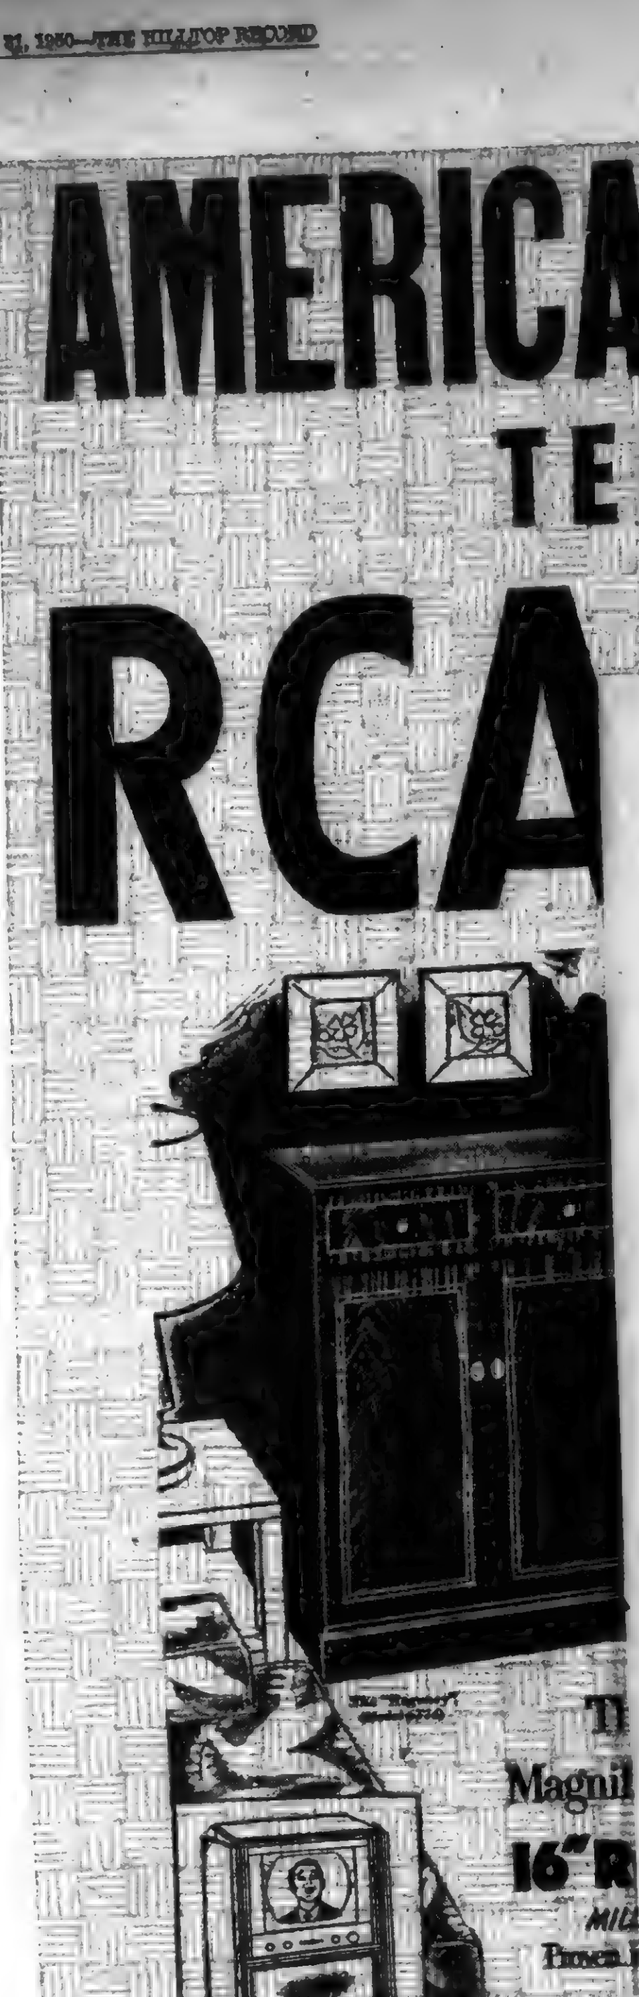
Early Successes Spur New Effort

In November of 1949 six individual business men of the Rome community met in a session to dicuss community welfare and betterment. Their interests were pointed toward improvement of the community by making it a more desirable location for future businesses and the stabilization of current business within the community. From this initial get-to-gether of six men interested in community life came the first indication of a banding of business leaders into one organization.

Although but six men had made an appearance at the November meeting, the word was passed around other business men and when December came around the group of the original six had been swelled to 30. Here then was laid the first foundation for a community organization.

The diversity of opinions and ideas expressed, clearly indicated the need of organization in order to accomplish any community projects of any moment.

By February of the current year the ranks of those interested in such an organization had been swelled to a total of more than 50 and then definite action and steps of organization took place. A charter of incorporation was secured and thus was founded the Rome Business Association Inc. with a membership of 55 business men and 24 associate members banded together and dedicated to improvement of their community, the establishment of fair business practices and wholeheartedly in favor of civic advancements which would make Rome more inviting to new business and increase of the present residential districts.



First action of organization was the election of officers and officer personnel to direct the course of the group in its initial and growing year. D. Z. Kunz was elected president; Russell Har-

William Karns, 83, Remembers Early Rome

With cane nestled between his legs, William Karns spends his days in his easy chair in front of his W. Broad-st home, watching modern day vehicles travel at a fast pace by him, on the road that once saw the stagecoach as the principal means of travel.

Twinkling blue eyes, bright with memories of the past, peer at you and a cheery, "Glad to have someone to talk to," greet you when you first meet the patriarch of Rome, William Karns, as he sits in his easy chair in front of his W. Broad-st home and watches the fast moving traffic go by.

Now approaching the age of 83, which milestone he will attain on Oct. 13, Mr. Karns readily recalls the bygone days of the stagecoach, the building of the National Highway, the toll gates, the wilderness and the hard talking, two-fisted men who established this territory.

Said Karns, "This section of the county was at one time the roughest and toughest to be found anywhere. I remember when it wasn't at all uncommon to walk down the street, or rather, a road which is all it was then, and consider yourself lucky if you got back home without a black eye."

"If you're printing that," he added, "just make sure to point out that I didn't get any black eyes. I talked up to those men just as hard as they talked to me. I was a pretty good man then and could take pretty good care of myself." He laughed and sat back into his chair with a far-away dreamy look in his eyes, in all probability thinking of some day in his youth when hard knuckles and swift action were the deciding factors of an argument.

After a few moments, he again recalled, "Down the street here, you'll find Mary Yaeger. I think that she's a couple of years older than I. We used to play together when we were kids. I remember all her family very well. The house she lives in at one time was a tavern and inn for the travelers who came through here on horseback."

"Another thing I want to tell you," he continued, "is that in those days you didn't go into Columbus down to Broad and High-sts like you can do now in that automobile. We rode horseback, and the road was pretty rough and the ride long and tiresome. I guess I've seen about all kinds of methods in travel go past this house. Horses, stage coaches, automobiles, traction lines and now those airplanes up in the sky. As for myself, I don't go much anymore, just sit here in my chair and watch the world go by."

"I guess 13 can't be so unlucky", he offered, "the 13th of October is my birthday again and I feel that life's been pretty kind to me."

Karns said that his home at 5289 W. Broad-st had been his residence for the past 45 years and that before retirement he was a farmer and in the hauling business for several years handling hay and grain. Following the quitting of the hauling business he was employed by the highway department in charge of maintenance on the National Highway (Route 40) which passes his home.

He and his wife, Mrs. Fannie Karns, attended the Columbia Heights Methodist Church until her death on June 19, 1947.

Mr. and Mrs. Karns' family consisted of eight children, four boys and four girls: Arthur Karns, deceased; Lawrence Karns, 5344 W. Broad-st; Norman Karns, Hilliard; Mrs. D. J. Woehrle, Sr. (Florence), 49 Buena Vista-av; Eldon Karns, Reynoldsburg; Mildred Raub, London; Clara Hansen, Sunbury, and Alice Mark, of Grove City.

Just think, while I was out with some fellows the other night, a burglar broke into our house.

Did he get anything?

I'll say he did—my wife thought it was me coming home."

Belle Boucher Is Leader In Rome PTA Despite Age

Rome's eldest and yet active member of the PTA, Mrs. Belle Boucher, 37 Pasadena-av, is keenly interested in the success of any new idea or plan which will benefit the children in attendance at school or the members of the PTA.

Mrs. Boucher has been a member of the Rome PTA for 26 years and was awarded a beautiful rose corsage in recognition of her membership during the Founders' Day program this past February.

The remarkable fact concerning Mrs. Boucher's membership is that she has maintained an active interest in the PTA all these years and prides herself in attending all monthly meetings, and yet she has never had a child or relative in attendance in the Rome School. This is surely a lesson to be observed by the members with children in school and who fail to attend due to lack of interest.

In reminiscence of the early days when the PTA meetings were held in the eighth grade room of the red brick building, Mrs. Boucher said Mrs. Josie Karkacas, local musician and elocutionist, would provide the members with an interesting program.

Mrs. Boucher recalls with an impish smile a program during which Mrs. Karkacas imported Columbus talent and the young ladies gave a delightful ballet number or two, and shocked the members with their outlandish short skirts . . . they actually were knee length, Mrs. Boucher indicated. The members did agree that the dancing was wonderful and out-of-this-world, after becoming adjusted to their shockingly short skirts.

The PTA programs of the bygone days represented the earnest and eager desire of all the members for the idea to be a success, however, Mrs. Boucher concluded that they did not and could not compare with the excellent programs given this past year, and still the attendance at the meetings was amazingly ill.

Embodying her keen interest in the successful operation of any idea sponsored by the PTA members, Mrs. Boucher was the first member to purchase her ticket for the PTA Pantry Party program which will be held at Video City, Suite 204, Grand Theatre Building, 55 E. State-st, at 12 noon, Monday, Sept. 25.

With Mrs. Boucher's fine spirit and active interest in the PTA any new program which would benefit the members or children would be a terrific success, providing everyone possessed her keen desire for it to be successful.

"You've already had leave, Ferguson, to see your wife off on a journey — for your mother-in-law's funeral — for your little girl's measles — your boy's christening — what is it now?"

"I'm going to get married, sir."

Rome Children Devise Their Own Circus

It takes a lot of planning to put on a picnic, so it was necessary for Jimmie and Virginia Whalen, children of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Whalen, 26 Buena Vista-av, to get together with their friends from New Rome to make arrangements for their circus picnic.

They chose Wednesday, Aug. 23, as their picnic date, a sunny summer day. Their "big top" was the wooded area at the country home of L. B. Holton, uncle of the Whalen children. "The circus" started off with the band, in appropriate circus costume, playing loud enough to please the 6-10 year old set present.

Wally and Bum, the dogs, and Joe, the cat, and her kittens took to cover, being wise in the ways of the younger generation and not having any desire to be cast as wild animals in the circus. However, an occasional unwary rabbit whose mother hadn't told him about the ways of "people", would wander into the circus grounds to see what was going on.

There was a mid-way with a wild baboon (a box with a mirror, etc.) There were games of skill and strength and games just for fun. Each winner received a ticket to be redeemed for a prize and each child ended up as a prize-winner.

The usual circus fare was served, plus a birthday cake for Linda Lee Richey, trimmed with animal crackers. There were peanuts for the "elephants."

As a climax to the day's activities, Jimmie and Virginia persuaded their uncle, Ed Whalen, to take everyone for a ride on the "circus wagon." As a contrast to the somewhat discordant notes of the circus band starting the day's festivities were the musical sounds of the voices of happy, satisfied children.

There was a young student named Brewer.
He saw a girl and thought that he knew'er.
He lifted his hat;
She gave him a bat:
And he lit on his ear in the sewer.

Shown above is the old Yeager homestead as it appears today. This home at one time in the early days of the Rome community once served as a tavern and inn, offering hospitality to the traveler along the National Highway. It is said to be the oldest standing building in the community and within the past week was sold by the Yeager interests to M. H. Harrison of 3077 Parkview-dr. Harrison said this week that he planned to move the structure back from the roadway about 30 feet and landscape the foreground. He said that he also planned to restore the old home to its former appearance and make his own residence at that location.

Here is shown another of the landmarks of the bygone era when Rome was in its early stages of growth. This was the John E. Althen blacksmith shop as it appeared in 1936. Many were the buggies, surreys and other conveyances brought here for repair and retiring. Horses and oxen too were also shod here.

Riebel Family Founded Firm 30 Years Ago

The Riebel family has been in business in the Rome community for over thirty years. O. G. Riebel, now retired, built the brick building at 5290 W. Broad-st, and operated a grocery store at that address until he retired in 1942. Harrison's Super Market now occupies the building. A coal and lumber business at 490 Hilliards-Rome-rd, was founded twenty years ago and is still in operation. The business has enjoyed a steady growth durng its years of operation and now sells in addition to coal and lumber such items as feeds, roofing, soil pipe, fencing and building materials.

Farm implements were added to the business 16 years ago and were sold from the Rome-Hilliards address until the completion of the new building at 5580 W. Broad-st last spring. Riebels handle the complete line of John Deere tractors and farm implements and caterpillar and diesel tractors.

The new building also houses the service and repair department. Goodyear and Firestone tires, Pittsburgh paints, milking machines, repair parts, and many other necessities for farm and home are also displayed and for sale at the new location.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Riebel, now retired, live at 5290½ W. Broad-st. Two sons, Howard and Herbert, now operate the business founded by their father.

bert Riebel, second vice-president; J. I. Gates, treasurer, and Mrs. Helen Wilson as secretary. Trustees elected were Harold Rings, Robert Denman, Floyd Bowman and Morgan Murphy.

After the initial meetings of organization, adoption of a constitution, issuance of membership cards and general meetings of round-table discussions the first step toward accomplishment of their goal of civic betterment was the presentation of a petition to county authorities requesting the installation of a sanitary sewer system for Rome. The plea is for a branch trunk from the General Motors plant on W. Broad-st to Rome.

It has been pointed out that in order to secure this much needed civic improvement that it will be necessary to float a bond issue and that such a bond issue will be presented to the electorate at the May 1951 elections.

Next project tackled by the business group was one requesting the county zoning commission for a reclassification and rezoning of two main areas of the community from residential to industrial and commercial.

Areas affected by the proposed rezoning plan are both sides of W. Broad-st from Daugherty-rd east to the Franklin Twp. line. All property bordering W. Broad-st in that designated area would be rezoned to a commercial classification. All lands east of Rome to the Franklin Twp. line and north of the proposed commercial zone would be rezoned to an industrial reclassification. Thus far it has been indicated that the rezoning proposal would meet with [illegible].

D. J. Kunz, in commenting on the proposed plan said, "Some of the residents of the community have expressed opposition to the rezoning plan. I believe that I can understand somewhat the reasons for the opposition in that they are mistakenly of the opinion that large industrial businesses might be built up right next to them or that industrial concerns would crowd out residential building. This is not true. Our objective is but to plan far enough ahead so that our residential sections can be built up in such a manner that a shopping center could be incorporated right with them in such a manner that it would be a convenience to residents and a method by which their own property values could be increased. Rezoning as it is proposed will materially benefit the entire community."

Future activity of the business association is centered on more public improvements, one of which is a request to be made for the completion of the south side of Route 40 from Rome to the Franklin Twp. line. It is pointed out that the north half of the highway is completed but that the south half has never been finished. Action on this proposal is expected to be taken up wfthin the very near future.

Establishment of a recreation field for the youth of the community, and a community center wherein public meetings could be held and establishment of a library in the community center is another proposed project of the association. Currently on the committee studying this proposal are William Lamb, Robert Miller and Henry Warner.

A civic committee consisting of Edwin G. Distelhorst J. I. Gates, Alvin L. Richards, Edward Dellinger, Dr. H. L. Mitchell, Carl L. Turner and Dr. William O'Hara are currently studying a plan for the development of better street lighting facilities for the community. Hope has been expressed that some action could be taken in the near future that would see this important civic development become an actuality soon

Beginning on Sept. 1 the business association is opening a membership drive for more members in an effort to bring the entire community into the organization in order that future projects will have complete community effort and support. It is pointed out that membership is not confined to business men alone but that associate membership by the citizenry is also encouraged.

Leaders of the drive for more members will be the membership committee consisting of Howard Riebel, Forest H. Dougherty, Harold Rings, R. W. Glass, Clarence E. Gebhart and Carol W. Johnson.

Two annual affairs have thus far been planned by the group. One is the establishment of a community Christmas tree during the Yule season at which time there would be heard a community choral group and a visit by "Santa" for the benefit of the youngsters.

In June of 1951 the Rome Business Association Inc. will sponsor another regular annual affair in the form of an ox roast in which the entire community will participate.

Future activity of the business association is centered on more public improvements, one of which is a request to be made for the completion of the south side of Route 40 from Rome to the Franklin Twp. line. It is pointed out that the north half of the highway is completed but that the south half has never been finished. Action on this proposal is expected to be taken up within the very near future.

Establishment of a recreation field for the youth of the community, and a community center wherein public meetings could be held and establishment of a library in the community center is another proposed project of the association. Currently on the committee studying this proposal are William Lamb, Robert Miller and Henry Warner.

A civic committee consisting of Edwin G. Distelhorst J. I. Gates, Alvin L. Richards, Edward Dellinger, Dr. H. L. Mitchell, Carl L. Turner and Dr. William O'Hara are currently studying a plan for the development of better street lighting facilities for the community. Hope has been expressed that some action could be taken in the near future that would see this important civic development become an actuality soon.

Beginning on Sept. 1 the business association is opening a membership drive for more members in an effort to bring the entire community into the organization in order that future projects will have complete community effort and support. It is pointed out that membership is not confined to business men alone but that associate membership by the citizenry is also encouraged.

Leaders of the drive for more members will be the membership committee consisting of Howard Riebel, Forest H. Dougherty, Harold Rings, R. W. Glass, Clarence E. Gebhart and Carol W. Johnson.

Two annual affairs have thus far been planned by the group. One is the establishment of a community Christmas tree during the Yule season at which time there would be heard a community choral group and a visit by "Santa" for the benefit of the youngsters.

In June of 1951 the Rome Business Association Inc. will sponsor another regular annual affair in the form of an ox roast in which the entire community will participate.

which had been previously condemned. The interurban cars which ran along the highway could only run as far as Mill-st. Passengers were then required to walk across the Rich-st bridge to get to their business on the east side of the river.

Rome is located about 7½ miles west of Broad and High-sts. It is about 100 feet higher in elevation than Hague-av and about 200 feet higher than the Ohio State House yard.

I had been employed by Pierce M. and Thomas C. Gregg, the bankers at West Jefferson, to straighten out the title to the various old Rome lots ,and although the Little Farms Realty Company was handicapped because of transportation, they sold on payments mostly a number of lots in the addition, 577 lots being the entire number in the addition. The land was purchased by them for $300 per acre and consisted of approximately 151 acres. In 1915, however, they were considerably behind in their payments and still owed the bankers at West Jefferson $44,566. There were two additional houses built upon the tract at that time, one by Hugh Cox, who still lives there, and one by H. H. Clark. They requested the mortgagees, the Greggs, to take the property back and as their counsel, the Greggs asked me to take it over and develop it for them.

Ambrose Crellin, who was then local manager of the International Harvester Company, indicated that he wanted to go into the real estate business and when I approached him on taking over this addition, he agreed to do so providing I would take a half interest, which I did, and we took over the entire proposition from the Little Farms Realty Company in 1915 with an indebtedness of $44,566.

Times were then slow and lots did not sell rapidly, and Mr. Crellin in 1918 sold his interest to me. I took it under the name of the Columbia Realty Company. The streets were not improved, there was no electricity, gas, water or sewers. There were no schools of any consequence or any churches except one which was two miles farther west There was a one-room school building about a half-mile south of Rome where all grades were taught. They carried water from an open well across the road and all of the children drank from a common drinking cup. There were as high as 80 children in the one room and the teacher received about $45 per month.

By reason of a vacancy on the school board, I was appointed a member and immediately obtained the services of William H. Tremaine to work out plans for a new school building. In order to do this, it was necessary to have a vote of the entire township which included two other villages, Alton and Galloway, besides the Village of Rome.

The proposition for a centralized school building in the township had been twice previously voted down and I suggested that there be a school building located in or near each village so that the voters would support a school in their own locality. Mr. Tremaine presented a proposition to the Board that he would draw the necessary plans and make no charge in the event the proposition was turned down by the voters. There was very strong opposition, but the Board voted unanimously to submit the proposition to a vote in the November elections of 1915. The board then consisted of Frank Neer, president; Sterling Howard, Mason Seglock, Alfred Doherty and myself.

A bond issue of $42,000 to build three six-room brick buildings was submitted to the electors and after a strenuous campaign, it carried by a margin of 18 votes. A contract was let to John Felton, builder of Galloway, for the three buildings at $32,000. Approximately $5,000 was spent for furnishing the buildings. Three pianos were purchased for $500. Music, domestic science and manual training were provided for. After I left the board, manual training and domestic science were omitted from the curriculum because of the expense.

A six-room brick building was built on several lots fronting on Broad-st, although the voters had selected the location where the Lutheran Church now stands. Since the law would not permit a member of the board to sell property to the township, I was required to donate my interest in the land in order to get the school building on the addition.

The next important feature was that of electricity. The Columbus, London and Springfield Interurban Line ran in front of the property and carried the high tension line of 29,200 volts of 25 cycles electricity, the standard cycle at that time in Columbus being 60 cycles. Recognizing the need of electricity, I called a meeting and the leading citizens consisting of William J. Kinnaird, H. R. Smith, John Michel, Dr. W. G. O'Hara, O. G. Riebel, Frederick Maier, and Leo J. Meyer. We met in the open at night and by lantern light, incorporated the Columbia Light, Heat and Power Company. $3,500 in stock was subscribed to buy a transformer and build the necessary pole lines.

Leo Meyer, now of Meyer's Sales and Service, drove to the Westinghouse plant, 10 miles east of Pittsburgh, there being a switchmen's strike at the time, and delivered the transformer to Rome. John Michel took charge of the construction and we finally got the lines built and in operation. This was a big event for the community and we all received a thrill when the switch was turned on and our homes were suddenly illuminated with light.

The question of transportation was also important and I accordingly organized the Columbia Heights Transit Company. We purchased a bus and started hauling passengers to High-st. The interurban gave only hourly service and on account of the bridges being out as above explained, did not take the passengers across the river.

We organized the Columbia Heights Building and Improvement Company and built several houses.

The question of water was important and the building company drilled a well near Broad-st and bought a water tank with a height of 40 feet from Kendleville, Ind. The county sanitary engineer, H. G. Bradbury, rejected the well and suggested we file a proceedings to include the Little Farms Addition into a sewer and water district. A new well was drilled by Leo Meyer and a restricted area of 300 feet radius was placed around the well, the county taking over the water tank and making the height 80 feet instead of 40, this, of course, after sufficient signers of the various lots in the old village and in the new village had been obtained. While there was an eight years' assessment on each 50 foot lot of about $800, payable in annual settlements, a separate house with its own water system would entail an expense of approximately $800 to drill a well and put in a pressure tank, motor, etc., which, of course, was a big savings to the owners.

The next important utility was gas. Certain organizations had approached the gas company and been continuously turned down on the gas company distributing gas to the individual houses. There was an 18-inch high pressure main about 11,000 feet north of the village and I proposed organizing a distributing company. The utilities commission ordered the gas company to give us a tap accommodation for the community. I took the engineer from the gas company over the ground and he submitted an estimate of $30,000 to put in the necessary gas main. We would have proceeded with this but the gas company officials then agreed that if we got 112 signers to take the gas for three years they would put in the distributing lines themselves and serve the community. This was accordingly done.

Two churches were built upon the addition. A Methodist, Lutheran and a new Catholic church was built a short distance south of the village. County drains were put in, the streets gradually improved and the entire addition was built up by a very good class of people. There are now two good stores in the community, several hundred new houses, and bond issues have recently been voted by the town totaling $500,000, and a new centralized school building with approximately 10 acres of ground is soon to be erected.

When the new dam is constructed for Columbus, the village expects to get city water and sewers. The people who have bought and built homes and settled in the community are progressive, and have a live business men's organization.

Rome Motel Sale Announced

Announcement was made Friday of the purchase of the motel on W. Broad-st and Buena Vista-av from B. H. Lively who built the modern fireproof building in February of this year, by E. H. Meckatroth of Cincinnati, and M. H. Harrison, 3077 Parkside-dr.

Meckstroth and Harrison this week formed a partnership for the operation of the motel. Earlier in the week Harrison had made an individual purchase of the old Yeeger property which is adjacent to the motel.

The transaction was handled by O. H. Craft real estate of 2661 W. Broad-st.

Meyer's Sales Established 30 Years Ago

Meyer Bros., predecessors of Meyer's Sales & Service, Inc., of New Rome, have been familiar figures in the community for a third of a century. Built originally around waterwell drilling and pump repairs, the firm for many years past have also been dealers in farm machinery, being authorized sales and service for The Massey-Harris Co. and The New Holland Machine Co., makers of farm tractors, combines, hay balers, and other farm equipment.

After the death of Charles Meyer, who was popular as Prairie Township Trustee for many years, the firm was incorporated as Meyer's Sales & Service, Inc., with Leo J. Meyer at the head.

Located at 5348 W. Broad-st, in New Rome, the firm now carries a line of paint, hardware, freezer supplies, and their red painted service trucks are daily seen on the roads of Franklin, Madison and Union counties.

Shown above is the modern equipment boasted by the Volunteer Fire Department of Prairie-twp at its new modern fire station on Maple-dr. The present day equipment shows a marked contrast to the chemical trailer shown in the lower photo which was the only fire fighting apparatus available to the community prior to 1942. The equipment above consists of an emergency squad car, a 500-gallon pumper and an 800-gallon pumper, all radio equipped for fast and speedy action. The unit which mans the equipment is completely made up of volunteer personnel.

The Prairie Township Fire Department is part of the Franklin County Fire Fighters organization and has a mutual aid agreement with all other townships of Franklin County and West Jefferson.

First organized in 1942 on a volunteer basis, today's organization and equipment is a far cry from the first organization which was equipped with but one piece of equipment consisting of a 45-gallon chemical trailer.

Present day equipment consists of one 1942 Dodge 500-gallon pumper, one 1948 International 800-gallon pumper and one completely equipped emergency squad car. All present day equipment of the department is provided with a two-day radio communication system channeled through the Franklin County Sheriff's office. All equipment is now housed in a new three-stall engine house on Maple-dr, just north of Broad-st.

All members of this volunteer fire department completed the fire fighting course offered by the Ohio State Board of Vocational Education via the facilities of Kent State University. Members of the department are also well versed and trained in the standard and advanced first aid training courses given by the American Red Cross.

From 1942 until May 1949 the department was headed by Joe T. Lamb as chief, while the present chief of the department is John R. Richards and the secretary, William G. Lamb.

An insight of the importance of this volunteer organization to the community and Prairie Township is reflected in the 1949 report of the Prairie Township trustees in which it listed a total of 49 fire runs for the year.

A breakdown of the various classifications of fires reveals that 15 buildings, five outbuildings, 14 autos and tractors, six grass, four service runs, two inns and beer halls, one false alarm and two assists to other departments comprised the runs for the department.

Other interesting statistics revealed by the report show a total of $181,445.00 property exposed to fire during the 12-month interim. Fire losses amounted to $33,725. Time spent on fire calls was listed as 39 hours and 30 minutes while on a total number of 61 emergency squad runs 41 hours and 45 minutes were expended.

Twenty-six men comprise the personnel for the department. They are: John R. Richards, chief; Floyd Armstrong, George Cardosi, Elam Carter, Carl Dellinger, Don Dellinger, Mike Doherty, Dave Elliot, Jack Elliot, Ralph Gemeinhardt, Carl Hamilton, Eugene Higgins, Mel Howell, Grover Kaderly, Lawrence Karnes, William Lamb, Carlton Lavely, Ed Lavely, Elliott Smith, Elmo Spring, Joe Stormont, Curtis Doherty, Tom Lamb, Vic Knusch, Robert Stormont and Paul Armstrong.

Shown above is a view of Rome's principal street and business section along the National Highway looking eastward. Older residents of the community recall the days when riders on horseback and stagecoaches followed this same route.

Westgate Park Improvements Started

Ray Dietz, superintendent of Parks and Forestry, Arthur J. Bellar, acting service director, and John Guglielmi, general foreman of parks, were on hand Wednesday as the huge power shovel cut away the huge mound of earth in the first steps toward beautification of Westgate Park. Local children ruefully watch the huge mound, which in the winter months provided a coaster slide, gradually disappear.

Westgate Park is gradually assuming a new look these days with the Columbus Service Department equipment spotted at various spots throughout the park engaged in the beautification and replanning of the recreation center as planned several weeks ago at a joint meeting of city officials and local service and community organizations.

The huge mound of earth on the south fringe of the park near the ball diamonds is fast diminishing under the huge bites of the power shovel and the surplus earth is being used as a fill into the lake in order to bring water levels there to a point that would be uniform the year-around. According to city officials the earth for the mound originally was taken from the lake bed in order to provide a winter coasting slide for the youngsters of the community.

As the work of filling the lake bed and covering of debris progresses other workmen at the park are engaged in ditching and erection of a stone wall around the entire circumference of the lake. It is pointed out that upon completion of the wall a walkway will then be constructed around the entire lake and a new permanent fountain erected in the center of the lake as a source of water supply as well as providing new beauty to the area.

A proposal to city council earlier this week for funds to erect a new closed shelter house on the south side of the lake which could be used the entire year was given approval. The shelter house, according to estimates, will cost in the neighborhood of $60 000 and would be patterned along similar lines of the Sunshine Shelter, with living quarters in the upstairs portion for a permanent caretaker at the local park. The proposal to have a permanent caretaker on duty at the park at all times has long been advocated by many in the community and the indications are that it will soon become a reality.

Among the other improvements being made currently at the Westgate Park is the leveling of parking areas throughout the park and the creation of other parking spaces at strategic spots in order that the roadways through the wooded area can be closed, graded off and seeded and thereby eliminate the dust and grime which has long been a bone of contention from picnickers in the wooded area of the park. Elimination of the woodland roadways, it was also pointed out, will increase the safety factor for the many children who play daily at the park.

City officials this week on a visit to the park also indicated that work would soon be started on the sunken garden project within the park and the elimination of a ditch into which some sewerage had at times been drawn, creating a stench and a health hazard to the immediate vicinity. The elimination of the ditch and installation of a new sewer line are also expected to be completed before the end of the autumn season.

The inspecting group of city officials watch as a Cletrac levels off the earth in the bed of the lake at Westgate Park. The earth being moved into the lake bed was formerly at the site of the huge mound which is now being leveled.

Post Office Established In New Quarters

Even as workmen were finishing their work on the new Hilltop Branch Postoffice building on W. Broad-st, postal workers began moving in equipment and making ready for the opening of business as usual on Tuesday morning. While sign painters adorned the windows of the new building, actively within was taking place in arrangement of furnishings and sale of stamps and other postal services. Don Smith, owner of the building, said that as yet the upper floor apartments had not been completed and that in all likelihood there would be at least a two month wait yet for prospective residents.

Post Office moving day means work for Charles Snyder, assistant superintendent of mails, and postal worker Bayless as building owner Don Smith smiles approval.

Rome History Was Written By Alvin Richards

In last week's edition of The Hilltop Record the by-line of Alvin L. Richards, 3108 W. Broad-st, was erroneously omitted from the story on the front page of the Rome section pertaining to the History of Rome. Mr. Richards, an attorney-at-law with offices at 50 W. Broad-st, devoted much research and time to the preparation of the article and we hasten to bestow proper credit to him for a task "well done".

Expressway Draws Clubs Approval

In an attempt to hasten the progress of development of the McKinley Avenue Expressway and relocate Route 40 two Hilltop organizations went on record Tuesday asking that the matter be given immediate attention by proper officials.

The Hilltop Business Association executive committee has appointed a committee made up of E. O. Melvin, Phil Stout, Jerry Watson and C. C. Hartley to investigate what can be done to further the proposal.

Tuesday evening the executive committee of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club voted approval of the project and asked their public affairs committee headed by John Nippert to work on the project. Copies of their resolution will be mailed to the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission, the county engineer, and state highway department.

HBA To Hear Report On Organization

A meeting at which members of the Hilltop Business Association steering committee will completely review and examine the operation of the association under its present full time secretary set-up is scheduled for Sept. 12. The regular dinner meeting will convene at Westgate Methodist Church with C. Carlton Hartley presiding.

Four speakers have been selected to address the membership. This group, the steering committee of the organization, is composed of C. C. Hartley, John Nippert, Joe Briggs and Sam Alford.

Hartley will discuss the obligations of members of the association. Nippert in his report will outline the objectives of the business groups. Briggs' contribution to the forum will be a resume of the association's finances and Alford will summarize the duties of the secretary.

Jack Morris, secretary, will give a report on activities of the association.

New Traffic Lights Erected At Central Mound Intersection

Police moved this past week to decrease the number of accidents at the intersection of Mound-st, Central-av and Harrisburg-pk, by installing a four-phase traffic light system which allows movement in only one direction at a time.

Lt. George W. Scholer, traffic bureau head, said 18 accidents have occurred at the intersection this year. He said the new lights are expected to both eliminate accidents and to speed up the flow of traffic.

Auxiliary lights in the new system periodically permit right turns against the red light when they will not conflict with traffic flow.

Three More Seek Mum Queen Title

Natalie Skinner

Marcella Taylor

Doris Thomas

The race for the title of "Mum Queen" in the Hilltop Mum Festival which is scheduled for its first appearance on Oct. 11, 12, 13 and 14 continues to draw more entrants and sponsors each week as the deadline for filing of entries draws nearer, according to Jack Merriman, chairman in charge of the beauty queen contest.

Merriman announced today the filing of three more entries who will vie for the title on the opening night of the mum festival Oct. 11, immediately following the huge parade which beside featuring the beauties of the Hilltop will also be enhanced by numerous floats and other novelty entries. Several top notch bands are also scheduled to appear in the parade and add to the festive mardi gra spectacle.

Newest entries into the beauty queen competition, which thus far has drawn the lion's share of public attention were made this week by The C. C. Robinson Co. of 2403 W. Broad-st; Shank and Saunders, Inc., 2459 W. Broad-st, and Cramer's Pharmacy, W. Broad and Sandusky.

The C. C. Robinson entry is to be Miss Doris Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thomas of 307 N. Warren-av. Miss Thomas a student in West Senior High School, is a brunette with deep brown eyes and stands five feet five inches in height.

Natalie Jean Skinner, 2120 Sullivant-av, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Skinner, is the beauty entrant of Shank and Saunders, Inc. Miss Skinner, a senior at West High School, is the first red haired entry into the contest. Miss Skinner aside from her titian colored locks also has brown eyes and stands five feet three inches in height and tips the scale at a smart 109.

Third of this week's entries into the mum queen title chase is Marcella Taylor of 26 N Chase-av. Miss Talyor, a blonde, blue-eyer beauty, is an employe of the Cramer Pharmacy whose banner she will carry into the Oct. 11 competition.

Chairman Merriman said this week that numerous other sponsors of beauty queens for the title of "Mum Queen" had filed their intention of entering a contestant but as yet had not designated whom their entrants might be. He said that other sponsors who will announce their candidates in the very near future are The Ray McVay Coal Co.; Noble Allen Funeral Home; First Federal Savings and Loan; Ed. McGurer Auto Service; Jones Lumber Co.; Phillip V. Stout, attorney; Joe Goodwin Pharmacy; Wolfe Electric Service; Leo Phillips; West Hill Furniture Co.; C. & S. Dime Stores; Ed Johnson and Pearl Spence.

Winner of the beauty queen contest in addition to winning the title of "Mum Queen" will also be awarded a $100 U. S. Bond. Deadline for filing of entries into the competition is Oct. 5, and Chairman Merriman indicates that there will be no exceptions to that rule.

Three Hilltoppers have been chosen officers of the newly formed Columbus Chrysanthemum Society, organized to make Columbus the "mum center of the country." They are Frank Morgan, 97 N. Terrace-av, president; H. H. Bidwell, 106 Haldy-av, secretary, and Mrs. Ethel Snodgrass, 221 S. Sylvan-av, treasurer.

Community Improvement
(An Editorial)

The following editorial was written by O. H. Craft, Hilltop real estate dealer at the request of the Hilltop Record.

The city's western limits is bursting at the seams, and there is no place to build that has the necessary facilities to meet proper financing requirements, and reasonably suitable restrictions.

People are clamoring for an opportunity to live in our fair community, and now we must send them away to other sections of the city, because we have been asleep at the switch, and have failed to see this unfortunate condition approaching.

Our most pressing problem is sanitary sewerage. The only sanitary sewerage available in this whole Hilltop area, at the present time, is a trunk sewer line, running west on Sullivant-av to Georgesville-rd. From Derrer-rd west this sewer is laid too shallow to drain anything excepting a very limited resident territory, bordering Sullivant-av, and a tract of land lying west of Georgesville-rd, belonging to the Turner estate. The Broad Street area from Westgate Addition west is void of development.

To bring the sewer from Sullivant-av north through Derrer-rd to Broad-st is expensive, and should not be borne by one individual for the benefit of others who would be in a position to make use of it. It's a clear cut case of public convenience and necessity, and should be done with a public bond issue.

Public officials rarely do anything except what community leadership requires and forces them to do. This is not the only instance in which we have been woefully weak in mapping our needs. We have too many overlapping organizations working at cross purposes, and we fail to see the forest for the trees. What we need is a small hard working steering committee, representing all of these organizations, to ferret out these necessary and desirable things, then present a solid front to see them through.

There was a time when speculators could go out and buy up a parcel of land, have it platted, petition the city or county to have streets, sewers, etc., laid, at the future lot owners' expense. Many of you are familiar with the pattern.

It now takes real money and plenty of it to build a subdivision, and that kind of venturesome capital is not readily available in large amounts in this community. We can however survey our needs in a practical and sensible way, and submit our plans to the county commissioners and the sanitary engineer, or we can work to have the incorporation limits extended, and work through the regular constituted authorities, but work, we must, or suffer irreparable damage to our future.

'Fantasy Futurama' to Be Staged Tomorrow

Mary Steed

Zooming onto the West High School stage Friday, at 8:15, is "Fantasy Futurama," the West High Alumni Association's presentation of a talent-packed musical.

A complete alumni cast and orchestra, under the direction of alumnus John Paterson, includes many professional entertainers who have all left West High and gained fame locally and nationwide. Frank Ongaro and his smooth accordion playing; Bill Masters and Mary Steed, both speed tap dancers; Dick Bowles, returning to his alma mater for the first time since graduation, with his magic baritone voice; well-known tapsters George and Jackie Hardy; the young and versatile Jimmy Lee and his piano rhythms; torchy Lois Neff and her moody songs; and a new comedienne, Barbara Hill, are the sensations on the program for the evening.

Mike Mowrey is the emcee for the big show, and promises to keep it fast and funny to the final curtain.

The entire band is composed of alumni musicians, most of them professionals in the entertainment field. Ziggy Coyle, Glen Hariman, Jack Dale, Jim Myers and several others are preparing a choice selection of songs for the acts, and for their own spotlight numbers.

West High students are fortunate in having one of the most active high school alumni associations in the city, with members so interested in benefiting the school that they are willing to donate weeks of their time and effort to present such a show.

All proceeds of the show go toward some West High improvement fund. Last year the returns were donated to the dramatics department, and were used for new equipment on the stage. The association president this year, '48 grad Bill Hawes, has really put in time to organize this show, and is hopeful for a sellout performance.

Tickets are 45c for general admission, and 65c for reserved seats. Fifteen hundred general admission tickets are in circulation among the alumni, and may also be purchased at Goodwin's Pharmacy, Spang's Drugs, Superior Drugs, Westgate Drugs and Campbell's Pharmacy. Reserved seats are on sale at Campbell's Pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad-st, and the few remaining will be sold at the high school tomorrow evening.

Three Local Men Inducted Into Army

Draft Board 42 serving the West side and Hilltop last Friday furnished three of the 16 men inducted into the armed services and sent them to Fort Knox, Ky., to begin their military training.

From the local board were sent Donald L. McCready, Jr., of 273 S. Powell-av; George Burton, 106 Meek-av, and Edward Messer of Richmond, Ind., who had moved there after registering here.

They are the vanguard of the increasing number of men to be summoned from the county. On Sept. 8, 40 more men will be inducted from Franklin County to be followed on Sept. 15, by another 76 men.

The last county quota was added last Thursday in a selective service order of 69 draft boards in 35 Ohio counties to induct 878 men on Sept. 18.

The call is the third for September and boosted the total to 2307 for the month against a quota of 2850. Other calls for the county will go out Sept. 22 and 28.

Board 42 officials did not reveal the names of those men in this communinity who will be inducted on the Sept. 8 and 15 calls.

Band Parents Club Readies Uniforms

Mrs. Harvey Fenstermaker (left), chairman of the West High Band Parents' Club' uniform committee, and Mrs. Earl L. Fenner (right), club president, check the uniforms of Ann Haino (center), 17, of 3107 Ellis-pk, one of the school's two head drum majorettes. Club members have completed repairs on band uniforms in preparation for the new season which opens in two weeks.

When the phalanx of brown and buff uniforms moves onto the greensward of Magly Field Sept. 22 in the first appearance of West High School's band a group of women who have devoted much time and painstaking work to that band will feel that surge of pride that comes from a job "well done."

This group of Hilltop mothers are members of the West High Band Parents' Club and throughout the summer months they have met at various times for the all important chore of repairing the band's, drum major's and majorettes' uniforms. A sizeable task for a handful of women when you consider that there are nearly 82 uniforms to be handled, repaired and checked for completeness.

An average of six women met on these various occasions. Suits requiring major alternations were sent to a tailor, also a member of the club. When alterations and all repairs had been completed on a uniform it was then sent to a dry cleaner.

The Band Parents' Club owns all of the uniforms with exception of the white and gold uniforms which belong to the school's two head drum majorettes. Mrs. Harvey Fenstermaker, 831 S. Harris-av, chairman of uniforms, points out that the club does not buy the head drum majorettes uniforms because "the size of the girls seems to change."

Mrs. Earl Fenner, 762 S. Richardson-av, president of the West High Band Parents' Club, said the youngsters in the band are not careless with or hard on the uniforms. "It's been six years since we replaced any of the uniforms," Mrs. Fenner said. "We'll probably have to replace one or two again next year. On the average, I'd say replacements are necessary about every six to seven years.

"Most of the wear and tear is in such things as gloves, plumes and sash. Rain and mud help to ruin them," added Mrs. Fenstermaker.

Current officers of the West High Band Parents' Club are: Mrs. Earl Fenner, 762 S. Richardson-av, president; Barnard Swisher, 46 Clarendon-av, vice president; Mrs. H. Thompson, 847 S. Harris-av; secretary, and Mrs. J. D. Fleddermann, 194 Midland-av, treasurer.

Senior High ways and means chairmen are: Mrs. Tom Brownlee, 109 S. Harris-av, and Mrs. J. Davis, 243 N. Harris-av. Junior High ways and means chairmen are: Mrs. L. Seibert, 181 Lochner, and Mrs. C. Arbaugh, 231 S. Harris-av; Orchestra, ways and means chairmen are Mrs. W. Kuhn, 836 S. Roys and Mrs. H. B. Gilbert, 864 Binns-blvd.

Band telephone chairmen are Mrs. L. Rayburn, 37 N. Westmoor for the senior high, and Mrs. E. Thomas, 511 N. Warren for the junior high, while Mrs. J. Galloway, 191 N. Haldy, is telephone chairman for the orchestra.

Other chairmen are Mrs. F. Nippert, 265 S. Roys-av, publicity; Mrs. Harvey Fenstermaker, 831 S. Harris-av, uniforms; Mrs. E. Jones, 745 Wilson-rd, assistant uniforms chairman; Mrs. J. M. Moriva, 176 Binns-blvd, sunshine, and Mrs. F. Schulz, 45 Haldy-av, tax stamps.

Fly-Blowing the Churches . . .

Every once in a while you run across a citizen who tries to impress you with the broadness of his religious viewpoint by taking a pot-shot at the churches of the nation.

The speaker will tell about helping other human beings in distress and exhibit every sign of an assumed superiority over those who worship in organized churches in the name of their religion.

It is rather seldom that these talkers realize that without the organized churches of the past, it is highly improbable that they would know very much about religion. It is worse than that. Without the organized churches of the past, there is doubt if our present civilization would be even vaguely as good as it is. The critics of the church are quite willing to accept the fruits of its work but they are not always just enough to give credit where credit is due.

WIPE OUT THE PLAGUE

Killed: 33,500. Injured: 1,150,000.

Cold facts that represent the annual toll of traffic accidents on our streets and highways.

Those who consider the implications of these tragic figures are impressed by them and at the same time are appalled by the proof that a dreadful plague has settled over the nation. For our annual traffic accident rate is indeed a plague. It sweeps over the country every day and leaves in its wake twisted, lifeless bodies or painfully mangled limbs.

Translated into terms of grief, physical and mental suffering, frustrated hopes and economic loss, this ravaging plague overwhelms the mind. Just as cancer and infantile paralysis can snatch children from their families, so can the unsafe driver behind the wheel of a powerful automobile. Just as disease can and does take fathers and mothers away, leaving children without protection and wards of the state, so can the traffic accident.

Yet, people who shudder at the mention of cancer, heart disease or other sickness continue to take needless risks while driving. People who cannot bear the sight of an injured kitten at the same time carelessly walk in front of vehicles at the risk of their own limbs.

It is time we waked up to ourselves. It is time all the people unite in responsible effort to save the lives and homes of themselves and their neighbors.

Wipe out the plague. Make America safe.

It might be said nowadays, "Billions for defense but not enough for weapons and fighting men."

Investment in machinery on Ohio farms today is frequently two and one-half times what it was 10 years ago.

Short-term loans outstanding at commercial banks in Ohio on Jan. 1, represented nearly 70 per cent of the total of such loans.

Dead Wrong

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

Face Shocks . . . Voice Shocks

I am going to try to shock you! Perhaps with six or seven shocks. If you get any more, it might destroy your illusions. You see, we are (most of us) endowed with imagination — some of us more vividly than others. But this imagination is what constitutes the major blessing of modern radio (not television). We listen to unseen dramas, or even the FBI or Gangbusters and I'll bet that nine out of 10 of you are "there" at the scene of the "doings".

Once in a while you think of performers standing before various "mikes" and reading their stuff. If so, then the program was not good "action" in the studio, or in other words did not come to you as true to life.

Well, here is my first great shock of, say, 10 or 12 years ago. I heard a lovely, ingratiating voice that intrigued me. I always seemed to seek out that program on the radio each week. So it went on for some years. Then one day, her photo appeared in the press. Never before and never afterward have I seen it, but it did the shocking! Kate Smith—beautiful voice, so lovely—but when I beheld her, overweight in the photo I was shocked. (I had imagined her to be about 25 years of age and of average weight. "Nobody loves a fat man —or woman."). She made millions of dollars when we did NOT see her and today has gone back to radio and a small studio audience (loyal) with a truly appealing voice.

My second shock, but this time an enjoyable one, was seeing in person a man with a "voice" of himself. His voice is Lowell Thomas, rich, sonorous, and he looks exactly as I imagined he would.

Another shock came just last week. I had always imagined Henry J. Taylor, noted radio commentator, to be about 50 years or over, with a professor type (His voice sounds that way.). Well, the shock was his photo. He looks to be about 40 years old, and more like a movie star than a hard-boiled commentator.

Here are a few "shockers" that I have experienced: Deems Taylor, distinguished composer, has a voice like his personality. H. E. Kaltenborn, so like his photo. I saw him in a newsreel. President Truman talks and appears like an average successful business man. Teddy Roosevelt—how shocked I was to hear his voice. He appeared, in person, so forceful, yet his high, screechy voice was such a shock.

A friend told me recently that he was greatly disturbed to hear the speaking voice of General Omar Bradley, our brilliant war commander. My friend had seen him in the movies and television. To see him was OK, but to hear his voice was such a shock—high and tense. Lauritz Melchior, the great huge, dynamic Wagnerian opera star, is true to person and voice—big, rotund, jolly. To see him is an experience, and to hear him a grand joy even in television. People above normal weight as a rule, had better keep out of sight unless endowed with a definite persuasive personality.

My last shock which I have thought about, over 50 years of my life, was my meeting with the last of the famous Schuyler family (Revolutionary period). About 1650, I believe, Queen Ann, last of the Stuart queens of Scotland, granted 18,000 acres of land to the Schuylers around Albany, N. Y. Well, when I was a lad of 10 or 12 years our family knew Annie (Anna), Gertie (Gertrude) and Steve Schuyler, the last of the Schuylers, who lived in a great square yellow brick house (bricks brought from Holland) with two immense parlors each side of an imposing center hall. On one wall of this hall was an oil portrait of the first governor (Schuyler) of New York State, in size from floor to ceiling, but it was the faces and voices of these descendants of the fabulously wealthy Schuylers of Washington's time and acquaintance that "got me". Jovial countenances, big proportioned people and those rich, luscious speaking and restrained laughter tones that came from those Schuylers.

It told plainly of many generations of inherited background through education and wealth, properly used, even if they were reduced to about 200 acres and called "land poor". That shock of importance (even to the last ones) I have always cherished.

What are you doing for your descendants? What rich, deep, grand voices and faces are to come from your grandchildren? Modern psychologists say that our children are molded in voice and most of their intelligence by association with us. Are you guiding them in truly fine manners, etc.? We seem to have so much cheap "clap-trap" today. I sincerely hope that the television industry will not bring its programs DOWN to the masses, but will endeavor to present commendable programs that will UPLIFT the cultural status of the masses—in entertainment, music, education and the arts.

THINK THIS OVER.

West Gridders Edge Bobcat Eleven By Lone Touchdown

By Dave Miller

West High's gridders got their first taste of game experience last Friday morning at Grandview and, although the Cowboys did take a 7-0 decision, the taste, according to head football coach, Mack Pemberton, was a slight bitter.

"We were just too downright slow," said Mack. "Our backfield, which was supposed to be so fast this year, was surprisingly slow-footed while our line looked fairly good."

Mack wouldn't mention any names, but he quickly fired back that he thought, with a couple of weeks of good hard scrimmage and experience (the big factor), the situation would be altogether different.

Practically every team in the City League is worried over speed problems, but all coaches agree that work and only work will ever bring it about. The practice sessions that the teams are at present going through are the big ones. This is the time when players become weary of constant practice and some begin to quit, leaving the real "stickers" and deserving ball players for the coming season.

Many boys, who think football is merely fun, try out for the squad, and within the initial three or four weeks of practice begin to realize that the grid sport takes plenty of work. Also this is the time when coaches begin growing gray hair, with injuries and jinxes popping up all over the field—and usually all at once.

The scrimmage affair with Grandview last week was merely as advertised. There were no kickoffs (the play on which most injuries are suffered). Grandview took the ball on their own 20-yard stripe to begin the fray, and West did the same at the halftime.

The Cowboys were simply outplayed, out-run, out-passed and out-kicked in the first half. The Bobcats dominated the entire first half of play.

Pemberton said, regarding the first half: "We did everything wrong, and they seemed to do everything right. I told the boys at halftime the same thing I told my players a year ago at the half after Grandview had again outplayed us. I said that Grandview should never play better ball than us because they're not in our league, and that simply they're never that tough."

Pemberton continued: "Last year Grandview doubled the score on us (28-14) and I was determined the same wouldn't happen again. Well it didn't, for we played like an inspired ball club the entire second half, although we should have beaten them by at least two more touchdowns."

West scored midway of the third period, the only tally of the fray, on Ronnie James' long end-around sweep from 48 yards out. James, on another occasion, was in the open on a 70-plus yard run when he was caught from behind by Grandview's biggest and slowest player, center Ralph Guglielmi. The Cowboys threatened moments later in the final period when they were as far as the Bobcat five-yard stripe but a fumble broke up this chance.

Pemberton accorded the main trouble of the Cowboys in the fray to lack of speed. However, realizing that 10 games still lie ahead, he quickly countered with "And only practice can help this."

Through this game, however, West gained something 10 practices couldn't aid—and that is game experience, and some 30 West gridders have that under their belt for the initial fray of the year, and they're ready and waiting for 10 more chances to do just a little better each time.

The Cowboys are scheduled to play at Newark tomorrow, but the time is still uncertain. Pemberton wants to play the game in the afternoon and Newark wants to hold it at night, with the decision not yet reached.

Looking Ahead with J. W. WORREL

"I believe in insurance," a man said to me the other day.

"That's fine", I said. "I wish everyone were like you."

"Yes," he went on, "I'm sold on it. I've covered my house against fire for $4,000; I've covered my car for $1,000; I've covered my furniture for $2,000; I've got some nice antique stuff, you know."

"Do you reckon you'll be able to replace the damage if you have a fire," I asked.

"Just about," he said. "And, by the way, I've got a life assurance policy, too".

"Splendid," I said. "And, if it's not being impertinent, how much life assurance have you?"

"Five thousand bucks," he said proudly, grinning all over his face.

"And you reckon that will replace the damage if you die?" I asked, perhaps a little grimly.

Of course, my friend had made a common mistake. When thinking of his house, his car, his furniture, he quite properly figured their value before he insured. But when it came to his own life, he just thought that $5,000 looked nice on paper. It was better than nothing, of course, but it didn't take him long to realize that he was worth more than "five thousand bucks."

You too, are probably worth more life assurance than you now carry. Think it over — then give me a call. I will gladly discuss — in confidence — any problems concerning your life assurance arrangements.

Hilltop Sports Shorts

The schedule-making of the city league, for West especially, is certainly an oddity if you happen to glance at the way their home and home series' at present is set up.

They open a week from tomorrow night at Marion Harding and then play their next six frays all at home. They conclude their season with South and Central away.

West, each year is sure of four city league games at home and two away. This season, as mentioned, they visit South and Central and play host to East, Aquinas, North and Linden. Each season they will play host to East and Aquinas while they alternate yearly with South, Central, North and Linden. East and Aquinas do not have lighted fields and that is the reason they play all their games away, excepting the battle between them which takes place at East's Harley Field.

West's chances in the city league race for the coming 1950 season rest strongly on how well they can obtain a tackle, end and guard. They have a total of seven returning lettermen back including four backs and three linemen, one from each position on the front wall, thus leaving Line Coach Dave Randall with the problem of finding three good men to fill those holes in the wall. Top men through the guards include Spike Ringer and Don Greer; tackles, Dave Skipper, Don Dolder, Ron Farley and Roger Meyer, and ends, Dave Lazenby, Jerry Trabue and Bill South. The Cowboys already have end, George Crissinger; guard, Bill Orcutt, and tackle, Dick McDermitt back from previous years.

The center post is also a problem with the grid coaches. Jerry Fry, who was primed for the job this season, has been slowed by a back injury and Junior Eddy Gliebs has been quickly taking the former's job away. Ron Farley and Bill Vawters, other prospective centers were changed over to tackle to aid the undernumbered group there.

The backfield, although four lettermen are returning, is still quite a problem with Backfield Mentor Fred Heishman. Slowness is the main point to be ironed out by Heishman and Pemberton before the actual season begins eight days from now.

Jerry Johnson, sparkling halfback of last year, will be the first string quarterback this year while the halfbacks will consist of Ronnie James, Charlie Hunter and Dick Briggs; while Carmine DeMatteo, over his good showing at Grandview last week, has presently cinched the first string fullback assignment. Phoney Chapman is still in the running with DeMatteo for fullback, but he lacks that needed experience.

All in all, West looks better than they were last season as a team and as a winning team, so let's get behind the Cowboys of 1950 and back them all the way.

Coaches Mark Stephans and Harry Lamberson will again be matching skills Saturday afternoon at Ohio State as Green Cabs meets Cohagen Hardware for the championship of the Senior Knothole League, [illegible] game starts at 3 p. m.

It will mark the fourth time in the Knothole playoffs that these two nines have met for the championship of the Knothole league, with Green Cabs having won three of the four.

Seven players on both teams are residents of the Hilltop and four are still attending West while three have graduated. On the Green Cabs' team from Hilltop are Dave Caton, Mo Dobbs, Jim Lang, Ted Fladt and Tom Wright, while two ex-West stars are on the Cohagen nine in Jack Pickens and Phil Young. The latter two and Dobbs were members of the Columbus Knothole All-Star team which visited Louisville and hosted to Toledo.

Camp Chase's Intermediate Knothole champs pulled a triple play in their playoff game against Cherokees at Ohio State last week. In the fourth inning, Centerfielder Jack Kelly and Catcher Paul Minter led off with singles. With men on first and second and none gone, Jack Bell bounced back to Pitcher Jim Kimball who quickly tossed to the third baseman, Dick Orr, forcing Kelley at third, and Orr whipped to First Sacker Bill Haire, getting the hitter, completing a double play. Haire then fired back to Orr, who tagged Minter sliding into third to end the triple play. The play itself took only about 13 seconds.

Al Andrews, former West football and baseball star was the hero of Glick Furniture's 6-5 win over Ben Brew last Saturday evening at the State Hospital field in the tenth inning. In the final frame, Andrews doubled deep off the left field wall to send home the winning run . . . Al, throughout the game, had a walk, single and double in four official trips . . . Radio station WVKO-FM, with program director and sports announcer Bert Charles at the mike, will air their second annual High School Pigskin Preview, and he'll have all the city coaches with their respective captains . . . Mack Pemberton of West as yet has not named who will represent the Cowboys as their captain, but it will no doubt be one of the eight returning lettermen . . . Red Trego of South, and Ralph Webster of East have already named their captains as being Newt Thomas and Jean Gordon respectively . . . One of the main reasons West Coach Mack Pemberton has been battling Newark coaches as to whether or not the Newark-West fray will be played at night is that West coaches want to attend the three prevue programs that will be shown on three different Central District gridirons tomorrow evening . . . South, East, Bexley and St. Charles will appear at South; Linden, Ayuinas, Central and Delaware show at Linden; and Grandview, Arlington, Circleville and Wellston appear at Grandview in three separate pigskin prevues . . . Pemberton, naturally, wants the Newark game to be in the afternoon and if that's the way he wants it, here's 50-to-1 that that's the way it'll be.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

Jack Young served as emcee at the social held in Rea-Bow hall last Saturday night. Games were held for both adults and children.

Plans are being worked out for the fall and winter socials. Another musician will be added to the Gallagher and Worden string band. A big Hallowe'en dance is being planned. Mrs. Arthur Reed, 1451 Hamlet, has been appointed chairlady of this affair, and being assisted by Mrs Harry Tlacker, 1559½ Oak, and Mrs. Rolland Toy, of Hilliards.

Twenty rangers were taken to the "Meetin-Time-At-Moores" on WLW-C, last Thursday. Sally Flowers was made honorary member of the Rangers and presented with an official Ranger cap. Rangerette Delores Brokamp presented Miss Flowers with the cap. Transportation was furnished by George Wolfe. Emerson Miller, Alice Warner and Bonnie Snyder.

Plans were laid last Tuesday at the regular meeting of the association to carry on an intensive campaign to repeal the zoning law in November. Word has been received that enough signatures have been acquired to place this question on the ballot.

The association has voted to sponsor a show for the veterans at Chillicothe, Dec. 3.

Saturday night social will again be under the direction of the county social club. Rolland Toy will assist George Wolfe as master of ceremonies.

Labor Day Accidents Mar Hilltop Holiday

The Hilltop community came in for its share of accidents and traffic fatalities during the Labor day week-end in which more than 500 persons were killed throughout the nation to bring the death toll to one of he largest on record.

The traffic fatality recorded in this community during the past week-end occurred two miles west of the city limits when a S. Hartford-av man was killed when struck by an auto early Saturday.

James W. Baker, 31, 56 S. Hartford-av, was pronounced dead at Mt. Carmel Hospital after being struck down as he crossed Route 40 at 1:25 a. m., according to the state highway patrol and sheriff's reports.

Patrolmen said Baker suffered a compound pelvic fracture and fractures of chest and both legs whe struck by an auto driven by Harold Watkins, 31, of 399 Wyandotte-av.

Sheriff's deputies said that Watkins related to them that Baker "appeared out of nowhere" into the path of his eastbound car. Watkins swerved his car to the left, deputies said, knocking down nine guard posts of the highway divider but his right fender struck Baker.

In other holiday accidents, William Britton, 34, of 104 Mixav, suffered a fractured pelvis and possible broken neck Monday when he lost control of his motorcycle on Route 40 just east of the Franklin-Madison County line. His condition is said to be serious.

Joanne Miller, 21, of 776 Binns-blvd, suffered head cuts in a two-car collision at E. Main-st and 18th-sts while in another two-car wreck. Martha Krebs, 17, of 130 S. Harris-av, suffered a sprained back.

When his auto struck a guard rail at Trabue-rd and N. Hague-av, Everett Dillon, 38, 501 Prospect-st, suffered neck and face cuts.

In another accident over the week-end, Robert Sullivant, 25, of 147 N. Wr...en-av, escaped uninjured when he lost control of a gasoline trailer truck and crashed through a fence and into a large oak tree on Route 3 approximately 100 yards south of Morse-rd. Blamed as a cause of the accident was a bee which stung the Warren-av man on the nose. Sullivant told sheriff's deputies that he lost control of the huge truck while attempting to dislodge the bee.

Where Is Bill?

Bill is missing!

Bill, a black and white cocker spaniel, 10 years of age and with failing eyesight is listed among the missing by his owner Gil Bolin who says that the family pet, a stranger to the Hilltop area has either strayed or been stolen. He is of the opinion, however that the aged dog is lost and would appreciate any information leading to his recovery and offers a reward to the finder of Bill.

Bolin, former Boy Scout field executive, said that the dog when last seen by any members of the family was wearing his old dog collar which bore no license. He asks that anyone who may have seen the dog contact him at Ra. 4424.

Community Council To Meet Wed.

Sept. 13 has been set as the date for the initial fall meeting of the Hilltop Community Council at the Glenwood Shelterhouse, according to announcement by Russell Carter and Mrs. Edward Thompson, president and treasurer of the organization.

It was pointed out that the agenda of business for the session will include the discussion of several important items that should be of great interest to all Hilltop residents and the various service and community organizations.

Slated as principal speaker at the opening session is Jack Morris, secretary of the Hilltop Business Association. Morris is scheduled to speak on the proposed truck route and expressway recently reported as being designated for McKinley-av.

Another topic to be brought under discussion at the meeting is to be the question of sewerage and the beautification of Westgate Park.

All organizations of the Hilltop community were urged by the council officers to have their representatives present at the Sept. 13 meeting. Invitation was also extended to organizations not now represented in the council to also have representatives attend the meeting in order that full cooperation be attained for the work that lies ahead of the council.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Joyce Ours of 141 Ogden-av, who last Friday became the bride of Mr. Wilbur Sarve

The shower was given at the Nazarene parsonage 675 S. Harris-av. by Mrs. Callentine, Mrs. Neff, Miss Converse and Miss Bargdall. Fifty-seven guests were present.

The Daileys brought back many interesting souvenirs including an extensive collection of snapshots.

While traveling toward Chattanooga, Tenn., they were held up at Maryville by a train. There they noticed an Ohio license plate with an "H" prefix. The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

SAFETY FIRST! We should say "Children First." Yes, we are seeing our children go back to school, and although the traffic light is back again by our W. Mound Street School, we motorists can't be too careful. No doubt every one has seen the new fence surrounding our elementary teaching buildings. Can't wait to build a modern school to make that fence look sharp.

MRS. HIGHFILL, watch your step! You can't get your housework done watching HENRY'S new television set. You'll just have to get one for every room.

Everybody is admiring GREENO'S tobacco plant. It's growing and growing and soon will be ready to be dried and crushed. Bring your rollers around this fall, folks, and roll your own.

CHRISTMAS must be just around the corner. Saw MURNANE testing his chimney for size — or maybe he was just doing a little painting around it?

C. H. THOMPSON, did you collect your free pass to the theatre? It pays to watch those ads in the Record, you know.

SANDS are proud parents of little CHUCK. Mother is back on schedule by now, watching television and feeding baby at the same time.

MR. AND MRS. M. G. BROBECK are happy grandparents. Daughter, Mrs. Wayne Leathers had her little son a week ago Sunday. Just think! A baby sitter "Grandma" right next door.

Teacher GEORGE ZEISS left the Hilltop to teach in Dallas. And with the ZOE SCHMIDTS gone too, we'll be getting more new Hi Rodgers in their stead.

BILL SCOLIERI on Mound, went shopping one day. The new widened street gave him an idea for a new car. So he bought a new Buick. A smart job and a beaut, too.

Here's a lift for rumpled jackets, half-worn slacks and spotted suits. We'll help you get lots more wear out of 'em. Our dry cleaning keeps your clothes looking trimmer, better-fitting. Call today.

Bible Study Institute Relocated

The new location of 26 S. Sandusky-st is being announced by the Columbus Bible Institute as its 1950-1951 catalog and class schedule is released by its officers. The facilities of Memorial Baptist Church are being rented by C. B. I. and because of the more central location it is hoped that more people may take advantage of its classes. Many folks are acquainted with this address because of the Saturday morning radio program presented by Memorial through its pastor, Rev. C. C. Clawson.

The fall classes will begin Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 11 and 12, at 6:30 p. m., and will continue through the 12 weeks on the following schedule: Monday, 6:30—Bible Introduction and Homiletics; 7:30, Chapel; 7:50, Study of Genesis and Beginning Greek; 8:50, Congregational music conducting. Tuesday, 1:30, Teacher training for "Children for Christ" work; 6:30, Study of first half of Old Testament and teacher-training for beginner-primary work; 7:30, Chapel; 7:50, Missions and doctrine of man, sin and salvation.

The Institute offers to the people of this vicinity the unusual privilege of studying the Bible and affiliated subjects in the evening while, at the same time, continuing regular day work. Special emphasis is given to the plan that permits any number of subjects to be studied. One, two, three, four or five may be selected to fit the individual situation. Certificates are awarded for completion of the one-year course for Sunday School teachers and diploma to those finishing the three-year Christian workers course.

No tuition is charged but there is a registration fee. All instructors and officers give of their time and talents free to make such Bible training possible.

Local Pastor Announces Sermon Series

A series of seven sermons on the general topic of "The Final Judgment" have been announced by The Rev. N. L. Schreiber, pastor of The Westgate Methodist Church. The first of this series will be preached next Sunday, Sept. 10, on the topic "The Judgment Scene."

The remaining topics will be "The Nature of The Judgment"; "The Judgment Questions"; "The Inescapability of The Judgment"; "The Judgment We Live In"; "The Final Triumph of God's Judgment"; and "The Judgment That Redeems Our Life and Society."

This series will be interrupted on Sunday, Oct. 1, for the celebration of World-Wide Communion.

There's nothing complicated about this picture. It's a straight-forward view of a simple subject: a barrel of good spring water.

Yet there have been times in the life of every man who has worked for his living when a good glass of cold, clear water was the one thing that would "fill the bill." Nothing else would do.

In the same way, his need for religion is a simple, yet powerful, factor in any man's life. Without it, he could not exist in happiness. One great writer put that need this way:

The thirst that from the soul doth rise
Doth ask a drink divine. . .

That "drink divine" may be in the form of an inspiring sermon in your church. It may be in the form of a short prayer, or a hymn sung there. It may be a short passage from the Bible which indisputedly proves that each life counts for something in the immense plan of the universe, and that each life may be but a prelude to a fuller and more abundant life to come.

If you by-pass the church in your own search for happiness, you are missing a God-given opportunity—the chance to satisfy your soul with a faith so simple that a child may have it, yet so strong and compelling that it has given our greatest men their inspiration and drive.

As the hart panteth after water, so panteth my soul after thee, Oh Lord. . .—PSALM 42:1

It's never the fall that injures; it's the sudden stop.

Insurance will not stop losses—but it will reimburse you for them. Adequate insurance in a good, dependable company will not keep a fire from destroying your house and furnishings, or stop a burglar from stealing your valuables, but it's comforting to know that it will pay for the loss incurred. Junior Achievement Representatives

Four Columbus high school pupils, one of them a Hilltop girl, this past week attended the seventh National Junior Achievement Conference held at Bowling Green University. The four youths represented the Junior Achievement of Columbus Inc.

Representing the Hilltop community at the national confab was Marilyn Ann Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, a West High School student. Others in the group were: Carol Jean Fisher of Upper Arlington High, Jim Casto of South and Chick Wahoff of Bexley.

Junior Achievement is a 31-year-old national movement to give young people of 15 to 21 years of age an opportunity to learn the American system of free enterprise through first hand experience with business methods and ideals. The plan is sponsored by more than 100 prominent business men and women in Columbus.

Trained adult volunteers are advisers to about 500 youths, who make up manufacturing or service organizations operated by the young people themselves. The work is done at Columbus Junior Achievement Business Center located at 79 N. Third-st.

Each year outstanding achievers are selected to attend the National Association of Junior Achievement Companies convention such as the one held in Bowling Green last week.

Last year the Junior Achievement plan taught 12,500 students how American business operates by helping them form their own businesses and selling stock to the public and other Junior Achievement members at 50 cents a share. Companies sometimes went broke but no stockholder has ever lost more than $2.50.

The junior companies and business leaders, manufacture items on an assembly line basis and some companies take in an average revenue of as much as $300 per year.

Junior Achievement members are eligible for 87 scholarships worth $38,050. Among them are five Eisenhower scholarships of $4800 each and others from colleges and foundations.

Junior Achievement companies are patterned after a simplified corporate procedure. Boys and girls age 15 and over form miniature business organizations with a membership of 8 to 15 in business and industry.

These young people elect their own officers, select a suitable name in conformity with the product or service which they plan to offer to the public, sell stock at 50c a share, and apply for a charter renewable each year. They pay themselves an hourly wage or fee from profits accrued.

Each member of a Junior Achievement company must own at least one share of stock in his company. They all become members of their own board of directors. This board makes all decisions as to company policies, changes of product, wage scale, etc.

Each year open stockholders' meetings are held at which time past accomplishments and future plans of the company are presented, as well as the profit and loss statement for the ensuing year. If the company has been sufficiently prosperous, it will then declare a dividend as voted by the directors at a previous meeting.

This procedure teaches the young people how business clicks and instills a feeling of responsibility as well as an appreciation for the American incentive system. They also come to understand the value of invested capital, wise management and responsible labor.

The business forms used by these Junior Achievement companies have been designed to simulate those used in the adult business world.

Again low prices are the attraction of the second annual bargain box sale, Sept. 14 and 15, at Memorial Hall.

Beginning last spring and continuing all through the summer, the members of the Junior League of Columbus, who sponsor this unusual rummage sale, have been busy collecting, sorting and storing merchandise of every size and shape — men's, women's and children's clothing, toys, household goods, books, furniture, art objects, and sporting equipment being but a few of the types of goods to be offered at real savings.

The proceeds will go to the Children's Mental Health Center, Inc., 510 S. Monroe-av, which

"A Man Told Me"

HILLTOP, COLUMBUS, OHIO —A friend of many years has said, "I never have a suit tailored I buy mine 'off the rack'—but my coat collar never fits right even after they rip the coat apart and re-set the collar."

Now that is not unusual. Why? Because his coat was designed and cut (one of possibly hundreds at one operation) for the average figure. This fellow IS AVERAGE HEIGHT and AVERAGE WEIGHT but he IS NOT average posture. A profile photo will show that he is just plain careless when standing or walking. He carries his head forward, which produces an enlarged so-called hump just above his shoulder blades. So when he puts on the "off the rack" coat there simply is not enough material in the garment to cover the "hump" and fit snugly around the collar.

He is curing this situation by selecting his material from our showing of over four hundred woolen patterns and then having his suits made to individual measurements by Beadure Tailoring Co., 2727 W. Broad at Hague. Phone RA. 3539. Suits and coats for men and women, $43.50 up. Adv.

Take a Walk . . . Around Yourself

Jack Sensenbrenner passes on this little bit that contains more truth than poetry:

When you're criticizing others,
And are finding here and there . . . .
A fault or two to speak of,
Or a weakness you can tear . . .
When you're blaming someone,
Or accusing one of self . . .
It's time that you went out,
To take a walk around yourself. . . . . .

There's a lot of human failings
In the average of us all . . .
And lots of grave shortcomings,
In the short ones and the tall . . .
But when we think of evils,
Men should lay upon the shelves
It's time that we all went out,
To take a walk around ourselves.

We need so often in this life,
A balancing set of scales . . .
Thus seeing how much in us wins,
And how much in us fails . . .
But before you judge another;
And lay him on the shelf . . .
It would be a splendid plan,
To take a walk around yourself.

Cowboys Open Season Against Marion Harding Friday Night

West's Cowboys will meet a team of about their same size as they set up for the opening kickoff of their 1950 grid campaign tomorrow evening at Marion Harding around 8 o'clock.

Pete Howison, head coach at Marion wasn't in very high spirits about his boys last night previous to the Presidents' inaugural. Howison stated that he had lost nine regulars from last year's squad, which in addition to taking a 20-0 win over West, went on to be acclaimed the 12th best team in the state of Ohio.

"We aren't ready, and that's the story. Our regular center (Dean) Ludwig is out by an injury and we currently are having quarterback and right end troubles. We look for West to give us a battle Friday night."

Coach Mack Pemberton of the Cowboys wasn't going out on the limb for anyone, but he was certain of one thing—that eleven boys wearing brown and white jerseys tomorrow will be is there to give their best.

"We've been clicking a little better on the offensive attack, but our defense is highly questionable right now," Mack said Tuesday.

The two elevens will be battling also tomorrow for their "series" lead. West, in 1948, won over Marion, 21-18 thanks to an 85-yard jaunt by big Don Speakman (presently in the service), while West will be revenging their 2000 whitewashing by the up-staters from last season in the two teams' opener at Magly Field.

Howison, although fairly quiet about things on his line did not go out on a limb insofar as his backfield was concerned. "Pete", as he is better known in Marion, boasts a top-flight backfield in Jim Kendell, Jim Russell and Paul (that man) Ludwig. However, he quickly added that his quarterback, Dave Ulrich, who is inexperienced can "make or break" that combination.

Kendell and Ludwig need no introduction to West football followers, especially Ludwig. Big Paul literally ran through the entire West front-wall and linebackers at West last season as a junior, and after missing an all-state choice by a mere six votes, he is ready to climax his football

Mrs. Howard Hagans, 141 N. Powell-av, and Mrs. Joseph Briggs, 34 S. Algonquin-av, are two of the majors announced this week to conduct the Community Fund Drive on the Hilltop.

With the last days of summer fast diminishing and thoughts of the community directed to the fall and winter months ahead attention is naturally focused by one group of civic minded folk toward the Community Chest Fund Drive which is to officially open its annual campaign Oct. 13.

Plans have been drawn for the forthcoming drive and the work of organization has been steadily progressing during the past week or so with Hilltopper Sarabel Henderson, 59 N. Warren-av, colonel of all the West Side forces already marshaling her group of workers for the effort.

During this past week Colonel Henderson announced the appointment of two of the majors who will assist in the forthcoming campaign in the Hilltop area. Mrs. Joseph Briggs, 34 S. Algonquin-av, and Mrs. Howard Hagans, 141 N. Powell-av, are the first announced majors for this area.

Both of these majors have in the past week been busily engaged in organization of their own groups and have indicated their captains and workers who will aid them in an all-out drive on the Hilltop area.

Mrs. Hagans has anounced that her group of workers is composed of: captains, Mrs. William Wolfe, 336 N. Sylvan-av; Mrs. Lou Parkinson, 98 N. Powell-av; and Mrs. J. D. Dickson, 34 N. Powell-av.

Chairmen in the Community Chest Drive who will assist Colonel Henderson are Mrs. Harry Knipp, S. Burgess-av, and Jean Ferguson, 92 Hawkes-av. The latter is currently doing organizational work in the lower West Side.

Kiwanis Plans National Kids Day Observance

The second annual observance of National Kids Day which is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 23, will this year have greater local significance with the Hilltop Kiwanis Club participating in the program along with more than 3150 Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

In cooperating with the National Kids Day Foundation in observance of this campaign the local Kiwanians will on Sept. 23 sell Kids' Day buttons. The sum to be paid for a button is left to the discretion of the purchaser. All members of the local club will have at least 10 buttons to sell on that day, according to Kids' Day Chairman Sam Morrison.

Funds derived from the sale of the buttons will be used locally for the assistance of underprivileged children and enable them to obtain some of the benefits normally enjoyed by more fortunate boys and girls.

While the assistance to underprivileged children is the main objective of the fund drive two others also share in the spotlight. They are to focus attention upon the accomplishments of youth and to interest the general public to a greater degree in the problems of juvenile delinquency and help its victims to become useful citizens.

Others of the local club who are serving with Sam Morrison as general chairman are George Williams, Tom Boyer, Sam Alford, Bob Cramer, Bob Balser, Vernon Fiscus, Ed Planck and Herbert Deems.

The New Business Development Projects Planned For Hilltop

Announcement was made today by Alfred Tonti of the Tonti Interests at 2370 W. Broad-st of the acquisition by that firm of new properties on the Hilltop at Burgess-av and W. Broad-st and at 2404-6-8 W. Broad-st and the plans for a building program at the two locations that will amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

The offices of the Tonti Bros. rental business are to be moved within the next two week into the W. Broad-st location near Terrace-av and Broad-sts when formal occupation of the buildings at 2504-8 is made. By Oct. 1, Tonti said, two other firms will also occupy quarters in the same site. These firms will be the S. R. Weaver Furnace Company and the Culligan Soft Water Service, the latter firm will be under the management of Sam Morrison.

The real estate involved at the W. Broad-st site was purchased for the sum of $50,000 from the David Cohen interests through the local realty firm of O. H. Craft, 2661 W. Broad-st. At the present time remodeling is being done by the Tonti firm on the buildings formerly occupied by the Al Strachan Company. Tonti said that the open lot next to the site of the building would be the site of a new business building in the near future.

The purchase of the Broad-Burgess parcel of lands was made by Tonti this week through the H. J. Ryan Realty Company from the J. Real Neith Theaters firm for the sum of $40,000. The plans of the Tonti firm call for the erection of a modern apartment building fronting on Burgess-av with a connecting court.

On the W. Broad-st frontage the plans call for the erection of storerooms with apartments on the second floors of the new building. Tonti said the development had already obtained the approval of the Federal Housing Administration and that work on the $350,000 structures would be started within the very near future.

Parents Claim Police Unfair To Local Boys

A number of Hilltop parents were today voicing indignation and anger toward members of the Columbus Police Department as the result of the arrest of 11 Hilltop youths Saturday evening and early Sunday. The youths were charged with "obstructing a sidewalk" at Broad and Hague-av.

In Columbus Municipal Court on Monday, Judge Fred L. Donnally continued the case of one group of five youths until Sept. 19 and dismissed charges against the group of six when one Hilltop father and the mother of another accused youth vouched for the boys and accused police of using "Gestapo tactics."

According to the five youths arrested on Saturday evening they were taken into custody at 7:30 p. m. while they were waiting on the corner for their "dates", and taken to police headquarters and locked up until bond of $10 each could be furnished.

Another group of six, according to one Hilltop parent, had been attending a ball game and had stopped at the Broad-Hague corner for an ice cream before going home. They had, he said, then crossed the street to a restaurant where one of their friends was using a telephone and upon their return to the street had been arrested. The time was 12:45 a. m.

The local parent said, that although the youths had protested to the arresting officers that they had been on the corner not more than two minutes that officers refused to hear their story. All were taken to police headquarters and also held for bond of $10.

In court, the parent pointed out, one of the arresting officers had pointed a finger at one youth and stated to the court that they had had previous trouble with that particular youth only two days previous. The accused youth is said to have countered the officer's charge by the assertion that he had only arrived in Co-

Court Seeks Koontz Case Information

The Second District Court of Appeals last week asked for more data on the legal fight to oust Hilltopper Henry A. Koontz as city council president because he once held a state sales tax agency while in office.

The court said ". . . all of the facts should be developed either by testimony or by stipulation . . ."

The challenge of Koontz's right to remain in office was filed during the primary election campaign by Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett at the request of State Sen Evan P. Ford while the council president still operated the sales tax agency.

Bartlett contended Koontz had vacated his office by accepting a state position.

Baby Parade Planned For Mum Festival

All of the honors will not go entirely to the beauties who will compete for the crown of "Mum Queen" at the Hilltop Mum Festival scheduled for Oct. 11, 12, 13 and 14. The babies of the community, too, will have their inning in a baby parade which has been scheduled for Friday, Oct. 13.

Announcement was made this week by the committee in charge of arrangements for the baby show that there would be three divisions to be judged in the parade, with cash awards being made to the winners.

The three divisions in which entries may be made are: boy and girl babies from the age of six months to one year; boy and girl babies from one to three years of age and a division for twins within the age group of one to five years.

In the six months to one year group two prizes are to be awarded with a girl to be selected as "Miss Personality" and a boy as "Master Personality." The "Daintiest Girl" and the "Most Robust Boy" will be selected from the next age group of one to three years, and in the twin department the most identical twin boys and most identical twin girls will receive prizes.

The judges, parade route and the amount of the cash prizes to be awarded to the winners will be announced at a later date as well as prizes for the best decorated carriages and taylor-tots.

According to the baby parade committee comprised of Mrs. Lou Rausch, Hyde-rd; Mrs. Phil V. Stout, 616 Binns-blvd; Mrs. Edward Johnson, N. Hague-av, and Mrs. Evelyn Shroyer, 2553 W. Broad-st, all entries must be received by Saturday, Oct. 9, in order to be eligible for the prize awards.

On page 2 of today's Hilltop Record is the entry blank which is to be mailed or brought to The Hilltop Record office at 2465 W. Broad-st before the deadline date. Baby parade committeemen urged that all entries be made as soon as possible in order that further plans for the event may be worked out.

More Mum Festival Plans Revealed

More beauty entrants to vie for the title of "Mum Queen" were added to an already growing list of aspirants today and other plans were also unfolded by various chairmen as Hilltop Kiwanians and business men made known their desire to establish this area as the "Mum Capital of the United States".

With the huge festival only a mere four weeks away, Chairman C. H. Campbell revealed that preparations for the Hilltop's first annual venture into such an extravaganza have been well worked out and that promise is given for a show in Columbus that will have no equal.

In preparation for the huge flower spectacle five acres of mums have already been planted at Fisher-rd and N. Hague-av. Leo McComb, who heads the agricultural committee of the local Kiwanis Club, has the terrific job ahead of transplanting the many flowers along W. Broad-st and encouraging householders and merchants to do likewise in order to make the Hilltop a mass of color.

McComb said this week that the planting would not be confined only to the W. Broad-st area and that all other streets in the community would also be asked to contribute to the floral display by transplanting some of the many mums now under cultivation.

As to the plans for the huge festival, Chairman Campbell revealed that the opening parade on Oct. 11 will be an affair long remembered by the entire West Side with six or seven bands present, numerous floats and more than 30 of the West Side's beautiful girls competing for the Mum Queen title.

In the three days of festivity that will follow, numerous other types of competition have been arranged to heighten the interest in the affair. A baby parade, baton twirling contest, pet parade, cake baking contest, rope twirling competition and window trimming contest have all been arranged as added features of the

Twin Problem Greets West Broad Teachers

Shown in the above photo are the three sets of twins which this week enrolled in the kindergarten classes of West Broad Street Elementary School. Left to right are Pauline and Paul Naumoff, Jo Ann Montgomery, teacher; Linda and Loraine Proctor; Mrs. Marilyn Lanz, teacher, and Dorcas and David Daniels. All three sets of twins attend the morning session of kindergarten class at the West Broad Street School.

School days always bring unique problems to teachers on the opening days of the fall term and these problems have not passed two West Broad Street Elementary School teachers.

Their problem is a twin problem, or rather a problem of twins for into the kindergarten classes this week strolled three sets of twins in addition to 107 other children of kindergarten age.

Each of the sets of twins are five years of age and as the teachers, Jo Ann Montgomery, 181 W. Dominion-blvd, and Mrs. Marilyn Lanz, 3056 Sunset-dr, point out, the only saving feature for them is that two sets of the twins are a boy and girl combination while the remaining twins are girls. Helpful, too, say the two teachers, is the fact that twin girls are not identical, or their problems would really be increased.

The twins are Linda and Loraine Proctor, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Proctor, 830 N. Huron-av; Dorcas and David Daniels, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Daniels, 187 Demorest, and Paul and Pauline Naumoff, son and daughter combination of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Naumoff, 68 S. Roys-av.

The Daniels twins observed their fifth birthday on Monday while the birth dates of the other twins are July 3 for the Naumoff twins and June 20 for the Proctor girls.

Suffers Possible Knee Fracture In Accident

Shirley Burns, 15, the ward of Mr. and Mrs Raymond Claarr, 69 Clarendon-av, suffered a possible fracture of her right knee when struck by an auto at Midland-av and Broad-st.

Police said Frank Wilborn of Cincinnati was the driver of the car and he took the girl to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Kiwanians Stress Needs Of Hilltop

Needed improvements for the Hilltop were the subject of short talks by five Hilltop Kiwanians at their meeting last Thursday.

C. C. Hartley pointed to the need of a fine YMCA building for the community, stating that progress is being made in the direction of seeing this project become a realization. He reported on the purchase of the property at Broad and Harris as a future home site for the "Y" and stated that continued effort in adding funds to the "Y" building fund will make the project possible.

Joe Goodwin asked support of the community behind a program to get Route 40 relocated, preferably on McKinley-av, pointing out the advantages of getting the heavy truck traffic off the Hilltop, making more parking space available here and the consequent beautification and cleaning up of the area around McKinley-av.

Ed Melvin advocated elimination of the grade crossing at N. Eureka-av and also on N. Hague-av, better parking facilities, two foot patrolmen on the Hilltop, and improvements to Hilltop parks. The latter improvements are being made rapidly, he stated, due in large part to the cooperation of Arthur J. Bellar, assistant service director.

O. H. Craft stated the need of additional sewers for the Hilltop should have attention. He pointed out that, because of the lack of adequate sewers west of the city limits the Hilltop is bottled up as far as future home construction goes unless some action is taken to relieve the situation. He advocates a bond issue to make the construction program possible.

M. E. Sensenbrenner, fifth speaker, complimented the club on its part in building a better Hilltop and stated, "Any community can advance if it has a deep and abiding faith in God." He stressed the need of people having an improved sense of values, going out for everything that is good for the community, and promoting harmony in our everyday contacts.

Over 160 Hilltop Youth Receive Reading Awards

At the closing session of the Hilltop Branch Library Reading Club more than 165 children were awarded certificates for having read 12 or more books during the summer months, according to library officials at the local branch.

A circus party held at the library prior to the award of reading certificates saw an array of performers, costumed in proper circus and sideshow style, render a performance before what might be termed a "packed house" with more than 200 kiddies present.

Performers at the circus were Leopard Lady, Ann Elizabeth Langdon; Trapeze Dancer, Mary Carolyn McCleaf; Snake Charmer, Judy Henry; Trained Horse, Joyce Henry, Joy Titus and Jimmy Titus; Tight Rope Walkers, Suzanne Barber and Arlene Roederer; Mr. and Mrs. Bigger and Better Family, Nina Griffith, Alice Andes, Bobby Griffith, Patty Hartsook, Laura May Hartsock, Margaret Jenney and Joan Jenney; Bearded Lady, Linda Zack; Thin Man, John Rinestad, and Circus Clowns, Jerry Reichart and Sharon Reichart.

Following the awards and the circus Mrs. Albert Zack, Mrs. William Reams and Mrs. H. L. Pennell assisted the library staff in the serving of punch and other goodies to the throng of children on the library lawn.

Scouts Win Exhibit Prizes

Last year the St. Aloysius Cub Scout Pack No. 250 and the Boy Scout Troop No. 250 walked away from the Ohio State Fair with two blue ribbons and this year they decided to try again but because of the lack of space it was impossible. Rather than have the boys disappointed Scout officials suggested that they have their display on exhibit in their school annex. Bill Der Mott examined the exhibit and a ribbbon will be presented to the Cubs on the merits of their display at the next pack meeting.

Individual awards were made to the cubs by the committee and Father Maloney presented the first prize winners with a scout knife.

In the above picture, Lion Cub Barney Grogan, Bear Cub Donald Garretson and Wolf Cub, David Maytac proudly display blue ribbons while William Kenny, second class scout, shows his hobby of building structures with tooth picks. He has used so many tooth picks already that he has lost track of the number. Patrick Martindale paints as his hobby. He particularly likes to paint religious statues. Pat is a first class Scout. David Matyac is an excellent artist for his age. Besides his drawings he does a fine job of carving and creating puppets. He is a tenderfoot scout.

Other winners in the cubs were Barney Grogan, Lion, second, and third prize ribbons. In the Bear class, Al Vellani second, and Michael Reinhard third. In the Wolf division, Geoffrey Leister took second and David Skufza third.

A Two-Way Street

We cannot rehabilitate Europe, the East, or any other section of the world by simply pouring out dollars. True rehabilitation can be attained only by helping to place the needy nations on a sound and productive economic basis. That was the idea of General Marshall when, as Secretary of State, he made his famous speech at Harvard in which the basis of his plan was first laid down.

One of the major economic problems of the world is that our exports now far exceed our imports. Under these conditions, the gold and dollar credits of the nation flow inexorably toward our shores. And soon—as happened in England—the money just runs out, and new crises inevitably follow.

International trade is a two-way street. If we are to sell abroad, without impoverishing our customers, we must buy from abroad. Something resembling an even balance of trade must be reached. This is, as everyone knows, an exceedingly difficult problem. The adjustments will be many and hard. But, in the long pull, it is the only salvation for those nations which look to us for leadership and assistance—even as it is the only way to cement the military alliance of the Western world. A country which is economically hungry cannot be strong militarily.

The Marshall Plan, and the related policies, will succeed or fail as we succeed or fail in offering a market for the products and resources of other nations even as they offer a market for ours. We will not long be able to sell if we do not buy. And, from the selfish point of view, a breakdown in international trade would have the most serious adverse affect on our own employment and production, and our economy as a whole.

Mary: Is there anything worse than the antics of a newly married couple?

John: Yes, those of a newly divorced couple.

He reminds me of the professor who was so absent-minded that he cleaned his cat's teeth one night, and then kicked himself out the back door.

GOOD HEALTH!

Answer to Question No. 1:
1. Probably not, but the chances are that someone in your family may be. There were 16,659,973 patients admitted to hospitals in 1949, a peacetime record more than 6,000,000 above the figure for 1940. An important reason for the increase is the rapid spread of hospitalization insurance, now estimated to exceed 60,000,000.

Answer to Question No. 2:
2. No, it's just standard. And even with 20/20 vision you may need glasses for close work, such as reading or sewing. If you're having trouble with your vision, check with your doctor.

Answer to Question No. 3:
3. They can make a lot of noise but real weeping doesn't begin until the baby is three months old, at which time the tear glands are fully developed.

Ed: There's one thing to be said in favor of Sitting Bull.

Joe: What's that?

Ed: He never laid down on the job.

West Takes 27-0 Drubbing In Newark Practice Game

By Dave Miller

If any Hilltop fan saw or heard about the Ohio State-Minnesota game last fall, and then attended the West-Newark fray last Friday evening at Newark, they would readily see that neither team that came out on the losing side would have much to brag about.

OSU, you will remember was beaten, 27-0 and they seemingly did everything wrong throughout the fray, and for a whole week things were pretty quiet about winning the Big Ten championships and the like — but in spite of it, the Buckeyes went on to a tremendous record.

West did the same thing last Friday at Newark, losing a 27-0 decision to Newark's Wildcats — accomplishing about eight things right the whole game. The game was merely another scrimmage affair and means nothing towards season records or the like — so that everything can be readily changed in regards to the West gridders by tomorrow night when the Cowboys visit Marion Harding to open the 1950 West grid season.

Head Coach A. M. (Mack) Pemberton said after the game that another week's work would aid things for the Marion game considerably, but in the same breath he came back with "but we still will be far from ready."

In the recent Newark affair, West was simply never in the game. Offensively, here's the story, they compiled four first downs (the whole game) while Newark tallied 12. Defensively, West was miserable by missed blocks, hitting too high, falling over and blocking their own men. It was a mess. Inexperience tells a lot.

As one West player said in the dressing room following the game: "Grandview put the cockiness in us, and Newark really took it out. That Marion game is it, fellows."

Despite a rather poor showing both in the offense and in the defense, it was obvious, however, that every Cowboy on the field was giving his best trying to win. Everyone of them, none can be mentioned because the entire 33 that saw action, whether they played a half minute or four quarters, tried.

The Cowboys did shine offensively on a few occasions. A pass from quarterback Jerry Johnson to end George Crissinger in the flat was good enough for some 33 yards. Backfielders Charlie Hunter, Ronnie James, Carmine DeMatteo and Dick Briggs again pulled through with good runs. A little better blocking for this quartet and there would've been a marked difference in the game.

Last week in the Grandview tilt it was the backfield. Now against Newark it was the line. However, it's a known fact throughout the city league that West should have the best backfield in the league, but they're helpless without interference.

Another feature of the West offense was the punting of sophomore Jerry Trabue. Since West was not going anywhere offensively and certainly wasn't setting the world on fire in the defense department, Jerry was kept pretty busy punting. He punted nine times for a total yardage of 278 or an exact average of 31 yards per boot — very good for a high schooler.

Newark scored, early in the fray. About five minutes had elapsed when two end-around runs by halfback Jimmy Steele took the ball up to the West 19, where a surprised West line, supposedly expecting another end run, was wide open for fullback Mike Frango's off-tackle spurt right up through the middle 19 yards for the first six-pointer of the fray. Jim Cochlan's attempted conversion missed, and the first quarter ended at 6-0.

West advanced to the Newark 41 yard stripe on George Crissinger's catch of Johnson's pass and Ronnie James and Charlie Hunter in consecutive runs took the ball to the Newark 23, but a fumble on the next play stopped that threat, and in about the same breath set up Newark's long jaunt towards their second touchdown of the day. They marched those 77 yards in only nine plays, assisted by great blocking which made backfielders Jerry Steele, Tom Riley and Mike Frango shine in the downfield spurt. In this series of plays, Newark racked up four first downs and the West line was pushed around pretty easily, leaving wide "big enough to drive a truck through" as one West lineman said after the game.

The long jaunt by the Wildcats was finally climaxed with only 1:10 to go in the half as Jerry Steele again went right through the middle of the West line, and behind beautiful interference scored easily from 26 yards out. Cochlan converted this time to give Newark a halftime lead of 13-0.

Newark's final two touchdowns came as a result of some very poor officiating. The first of the touchdowns was scored just as the third period ended. George Vann tossed to Allen Stiether who was downed on the West three, and before officials could clear the play, the latter had "crawled" over the three yards under Dick Briggs' brilliant tackle. It counted, too. Cochlan quickly converted to make it 20-0. The final TD came in the midway portion of the final period when Mike Frango tallied after intercepting Chuck Leipensperger's pass, falling to the ground in catching it, and not hearing any whistle, he continued his jaunt of about 16 yards for the final TD of the day. Cochlan again converted to wrap up the scoring.

SHORT BITS . . . Mack Pemberton, coach of West, who would not give in to Newark coaches to play the game at night came to a mutual agreement with the coaches, however. . . . The game started at the oddest of all times — 5:30 p. m. . . . The lights of the stadium were turned on as the second half started for about two minutes, but found unnecessary, they were not used for the remainder of the game. . . . As everyone can guess, things were a mite quiet on the bus carrying the footballers home following the game. . . . The cry was simply — "Let's get Marion." . . . Away games, according to a lot of high school coaches do a lot of players good, because, they themselves can think out their own mistakes throughout the game and on the bus home, whereas at a home game, the players go out following the game and try to avoid (if they lost) talking or thinking over the game.

Newark	6	7	7	7	—27

Looking Ahead

It is not easy for anyone to make a fortune, and even if it were, as an inheritance it might prove disastrous. But an income is another matter. Paid regularly month after month without variation, it is a fortune which can never be dissipated, never lost in hazardous ventures.

These plain facts cannot be overlooked by the man who wants security for his family in the event of his death. He knows he must leave a minimum income for his wife until the children are self-supporting, there must be provision for rent, food, clothes and schooling, and there must be freedom from anxiety for the mother, especially when her care and influence are so necessary in the formative years of childhood.

Fortunately, all these benefits are possible through the Sun Life Family Income Plan, an economical scheme of protection that all may enjoy. This comprehensive Plan leaves no doubts in the mind, no fears as to loss of capital, no administration cares and no delays.

Let me show you how easily the Sun Life Family Income Plan can be adapted to meet your requirements. Just call or write:

SPORT SLANTS

By Dave Miller

What a difference a couple of months make. Around the first part of July the St. Louis Cardinal organization was highly criticized by Russ Needham, sports editor of the Dispatch.

Right about that time all sports writers and fans were currently giving the "business" to the Cardinals, and justly so because the Cardinals had just called up one of the top hitters in minor league ball at the time in Rocky Nelson.

Many writers at the time were "burned up" just as Needham was, but they set off their thoughts with different ideas, like they knew help would come shortly, because this wasn't the policy of the Cardinals. However, Needham didn't convert to such tactics. After cutting loose with an article on July 1 that he'll never live down, he daily would bicker the St. Louis Cardinal farm chain while other writers and fans were quietly awaiting help from the Cardinals.

The Cards sent down Solly Hemus, who was next to sensational, something that couldn't be said of Nelson. Sure, Nelson hit .410 in his six weeks' stay and was sparkling in the offensive department, but Hemus "had it all over him" in the field. Many fans to this day believe that Hemus did more to the club than Nelson ever could. Facts indicate it. Everyone knows Nelson was an individualist while with Columbus—he was playing for Nelson. Hemus has shown he is playing for the team, and is a definite sparkplug insofar as team play or team work goes.

It's not a crime to be an individualist, but it certainly seemed to aid Columbus when Hemus was sent down for Nelson rather than hurt them. Nelson is not the only ball player to fall into the aforementioned category. Joe Garagiola, while here with Columbus a couple of years ago, represented one. He couldn't be otherwise. After socking American Association pitching at a near .400 clip, he was sure of returning to the Cardinals the next season, so why the play his heart out with a minor league club. The same was true in Nelson's case. The same thing happened in the case of Monte Irvin, star outfielder with Jersey City a couple of months ago, who socked International League (Class AAA) burling at a .320 average and was recalled by the parent New York Giants. He currently is hitting .323 with the latter club.

In a recent edition of the Sporting News, the paper carried an article telling of the stories written by minor league sports scribes, highly criticizing the parent clubs for the "robbing" of their farm club stars. Some have plenty of reason to squabble, but others carry it too far.

Returning to the first part of our story, the month of July found the Dispatch carrying three or four paragraph stories of the Red Birds of each game, and Mr. Needham talking in his columns about everything except local baseball, which was beginning to become interesting.

And now, about 65 days later, finally seeing his mistakes, he has started inspiring the Birds with his comforting columns. Since the Birds have really come to life, especially as of last week in the drive, he has been writing a full page column daily, not only in the daily report of the game but also in his column. Just last week on the sports pages of the paper there was an article which read "Solly Hemus and Cotton Deal have been recalled by the Cardinals, but they'll not report until, well, maybe not after the Little World Series."

Who said, turnabout?

SHORT BITS: If ever a footballer deserves plenty of praise for "guts" that should go to Tackle Dave Skipper of the West Cowboys. "Skip", in a recent practice session, received a broken nose as a result of some rough scrimmage work. After being told by the doctor to "lay off" for at least a couple of weeks, Skipper couldn't do it, and finally showed up to practice two days later, and nothing was going to deter his playing football. He rigged up a nose guard and despite it all he's still playing first string offensive line. Once a guy gets "football fever" it is mighty hard to lose it . . . Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, recently stated that the gap between the major and minor baseball loops is widening after visiting several minor league games throughout August. However, many Columbus fans, including yours truly, believe that Cincinnati is far from looking like a major league club . . . West's football schedule was recently changed. They will play their Lima Central game at Lima instead of it being the homecoming tilt for West on Sept. 29. The homecoming now will be the Linden McKinley fray on Oct. 20. It will mark the first time in four years that West will have its homecoming game a league affair. . . . At previews and scrimmages throughout the city and district, instead of selling tickets, the fans are requested to pay whatever money they wish as they enter the stadium, to aid in the paying for insurance carried on the high school gridders throughout the season. A splendid idea . . . Cohagen Hardware defeated Green Cabs, 8-0, at Ohio State field last Saturday afternoon behind a no-hitter by Dave Bethol, former South High lefty, to win the championship of the Senior Knothole Division . . . Upper Arlington won the Junior crown while the local Camp Chase team was victor in the Intermediate League.

BOBBY HILL

On Sept. 17 the Ohio State Fairgounds will once again be the scene of the "Legion-Arrow" motorcycle races with the "Ohio State Championship" an added feature.

The "Legion-Arrow" is one of the largest and most colorful motorcycle races in the Midwest and draws the best of the American Motorcycle Association's big name racers from all over the United States and Canada for the nine race program while the Ohio State Championship is an added 10th race, open to Ohio motorcycle racers only.

Bobby Hill (pictured above), 28-year-old Columbus Marine veteran, amazed 10,000 excited fans last year when he took both of the feature races in record time on his speedy Indian motorcycle.

This year will see such outstanding racers as Dick Klamfoth of Groveport, on his English-made Norton, Wild Bill Waltermire of Zanesville, Don Fry of Dayton and Paul Myers of Cleveland, all three Harley-Davidson mounted, and Earl Givens of Akron, on an Indian, compete with Hill for the coveted Ohio state champion title.

Time trials for the Sept. 17 races start at 10 a. m. and the first race starts at 2:30 p. m.

Cowboys Open

activity at the Harding School in a blaze of glory. Kendell will, no doubt, do all the kickoff and extra point duties for Marion as he held this position last season in addition to slinging a lot of passes. The right half for the Red and Black will probably be Jim Russell, a negro flash who also is outstanding in basketball and still has another year of high school participation after the '50 season coming up.

The Cowboy offensive line, barring injuries in the final two West drills this week is pretty well set, with the defensive set-up still a big question mark. One change among the numerous advances made to improve the defensive wall was the switch of Phoney "Chappie" Chapman from second string fullback duties to a guard spot, in which he has done outstanding work.

The West Backfield will probably have Chuck Liebensperger at quarterback; Ronnie James at left-half; Carmine DeMatteo at full; and Dick Briggs or Charlie Hunter at right half.

With Leibensperger at the signal-calling post there is expected to be plenty of passing done by the Cowboys. However the whole set-up may be changed in the last couple of minutes because of the depth of the Cowboy running attack, which with the aid of some good offensive line-blocking can change things considerably in regards to West's hopes of a win.

West, as far as returning lettermen go, will start two more than their opponents. The Cowboys will have six: Linemen Dick McDermitt, Bill Orcutt, and George Crissinger, and Backfielders Ronnie James, Charlie Hunter, and Carmine DeMatteo, while the host eleven will field Lineman Dan Geran and Tom McLain and Backfielders Ludwig and Kendell.

D. Lewis	185	LE	Crissinger	190
D. Geran	210	LT	M'Dermitt	182
D. Hendel	155	LG	S. Ringer	171
Jack Bull	168	C	E. Gleibs	165
Jim Laren	189	RG	B. Orcutt	176
Snouffer	195	RT	D. Skipper	181
T. McLain	187	RE	J. Trabue	170
D. Ulrich	158	QB	Li'b's'p'g'r	148
J. Kendell	189	LH	R. James	155
J. Russell	165	RH	D. Briggs	168
			C. Hunter	170

With "The Duffer"

Two matches this past weekend at Beacon Light Golf Course brought the Seiller Handicap to its final stage of competition.

Barney McLain took Baker Saunders out of the running with an 80. Saunders had to give up eight strokes to McLain, and it proved to be a few too many.

Last Sunday Don Weisenberger and Barney McLain played their semi-final contest. Weisenberger scored five birdies in 18 holes of fine play to win two up and one to go. Don had his best all-time score, a 73, only one over par.

Sunday, Sept. 17, weather permitting, Don Weisenberger and Joe Case will go to the post for the final match and the big cup. It figures to be a good match as both boys are consistently in the 70's. Starting time is 11 a. m. and the public is invited.

The average man is proof enough that a woman can take a joke.

Boy: Why is that kangaroo crying?

Keeper: Her little son ran away and left her holding the bag.

Judge: Do you realize that you are facing the electric chair?

Convict: I don't mind facing it—it's sitting in it that I don't like.

Reception To Honor New Pastor At Hilltop Lutheran

A formal reception for Rev. and Mrs. John Hydinger will be held from 8 to 10 p. m. Friday in Hilltop Lutheran Church. Rev. Hydinger took over the duties of pastor of the church two weeks ago.

Officials of the Synod of Ohio of the United Lutheran Church and pastors of other Hilltop churches will extend greetings from the synod and their churches. Rev. Hydinger came to Columbus from Dravosburg, Pa.

Wives of church councilmen are making arrangements for the reception. Mrs. Earl Cline is general chairman.

Hilltopper Is Named Parade Chief

Announcement was made this week of the appointment of Clarence E. Mahoney, 195 S. Algonquin-av, as chief of staff for the Knights Templar parade to be held in Columbus Oct. 9 in connection with the grand conclave of the Grand Commandery of Ohio, Knights Templar. Mr. Mahoney is past commander of Columbus Commandery.

It is expected that several thousand sir knights will be in line and that the conclave will bring upwards of 10,000 persons to Columbus.

Grand commander of the grand commandery is Robert Walter Taylor of Inchcliffe-av. He will preside at the sessions of the grand commandery and will view the parade from a stand on the west side of the state house.

Voters Must Register By Sept. 27

Franklin County Board of Election officials this week called attention to the necessity of registration of all eligible voters in this community before the Sept. 27 deadline if they expect to vote in the general election this fall.

Board of Election officials today, said that until the Sept. 27 deadline voters could register at the Board of Elections offices at 214½ S. High-st, but that on the Sept 27 deadline date all voters who have not registered must complete their registration at the precinct where they regularly cast their ballot.

For the convenience of eligible voters who wish to register before the Sept 27 deadline, election board officers said that their offices are remaining open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 4:30 until 9 p. m. each week. They also pointed out that during the week they will be open from 8 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. with exception of Saturday when the office will close at noon.

The importance of this year's election was stressed by the county officials and the fact that it is a duty of every citizen to vote if he is eligible was particularly emphasized.

On the question of eligibility to vote, Board of Elections officers said that you must re-register:

If you have not voted at least once since Jan. 1, 1948.

If you have changed your name by marriage or otherwise, since previous registration.

If you have moved from one precinct to another within the county since previous registration.

In order to register, you must: be a citizen of the United States, either natural or naturalized; be 21 years of age before Election Day, Nov. 7; be a resident of Ohio for one year and a resident of the county and your present precinct for 40 days prior to the Election.

You may vote an absent voters' ballot if you are to be unavoidably absent on Election Day outside the county and more than 10 miles from your precinct, or if you are disabled. Applications for Absent Voters' Ballots may be made in person or by mail to the Election Board between Oct. 8 and Nov. 2. Sick or disabled voters may apply for Absent Voters' Ballots on or before Oct. 23.

luumbus Saturday afternoon to visit with friends and that he had come to the city from Ironton.

Police on the other hand contend that several complaints are received nightly about boys congregating at the Broad-Hague corner and said that it is one of the worst spots in the city for young groups disturbing the peace at all hours of the night.

Questioned as to the age of the youths being a factor in their being on the streets at late hours one parent replied, "Most all of these boys are old enough that they will soon be called into service. If they're old enough for the service I see no reason why they should not also be old enough to be on the street."

Window Trimming Contest Rules Are Announced

The introduction of a window trimming contest into the Hilltop Mum Festival plans was revealed this week by chairmen of that division. Ed Witherspoon of Better Home Center and Lou Rausch of Rausch Hardware, who said that mums must be used in all window decorations entered. They pointed out that a limited supply is available free to those merchants who register early.

Forget-Me-Not Sales Scheduled For Saturday

"Wear a Forget-me-not" will be the slogan of the volunteer sales girls and sales women on the streets Saturday, Sept. 23, urging all citizens to wear the little blue flower. The Forget-Me-Not Drive is being sponsored by the local chapters of the Disabled American Veterans to raise funds with which to furnish needed rehabilitation service and emergency relief to war veterans who were disabled as a direct result of their service.

Mrs. James A. Rhodes, honorary chairman, states that "Columbus has always been generous in such campaigns. This cause is a most deserving one, and when the proceeds are counted it is expected that past years' contributions will have been topped. That is the way it has been in other years and there is no reason to believe that this year will be an exception."

Hilltop Lutheran To Again Sponsor Child Program

The Hilltop Lutheran Church School will again sponsor a Childrep of the Church program this year, which will begin Saturday, Sept. 23, from 2 to 4 o'clock, and continue every other Saturday until May, at which time perfect attendance awards will be given.

It will be open to all Hilltop children of pre-school and elementary school age.

The program includes Bible study, handwork and occasional treats of movies and refreshments. The free-will offerings will be given to support various mission boards.

West High Principal Outlines Forthcoming School Agenda

By Myron T. Seifert

Following the general meeting of Columbus teachers at North High School, Tuesday, Sept. 5, Hilltop teachers of West High School, in particular, held a joint session of both the junior and senior high departments, under the guidance of its principal, Irvin F. Young, who is now in his fifth year at the helm of West High School.

Several preliminary matters on the school's docket were emphasized by the West High principal. Notable among his comments was his emphasis on the teaching of good citizenship and Americanism.

Assemblies in the offing, Mr. Young said, included an achievement assembly. Citing Blair Spence, the West High student, who merited a trip abroad this past summer, as an example of student initiative, Mr. Young announced that the youthful globe-trotter would be given an opportunity to share his experiences with his fellow-students at an early school assembly. Johnny Jones, who accompanied the boys on their trek, will be honored guest speaker at West High School, Oct. 3.

United Nation Day, Oct. 24, will receive attention in social study classes, Mr. Young stated. American Education Week will be observed at the Hilltop school Nov. 11, at which time parents are invited particularly to see their school in action.

The blood donor program, in which teachers are invited to have a part, was suggested by the principal.

Announcement that two trees are to be presented to West High School through the courtesy of the Columbus Real Estate Board met with the unanimous approval of the assembled pedagogues. Presentation will be made at a later date.

Introduction of new teachers in the school was made by Mr. Young. They include Mrs. Katich, formerly of the College of Wooster, who will direct the girls' physical education activities; Mrs. Hale, erstwhile Harrisburg teacher, who will have English courses; Mrs. Heeter, who taught at South High School and will have work in typing; and Mrs. Irvin Cammarn, who will teach Latin temporarily for Miss Jones, who is ill.

School Enrollments Remain Normal

Schools on the Hilltop in the opening week of school reported no appreciable gains in enrollment over last year with the exception of the kindergarten grades which did show increases due to lowered age limits.

Snake Tossing Antics Halted For Local Boys

Two unidentified Hilltop boys this past week solemnly promised that they would never again chase girls with a snake or toss snakes onto unsuspecting housewives when they answered the door bell.

The two youths ideas of fun ended abruptly this past week when Mrs. Earnest Farris of 987 Midland-av complained of the boys' prank to Sheriff's Deputy William C. Blakeman. Blakeman said that both boys with faces covered with handkerchiefs, tossed a dead snake, colored black, into Mrs. Farris home when she answered the doorbell.

Blakeman said the boys apologized for their action toward Mrs Farris and buried the dead snake in the back yard of one of the boys homes. They also admitted to the deputy that they "had fun chasing girls with the snake."

Jimmy Rawlins Dance Studio Now Open

Jimmy Rawlins, the dance maestro, who is opening classes for children here on the Hilltop has an enviable reputation in his profession.

Sought as a teacher and adviser to other teachers, Mr. Rawlins' most recent appearance among his colleagues was the Dance Master of Ohio convention in Columbus. There he expressed his views on modern child training in dancing and also taught ballroom dancing and the rumba.

Among well-known performers benefitting from the Rawlins teaching are Evelyn Farney, recently seen in the series of Milton Berle TV shows, and Judy Manners, recent guest of the Al Morgan TV show.

In Passing

by Esther Weakley

"I had no shoes and I murmured, till I met a man who had no feet." This quotation has always made me ashamed of griping, even before I met a girl who has no feet. Regret to say the quotation hasn't stopped my complaining altogether, but I am ashamed! Have never heard this girl "murmur" except to sympathize with a physically-handicapped friend who wasn't half as handicapped as she. She wants no pity and no publicity. She drives a specially-built car 65 miles each day, on a rural newspaper orute, and is the best tonic I know about. Am very grateful to her—and very humble when I think of her.

Another girl who has taught me many lessons in "patience and fortitude" is a local girl. She has been bed-fast for the past three and one-half years; is unable to sit up. She is a beautiful girl, a college graduate with one year of medical school, and had planned a full life. At times nearly sightless, she has written many encouraging letters to disabled veterans and children's hospitals. She has adopted two French war orphans and is always broke because she spends her allowance for flowers, books and other things to help pass the hours for others who are ill or in trouble. She knows how dreary the hours can be, and how lonely. So you gripers, please be ashamed! This is muddled, for I feel too deeply about thees girls to be very coherent when I attempt to write about them.

Wonder why Virginia Eaton, 418 S. Roys-av, doesn't write poetry now. She is one of the truly good poets and the Hilltop may well be proud of her.

For down-to-earth, natural humor, Sally Flowers on WLW-C is the gal for my money. She is, as she would say, "good for what ails you," and she's a pretty thing, too. All this, and she does a lot of good for shutins and other unfortunate folks.

This column has a reader! Mrs. Lewis Bill of 526 Richardson-av called and suggested that the many friends of Alice Burton, mentioned here last week, send this well-known and well-loved lady some get-well cards. The address is Mrs. Frank Bard, 588 Townsend-av, Columbus 4, O. Alice fell and broke her hip some time ago, and she, as well as her family, would be grateful for cards. My thanks to Mrs. Bill for her interest.

Another anniversary celebrated a few weeks ago was that of Irwin (Early Worm) Johnson's 12 years on WBNS. Ask some kids who the governor of the state is, and they look blank, but ask them who the Early Worm is, and they can tell you. (Truth—I recently tried it on an eight-year-old.) At first, I HAD to listen to the Early Worm program, inasmuch as I wasn't deaf, for my kid turned him on every morning and forgot to turn him off before he left for school. Then, I listened because I wanted to, all these years. Irwin Johnson is one of the finest on radio and television, or off, and I wish him many more years of deserved popularity.

Another radio program that does a lot of good for shutins is "Sweet and Swing" heard on WHKC. Bert Stille, of the Hilltop, and Budd Sweeney are the two who do it. They just love to do commercials, especially the one about "flatties."

This outburst seems to be all about radio and television personalities, but too much cannot be said for them. They work hard and it is mostly a thankless job. Brickbats are more frequently thrown their way than bouquets, and that shouldn't happen to them.

I'd like to thank the four ladies and one gentleman who called to tell me about Alice Burton, now Mrs. Frank Bard, 588 Townsend-av. When the item about her was written I did not know that she is very ill. Last week Mrs. Bill called and told me; this week the five above-mentioned called. One of the ladies who called is a niece of Mrs. Bard's, Mrs. Jesse Walters, of Richardson-av. It is most gratifying to know this column has at least that many readers, and I am deeply appreciative; am sure that Alice is too.

Martha Stoner Now Mrs. Beidel

In a double-ring ceremony, June 24, 3:30 p. m., Miss Martha Jane Stoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denman R. Stoner, 905 E. Broad--st, became the bride of Mr. Harold L. Beidel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Beidel, 2704 Dibblee-av

The ceremony took place in Summit Station Methodist Church with Rev. Samuel E. Bruner officiating before a candlelit altar decorated with urns of gladioli and delphinium.

Miss Lois Bruner, pianist, and Mr. Richard Bruner, soloist, furnished music at the services.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of traditional satin, fashioned with a redingote edged with Chantilly lace that extended into a cathedral train. The slimly fitted bodice had a deep off the shoulder yoke of marquisette accented with a ruffle of the Chantilly lace. A tiara of orange blossoms topped a gossamer veil of two tiers of imported illusion edged with the matching lace. Tucked into her sleeve was a lace handkerchief, which had been carried by her aunt. The pearls she wore were a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of carnations, centered with a white rose corsage amid satin streamers, and love knots.

Mrs. Ralph Byerly, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. Miss Norma Jean Shannon and Miss Jane Geer were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore gowns alike in marquisette over taffeta. The bouffant skirts fell from a snugly fitted bodice and three deep folds of the marquisette fashioned an off the shoulder neckline. Matching mitts and halo bonnets of shirred matching net completed their ensembles. The attendant of honor wore peach and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids chose a hyacinth blue shade and carried bouquets of peach carnations.

Mr. Herbert Beidel was best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Kenneth Evans and Mr. William Beidel.

Mrs. Stoner chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of aqua lace and crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Beidel wore blue lace with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held at Ilonka's Provincial House with Miss Mable Wolcott, Miss Donna Carsey and Mrs. Frank De Franco as hostesses.

For their wedding trip to Wisconsin the bride wore a dress of blue nylon with white accessories.

Mr. Beidel is a graduate of West High School and is an underwriter of the State Auto Mutual Insurance Co. The couple are making their home at 9023 E. Broad-st.

Kinman, 232 N. Ogden-av, became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Strickler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Strickler, Sr., 70 N. Westgate-av, Sept. 9 at 2:30 p. m.

A cap of matching lace trimmed in pearls and orange blossoms held the veil of imported silk illusion. She wore matching pink linen slippers and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white gladioli.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John A. Beldoer, wore a ballerina length gown of pink taffeta with a low rounded neckline, and full skirt with a bustle effect. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls which were a gift of the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white flowers.

Mr. Charles Strickler, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushers were Mr. Robert E. Fleming and Mrs. Richard L. Sutton.

The bride's mother chose a teal blue dress with garnet accessories and a corsage of deep red roses with a touch of baby pink mums for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Strickler wore a beige dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses with yellow mums.

A reception for all the wedding guests was held at Mrs. Root's Party House immediately following the ceremony.. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert E. Fleming, Mrs. John M. Grogan, Miss Marilu Mallory and Miss Nancy Strickler.

Scioto River Scene Of Club Potluck

On Saturday, Sept. 9, the Bonae Amicae Club met for a pot luck dinner on the Scioto River. There were seventeen present at this gathering, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Engle and grandson, Michael Engle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trout, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cox and sons, Thomas and Robert, and guest, Mrs. Ella Gillen, Mrs. Fred Hoskins, Mrs. T. Earl Froggatt and Mrs. Clyde Fisher.

In 1934 this group of ladies, participating in the PTA organization of Highland Avenue School, banded together and formed the Highland Avenue Mothers' Club.

After a few years, quite naturally, these mothers began to find they no longer had children in this school and, being a very compatible group and desirous of maintaining their friendship and sociability, organized themselves into a group which has been since known as "Bonae Amicae" or "Good Friends."

Through the years this group has gathered at the homes of the various members, having potluck luncheons, parties and picnics. Two members of the group have cottages at Buckeye Lake and once each year it has been the policy of the group to spend one day together there, taking along their families.

Mrs. W. S. Harrison has been the president of this group with Mrs. S. W. Cox acting as secretary-treasurer.

By One of Them

Within the last year, we picked up a little here and there from the wives of the Hi-Ridge Section about husbands—in general—MEN.

Is a man a man or a mouse? A worm? A snake in the grass? Or just what? We'll use only the first names of our ladies, and since there are two and three women in our neighborhoods of the same name, they can all blame it on the other woman. Next time, watch what you say, girls!

MIRIAM: "MEN are what women marry." (Sounds like Dagmar, doesn't she?)

MARY: "MEN have two hands, two feet and sometimes two wives, but NEVER more than one dollar or one idea."

HELEN: "MEN, like Turkish cigarettes, are all made of the same material; the only difference is some are better disguised than others."

CHARLOTTE: "Men, generally speaking, may be divided into three classes: husbands, bachelors, and widowers. A BACHELOR is a negligible mass of obstinacy entirely surrounded by suspicion. A WIDOWER is a lucky husband. HUSBANDS are three types, prizes, surprises, and consolation prizes.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the three highest forms of plastic surgery known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope and charity—mostly charity."

DOROTHY: "It is a psychological marvel that a small tender soft violet scented thing should enjoy kissing a big awkward stubby-chinned tobacco and beer smelling thing like a MAN."

THELMA: "If you flatter a man you frighten him to death. If you don't you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you he gets tired of you in the beginning."

JEAN: "If you wear "gay colors, rouge and a startling hat," he hesitates to take you out, and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge and a startling hat."

ELINOR: "If you join in the gaieties and approve his drinking, he says you are leading him down the wrong road. If you don't approve, he says you're not a sport."

VIRGINIA: If you are the clinging vine type, a MAN doubts whether you have a brain. If you are a modern advanced intelligent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate. If you are brilliant and intellectual, he longs for a playmate."

KATIE: "MAN is just a worm in the dust. He comes along, wiggles around for a while, and finally some chicken gets him."

I couldn't print what my wife thinks of me. If she knew I wrote this she'd have pages and pages more to add on to this.

Listen, prospective brides! Don't let this alter your plans. After all, these ladies really love their husbands. So go right ahead.

Taking in several points of interest in San Antonio, Tex., they traveled on to Laredo, then into Monterrey, Mex., where they spent a day of shopping and sight-seeing.

Leaving Monterrey, they traveled to Corpus Christi, Tex., spending several days with Mrs. Bennett's cousin and family, enjoying swimming in the gulf, touring the large T-heads of the bay, Padre Island, the large sand dunes and many historic spots in and around this city.

They returned to Columbus by way of Texarkana, and on through the Smoky Mountains and spent a day at Lookout Mountain, Rock City and Ruby Falls.

Temperatures on the trip varied from 44 degrees in St. Louis to 110 degrees in New Mexico, Texas and Mexico.

It impressed the Bennetts that while touring 18 states and one foreign country only a very few accidents were seen and all were of a minor nature.

LITTLE Pitchers HAVE big ears

We'll have to be awfully quiet. For you see, Nancy is having a garden party, and all her best friends are here.

Of course, the guests have to do a little "pretending." The lemonade is supposed to be tea, and served in good china instead of paper cups. The shoes don't fit very well, but if you just take tiny steps, they'll stay on. You won't trip on the dresses if you hold them up real high.

Sometime this afternoon, the tiny guests will have eaten all the cookies (they're allowed two each) and finished off the lemonade. The party will be over.

But you can be sure that all the guests will tell Nancy that they've had a grand time—that it was just like a grown-up party, to be sure.

Sometimes it takes something like a garden party for you to realize, all over again, that "little pitchers have big ears." And once again, you realize that for children to grow up into right-thinking, right-doing citizens, you have to be one yourself.

True, rules of good conduct are taught in the Sunday School. But your children are there only one morning each week. They are with you, and watching you, at most other times. It is your conduct they will follow.

By attending church regularly yourself, you will develop a way of life that will serve as a safe and inspiring standard for your children to follow.

For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hane, 204 Rome-Hilliard-rd, have returned from a grand trip through Kentucky and Tennessee, where they visited the North Dam near Knoxville and Lake City. Going on into the smoky mountain area they visited the Cherokee Indian reservation at the foot of the mountains. They also drove to Ashville, N. C., and enjoyed seeing the Blue Ridge Parkway and drove on into Virginia, and were delighted with their trip on the Skyline Drive and on into the Shenandoah Valley. On their return home they passed through Cumberland, Md., Uniontown, Penn., and Wheeling, W. Va. This grand trip was in honor of their 11th wedding anniversary, which will be Oct. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foresman, 29 Pasadena-av, entertained Violet Saltzgaber on Sunday. Miss Saltzgaber is a sister of Mrs. Foresman.

Mr. E. J. Baker, Franklin County Game Warden, gave a fine program to the entire student body at the Rome School on Monday, Sept. 11. The Conservation film he projected was titled, "In Ohio Waters" and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Attention all members of the Rome PTA. There will be a paper drive sponsored by the new Finance Chairman, Russell E. Harrison, and it is hoped that everyone will save their newspapers and magazines, which will be called for on Wednesday, Sept. 27. It is hoped that through this medium the funds can be increased in the PTA Treasury. Everyone's cooperation is requested!

The Jolly Twelve spent a delightful Wednesday "downtown" and enjoyed a delicious luncheon at Mills "19" restaurant and were interested in the new fall modes presented by the beautiful models in the "Cavalcade of Fashion."

Sept. 9, 1950

In a very short time the city will be taking part in the observance of Columbus Day. If past celebrations are any criterion, it will be a mere token observance.

That recalls to mind a front page editorial published by the Columbus Register last year, an editorial which your paper copied, thereby showing that at least one community newspaper was alert to civic responsibility.

As the editorial noted, indifference to such commemorations as Columbus Day indicates a disheartening lack of pride and appreciation for those who, by their sacrifices, made possible our present stage of civilization.

Recent events in Korea make it more important than ever that we Americans come to a greater realization and appreciation of our traditions. The fitting celebration of such anniversaries as Columbus Day is a sign of a virile, alert and patriotic citizenry. In times such as these, we should do all in our power to encourage patriotism.

It is still not too late to do something about it this year. Community newspapers such as yours can arouse the people and civic leaders. Your action last year demonstrated that you were more aware of the ramifications of such events than any of our daily papers.

Sincerely,
Timothy A. Murnane, Jr.

Pros and Cons On A Local Incident

The incident of last week in which several local boys were taken to police headquarters after being picked up in front of a local restaurant seemed to have had many pros and cons.

There were those who charged the police with "gestapo" methods in their dealings with the young men and then there were those who took advantage of the opportunity to voice their opinions about "sidewalk conventions".

From this corner it appears there may be something to say for both sides.

This past week we have received some letters from readers commending the policemen. Last week we had phone calls from individuals condemning them for their action.

One lady writes that "the actions of some of these drugstore cowboys has been a disgrace for quite some time, especially on Saturday nights and Sundays. I am able to give a very good example of the rudeness and disrespect that most of these teen agers have for their elders. A friend and I were walking down the street in front of West High School one afternoon just as school was out. Most of them walked in groups of four and five, completely obstructing the sidewalk. At first we stepped off the grass to pass but finally I decided we shouldn't be the ones to do so—so we stayed on the sidewalk. It made no difference to them. They kept on coming and actually ran right into us! Not just one group but nearly all of them. It was hard to believe!"

Another writer observes that if some of the parents who object to the incident lived close to Hague and Broad they would thank the police instead of kicking them. Disrespectful talk and obscene language mixed in their idleness are frowned upon by this individual.

It is to be regretted if the police did use rough methods in handling these boys. We hardly feel any of them are really deserving of "rough treatment". We believe we can breed respect for the law with the use of respect by the law.

But the whole incident again serves to show the need of a well managed program of recreation for young people in the community in a well equipped facility.

The often repeated remark that young men and women of the community have "no place to go to meet and mingle with their friends" has been one of the motivating factors behind a number of local people who are interested in seeing the Hilltop YMCA grow and advance to the place where we can have a fine community center with capable supervised recreational facilities available to all the people of the Hilltop.

Perhaps the whole incident serves to show that youngsters could be a little more respectful and courtecus, that they should have more wisely planned schedules for their spare time, that the police can gain their confidence by setting an example of gentlemanliness, and that the community needs to wake up to the need of such a worthwhile project as the Hilltop YMCA.

Death Claims Judge Turner; Ends Lengthy Public Career

Funeral services were held Saturday from the Schoedinger Funeral Home for Judge Edward C. Turner, 78, of the Ohio Supreme Court who died Wednesday, Sept. 13, at Grant Hospital. The jurist, whose home was at 4309 W. Broad-st, was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage Aug. 9, while vacationing in Honolulu. He was returned to Columbus by plane earlier this month.

At his side when he died were his wife, Mrs. Nan Jahn Turner and his son, Carl R. Turner, 3039 Crescent-dr, a Columbus attorney. Also surviving the prominent jurist are two brothers, William A. and Harry C. Turner and a sister Miss Emma Turner.

Dr. Frank H. Throop, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church officiated at the services and burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery. Active pallbearers were: Glenn Bowen, Albert M. Calland, Hanby R. Jones, Clarence Wilcox and Dr. Clarence Tanner.

Honorary pallbearers were: Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, Judge Kingsley A. Taft, Judge James Garfield Stewart, Judge Edward S. Matthias, Judge Charles B. Zimmerman, and Judge William M. Hart, all of the Ohio Supreme Court, Edgar T. Wolfe, Sr., Arthur C. Johnson, Judge Charles S. Bell, Henry N. Rose, Hugh E. Nesbitt, J. J. Stevenson, James N. Linton, Ralph Haverfield, Dr. George W. Rightmire, Henry G. Binns, Dr. John E. Brown, Sr., Bert Miller, James Butler, Frederick W. Schumaker and Ralph D. Henderson.

Judge Turner was born in Columbus Mar. 26, 1872, the son of Robert M. and Jane Crawford Turner. He lived his entire life in Columbus, receiving his law degree at Ohio State University in 1903. He worked his way through both public school and the university.

After receiving his law degree, he immediately entered private practice. Throughout his subsequent career in private practice and public life, he gained a widespread reputation for his prodigious capacity for work.

In 1910, he was elected Franklin County prosecutor. Within three months after he took office in January, 1911, he was engaged in one of the widest scale prosecutions in the history of the state.

It had been revealed there was considerable bribery in the General Assembly and he and the late Attorney General Timothy Hogan prosecuted the state's Five legislators were indicted and four were convicted and sent to prison.

During his second term, Turner prosecuted several Democrats who had collected "contributions" from civil service employees in violation of the law.

His reputation spread so widely over the state that in 1914 Turner was elected attorney general to succeed the popular Hogan, but in 1916 he went down to defeat in the Democratic sweep behind Woodrow Wilson.

He returned to private practice for the next 10 years.

In 1926, he was again elected attorney general in a bitter campaign in which he was opposed by the Anti-saloon League and public utilities lobbies.

In 1928, Turner tried for the Republican nomination for governor, but lost in a three-cornered race.

Governor John W. Bricker appointed Turner to a seat on the Ohio Supreme Court Oct. 2, 1940, to fill an unexpired term caused by death and he was subsequently re-elected to the post in 1949.

Judge Turner was a 33rd degree Mason, a member of the Columbus Club, and the Columbus Lodge of Elks.

Case Wins Handicap Trophy

In final match play at Beacon Light Golf Course Sunday afternoon Joe Case and Don Weisenberger, finalists in the annual Seiller Handicap Tournament, battled it out for the coveted golfing trophy with Case emerging as victor on the 17th with two up and one to go. Both contestants turned in a good consistent game in the 70 bracket, with no good or bad breaks affecting the contest for either one.

Joe Case as winner of the tourney wins a permanent trophy as well as a one year possession of the big Seiller cup. Weisenberger for his efforts received the runner-up trophy and a chance to take over the big cup in next year's play.

Case jumped out in front on the first hole, only to lose the next two. It remained a close contest all the way with neither player holding more than a two up advantage at any time during the contest. Going into the 15th the match was even-up and then Case garnered both 15 and 16 and ended the contest by tieing on 17 to win two up and one to go.

With the end of the Seiller Handicap the club announced that a new match play was underway for those players who prefer a straight man-to-man play with no give or take, in the form of the club championship tourney.

There are three flights to this tourney, championship, first and second flights. The tourney is now in its quarter final stages with approximately 24 contest-

Myron T. Seifert, 46 S. Westgate-av, Record staff member, is busy setting up a system locating Hilltoppers in the services, and asks the cooperation of all who have knowledge of boys and girls in this important work.

Won't you address a postcard to Mr. Seifert giving name of boy in service, age, former Columbus address, parents (or nearest kin) present address, branch of service, commission, and a note about the service man.

This information would prove of value in many ways.

Won't you oblige by getting that card on to Mr. Seifert immediately?

West Faces Tough Arlington In First Home Game of Season

Courage will be the keynote for West High's Cowboys tomorrow night as they open their 1950 home season hosting to Upper Arlington's classy Golden Bears at Magly Field at 8 o'clock.

The Cowboys, again are termed the underdogs, and they themselves know it, but they also know that if courage, determination and hustle can be put together tomorrow night—Arlington will be in for plenty of trouble.

The locals don't underestimate Arlington's Doyt Perry team. They know that the Bears have one of the best backfields in Greater Columbus and their tremendously big line, headed by Walter Hamilton, won't be easy to shove around.

Whether West knows it or not, they are in for a game, whether they trail by fifty or lead by a hundred. But the Cowboys are hoping to have their spirits up as high as they had them last Friday against Marion Harding.

So far in practice sessions this Monday and Tuesday, the spirit seemed just as fine if not a bit better than prevailed in the practices previous to the Marion

Gail Grubb

Jean Brown

Norma Sahr

Peggy Morris

Marilyn Gauggel

Latest entries to be registered in the competition for the coveted title of "Mum Queen" for the forthcoming festival which is slated for Oct. 11, 12, 13 and 14, evidence the keen desire of west side lovelies to capture the title and the $100 U. S. bond which accompanies it.

Entrant for the Hilltop Swimming Pool at N. Hague-av, was announced this week by Manager Bob Case as pert and blonde Gail Grubb, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grubb of 311 Cypress-av. Gail, a brown-eyed girl of only 5 feet 5½ inches, tips the scales at 125 and is currently an 11-A student at Central High School.

Kitty Cline, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cline, 33 Powhatan-av, is the entry of the Wilke Meat Co., represented on the Hilltop by Bunny Galloway. This local beauty weighs but a mere 98, measures 5 feet 3 inches in height and is becoming with grey eyes offset by brown hair.

The entry of the first married woman into the contest was also announced this week by the Broadview Linoleum and Tile Company, 2516 W. Broad-st, in filing the name of Norma Spradling Sahr as their banner bearer. Mrs. Sahr, 16, resides at 226 S. Richardson-av. She is brown-haired with blue eyes, weighs 117 and measures 5 feet 3 inches in height.

Peggy Morris, 17, of 41 N. Roys-av, became the seventh entry of this week representing the First Federal Building & Loan of 2369 W. Broad-st. Peggy is a blue-eyed girl with brown hair weighing 125 pounds and measuring 5 feet 0¼ inches in height.

Eighteen-year-old Marilyn E. Gauggel, 323 N. Warren-av, became the latest entry at press time today as the representative of M. T. Boyer, general agent for the Paul Revere Life Insurance Co. Marilyn weighs but a mere 110, stands 5 feet 2 inches in height and is endowed with light brown locks and eyes of blue.

The entries filed this week in the Mum Queen Contest sent the total number of contestants soaring and posed a real problem for whomever the judges are to be for the contest.

Jack Mesaman, chairman of the queen contest, said today that he is being flooded with more entries as the deadline date of Oct. 5 draws nearer and sponsors are requesting him to supply more queen candidates. He pointed out that many sponsors who have indicated their desire to enter a candidate have not as yet made known their entry and urged them to remember that no entry will be accepted after Oct. 5.

Trained Dog Missing From Hilltop Home

The trained dog of Carl J. Vickers, 2930 Sullivant-av, wandered away last Wednesday night while walking with his master somewhere on the Hilltop and has been missing ever since.

Mr. Vickers says the dog has performed before the television cameras of all three local stations in addition to entertaining at schools and churches in Columbus and vicinity.

He emphasizes that these are amateur performances and that several are pending at schools. He says many children around Columbus have seen the dog perform and he is anxious to have it returned if anyone knows its whereabouts.

The dog has a license and answers to the name of "Jeff". Mr. Vickers' phone number is RA. 4483. He offers a reward for "Jeff's" return.

W'gate Club Closes 1950 Tennis Season

The Westgate Tennis Club closed the 1950 season by staging a combination tournament and picnic at Westgate Park Courts Sunday, Sept. 17.

The tournament was a one set handicap affair. Players were graded and given handicaps ranging from one to three points per game. In some cases the loss of just one point meant the loss of a game and it was interesting to see the less experienced players stroking with confidence against those who have been playing regularly. Twenty-six players competed in the men's singles and about twelve teams in the doubles.

The semi-finalists in the singles were Bob Scully, Bill Sherker, Harvey Postelwaite and Dick Slager. Scully defeated Joe Goodwin and Chet Records to enter the round of four; Sherker won from Lee Dienst and Heber Daugherty; Postelwaite waded through Kramer and Jim Gardner; and Slager defeated John Soudeberg and Ned Moore. In the semi-finals, Scully won from Sherker, 6-4, while Dick Slager took the measure of Postelwaite 6-3. Slager then won the final round from Bob Scully by the score of 6-1.

In the doubles, Sherker and Postelwaite were winners by eliminating Goodwin and Dienst, Jackson and Draper and by defeating Norm Pohie and Heber Daugherty in a tough final set—score 6-3. Pohie and Daugherty attained the final round by beating Kramer and Gardner and Longstreth and Shultz.

Following the matches, wieners were roasted over a big fire and a picnic lunch was served by the wives of some of the club members.

The Westgate Courts will be open on the remaining weekends of this month, weather permitting.

Rawlins Studio Sponsors Baton Twirling Clinic

On Sunday, Oct. 1, the Jimmy Rawlins Dance Studios will sponsor the first baton twirling clinic ever to be held in Columbus. This affair, to be given at Central High School, is the outgrowth of the tremendous gain in popularity of this particular form of art.

The clinic will be conducted by Bob Dawson of Dayton. Mr. Dawson is considered to be one of America's outstanding authorities. He, himself, a former national champion, has been for the past several years, senior judge at all national competitions.

The clinic will include six hours of instruction in basic twirls, routining styles, contest twirling exhibition twirling and a discussion period.

It is open to those who have never twirled as well as advanced twirlers—also to school teachers, drum majors, majorettes, dancing teachers and dancing pupils everywhere.

The clinic will be held from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. The nominal fee of $1 is the only charge for the whole day of instruction. Entrance may be made by writing the Jimmy Rawlins Dance Studios.

Mrs. John P. Jones of N. Ogden-av, a friend of long standing and one of the Hilltop's better-known poets, tells me that Mrs. Mary Demorest of W. Broad-st is now teaching hand-craft at the School for the Blind, and doing a fine job. Mrs. Demorest has for years been associated with the Camp Fire Girls. Mrs. Jones is the mother of Judy Jones, of The Hilltop Record and, as of now, is one, of my official spies.

Several years ago the mother of Dr. Robert Davis sent in a poem he had written, and of which she was justly proud.

An article in a current magazine claims that children lie because of an inferiority complex, and should not be punished. If that article had only been written when I was a kid I'd have tossed it nonchalantly at an irate parent who had reached for the yardstick kept handy for emergencies, the tiz.e I had made up a perfectly breath-taking story of being kidnapped the day the circus came to town.

My best congratulations to the grand Lyman Hoffmans, of S. Ogden-av, who celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary the 9th of this month. They were guests of honor on Sally Flowers' T-V show.

Eavesdropping on a group of children returning from school the first day, I heard something like this: "I told Mom I just wouldn't wear 'em because they aren't glamorous." (This from a cute little blonde, but I didn't hear what she wouldn't wear.) "Aw, that ain't the way Gary Cooper says it. He says 'YUP' and twists his mouth like this." "I think I'll like my teacher. I'll try to, anyway." "Wish I was 10 years older. I'd go to war instead of school."

Another Hilltopper who is a landmark in the newspaper business is Perry Morison of Crescent-dr. He has been more than kind to this dumb beginner. Speaking of newspaper men, my severest critic is, and has been for years, that fine gentleman of letters, H. E. Cherrington. His words of encouragement have helped many times and he knows I'm grateful.

Wonder how many Hilltoppers have seen the statue of the fisherman in Section 50 of Greenlawn Cemetery? It is near the grave of Emil Amboe, 1845-1898, and was made by one J. F. Brines at the John Williams Bronze Foundry in New York in 1901. When I saw it a squirrel was sitting on the fisherman's head and scolded when we drove up. A spider was also very much at home and had made a web over one of the pockets of the statue. Am not a judge of statues, but in my opinion this one is a work of art and is lifelike in every detail. The flaps on the fisherman's pockets, the reel on the pole he is holding, the two fish on a string and the bucket with a tin cup hanging on the side are all there.

Of course it is not the same kind of statue, but the one of Christ on the third floor of Mt. Carmel Hospital, near the elevator, is the most beautiful I have ever seen.

Teach Bike Rules To The Children

When your children get bicycles, please see to it that they know and obey the rules of the road.

With the growing popularity of the bicycle for transportation, recreation and health, it is important that safe riding rules be taught our youngsters. Parents who would never think of letting their young sons and daughters drive the family car without adequate instruction in its mechanical operation and in traffic rules, will often turn a youngster loose on a bike without giving him any instructions in its safe operation.

Parents can be of great help by making sure the bike is in good mechanical condition and that it fits the child so that he will have no difficulty in handling it. Impress upon the child that he must keep well to the right-hand side of the road and if he's riding in a group, ride single file. He must obey traffic lights and signs, and walk the bike across heavy traffic. When turning, he should give the proper signal and be sure there's no car close behind when he moves to the middle of the street for a left turn.

When you give him permission to ride the bike, we suggest you do so on condition that he promises not to carry passengers. They lessen his control of the bike and obstruct his view. Have him carry packages in a rack or basket, avoid all hitching and keep out of ruts and trolley tracks. Tell him not to shoot out of driveways or stunt in traffic. Caution him against doors of parked cars opening suddenly.

The Record urges parents to discourage night riding, but if this is done, to be sure the bike has a light in front and a red light or reflector at the rear.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. It isn't one nerve but several, each of which starts from the spinal cord, joins its fellows from other vertebrae and proceeds down the back of the leg. Sometimes an operation is necessary for cure of sciatica. Your doctor can determine the cause and then recommend treatment.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. A baby born this year can expect to live to be 67 and his expectancy will continue to rise as he grows older. Thus a man of 40 today may expect to live 30 years more and a man of 65 may expect to reach 77. A child born in 1900 could expect to live only 49 years. Americans today can look forward to increasing their life span because of improved medical care.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. Right or left, it makes no difference in reading, despite the old saying. Right-handed persons can avoid annoying shadows in writing, however, by having the light come from the left.

An early patriot editor carried legal government notices in his newspaper free of charge, refusing to accept payment until finally George Washington thanked him for his generosity to the fledgling government and insisted that he accept pay.

The editor of an early Boston newspaper organized public meetings and demonstrations in favor of forming a United States with a Constitution. It is believed that his activities did much to cause Massachusetts to ratify the Constitution.

SMALL BUSINESS

by C. WILSON HARDER

North and South, Republican and Democrat, have been successful in getting passed in the Senate what is known as the Wherry amendment. That, as part of the Defense Production Act, should result in a fair distribution of available civilian goods.

And as Senators Wherry (R., Neb.) and Sparkman (D., Ala.) pushed for passage, they were supported by organized independent business . . . inspired silently by the reproachful ghosts of 525,000 small businesses that needlessly perished in World War II.

This new bill will require that small independent businesses distributing civilian goods be given a fair share of the available supply, based on a representative period before June 24, 1950.

If the House passes this measure, it will correct one of the glaring oversights of the past when monopoly owned or controlled outlets received the available supplies, and independent business was left on a limb.

This one victory has far-reaching reverberations. Prior to this, the talk was entirely of voluntary allocations, tied in with suspension of anti-trust laws. In other words, Congressmen were told "the situation can be handled by 'gentlemen's agreements'."

But Senators privately say they are becoming wary of these "gentlemen's agreements" . . . would like to be sure of what "gentlemen" are involved in such agreements. Many feel that they, like little Red Riding Hood, found out just in the nick of time that grandma was a wolf.

Congressmen, eyeing November elections, are aghast at some press releases sent out by government-hired press agents.

They shudder and hope much will never be published in newspapers read by tax-conscious constituents.

For example, the current release from the Office of Information, Economic Cooperation Administration, commonly known as the Marshall Plan, tells how American tax dollars are being used to modernize hotels in Europe, including such nations as Portugal, Ireland, Luxemberg, Sweden, Turkey, etc.

With brash pride ECA Release No. 1669 tells how Marshall Plan dollars have installed more bathrooms, changed rooms from double beds to twin beds, air-conditioned ballrooms, made other changes in these hotels. Thus American dollars voted to stop starvation are used to create luxury abroad.

As everyone knows, a lot of improvements are needed in American hotels.

But after taxes American hotels don't have the funds. And while Europe's hotels get free American dollars, American owners often can't get low cost loans.

They feel this type of information, if read by tax-ridden voters, will be reflected in November voting. There may be some grounds for their fears.

Many Washingtonians are quoting Nicolai Lenin, founder of the Soviet Union.

He wrote: "Germany will arm itself out of existence." (Has happened, they say.) "Britain will expand itself out of existence." (Has happened, they say.) "America will spend itself out of existence." (Is it happening, they ask.)

Paternalism "practice of exercising control . . . by government, sometimes constituting an invasion of individual rights."

Wherever paternalistic governments establish bureaus, financed through taxes, or compulsory health insurance, the "will to stay sick" (or malingering) becomes popular. Where practiced, this is very corroding to the integrity and character of both the patient and physician.

Where paternalistic governments collect billions in taxes, and dole it out from political bureaus, it not only costs the sick and well, but encourages the unscrupulous and lazy to "play sick" or "stay sick."

Under such systems, medical practice is brought to a level of mediocrity. Under our incentive system, Doctors are taught to plumb the depths of scientific fact on every case, and use every possible means to cure each case.

"Paternalism"—substituted for individual relationships and personal incentive—lowers the QUALITY of medical service.

West Cowboys Win Initial Game Over Marion Harding

By Dave Miller

West High's 1950 gridders proved more than ever that courage certainly can make a lot of difference as they trounced a much bigger Marion Harding eleven, 21 to 7, last Friday evening on the losers' field.

No holds were barred as the Cowboys bitterly went through practices last week previous to the Harding tilt and they showed their own followers, the majority of whom believed West was in for a beating, that "a team that won't be beat can't be beat." There was no single concentration in the locker room of the Cowboys following the game. They were merely all happy, and all agreed that "Arlington's next."

Coach Mack Pemberton was high on the spirit of the Cowboys in addition to Assistant Dave Randall. Fred Heischman, the other Cowboy assistant mentor, missed two practice sessions and the game last week due to illness. Pemberton said before the game that the boys' mental attitude was in fine shape, and if West could win the game, only courage could do it.

The cry around the local high school for the week preceding the Marion game was "a good win over Marion will initiate a fairly good season, whereas a loss would probably break up all hopes." Players, followers and coaches were all singled around this thought and the whole school was in fine spirits previous to the opener of the 1950 football season—which now has become successful—but still eight chances remain, and Arlington is the solo thought at the moment.

Fans around West who are strict Cowboy boosters in witnessing the daily practice sessions could easily sense the high mental attitude of the Cowboys throughout the week.

And it's no mystery now how West's "supposedly weak team" ever defeated tough Marion Harding. A City League football coach is the author of the above statement, and the Cowboys are ready and waitin' to make him "eat his own words." No sir—presently there's no doubt about it—determination and courage brewed together means a lot whether a team is weak, inexperienced or whatever it may be.

To begin with, the statistical side of the rather evenly-matched fray (for the first half, at least) showed West for the first time in its last eight football games on top in the first downs, gathering 17 to 13 for the host Presidents. Marion was ahead in first downs at the end of the 7-7 first half with nine firsts to two less for West, but, like the recent West-Grandview scrimmage affair, West showed it was a second half ball club, garnering two touchdowns to cinch the fray within 6:57 after the third period started. They then proceeded to outscore the upstaters in the first downs section, 10-4, in the final half.

Here's the whole story in a nutshell: West's Ronnie James, Charlie (Sonny) Hunter and Carmen DeMatteo, all veteran backfielders, literally ran through the whole Marion team, behind superior interference by West's offensive wall of Bill Orcutt, Dick McDermitt and Eddie Gleibs especially, plus many others too numerous to mention. All played tremendous 48-minute ball, but more than ever in those final 24 minutes.

West seemingly couldn't gain much yardage when needed up through the middle due to some great line play by Marion boys Dan Geran, Paul Ludwig, Dick Hendel and Francis Taylor. West then changed tactics and started running the trio of backs, Hunter, James and DeMatteo, around the ends in the third period to payoff territory.

Had West tried to thump that big Harding line, they probably would have found themselves playing even-steven ball. But quick judgment by Coaches Pemberton and Randall discovered that the Marion line, in addition to preventing West from getting anywhere was also tiring out his backfielders.

Great interference along the sidelines brought West two well-deserved six-pointers early in the third period and sewed up the fray earlier than anticipated. By the end of the third period, "Mack" was bursting with joy but tried to hide it, and was successful in doing so until he took out two of West's outstanding linemen, Bill Orcutt and Dick McDermitt, in the final two minutes of the fray. Both had played the entire game, both offensively and defensively, with McDermitt acting as captain and Orcutt—well, what you can easily call the No. 1 "holler guy" on the team, and even more easier you can describe as one of West's all-time great linemen.

Dave Lazenby's kickoff opening the 1950 grid season was gathered in by Marion's dangerous Paul Ludwig, who was stopped on his own 36. From there, the Presidents looked like they were going to make a runaway of the fray, grabbing the pigskin on six different occasions and traveling a total of 43 yards in those half dozen runs. Big Ludwig and running halfback Jimmy Kennell, a little 140-pounder, who is supposed to be an all-state prospect, lived up to all previous statements in this drive.

However, after Kennell had raced on an off-tackle spurt to the West 26 within three minutes after the game began, Dave Ulrich's pass, intended for Tom McClain, was beautifully intercepted by West's safety man, "Wimpy" Potts, who raced back to the Marion 33, to change the entire picture for both teams, especially the Cowboys.

Ronnie James, on a now famous double reverse, went to the Marion 28 for four yards, but the host eleven was offside and West, grabbing the penalty, was handed the pigskin on the 36 and it was first down and five to go. James and DeMatteo in consecutive end runs gained about three together and a West clipping penalty took the ball back to the Harding 41. Then on third and four, Hunter fumbled and Francis Taylor recovered for the Presidents on the 47.

Again the Presidents started to drive through the West line as if it were paper, with Ludwig, Dan Day, Jimmy Russell and Kennell leading the attack. This, then, set up what many West followers believe took the "whole heart out of Marion." After Ludwig had advanced to the West seven yard line, climaxing a 60-yard drive in nine different runs, Russell fumbled a quick handoff from Quarterback Dave Ulrich and Potts again recovered on the West four yard stripe!

From then on West looked great, and Harding seemingly had lost all interest after knocking on the touchdown door twice and then losing the ball.

West started one of its greatest drives ever put on since their championship teams in '47 and '48 and they reminded fans of those same dream teams with their shifty running and bruising blocks throughout the drive—a march that netted them 96 yards in only eight plays.

Harding was offside immediately after giving West the ball on the fumble, and the spear was moved to the West eight. DeMatteo quickly skid through guard for five yards to the 13 and Ronnie James plunged to the 16 for a first down. James then ran the right end to the West 30 for a 15-yard sprint which ended play in the first quarter.

Signal caller Chuck Leibensperger quickly teased a pass to End Dave Lazenby on the West 44 for their third straight first down. Big Carmen DeMatteo then raced around Marion's rather weak left end and was in the clear, outracing all but the Harding safety man, who halted him on the Marion 11 yard line after a 45 yard jaunt. Then, quicker than it could be said, Leibensperger again tossed to Lazenby into the end zone for the initial score of the night. The same Lazenby split the uprights with the conversion (Leibensperger holding) to make it 7-0.

Marion worked plenty hard for their touchdown—by plenty of drive, and most of it by Ludwig and Kennell again. Lazenby kicked off to Ludwig again, and Marion in this series with the ball made two first downs, but was finally held in check no farther than the West 33, and West took over, marching to two first downs to its 47, before having to kick. However, a low center pass got through punter Jerry Trabue and, forced to run, he was downed on the West 36, thus setting up Marion's lone score of the game.

After three plays failed to gain, and just when it looked as though West's line was starting to hold, Ulrich passed to McClain, who ran to the West 18, and after running two plays by Kennell and Ulrich respectively took the pigskin to the West three, from where the 210-pound Ludwig smacked over. Kennell converted to make it 7-7, and after West received the kickoff they were granted two plays until the first half ended.

The story of the win can be told in about 12 plays—both touchdowns. West came out in the third period as a highly inspired ball club and cinched the fray in quick fashion. Jerry Johnson returned the kickoff to the West 40, from where three plays carried in consecutive order by James, DeMatteo and Hunter advanced the ball to the Marion 28. A Leibensperger to James pass was incomplete, and another from Chapman to Trabue, but Ronnie James scooted around the left end and into the far corner for 21 yards and into pay dirt unmolested. Lazenby again converted to make it 14-7.

After Marion failed to gain in four tries, Potts returned an Ulrich punt to the West 40, from where Charlie Hunter on a quick opener through the middle went to the Marion 35 for West's 11th first down of the night.

A Leibersperger to Lazenby aerial was complete on the Marion 14, from where James again went around the weak left flanker and across the double stripe for his second consecutive touchdown of the night—both on brilliant runs.

From that point onward the game progressed at a rather slow pace, neither team penetrating within its opponent's 10-yard line. The two quick West six-pointers seemed to take the spirit out of the Presidents, and West coasted in to their first victory of the 1950 football campaign.

The lineups: Marion Harding—ends, Lewis, Taylor, McClain, Morse, Bascos; tackles, Geran, Snouffer, Hendel, Arnold, Stanley; guards, Larzen, Slob, Reiff, G. Winters; centers, Dasotis, Bull, Rinnert; backs, Ulrich, Kennell, Russell, P. Ludwig, B. Winters, Grubaugh, Kneusley, Weary, Day, Brady, C. Taylor.

SPORT LANTS

Tomorrow evening two of the biggest high schools in Greater Columbus area will be tangling in what is tagged as the "game of the week" in the schoolboy fall classic.

These same teams both have their share of dominating the football picture in high schools through the last four to five years. West was City League champions by virtue of their undefeated seasons in 1947 and '48 while Arlington, also the powerhouse in their Central Buckeye League had at least a share of the CBL title in the last three seasons of play.

Many fans watch the outcome of the seemingly "annual" West-Arlington clash to determine the strength or compare teams represented in the two rival leagues of high school play locally. The reason for this is the fact that West in the City Loop and Arlington in the CBL are always at least fairly average each season is simple.

Grandview, the co-champion with Arlington for the CBL title last season, was beaten by West in their yearly scrimmage four weeks ago, 7-0, and there's no secret about it that the Bobcats were awfully weak, and on this basis it looks as though the CBL race may turn into a one-team (Arlington) race.

Under present West Coach Mack Pemberton, the series between West and Arlington stands at a slight edge for the Bears. The latter have won two, lost one and tied one. In Pemberton's first season (1946), Arlington defeated the Cowboys, 13-0; in 1947, West's biggest football year in many seasons (fourth best in state) the Cowboys romped over the Bears easily, 40-0, and the '48 classic resulted in a 13-13 fumbleitis game with last year's clash going in runaway fashion to the Arlingtons, 35-0.

For a reason unexplained there has always been a keen, but not bitter rivalry, between the two teams—and although some of the same ballplayers or some of the same followers of their individual teams won't be on hand at Magly Field tomorrow evening—that rivalry will still be there.

Arlington is plenty tough. Everyone knows that, including West Coach Mack Pemberton, who admits that they are without a doubt this year one of the best in the district or state. With standouts Doug Goodsell, Frank Edwards, Gene Weigel and Walt Hamilton it seems as though they can't miss—but anything can happen, as was proven about 50 miles north of here last Friday.

SHORT BITS: Marion Harding's boosters put out a splendid 36-page souvenir program at the Marion-West game last Friday night—probably one of the best ever put out around here by a high school for a long time . . . The Harding band, incidentally, which numbers 96, put on an excellent performance both at the half and pre-game intervals . . . West High's 72-piece marching band will initiate their season at West tomorrow night under the able hands of directors Clair Barnard and Tom Dale in addition to new drum major, Cliff Everett.

Wes Edstrom, West High football and track manager for the past two years, has transferred to Circleville where he is also serving as football manager in his senior year this season . . . The Redskins, by the way, took their 19th consecutive victory last Friday by thumping Rosary 45-13 . . . North High's Polar Bears have beaten Cincinnati Hughes on opening night games both this year and last by the identical scores of 26-6 . . . Aquinas was beaten by Portsmouth, 35-14 last week in their opening game, the same tally by which they bowed to Findlay in their opener in '49.

Lima Central, West's opponent a week tomorrow night in the up-state town, defeated Fort Wayne (Ind.) Central, 26-13 and will travel to Cincinnati Western Hills for their second game tomorrow evening. The Lions, ranked as one of the best in the state for the coming season, have eight of their 11 regulars back from last season's twice-beaten team. . . . One of the two losses was a 14-13 heart-breaker to Lima South for the City championship . . . A new magazine out on the newsstands for those interested in Ohio high school sports is called First and Ten—a very interesting edition, which lately is going over the schools by districts and naming their hopefuls for the 1950 gridiron season. The magazine will convert to the title "Tipoff" when basketball season begin's . . . West's injuries at Marion were few and not too serious considering the fray was an opener. Big Mo Dobbs turned up with a nasty sprained ankle stopping the drives of Paul Ludwig and was the lone West player that had to be helped from the field. Marion's Tom McClain and Jimmy Russell suffered minor injuries . . . Although the football season is just beginning, a few athletes around West are keeping their eyes peeled for notices starting the first basketball intramural sessions which will probably be starting in October.

Dancing Builds Confidence Says Jimmy Rawlins

More and more parents are realizing the true value of dance training for children, according to Jimmy Rawlins, prominent Ohio dance teacher.

As an aid in developing a [illegible] which in turn helps overcome shyness and builds confidence—good dance training is hard to beat, declares Mr. Rawlins. He less an authority than Gene Kelley, the actor, is known to view dancing as an aid to health and personality.

The Rawlins dancing classes for children, age three up, are being held at 21 N. Hague-av.

Looking Back

Hilltop Youth Tells Of Trip Around The World By Plane

By Blair Spence

I have been requested to write of my experiences during the recent flight around the world which I won on a contest sponsored by the Columbus Dispatch Printing Co. I will try to give my feelings and point out some of the highlights of the trip. I am glad to do this so that others who were not as lucky as I can share my experiences.

When I first learned that I had been chosen as one of the winners, I was confused and did not know just what to expect. This was especially true when I thought of making long flights over land and sea, as I had never been in a plane before.

Now that I look back, the day the winners were announced; it seems like a long time ago with Governor Lausche congratulating us. The other winners were Richard Winks, 15, a sophomore at Central High School who was the other Dispatch carrier selected, and David Kennett, 13, Newark, O., who was selected by the Ohio State Journal, as their representative. Two other newsboys selected by the Salt Lake City Tribune-Telegram, accompanied us. They were Winston Faux, 17, and Elwin Dale 15. Johnny Jones, the Dispatch columnist, had been selected as our monitor.

The trip began on July 11. We had all spent the night of July 10 at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, and our parents were invited for breakfast in our rooms the next morning. The two Salt Lake carriers had flown in the day before and their parents were not present at the breakfast. All of us had been entertained with a steak dinner and swimming the night before. We were also guests of honor at a luncheon in the Sapphire Room at the Hotel Deshler the day we left. All this living and eating at hotels was entirely new to me and added to my confusion.

Following the luncheon we were escorted to the airport by police and state highway patrolmen, and we were so excited that it all seemed like a dream. There were festivities at the airport before we boarded the DC-3 TWA airplane enrcute to Washington. I will never forget the feeling I had as I waved good-bye to my parents at the plane window. As we left the ground it felt like riding on a big bird. We flew as high as 9000 feet part of the way, and I thought we were going to land in the Potomac River as we circled the airport for our landing in Washington, D. C.

The highlights of our two-day stay in Washington were visits to the Capitol Building and House of Representatives. We also visited the shrines erected in the memory of great men who have led this nation in peace and in war. We could not help but be impressed with these memorials. Members of our party were guests at a luncheon in the Capitol Building at which Senator John W. Bricker and Representatives John M Vorys and Harry McGregor were present.

We arrived in New York from Washington in an Eastern Airline Constellation. The trip took less than an hour. We made a tour of the city enroute from La Guardia Airport to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel where we registered. We left immediately for the CBS studios where we appeared on the Dolly Dawn Show, "Vanity Fair." We later visited Radio City.

The first evening we were in New York we were guests of the Sammy Kaye Show, "Do You Want To Lead a Band?" in the Starlight Room of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Before the show we were taken on a tour of Broadway and Times Square to see the "great white way" of New York City. The heighth of the buildings and the size of the city is almost beyond imagination and New York is certainly the most amazing city in the world.

Taking off from New York for London on a Pan-American Stratocruiser was even more of a thrill than my first take-off from Columbus, three days before. We arrived in London at 9:30 a. m. Saturday morning after a non-stop flight of eleven hours and twenty minutes. We flew at 18,000 feet most of the way, and had only four hours of darkness, although we left New York the evening before.

Our first experience with custom officials was in London, Eng. They examined our passports but did not spend much time with our luggage. Our visit to London was a little disappointing as it rained most of the time we were there. Our guide was an English actor who did Shakesperean parts in an English television program. Highlights of our stay in London were visits to Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum, Buckingham Palace, and Westminister Abbey.

We crossed the English Channel to Paris in a Viking airplane, and by this time flying had become almost routine. We enjoyed visits to the Eiffel Towel, Arc de Triumph, and Notre Dame Cathedral. This was the first nation we visited where the majority of people did not speak English. The beauty of the works of art in the Louvre impressed each of us. I enjoyed the Mona Lisa most of all.

Our next stop was Zurich, Switzerland. We boarded an electric train from there for Lucerne. Switzerland is beautiful, the high mountain peaks and the glaciers are a sight never to be forgotten. This stop was an outstanding part of the trip.

In Rome we were lucky enough to see the Pope while touring St. Peter's Cathedral. The crowd remained quiet, then everyone cheered wildly when he was brought in on his throne chair to extend his blessings. We visited the Roman Forum and the Coliseum which must have looked almost like Ohio State Stadium at one time. We also visited the catacombs.

We left the City of the Seven Hills enroute to Athens, Greece, glad that we had come to Rome during the Holy Year, as it made many additional points of interest available to us. The outstanding part of our flight from Rome to Athens was seeing Mt. Vesuvius from the air, and the Mediterranean Sea which even from 17,000 feet in the air appears to be blue. We remained at the airport while in Athens and ate our dinner. It was dark when we left for Cairo, Egypt.

When you arrive in Cairo, you realize immediately that you are entering a different part of the world. We arrived at the Gateway to the Middle East at midnight and some of the people we passed enroute to the Mena House gave us a scarey feeling. They could carry almost any kind of weapon under their large cloaks and most of them probably do. We took off on camel back to visit the Sphinx and Pyramids the first thing the next morning. That evening we went for a sail boat trip on the Nile River. My cork sun helmet fell into the river. It is a good thing that cork floats.

Beruit was our next stop after Cairo, where we took a trip into the mountains near the city and here the heat was not quite so bad.

We visited Damascus, Syria, next and while there I bought a six-inch dagger made of Damascus steel. This is one of the oldest cities in the world, and even now some of the sights remind you of the Bible stories.

Next we began our longest flight over land from Damascus to Delhi, a distance of 2500 miles, with a short stop in Karachi, Pakistan. In one way we were glad to get this flight because it is always cool in the planes while flying at 17,000 feet. It was necessary for our pilot to land the four motored plane in four inches of water which was standing on the landing field, and it was necessary for him to make two landing attempts in order to do this. The second landing was smooth as silk.

Another reason we were glad to get to Delhi was that our stay would be long enough for us to get our white tropical suits laundered. We had been wearing them since arriving in Rome and planned on using them until we arrived in Honolulu.

The lizards that were climbing on the walls of the hotel turned out to be useful as they ate the mosquitoes and other insects. We visited several temples where the people were worshiping, and later had tea with the Mr. Raj, general manager of the Punjab National Bank.

Mr. Raj visited with us for over an hour, and told us that the plane we arrived in had been carrying a large sum of gold. It was necessary to take a 125-mile auto trip from Delhi to visit the Taj Mahal at Agra, India. The white marble towers glistened in the sunshine. Later we saw this famous mausoleum by moonlight and it appeared a shiny white.

Bangkok, Thailand followed Delhi on our tour after a short stop in Calcutta. This is one of the most progressive cities in the Far East. We saw an opium den, but the government is attempting to wipe out the sale of opium. Then too this was the most interesting stop on our trip as we saw the Siamese dancers, the Siamese prize fights, in which the fighters use both their feet and hands, and we saw attendants extracting venom from deadly cobra snakes. The venom is used for preparing an anti-snake bite serum. Thousands of people die from snake bites in the Far East every year.

We spent most of our money for gifts while in Bangkok, as there are plenty of rare types of merchandise and the prices seem reasonable. Another outstanding visit while there was to the Buddha. I was able to bring home a small piece from the Buddha as they were repairing it at the time we were there.

From Bangkok we flew to Hong Kong, China. The Chinese junks could be seen in the harbor below as we prepared to land. The streets were crowded and the Chinese dress in suits resembling our pajamas. Aw Boon Haw, a wealthy Chinese merchant and publisher, entertained us at his mansion. We did some shopping in Hong Kong later for gifts.

Our stay in Manilla was a short one, although an interesting one, as we were taken to see a professional Jaui Lai game. After the game we visited the players dressing rooms, and each of us was given an autographed cesta, a gauntlet-like woven club used by the players.

The stop at Guam which followed Manilla was a happy one as we were greeted by old friends from Columbus, General and Mrs. Robert Beightler. Mrs. Beightler cooked two meals for us while we were there. This was the first American food we had eaten in three weeks. We were taken on a tour of the island and visited with the Beightlers, who were quite anxious to hear about Columbus and they were very nice to us. We stopped at Wake Island in the middle of the night only long enough to have the plane serviced, then flew on to Honolulu.

Honolulu was the vacation part of the trip, as we had a chance to rest and relax. We had been swimming many times during the trip but Honolulu gave us our first chance to swim in salt water. We made the most of it, and spent many hours on Waikiki Beach. We were met at the airport by the Honolulu Star Bulletin newsboys who presented us with leis. We made long tours of the island of Oahu by automobile, and did shopping in downtown Honolulu. Our group attended an Aloha party just before we left for San Francisco.

We rode the cable car up the high hills in San Francisco, and crossed the Golden Gate bridge for a visit in the Muir Woods, where we saw the giant redwoods. We said good-bye to the Salt Lake City boys before taking off for Chicago in a DC-6 plane. Our stop in Chicago was only for a short time spent at the airport, and we were off again for home with only a short stop at Dayton between us and Columbus.

The crowd at the air port brought tears to the eyes of all of us, although it was one of the happiest times of our lives. When I put the leis on my mother and father as they came to the plane I knew it was the day I had been waiting for almost since the day I left.

The trip was great. Johnny Jones showed us a wonderful time. Flying is an ideal way to travel. The United States is the only place in the world I would want to live, and Columbus is my favorite city.

Unique West High Assembly Hears Jr. Achievement Plan

By Myron T. Seifert

A unique assembly at West High School was held in the school auditorium Wednesday morning, Sept. 20, when "Junior Achievement" took over.

Chic Wahoff, 16-year-old junior from Bexley High School, was master of ceremonies. West High's Marilyn Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, did similar honors at South High School, Tuesday morning, Sept. 19.

History of Junior Achievement

A practical business man, Horace A. Moses, chairman of the Strathmore Paper Company, is the originator of the idea on which "Junior Achievement" is based. He, together with the late Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the late Senator Murray A. Crane, of Massachusetts, conceived the plan in 1919. This resulted in the incorporation of Junior Achievement, Inc., on Nov. 29, 1926.

The first Junior Achievement company was organized in Springfield, Mass. In 1929 some companies were started in the New York metropolitan area. In 1942 national headquarters were set up in New York City, and a national expansion program was launched on Jan. 1, 1943.

With the cooperation of school authorities, students in the junior and senior years of high school are informed on the Junior Achievement program and are invited to join and form a JA company. Anywhere from 10 to 15 students meet, decide on a product or service they can sell, and select a name for their company. They sell stock at 50 cents a share to finance their companies and get into production. From the money they make on sales they pay themselves wages. They also elect their own board of directors, officers, appoint their own production and sales managers. They serve simultaneously as board members, workers, managers, stockholders and learn the relationship of each job and function.

Junior Achievement arranges for competent supervision and guidance by adult supervisors who are experts in production, business and sales. Junior Achievement provides a laboratory experience and training in which the student learns, through actual participation, bookkeeping, accounting, sales, advertising, market research, production, planning company financing and management. These words take on substance and significance when they are a part of the student's own company . . . playing a part in his own personal achievement.

Robert Rex, local industrial executive spoke on "Why Businessmen Are Backing Junior Achievement."

Mr. Wahoff introduced Lee Edwards, executive director of JA in Columbus. Mr. Edwards talked to the student body approximately 20 minutes of the functions of Junior Achievement.

Women Voters Group Plans Campaign On Registration

The Franklin County League of Women Voters is urging all citizens to register for voting. A car with posters will serve as a reminder as the group drives through neighborhoods at the time school lets out, and gives leaflets to the children to take home to their parents.

The leaflets will announce the last day of registration and places where voters may register. The women also plan to tour all industrial plants as the shifts change and to give these same leaflets to workers.

On the last day of registration the Women Voters League will provide free baby-sitters and transportation to registration places.

starter this year as a senior. He scored five touchdowns against South and passed for another last Friday. In the prevue against Linden, he scored the winning touchdown just 12 seconds from the end of the exhibition.

However, Doyt Perry's Bears have plenty of other dynamite other than Goodsell. End Dick Pennell, Tackle Walt Hamilton, Quarterback Frank Edwards and Halfback Gene Weigel deserve a good looking over through their previous experiences. Hamilton was outstanding defensively for the Bears last year against the Cowboys while Weigel, last year's fullback scored two touchdowns. Goodsell didn't score against the Broncs last season, but on two different occasions he Golden Bear school, is playing his fourth season as a varsity was off on a long gallop and lateraled to a teammate who scored when he was about to be tackled.

The locals are all set to give Arlington a battle although they are counted as underdogs in the pre-game dope — which will mean exactly nothing at kickoff time tomorrow evening.

In the six months to one year group two prizes are to be awarded with a girl to be selected as "Miss Personality" and a boy as "Master Personality." The "Daintiest Girl" and the "Most Robust Boy" will be selected from the next age group of one to three years, and in the twin department the most identical twin boys and most identical twin girls will receive prizes.

According to the baby parade committee composed of Mrs. Lou Rausch, 3051 Palmetto; Mrs. Phil V. Stout, 616 Binns-blvd; Mrs. Edward Johnson, N. Hague-av, and Mrs. Evelyn Shroyer, 2363 W. Broad-st, all entries must be received by Monday, Oct. 9, in order to be eligible for the prize awards.

More Workers

Cora Crownover, 459 Nashoba-av; Mrs. Harold Beard, 635 Woodberry; Mrs. Eugene Cornwell, 1855 W. Mound-st; Mrs. Carl Rickman, 590 Woodbury and Mrs. Donald V. Callendine, 620 Clark-av.

Mrs. Knipp

Another of the majors appointed to aid in the Community Chest Drive by Mrs. Knipp is Mrs. D. L. Pack of 2525 Suttonpl. Mrs. Pack, although the mother of three daughters, Nancy 8, Carroll 5, and Beverly 16 has in the past four years found time to contribute her services to the Community Fund, Polio Drive and Red Cross work. Her territory for the forthcoming drive has been designated as all the area north of W. Broad-st to the city limits from Wheatland to Hague-av.

Captains who have been designated by Mrs. Pack to aid her are: Mrs. H. W. Ryan, 707 S. Eureka-av; Mrs. Jack Hostetter, 222 Eldon-av; Mrs. A. J. Wold, W. Broad-st and Mrs. Thomas Morris, S. Roys-av.

The drive being made Oct. 13 to Nov. 3 is for $4,418,868. in the city of Columbus. This amount, an increase over all goals since the last war, has been made necessary by the inclusion of $30,000. for services to the armed forces; the addition of two new agencies to the chest, the Boys Club and the Childrens' Mental Health Center, and a sincere attempt to reduce the number of drives for the year by promising that no member agency will conduct any supplementary drive for operating funds in 1951.

Coal Sold To First Caller By Mrs. Embleton

The ad placed in our Sept. 14 "Miscellaneous For Sale" column by Mrs. Lee Embleton, 603 S. Hague-av, consisted of only two lines, but it produced fast results!

Mrs. Embleton advertised ¾ ton of West Virginia Premier coal. Along with her remittance for the ad she enclosed a little note which read: "The coal was sold to the first person who called. Thanks to the Record for quick service."

Through the years many Hilltoppers have come to rely on the quick, satisfactory service offered by the Record's power-packed Classified Section. We don't need to extol the virtues of the little want ad to these folks—they're firmly convinced by pleasant experience.

America's Most Fascinating and Fastest Growing Hobby

10,000,000 Fish Fanciers Can't Be Wrong

The keeping of tropical fishes as pets is rapidly becoming America's fastest-growing hobby. There are about 10 million fish fanciers in the United States today, and the number is constantly increasing. The reasons for this phenomenal expansion are not hard to see. More and more people are discovering the unique combination of desirable characteristics that home aquaria possess, at Trabert's Aquarium and Gift Shop, 2341 W. Broad St.

Nothing can equal a well set-up aquarium for vibrant beauty. No room—from the plainest hospital ward to the most lavishly furnished foyer—can fail to be enhanced by a tank of brilliant fishes and lovely plants. Only after seeing an aquarium that is properly arranged can anyone fully appreciate its tremendous decorative value. Living jewels in a natural setting, that is a home aquarium. Not only beauty will attract you to your aquarium; the fishes themselves will fascinate you. Fishes, you will discover, have different personalities. Here, right at your fingertips, dozens of tiny creatures will live out their entire lives—growing up, courting their mates, having families, reaching a ripe old age—all in the microism that you have provided for them. Reading books is not the only way to be an armchair naturalist. By means of a home aquarium you can bring a bit of the great out-of-doors right into your home. Stop in today at Trabert's Aquarium and Gift Shop, 2341 W. Broad St. Open 12 noon 'til 8 p. m. —Adv.

Dear Sirs:

"Nothing like the Hilltop" isn't the word for it. Why people go on vacations to Florida and California is beyond me. I have visited almost all the states in the union since being in the Marine Corps and have seen lots of beautiful places.

In California I saw the Pacific Ocean, Hollywood and the beautiful mountains. In South Carolina I saw them growing tobacco, and a lot of the old homesteads, all very pretty and interesting to see. Then in Washington, D. C., I saw all the famous buildings that we read about in the third grade and thought we would never be able to see, but I have seen them now and don't feel any different than I did before.

I have traveled across the U. S. about four times, and have seen a lot of things I'll never forget. Anyone who sees them will say the same thing. But as for the Hilltop in good old Columbus, none of them even come close to it. Recently I was home for 20 days and spent it all on the Hilltop. People there are so nice to you and it's so easy to make friends that who would want to travel? If you want something like the Pacific Ocean, just go to the Hilltop pool. It's just as blue as any ocean. If it is tall buildings you want all you have to do is stand at W. Broad-st and Wayne, look downtown and there you will see the Lincoln-LeVeque Building.

There is one thing that anyone who travels will have to agree with me. Where else can you find in this country of ours the interest that will even compete with the spirit of the students at West High. I have been to many high school games in different cities all over the U. S. and find that West High tops them all.

Then too, consider the beautiful homes on the Hilltop. I think Westgate Park has just as nice homes and some better than those in Beverly Hills, Calif. It's a good feeling to know that when you come home to Columbus you can walk down W. Broad-st and before you get two blocks you have spoken to almost 20 people.

The Hilltop is a pretty big place and is growing more every day. But it can never be too big for me. I think that you people who are living there should think twice before you ever plan your next vacation. Just give me the chance and I'll plant myself on the Hilltop and never leave it even to go fishing.

I guess my view on things and the Hilltop is a good example of the old saying that you never appreciate a thing until you have to leave it behind.

Sincerely,
Paul L. Haines

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Scott (Julie Anne Kellogg) whose marriage took place Aug. 19, are now at home at 1166 W. King-av. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kellogg, 1435 Inglis-av, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Scott, 146 S. Ogden-av.

The young couple was married by Dr. Floyd Faust at the Broad Street Church of Christ in an unusual service which included all four parents. The church was beautifully decorated with candelabra, tapers, white gladioli, ferns, and ivy.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore the gown worn 38 years ago by her aunt, Mrs. L. B. Burrell, 1414 Mulford-rd. The bodice was of imported lace and the long, peg-topped skirt of ivory taffeta. A halo trimmed with seed pearls held the shoulder veil of illusion. She carried her own Bible on which cala lilies had been arranged.

Miss Addie Ann Tolhurst of Kalamazoo, Mich., a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Jane Anne Prior, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. The two young women were gowned alike in chiffon over taffeta dresses styled with basque bodices and full skirts, Miss Tolhurst wore yellow and Miss Pryor blue with matching picture hats and cascades of purple and lilac glamelias.

Mr. Paul Prior, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Robert Scott, brother, was head usher and was assisted by Mr. Harold Hesselden and Mr. John Herbert.

The reception for about 150 guests was held in the garden of the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Kellogg wore flowered white chiffon and Mrs. Scott pale green. Both ladies had corsages of white carnations. Mrs. Burrell, was presented with a corsage of pink roses.

At the reception Miss Margaret Anderson entertained with accordion music. Assisting hostesses were Miss Jacqueline Runkle, Miss Anita Kollus, and Mrs. Paul Prior.

In order that the many out-of-town guests might see their home, the new Mr. and Mrs. Scott held open house from 5 to 6 o'clock before leaving on their wedding trip.

The new Mrs. Scott changed to a glen plaid suit matching her husband's, with navy and red accessories. Her corsage was of yellow centered with a yellow Fuji mum.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

DID YOU KNOW:

That RUTH ANSLEY made quite a hit on Pantry Party last Saturday? The camera also shot past THELMA CAMPBELL and her daughter a couple of times.

That MR. AND MRS. LOREN HIGHFILL just returned from a couple of weeks' vacation over in the East and up into Canada?

That MRS. CHARLES LINK saw her parents, MR. AND MRS. WYMAN HOFFMAN celebrate their 48th wedding anniversary on Sally Flowers TV show last week. Hope they can make it on their Golden Anniversary.

That the PAUL MURNAMES were gone several days They drove up to Cedar Point and over into Michigan; and it wasn't as cold up there as they heard it was down here.

That SARA McWILLIAMS wore her fur coat one morning to work and it got so hot, that by evening she carried it home?

That DOTTIE FLOYD went to Niagara Falls and up to Canada with her parents last week?

That MAMIE TURNER had a birthday and everyone in her family forgot about it until she brought out the dessert — her birthday cake she had baked herself? Mamie got a kick out of it, —it being the first time it had slipped their minds.

That CARL HUGHES likes to mow his lawn so well, he would not mind tending a golf course?

That when TOM LANE washes his car it never rains? Just ask him.

That PAUL CAMPBELL went hunting, got two squirrels and didn't bring them home? Squirrely? Nope. He gave them to his grandmother.

That the WILSON FERGUSONS have trimmed their home with those new aluminum awnings? They look like the venetian blind type, but I couldn't be sure as I was on my motorcycle.

That not even one Hi-Ridger knows who writes this article? Not even my own wife, and she thinks she knows it all. Guess I've put one over on her.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

Saturday night social held in the Rea-Bow Hall last Saturday night was attended by one of the largest crowds of the summer. Marjorie Thompson of 1665 Franklin-av, pleased the audience with her vocal selections. She sang "Roses of Picardy", "The Last Mile Home," and closed with the beautiful "Ava Marie."

Kenneth Karns of 507 Woodrow left little to be desired in his tap dancing. William Marot of 259 N. Harris-av, was at the piano and gave all those present lots of laughs with his rendition of the "Broken Down Piano." Emerson Miller and Norman Brokamp played the part of the insistent "Bar Room Boys."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder of 254 Sandusky-st were in charge of the canteen. George Wolfe was M.C. assisted by Robert Warner of 496 Cypress. Ticket sales were in charge of Mrs. Arthur Reed, 1451 Hamlet. Music for the round and square dancing was by Everett Gallagher, Johnny Wordan, and Mr. Jackson.

The "wheelbarrow race" was won by Mr. and Mrs. Brokamp and brought screams of laughter from all in the hall. Mrs. Brokamp assisted in the calling for the square dance.

It was "Happy Birthday" to Rheta Warner of 496 Cypress and wedding anniversaries for Mr. and Mrs. William McDonald of 2299 Valleyview-dr, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Whitaker of 387 W. Cherry-dr.

Miss Thompson also led the audience in 15 minutes of community singing of old time favorite songs with Mr. Marot at the piano.

Next Saturday's social will again have George Wolfe as M.C. with Harry Thacker of 1557½ Oak-st as assistant. Howard Gallagher will be guest musician.

The association will show at 8:15 p. m. a free movie through the courtesy of Don Hall of Columbus. The features will be a film short showing big game hunting in Africa. "Let's Explore Ohio" will also be shown.

Revival Sept. 17 to Oct. 2. Rev. Peters, evangelist, Mrs. Peters, May, and refreshments.
The staff is composed of Mrs. John Ricker, leader; Janet Griffith, Mrs. Edward Rielly, Mrs. Mary Price, Barbara Lee Barbee, Mrs. Paul Haught, Mrs. Richard Reichart, Mrs. Charles Welch, Mrs. Herbert Pfaltzgraf, Mrs. William Hallsteine, Mrs. Curtiss Steele, Mrs. Earl Miller, Mrs. Robert Griffith, Herbert Pfaltzgraf and Pastor John Hydinger, advisor.

Remember the first stop lights? Sure you do! Remember how everyone wondered how those three little lights on an iron pole would be able to control the great, noisy surges of traffic that rolled by busy city corners and quiet country crossroads.

But they did. Red, yellow, green. One, two, three . . .

All that you had to remember was this:—"Don't get your signals mixed!"

Very few of us get our signals mixed on stop lights these days. They are too much a part of our daily life. Yet our lives are mixed up over so many other important things—things a stop light can't solve.

But your church can—if you give it a chance. For thousands of years there have been churches to help people keep their minds clear, their faith strong, their signals straight.

You know what to do at a crossroad. The traffic signal helps you.

But do you know what to do at some of the other crossroads —the crossroads of your life?

Your church will help you there, if you will give it the chance and attend its services that are held for you.

Don't get your signals mixed. Let the church help you keep them straight.

Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.

Highland Garden Club Plans Full Agenda For Next Year

By Myron T. Seifert

With the advent of fall the Highland Garden Club is busy planning a well-rounded program for its membership.

Initial meeting of the Hilltop group will be held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Stickel, 856 Chestershire, Monday, Sept. 18, at 1:30. Mrs. J. H. Kramer, mother of Mrs. Stickel, will be hostess to the ladies, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Sharp, 2263 W. Broad-st and Mrs. E. H. Gildersleeve, 238 N. Ogden-av.

In addition to the business meeting and distribution of the club brochure and year-book for 1950-51, there will be a sale of bulbs and plants among the members. Mrs. D. L. McCready, 273 S. Powell-av will have charge of the sale, with the aid of her committee, Mrs. C. W. Rucker, 110 Whitethorne-av and Mrs. W. H. Palmer, 161 S. Brinker-av.

Members of the Highland Garden Club, an affiliate of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, have been invited to attend the 20th annual convention of the parent organization in Toledo, Sept. 27 and 28, during which time the Johnny Appleseed Highway will be dedicated as a climax to the conclave.

This highway runs diagonally across the state from Middleport and Pomroy on the Ohio River in the southeastern part of the state (Route 33) through Columbus, through Kenton (Route 31) to Findlay (Route 25) and finally reaches Toledo on Lake Erie in state. This route runs through the northwestern corner of the a widely diversified terrain, the beautiful hills of southeastern Ohio, past the famous Hocking Parks, along the Scioto River, through the rich farm land of central and northwestern Ohio, to Lake Erie. In addition there is history and tradition to add abundant interest.

An important factor in the selection of this highway is that it is one of the most heavily traveled highways of the state, both from the standpoint of state and interstate traffic. Also the Ohio Association has clubs in every county along this highway.

The Highland Garden Club, along with other similar clubs in the state, will have a part in planting along this important artery of travel.

Red-letter dates on the club agenda include the following highlights:

Sept. 18—Sale of bulbs and plants.

Oct. 16—All day tour to Dawe's Arbcretum, Newark, O.

Nov. 20—Guest speaker, Mrs. Harry Kohler of Northern Garden Club. Topic: "Shrubs, Trees and Birds."

Dec. 18—Christmas party, at which time members will bring glasses of jelly for the West Side Day Nursery. Members will also make Christmas decorations to be presented to Columbus State Hospital. Guest story teller is Mrs. Irene Hoyt.

Jan. 15—Guest speaker, Mr. Leo L. McComb, of Rosebud Floral Company. Topic: "Care of House Plants."

Feb. 19—Round Table Discussion, Mrs. J. Earle Taylor, will speak on "Roses", and Mrs. C. V. Williams, "What's New in Catalogues."

Mar. 19—Guest speaker, Mr. Curtiss O. Steele, District Conservationist of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Topic: "General Principles of Soil Conservation as Applied to Franklin County."

New Idea in Dishwashing

Operating on a "revolutionary" principle of automatic dishwashing, this new Youngstown Kitchens dishwasher will do the family's dishes in less than 10 minutes. The young lady holds the partially filled upper basket to show how cups, glasses and silverware are positioned. A lower basket holds plates, larger dishes and pans. The machine will hold table service for six people. The tube in the middle of the tub is a jet tower which spins and throws powerful streams of water which shear food particles off dishes. Water at 180 degrees is delivered from a booster heater tank in the machine.

Local Woman To Head Demo Confab Saturday

Mrs. Genevieve Burr, 31 N. Wayne-av, has been named chairman of the convention of Federated Democratic Women of Ohio which is scheduled for Sept. 22-23 at the Neil House.

Honored guests at the affair will be Democratic women pioneers, who made their debut into politics when the 19th amendment went into effect on Aug. 26, 1920.

Nationally known speakers are also scheduled for the two-day convention.

Radio newscasting has made the public more interested in reading news.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

"Lifting faces" has become fairly successful with "well-to-do" people (women, I mean) for it partially restores and rejuvenates youth to the person back of the face.

The face (especially the eyes, called the windows of the soul) constantly needs repairing. I myself believe that the face is the focal point of all personality. The face, wrinkled, eyes dull, the mouth drooped, and the skin parched, does damage to the outward appearance of that person—and vice versa!

Well, the above relates to the daily personal changes. I want, however, to write about commercial face lifting. Cities are greatly enjoyed because of architectural variations, also in boulevard traffic routes, and doubly so if parks and truly beautiful buildings are present for the onlooker to see.

In my travels I have come across old cities revamped and restored to charm because business groups were alert to the advantages gained through modern art effects, applied.

Old Albany, N. Y., of staid old Dutch stock, is now (the last 30 or 40 years) magnificent with its wide State-st. leading up hill to the huge capitol building. I love its newly faced shops and its broad sidewalks.

Columbus, though of later origin, had not, until three or four years ago, progressed in these "psychological" changes. Then something happened. Old High-st, that needed its face lifted, suddenly changed. Madisons started it with its Fifth Avenue, N. Y., look. Then the grand uplifting face of the first unit of Morehouse Martens, tremendous planned groups, and Lazarus with its exceedingly beautiful "new face". Then the "Deshler corner" with a positive modern look. All across the front of the Neil House lovely varied store fronts. The old town has taken 20 to 25 years off its face appearance and is looking modern, lovely and sincerely beautiful in its "High-st face lifting."

But let's "go west" on W. Broad-st. With the advent of the big Veterans Memorial building on the west side of the river and with the revamped civic center with its fine state office building, etc., we are going west for real face lifting. The newly styled automobile buildings are indicative of the trend. Then we come to the newly faced drug stores—Grays and Economy (at Roys), etc.—all moving in the right direction with store fronts in luscious color, positive in design, and inviting. Of course we never miss the modern front of the Record office—one of the first, too.

One interesting effect must not be overlooked. The old face (though beautiful and correct in style) is the 50-year-old fronts in pure Queen Ann architecture at the northeast corner of W. Broad-st and Warren-av—then nothing between until we see the extremely modern, tiled Westmont Theater building. And now comes my last offering deluxe, the new modern Don Smith building, now housing the post office, with apartments above, and in the rear—stores, among them Ezzo's, a wonderful, new effect, barber shop. The Don Smith building is strictly architecturally modern in style for commercial buildings. The long sweep of leading lines with no ornaments above the solid glass brick side windows, takes you, psychologically, to the rear and the smaller shops.

All of this newer construction is a very wise, far-seeing job that will still be beautiful 50 years from now. During the next 25 years one continuous stream of facades (modern to the nth degree) will go west on W. Broad, so get a look today at these old and new faces (pioneers) that have been lifted to make you happier and to further good business for the Hilltop.

THINK THIS OVER.

$1 Investment "Pays Off" For Mrs. Kalb

Placing a want ad in The Hilltop Record was one of the easiest things Mrs. Rose Kalb, 18 N. Hurcn-av, ever did—and one of the wisest, later events proved.

Mrs. Kalb ran a two-line ad in the "Sewing and Alterations" column, stating that she specialized in alterations on ladies' dresses and suits.

In her own words she obtained "wonderful results" from that little ad; she secured over half a dozen jobs from three insertions, which cost her only $1.

Every classification in the Record Want Ad Section is famous for the consistently fast and satisfactory response it brings to advertisers. Have you placed an ad with us lately? If not, you're depriving yourself of benefits that thousands of others are taking advantage of. Why wait? Phone us right now. Your lucky number is RA. 1126.

The Boston Gazette, leading newspaper which espoused the cause of the American Revolution never had more than 2,000 circulation.

Starling Jr. High School Notes

SCHOOL REPAIRS
By George Baker

During the summer Starling had the following lists of repairs made: heating plant cleaned and repaired, seats rebuilt or repaired, all torn window shades replaced, electric power system renewed, broken window cords replaced, bicycle racks securely cemented, new backstops on the playground, and several new trees planted, according to George B. Smith, head engineer.

JUNIOR HI-Y
By Robert Ogilvie

The Junior High-Y is an organization to help explain and further Christian principles, and to help build stronger bodies and minds. It is carried on under the auspices of the YMCA.

The adviser at Starling is John Pittinger. Officers are Gene Howard, president; Glenn Jordan, vice-president; and Jack Hansher, treasurer.

During the year there will be basketball and various sports, and discussions of some of the problems of junior high school boys.

An induction service will be held soon for all new members.

NEW PRINCIPAL
By Florence Ott

William W. Barlow, whose home town is Cedarville, is Starling's new principal. He has an AB degree from Cedarville College and a master's degree from OSU, is married and has an eight-year-old son, who is a pupil at the Clinton School. His one brother is a Presbyterian minister.

Mr. Barlow formerly taught at West Junior High and North High Schools, and has been the principal at Hubbard Avenue, Fifth Avenue, Dana and North Linden Schools.

During the war he served three years with the navy at Puget Sound, N. Y., Bremerton, Wash., and the Marshall and Gilbert Islands.
